SECTION 1. Prohibition against dealing in processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products above maximum prices. (a) On and after July 20, 1943, regardless of any contract or obligation, no person shall sell or deliver any processed beans, macaroni products or noodle products and no person in the course of trade or business shall buy or receive any processed beans, macaroni products or noodle products at a price higher than the maximum price permitted by this regulation. Nor shall any person agree, offer, solicit, or attempt to do any of these things, except as provided in section 16.

(b) However, prices lower than maximum prices may be charged and paid.

SEC. 2. Maximum prices for processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products where the processor made and sold these items at any time during the period October 1, 1941, to March 31, 1942, inclusive. The processor's maximum price per sales unit, f. o. b. shipping point, for each brand, grade, variety, container type and size of processed beans, macaroni products, and noodle products to each class of purchaser thereof shall be:

(a) The weighted average price per sales unit, f. o. b. shipping point, charged by the processor for such item during the period October 1, 1941, to March 31, 1942, inclusive, hereinafter called the "base period"; plus

(b) The increase in the cost of all the ingredients thereof determined as follows:

(1) The cost per sales unit of the ingredients figured at the ceiling prices as of July 20, 1943, of the processor's principal supplier to the class of purchasers to which the processor belongs, or, if there are no ceiling prices, the March 1942 market prices; minus

(2) The sum of the weighted average actual cost per sales unit of each of the ingredients used to produce the same item during the base period.

The processor's "weighted average price" as used in paragraph (b) shall be the total gross sales dollars charged, f. o. b. shipping point, for the item being priced divided by the number of units of that item sold. All sales contracts made in the regular course of business during the base period shall be included, regardless of date of delivery. Sales contracts made before this period shall not be included, even though delivery was made during the period.

"Cost" as used in subparagraph (1), if the price of the processor's supplier is not a delivered price, means the price (ceiling or March 1942 market, as the case may be) plus cost of delivery of purchase in a usual amount to the processor's customary receiving point, from the customary shipping point by the usual mode of transportation.

A processor's "weighted average actual cost" as used in subparagraph (2) means his total cost of each ingredient figured on a delivered basis at his plant for the quantity used in producing all his processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products divided by the number of units in that quantity.

(c) Delivered prices. Any processor who regularly sold a purchaser an item covered by this section on a delivered price basis during the base period shall increase the maximum price for the item, figured f. o. b. shipping point under this section, by the amount of the transportation charge for that item which he added to his f. o. b. shipping point price during the base period. The resulting price is the processor's maximum delivered price for that purchaser.

*Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

[1] 8 F.R. 7567.

However, any processor whose March 1942 transportation charge was based on the use of his own trucks, and who is now compelled to use a common or contract carrier, may add, instead, transportation charges figured by the new means of transportation, to the same destination and under the same freight tariff classification, but at the rate in effect during March 1942.

SEC. 3. Maximum prices for processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products where the processor's maximum price was originally established under § 1499.3 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation.[1] The processor's maximum price per sales unit for processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products where the processor's maximum price for such items was originally established under § 1499.3 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation shall be:

(a) The processor's maximum price authorized by the Office of Price Administration by order under § 1499.3 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation for such items, plus

(b) The increase in the cost of the ingredients thereof determined as follows:

(1) The cost per sales unit of the ingredients figured at the ceiling prices as of July 20, 1943, of the processor's principal supplier to the class of purchasers to which the processor belongs, or, if there are no ceiling prices, the March 1942 market prices; minus

(2) The ingredient cost as submitted to the Office of Price Administration in the application upon which the maximum price was established under § 1499.3 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

"Cost" as used in subparagraph (1), if the price of the processor's supplier is not a delivered price, means the price (ceiling or March 1942 market, as the case may be) plus cost of delivery of purchase in a usual amount to the processor's customary receiving point, from the customary shipping point by the usual mode of transportation.

SEC. 4. Maximum prices for new container types and sizes. The maximum price per sales unit to any class of purchaser for any brand, grade or variety of processed beans, macaroni products or noodle products packed in any container type or size which the processor did not sell during the applicable base period shall be figured as follows: He shall

(a) Determine the base container. If the processor sold the same product (that is, the same variety or kind, same grade, and same brand, if any) during the base period, but only in other container types or sizes, he shall first determine the most similar container type in which he is able to calculate the maximum price to that class of purchasers for the commodity under this regulation (even though he no longer sells that container type). From that container type he shall choose the nearest size which is 50% or less larger, or if there is no such size, 50% or less smaller (even though he no longer sells those sizes). This will be the "base container". If there is no such smaller size, he shall go to the next most similar container type and proceed in the same manner to find the base container.

NOTE: In most cases "the most similar type" will be merely the container type which the processor is adding to or replacing, like the tin he may be replacing with glass. Where there has been only a size change "the most similar container type" will, of course, be the same container type. This is also true in the reverse situation; where there has been a change only in container type, the "nearest size" will be the same size.

(b) Find the base price. The producer shall take as the "base price" the maximum price which he may charge that class of purchasers for the item when packed in the base container. However, if this maximum price is a price delivered to the purchaser or to any point other than the processor's shipping point, the processor shall first convert it to a base price f. o. b. processor's shipping point simply by deducting whatever transportation charges were included in it.

(c) Deduct the container cost. Taking the base price f. o. b. shipping point, the processor shall then subtract the direct cost of the base container. "Direct cost of the container" means the net cost, at the processor's plant, of the container, cap, label and proportionate part of the outgoing shipping carton, but it does not include cost of filling, closing, labeling or packing.

(d) Adjust for any difference in contents. The figure obtained by this deduction shall then be adjusted, in the case of a size change, by dividing it by the number of ounces or other units in the base container and multiplying the result by the number of the same units in the new container.

(e) Add the new container cost to get the price f. o. b. shipping point. Next, the processor shall add to the adjusted figure the "direct cost of the container" in the new type and size.

(f) Add tin to glass permitted increase. In those cases only where the processor has made a change in his container type from tin to glass he shall finally add ⅔ cent per pound label weight of his finished product. If his maximum price for the item in the base container is an f. o. b. shipping point price the resulting figure is the processor's maximum price to that class of purchasers, f. o. b. shipping point.

(g) Convert to a maximum delivered price, if the maximum price for the base container is on a delivered basis. If the processor's maximum price for the item in the base container is a delivered price, he shall figure transportation charges to be added, as follows: the processor shall take the transportation charges which he first deducted to get his base price and adjust them in exact proportion to the difference in shipping weight. However, if for any reason the commodity in the new container will move under a different freight tariff classification, he shall figure his transportation charges (by the same means of transportation and to the same destination) on the basis of the new shipping weight, but at the rate in effect for that freight tariff classification during March 1942. Increases in tariff rates or transportation taxes made since March 31, 1942, shall not be taken into account. (Similar principles shall apply where shipping volume is the measure of the transportation charge.) The processor shall then add these transportation charges to his f. o. b. shipping point price for the item in the new container. The resulting figure is the processor's maximum delivered price to that class of purchasers.

SEC. 5. Inability to fix maximum prices. If the processor's maximum price for any item cannot be priced under the provisions of the applicable pricing section, he may, at his election and if he is able, use the pricing formula set forth in paragraph (a) of this section to determine his maximum price, otherwise he shall make application for authorization of a maximum price under the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section.

(a) Pricing formula. The processor's maximum price per sales unit calculated under this paragraph shall be:

(1) His total "direct cost" per sales unit of the item being priced, calculated as follows:

(i) The total cost per sales unit of all ingredients and packaging materials subject to maximum prices established by the Office of Price Administration, figured at the current maximum prices applying to the class of purchasers to which he belongs; plus

(ii) The cost per sales unit of every ingredient and packaging material, for which no maximum price has been prescribed by the Office of Price Administration, figured at the current market price of the ingredient or packaging material in question; plus

(iii) The direct labor costs per sales unit figured at the October 3, 1942, wage rates or as adjusted and approved by the War Labor Board, between October 3, 1942, and July 20, 1943, applying to each class of direct labor employed in the manufacture of the item being priced; plus

(iv) Transportation charges by the usual mode of transportation, if the cost factors used in (i) and (ii) above are not delivered costs, and if such charges are customarily incurred from his customary supply point to his customary receiving point;

(2) Multiplied by a markup percentage determined as follows:

(i) The maximum selling price established under the General Maximum Price Regulation or other Maximum Price Regulation in effect at the time of the calculation reported under section 13 for the most closely comparable commodity produced by him with a cost structure similar to that of the item being priced, divided by

(ii) His current cost of ingredients, packaging materials and direct labor of that comparable commodity.

As used in this paragraph "most closely comparable commodity" means a food commodity which is most nearly similar and whose "direct cost" is closest to and in no event is less than two-thirds of the "direct cost" of the item being priced, and where similar methods are employed in its sale and merchandising to those which will be used in the sale and merchandising of the item being priced hereunder.

As used in this paragraph "current" means current at the time of calculating the maximum price under this paragraph.

(3) The markup percentage determined hereunder shall be used as the multiplying factor only if the computation thereof as prescribed results in a figure of 150% or less,—i. e., the maximum selling price determined under this paragraph for any item shall not exceed 150% of the cost of ingredients, packaging materials and direct labor thereof.

(4) The maximum price determined under the provisions of this paragraph (a) shall be subject to discounts, transportation allowances or other allowances and price differentials no less favorable than those given with respect to the comparable food commodity used in the calculation of the maximum price under this paragraph.

(5) In deciding whether items of labor cost are to be applied as separate items in figuring the price or are to be treated as overhead, the seller shall follow his customary practice. Thus, if a seller treated cleaning labor as an item of overhead in March 1942 he must continue so to treat it in figuring the maximum price.

(6) The seller shall employ no cost factors in addition to those which he used with respect to the comparable commodity by which he determined his percentage markup under subparagraph (2) and shall make no changes in the method of application of those factors which would result in a higher price.

(b) Application for authorization. In any case where a processor is unable to determine his maximum price under sections (2) or (3) of this regulation or does not elect or is unable to price under paragraph (a) of this section, he shall apply to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for a maximum price. His application shall set forth (1) a description in detail of the item for which a maximum price is sought, including its grade and the brand name to be used, if any, the number of packages in each shipping case, and a statement of the facts which make it different from the most similar item for which he has determined a maximum price, identifying the similar item and stating its maximum price; (2) a detailed and itemized current cost breakdown of the item to be priced, showing separately all component cost factors (i. e., raw materials, direct labor, indirect labor, factory overhead, selling, advertising, and administrative cost, and freight if sold on a delivered basis), and the identical current cost breakdown of another commodity which contributes substantially to his total volume of business; (3) the desired selling price for the item, including a statement showing the necessity for the desired selling price, any discounts or allowances which should be made applicable to the desired price, and (for comparison) the maximum selling price, with discounts and allowances, for the second commodity included in clause (2), above; and (4) the method of distribution to be employed by the processor in marketing the new commodity (i. e., whether it is to be sold to wholesalers, retailers, consumers, or other classes of purchasers).

Until a maximum price is established, the applicant may not sell or deliver the item except under an agreement in each case to adjust the selling price to a figure no higher than the maximum price which is later established under this section.

SEC. 6. Maximum prices for wagon wholesalers. Wagon wholesalers shall determine their maximum prices per sales unit for each brand, grade, variety, container type and size of processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products by adding to their net cost thereof a markup of 25% of such net cost. These maximum prices shall be recalculated upon receipt of an item whenever there is any change in the net cost.

"Net cost" means the invoice price for processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products delivered in a customary quantity from a customary supplier by the customary mode of transportation at the wagon wholesaler's customary receiving point less all discounts allowed him, except the discount for prompt payment. No charge or cost for local unloading or local trucking shall ever be included.

A "wagon wholesaler" for the purposes of this regulation is a wholesaler who distributes processed beans, macaroni products or noodle products from an inventory stocked in trucks or other conveyances to retail outlets, or to commercial, industrial or institutional users. Such conveyances must be under the supervision of driver salesmen who make delivery at the time and point of sale.

Such wholesaler is a wagon wholesaler only for the processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products which he buys and resells in this manner.

SEC. 7. Maximum prices for primary distributors. The maximum price per sales unit which a primary distributor may charge for each brand, grade, variety, container type and size of processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products to each class of purchasers thereof shall be:

(a) The primary distributor's maximum price per sales unit to each class of purchasers for each brand, grade, variety, container type and size of processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products figured in accordance with the General Maximum Price Regulation, plus

(b) The difference between his supplier's maximum price for that item figured in accordance with this regulation and his supplier's maximum price for that item established under the General Maximum Price Regulation.

A "primary distributor" for the purposes of this regulation is one who purchases processed beans, macaroni products or noodle products from a producer thereof and resells them to wholesalers and retail distributing warehouses.

Such distributor is a primary distributor only for the processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products which he buys and resells in this manner.

SEC. 8. Fractions of a cent. Maximum prices as calculated under this regulation resulting in a fraction of a cent shall be reduced to the nearest lower cent if the fraction is less than one-half cent and may be increased to the nearest higher cent if the fraction is one-half cent or more.

SEC. 9. Customary allowances and discounts. No processor shall change his customary allowances, discounts or trade practices unless such change results in the same or lower net price.

SEC. 10. Evasion. The pricing limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded by direct or indirect methods in connection with any offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase, or receipt of or relating to any processed beans, macaroni products or noodle products alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or by way of any service, transportation or other charge or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other understanding, or otherwise.

SEC. 11. Enforcement. Any person violating any provision of this regulation is subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages and suspension of licenses provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 as amended.

SEC. 12. Export and import sales. Maximum prices at which a person may export processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation,[2] issued by the Office of Price Administration. Sales of processed beans, macaroni products and noodle products which have been processed outside of the geographical area to which this regulation applies are not covered by this regulation except in cases where the goods being priced are located within the area at the time of sale.

SEC. 13. Records and reports. Every processor who makes a sale of any item covered by this regulation shall:

(a) As long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 as amended continues in effect, preserve for examination by the Office of Price Administration all his existing records which were the basis for the calculations required by this regulation.

(b) Preserve for the same period all records of the same kind as he has cus-

Scope of This Regulation

SECTION 1. Purpose of this regulation. This regulation fixes ceiling prices for all sales and rentals of used typewriters. Regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall attempt, offer, or agree to sell or rent a used typewriter at a price or rate higher than the ceiling price or rate fixed in this regulation. A "used typewriter" is a typewriter which has been in the possession of one or more users for more than 10 days and which has actually been used, or any typewriter which has been used far purposes of demonstration for more than 10 days; the words "used typewriter" include demonstrators and rough, reconditioned and rebuilt typewriters. Any other kind of typewriter is considered a new typewriter for purposes of this regulation. Generally, the word "typewriter" means any portable or office-size writing machine used for correspondence. A more exact definition will be found in section 22.

SEC. 2. Persons and transactions that are covered. This regulation covers all sales and rentals of used typewriters by any person to any other person including sales by an individual who is selling his own used typewriter and sales by auctioneers whether they sell for their own account or for the account of others. The word "person" includes: an individual, corporation, or any other organized group; their legal successors or representatives; the United States or any Government or any of its political subdivisions.

SEC. 3. How this regulation relates to others—(a) Maximum Price Regulation No. 162. This regulation supersedes the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 162 after the effective date of this regulation.

(b) General Maximum Price Regulation,[1] Maximum Price Regulation No. 188[2] and Maximum Price Regulation No. 165.[3] This regulation covers all sales and rentals of used typewriters including a few models which until now were covered by the General Maximum Price Regulation. The rental of new typewriters and the sale of new typewriters by persons other than manufacturers are still covered by the General Maximum Price Regulation. Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 continues to govern the sale of new typewriters by manufacturers. Maximum Price Regulation No. 165 continues to govern the ceiling prices for the repair or maintenance of used typewriters if repair and maintenance is not in connection with a sale or rental.

(c) Ration Order 4A.[4] Ration Order 4A explains what sales and rentals of typewriters are permitted. This regulation does not authorize any transactions which are not authorized by the provisions of Ration Order 4A.

Ceiling Rental Charges for Used Typewriters

SEC. 4. Base ceiling charges for typewriter rentals. In the table below, a "non-commercial rental" means a rental of a typewriter for personal as opposed to business or professional use. "Commercial rentals" are all other rentals.

A "rental with maintenance service" is a rental which includes the supply when needed during the rental period of free service and maintenance at the place where the typewriter is used.

A "rental without maintenance service" is a rental which does not include the supply of such service and maintenance.

A "rental without maintenance service" is, of course, made at the option of the supplier.

SEC. 5. Applicability of 1-month and 3-month rates. The 1-month rate, prorated for the rental period, applies when the customer offers to contract for a rental period of more than 15 days and less than 3 months.

The 3-month rate, prorated for the rental period, applies when the customer offers to contract for a rental period of 3 months or more. No reduction in the rental rate need be made for cash in advance. It is not a violation of this regulation to make the payment of cash in advance, or a deposit for security, a condition of the renting of a typewriter.

SEC. 6. Ceiling rental charges for in-between periods. If the rental contract is for a period of more than 1 month and less than 3 months the charge may not exceed the 1-month rate prorated for the rental contract period. For example, if the contract specifies a 2-month commercial rental of an 11" office-size typewriter, the charge may not exceed $7.00 (2 x $3.50). If the rental contract is for a period which exceeds 3 months the rental charge may not exceed the 3-month rate prorated for the rental contract period. For example, if the contract specifies a 5-month non-commercial rental of a portable typewriter, the charge may not exceed $12.50 (or ⅓ of $7.50, multiplied by 5, the number of months).

SEC. 7. Determination of rental period. The rental period is the period specified in the contract or other writing required by section 23, unless a rental is terminated under the provisions of Ration Order 4A; in that case the rental period is the period during which the typewriter was available for use by the person to whom it was rented.

SEC. 8. Rental, delivery and pick-up charge. If a customer requests delivery and pick-up of a rented used typewriter, the supplier may add a reasonable charge for such service from and to his nearest place of business, provided this charge is billed as a separate item.

No charge may be made for packing rented typewriters for shipment.

SEC. 9. Rental rates for special typewriters—(a) Electric carriage return. 50% may be added to the rental charge for a used typewriter with an electric carriage return mechanism.

(b) Electric keyboard. 100% may be added to the rental charge for the rental of used typewriters with electric keyboard and electric carriage return mechanisms.

(c) Special keyboard. No service charge for type changes or other alteration may be made in connection with the rental of used typewriters, but 25% may be added to the rental charge for used typewriters which have one or more of the following features:

(1) Foreign keyboards with 8 or more special characters;

(2) Pitch other than 9, 10, or 12;

(3) Single case type designed for billing;

(4) American keyboards, designed for business purposes, with 8 or more special characters.

SEC. 10. Rentals in territories and possessions of the United States. 25% may be added to the ceiling rental charge for a rental in any territory or possession of the United States.

Ceiling Prices for Sales of Used Typewriters

SEC. 11. Sales at retail. A sale at retail is a sale to a person who buys the typewriter for use. Ceiling prices follow for all used typewriters, whether they are "demonstrators", or "rebuilt", "reconditioned", or "rough".

SEC. 12. Demonstrators. The base ceiling price for the sale at retail of a demonstrator is 80% of the manufacturer's list price of the typewriter when new. A "demonstrator" is a typewriter which has been in the possession of one or more users for a total time of more than 10 days and less than 6 months and which has been used; or any typewriter which has been used for more than 10 days and less than 6 months for purposes of demonstration; and on which the seller agrees to repair free of all charge, for a period of 12 months, any defects in operation caused by faulty materials, parts, or workmanship.

SEC. 13. Office-size typewriters. The base ceiling price for the sale at retail of a used office-size typewriter with a carriage 11" or less is the price set forth in the table which follows. As used in that table:

A "rebuilt" typewriter is one which has been dismantled and inspected since its last use and which meets the following specifications: all internal and external parts clean and free from rust, corrosion and flaws; main and carriage frame never bent nor broken; finish of main frame or mask approximately equivalent to new finish; working mechanism lubricated and adjusted to new-machine specifications; type whole, clear, accurately aligned; ribbon, typebar rest, platen surface, feed rolls, paper-finger or bail rolls new, and adjusted to give maximum performance; and on which the seller guarantees to repair free of all charge, for a period of 6 months, any defects in operation caused by faulty materials, parts, or workmanship;

A "reconditioned" typewriter is one which has been inspected since its last use and which meets the following specifications: all parts clean; internal parts free from rust, corrosion, flaws; working mechanism lubricated and accurately adjusted; type whole, clear, accurately aligned; ribbon new; platen, feed rolls and paper-finger or bail rolls of size, shape and adjustment to give positive feed, registration, and manifolding performance; and on which the seller guarantees to repair free of all charges for a period of 3 months any defects in operation caused by faulty materials, parts, or workmanship;

A "rough" typewriter is a used typewriter which is not a demonstrator or a rebuilt or reconditioned typewriter.

Over 11" but under 14"	$3.75	$3.75	$3.75
14" but under 16"	7.50	8.75	8.75

22" and over	22.50	27.50	27.50

SEC. 16. Special typewriters—(a) Attachments. (1) If a new special attachment has been installed at the request of the purchaser, there may be added to the ceiling price an amount equal to the list price of the attachment established by the manufacturer, provided this charge is billed as a separate item. (2) If a used special attachment has been installed at the request of the purchaser, there may be added to the ceiling price an amount equal to 50% of the list price of the attachment established by the manufacturer, provided this charge is billed as a separate item. (3) No amount may be added to the ceiling price for attachments not ordered by and specifically installed for the purchaser.

(b) Keyboards and type styles. (1) If, in connection with the sale of a used typewriter, changes in type, characters or keyboard are made at the request of, and for the account of, an exporter or foreign buyer, there may be added to the ceiling price a conversion charge not exceeding the seller's ceiling price for such service determined under the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 165 as amended,[5] provided this charge is billed as a separate item. The ceiling charge for such service is, generally, the highest price charged by the seller in March 1942. (2) In connection with the sale or rental of a used typewriter, no amount may be added to the ceiling price for special type, character, or keyboards not ordered by, and specifically installed for, an exporter or foreign buyer.

(c) Electric carriage return. On retail sales of used Underwood typewriters with electric carriage return and used Remington models 12, 16, 20, and 30 with electric carriage return, $15.00 may be added to the reconditioned ceiling price and $22.50 may be added to the rebuilt ceiling price. No amount may be added to the rough ceiling price.

SEC. 17. Charges for credit, packing and transportation—(a) Credit. No amount may be added to the ceiling price of a used typewriter as a charge for the extension of credit unless the amount charged the buyer is not greater than the charge made by the seller during the base period October 1–15, 1941, on the same unpaid balance for the same period of time. This charge must be billed separately. If the seller did not sell typewriters on credit during the base period, he may hereafter make a charge for credit, if the charge is billed separately and the amount is not greater than that made by the seller's closest competitor during the base period on the same unpaid balance and for the same period of time.

(b) Packing. No amount may be added to the ceiling price of a used typewriter for packing for shipment except as provided by the 2nd Maximum Export Price Regulation.[6]

(c) Transportation. In connection with the sale of a used typewriter the seller may charge for transportation or require the customer to pay transportation charges only if the seller customarily made such charge or required such payment on sales to the same class of customer in the same geographical location during the period October 1–15, 1941.

SEC. 18. Sales in territories and possessions of the United States. On the sale of a used typewriter in any territory or possession of the United States, the ceiling price may be increased by the cost of transporting, at the time of SEC. 19. User-to-dealer sales. This section applies to used typewriters sold to dealers by individual users. Typewriters which were acquired for use may be sold to persons acquiring the typewriters for purposes of sale or rental at prices not exceeding ⅔ of the retail ceiling price.

SEC. 20. Dealer-to-dealer sales. This section applies to used typewriters sold by one dealer to another. Typewriters which were acquired for sale or rental may be sold to persons acquiring the typewriters for sale or rental at prices not exceeding ⅘ of the retail ceiling price.

SEC. 21. Exports. Ceiling prices for sales to an exporter and for export sales as defined by the 2nd Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation[6] are covered by the provisions of that regulation.

Other Provisions

SEC. 22. Definitions—(a) "Typewriter". A "typewriter" is any portable, office, commercial, noiseless or standard type of manually or electrically operated writing machine designed to be used for writing or copying letters or other documents and does not include Braille typewriters, telegraphically controlled writing machines, composing machines, toll billers, toy typewriters, machines with inbuilt features for handling or collating continuous forms, or front feed, vertical feed, electric duplicating, proportional spacing or right-margin justifying machines. To determine ceiling prices for machines excluded by this definition, refer to the General Maximum Price Regulation or other specific Office of Price Administration price regulations. Since this definition differs from that used in Ration Order 4A, refer to that order to determine which machines are under Office of Price Administration rationing control.

(b) Other terms. Definitions of other terms will be found in the regulation as follows:

(1) "Commercial rental": section 4.
(2) "Demonstrator": section 12.
(3) "Non-commerical rental": section 4.
(4) "Person": section 2.
(5) "Rebuilt": section 13.
(6) "Reconditioned"": section 13.
(7) "Rental period": section 7.
(8) "Rental with maintenance service": section 4.
(9) "Rental without maintenance service": section 4.
(10) "Rough": section 13.
(11) "Sale at retail": section 11.
(12) "Used typewriter": section 1.

SEC. 23. Statements and records. In connection with the sale or rental of a used typewriter (which the supplier had acquired for the purpose of rental or resale) the supplier shall furnish to the customer the following statements and shall keep, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 is in effect, the following records:

(2) On rentals. The supplier of a used typewriter for rental shall supply to the person renting the typewriter a contract, invoice or other writing which specifies the make, model and serial number of the typewriter rented; the contract period; the rental charge; the type of rental (rental "with" or "without maintenance service" and "commercial" or "non-commercial"; and the name and address of the person to whom the typewriter is rented.

The supplier shall keep for his record a carbon or other duplicate copy of this contract, invoice or other writing.

On all rentals except to the United States Government, the supplier of a used typewriter on rental shall insert on the contract, invoice or other writing the following statement: "The price charged for this rental is no higher than the ceiling fixed in Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 162, which fixes ceiling prices for the rental of typewriters depending on the length of the rental period. Transportation charges may be added only if delivery and pick-up are requested by the customer."

(b) On retail and dealer-to-dealer sales. The seller of a used typewriter shall supply to the buyer a sales slip, invoice or other writing, which specifies the make, model and serial number of the typewriter sold; the grade of the typewriter sold (demonstrator, rebuilt, reconditioned, rough); the make, model, serial number and credit allowed for a typewriter if taken in exchange; the ceiling price; the price charged; the guarantee; and the name and address of the purchaser.

The seller shall keep for his record a carbon or other duplicate copy of this sales slip, invoice or other writing.

SEC. 24. Notices. Every person offering to supply for rent a used typewriter (which the supplier had acquired for the purpose of rental or resale) shall post a clearly legible sign which is no smaller than 11" by 17", and which is visible to customer traffic. This sign, copies of which may be obtained from district or regional offices of the Office of Price Administration, shall contain the following notice:

O. P. A. CEILING PRICES FOR THE RENTAL OF USED TYPEWRITERS

Commercial — pay no more than	$1.50	$2.25	$3.50	$8.75

If you offer to make a 3-month rental contract, and to meet any credit and security terms permitted by OPA, the 3-month rate applies, prorated for the rental period.

Maintenance service is at the option of supplier. When maintenance service is not furnished, the rental rate is ⅓ less than the rates scheduled above.

Supplier may make an additional charge when:

The rented typewriter has a wide carriage.

Delivery and pick-up is requested by the customer.

The rented typewriter has a foreign keyboard or special type.

For details: Consult Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 162.

SEC. 25. Licensing—(a) License required. A license as a condition of selling and of renting is required of every person subject to this regulation selling or renting any used typewriters for which maximum prices are established by this regulation. No person whose license is suspended in proceedings under section 205 (f) (2) of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 shall, during the period of suspension, sell or rent any commodities or services as to which his license to sell or to rent is suspended.

(b) License granted. Every person subject to this regulation selling or renting any used typewriters for which maximum prices are established by this regulation is granted a license as a condition of selling or of renting such used typewriters. The provisions of this regulation shall be deemed to be incorporated in the license hereby granted, and any violation of any provision so incorporated shall be a violation of the provisions of said license. The license granted by this regulation became effective on October 14, 1942, or becomes effective when any person becomes subject to the provisions of this regulation, and shall, unless suspended in accordance with the provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, remain in effect as long as this regulation or any applicable part, amendment or supplement remains in effect. The granting of this license does not, of course, relieve any person from the duty of filing the inventory report which is required of persons going into the typewriter business. That report is required by § 1398.134 of Ration Order 4A.

SEC. 26. Prohibited practices. The provisions of this regulation must not be evaded by any scheme or device or by any practice which has the effect of a higher-than-ceiling price. Among the practices prohibited are these:

(a) Refusing to permit persons renting typewriters to arrange for delivery from and to the supplier's place of business.

(b) Requiring a customer to pay in installments, or to buy or rent typewriters he does not want, or to buy or rent other goods, as a condition of acquiring a typewriter.

SEC. 27. Taxes. Any tax upon or incident to the sale or rental of a used typewriter may be added to the ceiling price provided the seller is permitted to state and does state the tax separately.

SEC. 28. Petitions for amendment. A person seeking any change in this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 162 or an exception to its terms may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the rules given in Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1,[7] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 29. Enforcement—(a) Liabilities. Persons violating any provision of this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 162 are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension proceedings, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

(b) Communications. Persons who have evidence of any violation of this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 162 or any price schedule, regulation or order issued by the Office of Price Administration, or of any acts or practices which constitute such a violation are urged to communicate with the nearest field or regional office of the Office of Price Administration or its principal office in Washington, D. C.

SEC. 30. Geographical applicability. This Regulation covers sales and rentals in the 48 states, the District of Columbia, and the territories and possessions of the United States.

PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[Rev. SR 14]

MODIFICATIONS OF MAXIMUM PRICES ESTABLISHED BY GENERAL MAXIMUM PRICE REGULATION

Supplementary Regulation No. 14 has served as a repository for modifications of maximum prices for miscellaneous commodities and services otherwise governed by the General Maximum Price Regulation. Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 14 will continue to serve the same function.

The purpose of the revision is to provide a more logical and convenient arrangement and to simplify the form of the regulation. Those provisions which have become obsolete are eliminated. The remaining provisions, other than those relating to milk and milk products, are renumbered and grouped in Articles according to classes of commodities or services. They are continued in effect as of their original effective dates and, with respect to those heretofore amended, as of the effective dates of such amendments, with no change in application or meaning and with only such minor changes in form or language as have been necessary in order to accommodate them to the new arrangement. Future provisions of similar character may readily be fitted into appropriate Articles of the regulation.

The provisions on milk and milk products, constituting subparagraphs (1) and (1a) of paragraph (a) of Supplementary Regulation No. 14 (§ 1499.73), are not incorporated in the revised regulation but have been converted into a separate regulation which has been redesignated Supplementary Regulation No. 14A (§ 1499.73a).

Appendix A of this revised regulation consists of a table of cross-references which shows the present counterparts of the former provisions of Supplementary Regulation No. 14, their effective dates, and the amendments by which they were originally added or later amended.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 14 has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

§ 1499.73 Modifications of maximum prices established by the General Maximum Price Regulation. For the reasons above stated and under the authority vested in the Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and by Executive Orders Nos. 9250 and 9328, Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 14 (Modifications of Maximum Prices Established by the General Maximum Price Regulation), which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof, is hereby issued and the maximum prices established by the General Maximum Price Regulation are modified accordingly.

Article I—Foods

SECTION 1.1 Fruit cake; sales by producers. (a) Producers of fruit cake who dealt in fruit cake of a comparable type in the period October 1 to December 31, 1941, inclusive, shall determine maximum prices to each class of purchaser as follows: Each producer shall ascertain the cost of ingredients and packaging materials as if such ingredients and packaging materials had been purchased in March, 1942. To the figure so obtained he shall add the difference between his average selling price to a purchaser of the same class and his average ingredient and packaging material cost for fruit cake of a comparable type sold by him during the period October 1 to December 31, 1941, inclusive. In computing the cost of ingredients and packaging materials as of March, 1942, each producer shall ascertain said costs from the highest prices quoted in March, 1942, by his usual supplier or suppliers; or, if no usual supplier was quoting prices in March, 1942, from prices quoted in March, 1942, by a seller of the same class as his usual supplier.

(b) A producer of fruit cake who did not deal in fruit cake of a comparable type in the period October 1 to December 31, 1941, inclusive, shall determine his maximum price to each class of purchaser applying the maximum price to the same class of purchaser of his most closely competitive seller selling a similar fruit cake.

(c) "Fruit cake of a comparable type sold by the producer in the period October 1 to December 31, 1941, inclusive," means a fruit cake (1) the ingredients of which would have had the same approximate total cost if such ingredients had been purchased in March, 1942, as the total cost of ingredients used in making the fruit cake for which a maximum price is to be determined if such ingredients had also been purchased in March, 1942, and (2) of the same weight when completed and ready for packaging as the fruit cake for which a maximum price is to be determined.

(d) "Similar fruit cake" means a fruit cake of approximately the same total cost of ingredients and packaging materials and of the same weight when completed and ready for packaging as the fruit cake for which a maximum price is to be determined.

SEC. 1.2 Holiday candy and chocolate covered cherries; sales by manufacturers—(a) Maximum prices. (1) The manufacturer's maximum price for holiday candy or for cholocate covered cherries to each class of purchasers shall be his cost of ingredients, packaging material, and direct labor, computed at March, 1942, replacement prices, plus an average dollar-and-cents margin, as herein defined, obtained by the manufacturer between April 1, 1941, and March 31, 1942, on sales of holiday candy or chocolate covered cherries (whichever is being priced hereunder) of the same or the most nearly similar kind, sold to a purchaser of the same class: Provided, That in the case of fresh cherries, the manufacturer shall use, for purposes of calculating his cost, the actual cost to him of such ingredient.

(b) Filing. Before making any sales of holiday candy or chocolate covered cherries, each manufacturer shall file with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., a list of his maximum prices for such commodities (which he proposes to sell at prices computed hereunder) to each class of purchasers, together with a detailed description of such commodities for identification and a full explanation of the manner in which such maximum prices were computed under paragraph (a) above. If maximum prices have been determined under paragraph (a) (1) above, actual figures shall be submitted breaking down all component costs, i. e., ingredients, packaging material, and direct labor.

(c) Definitions. (1) "Holiday candy" is any candy which is manufactured and marketed specifically for such holidays or festivals as the following: St. Valentine's Day, Washington's Birthday, St. Patrick's Day, Easter, Mother's Day, Fourth of July, Halloween, Thanksgiving, and Christmas, and the form, color, or style of which definitely identifies it with the particular holiday or festival to the extent that such candies cannot readily be sold after the special occasion for which they were made.

(2) The manufacturer's cost of ingredients and packaging material "computed at March, 1942, replacement prices" shall be prices no higher than the highest prices charged to a purchaser of the same class by the manufacturer's usual suppliers during March, 1942, for such ingredients or packaging material, or, if no charge was made for such ingredients or packaging material by the manufacturer's usual suppliers, then "March, 1942, replacement prices" shall be prices no higher than the highest prices charged during March, 1942, to a purchaser of the same class by a seller of the same class as the manufacturer's usual suppliers. Direct labor "computed at March, 1942, replacement prices" shall be calculated at the rate of remuneration paid by the manufacturer to his employees engaged directly in the manufacture of the same or the most nearly similar kind of candy during March, 1942.

(3) "Average dollar-and-cents margin" of the manufacturer shall be determined by computing, for the period from April 1, 1941, to March 31, 1942, the difference between his average selling price and the average cost of ingredients, packaging material, and direct labor used in the manufacture of holiday candy or chocolate covered cherries (whichever is being priced hereunder). "Average selling price" and "average cost," as used in this definition, shall be an average weighted by the volume of units sold or purchased.

(d) Adjustment of maximum prices. Any price determined pursuant to this section shall be subject to adjustment at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

(e) Applicability. The provisions of this section shall be applicable to the 48 states of the United States and the District of Columbia.

In all cases the above descriptions apply to the best quality of each type and grade named. The maximum prices for grades and types not named shall be determined by applying the seller's differentials in effect during the period July–August 1941, or the differentials of the most closely competitive seller of the same class, if the seller had no established differentials during July–August 1941, for any grade or type of vanilla beans.

(1) The maximum prices quoted above are f. o. b. New York or Philadelphia. The maximum price f. o. b. any other point of entry will be determined by subtracting from the above prices the transportation charges per pound via the lowest cost available means of transportation from such point of entry to New York or Philadelphia, whichever is lower.

(2) The maximum delivered cost to the buyer shall be:

(i) If the beans are shipped from New York or Philadelphia, the maximum prices quoted above, plus actual transportation charges from New York or Philadelphia to the buyer's destination, or

(b) Permission to carry out contracts made prior to September 30, 1942. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a) hereof, contracts entered into prior to September 30, 1942, may be carried out at contract prices: Provided, That these prices shall not exceed the maximum prices for vanilla beans as established by the General Maximum Price Regulation prior to the adoption of this section. Before delivering any vanilla beans under such contracts, persons shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., the following information: (1) date of the contract, (2) the name and address of the buyer and seller, (3) the quantity, type, and grade of vanilla beans involved, (4) the cost of the vanilla beans to the seller, (5) the price contracted for with the buyer, and (6) the delivery date provided for in the contract.

(c) Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than the maximum prices established by this section may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

(d) Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this section shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with the purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of vanilla beans, or by way of premium, commission, service, transportation or other charge, or by changing grade standards, or by any other trade understanding, or by making the discounts given or other terms and conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those available or in effect on September 30, 1942, or by any other means.

SEC. 1.4 Halvah. (a) The maximum price for halvah, sold and delivered by any seller, whether producer, wholesaler or retailer, shall be determined by adding 2½ cents per pound to the maximum price as determined under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation by any such seller, and the sum resulting shall be the adjusted maximum price for such seller.

(b) Sales in sacks. Where the jobber, wholesaler or retailer buys oil meal or oil cake unsacked and resells the same sacked, he may add to his maximum price as specified in paragraph (a) above, the replacement cost of sacks: Provided, That the total charge does not exceed $3.50 per ton.

(c) Imported oil meals and oil cakes. Where the jobber, wholesaler or retailer buys or imports oil meal or oil cake, he may add the actual duties paid, plus an additional 50 cents per ton to his maximum price as specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) above.

(c) Maximum prices for sellers at wholesale and retail. Sellers at wholesale and retail of any specialty product listed in paragraph (i) hereof shall not increase and they are not required to reduce their maximum prices established for that product under the General Maximum Price Regulation, regardless of any change in the net weight of such product which may result from a producer's formula change made under the provisions of this section.

If the formula change is made on or after March 27, 1943, such statement must be filed within 5 days after the date of the first shipment of the new formula product.

(e) Notification. Whenever a formula change is made and a new maximum selling price is determined under the provisions of this section, the manufacturer making such change shall before or at the time of first delivery notify in writing each of the purchasers of the new formula product from him of his new maximum selling price.

(f) Subsequent formula changes. Each time a manufacturer makes a change in his formula of a listed specialty product he shall apply the provisions of this section to determine his new maximum prices of such product. SEC. 1.16 Tea bags and packaged tea changed to weights and sizes required by Food Distribution Order No. 18; tea packers' maximum prices—(a) For tea bags changed to 200 and 250 to the pound. Packers who formerly packed tea in weights other than 200 to 250 tea bags to the pound and have changed them to those new sizes shall determine their maximum prices for such new weights of tea bags by calculating as follows:

(1) Calculate the total weight of tea in the shipping case containing the old size tea bags (tea bags packed other than 200 or 250 to the pound).

(2) Calculate the total weight of tea for the same number of new size tea bags (tea bags packed 200 or 250 to the pound).

(3) Subtract the smaller weight from the larger weight determined in (1) and (2).

(4) Multiply the difference in weight of tea found in (3) by the "cost per pound of tea." "Cost per pound of tea" shall mean the delivered maximum price per pound of bulk tea, used in the manufacturer's blend, determined in accordance with the provisions of §§ 1351.261 and 1351.262 of Revised Price Schedule No. 91 with ocean freight, war risk insurance and marine insurance computed at the lowest rates available on March 31, 1943.

(6) If the shipping case containing the new size bags does not contain the same number of tea bags as the shipping case containing the old size tea bags, the figure obtained in (5) above shall be changed in the exact proportion that the number of new size tea bags bears to the number of old size tea bags.

(7) If the price results in a fraction of one-half cent or more, it shall be raised to the next higher cent. If it results in a fraction of less than one-half cent, it shall be lowered to the next lower cent. The result of the above calculation shall be the maximum price for a shipping case of the new size tea bags.

Example: A tea packer desires to obtain a new maximum price on "XX" Brand Tea Bags formerly packed 175 to the pound of tea, in packages containing 25 tea bags each and sold in shipping cases of 24 packages at a ceiling price of $5.40, which he intends to pack 200 to the pound of tea, 25 bags to the package, 12 packages to the shipping case. He intends to use a blend of bulk tea which cost at maximum prices determined according to §§ 1351.261 and 1351.262 of Revised Price Schedule No. 91, 46½ cents per pound. He makes the following calculation:

(1) Weight of tea in the old size case of tea bags.
25 tea bags in packages multiplied by 24 packages in case=600 tea bags.
600 tea bags divided by 175 tea bags to the pound=3.42 lbs. of tea.
(2) Weight of tea in the same number of new size tea bags. 600 tea bags divided by 200 tea bags to the pound=3 lbs. of tea.
(3) Subtract from the weight of the tea in the old size tea bags (the larger figure)	3.42 lbs.
the weight of the tea in the new size tea bags (the smaller figure)	3. lbs.
	.42 lbs.
(4) Difference in weight of	.42 lbs.
Multiplied by the cost per lb. of tea	$.465
Total	$.19530
(5) The maximum price for the old size tea bags	$5.40
Less the figure obtained in (4)	.1953
	$5.2047

(6) Since the shipping container of the new size tea bags contains only 300 tea bags, we must take 300/600ths or ½ of $5.2047, the figure obtained in (5) which results in the figure $2.6023.

(7) Since 23/100ths of a cent is less than ½ cent, round out the figure of $2.6023 to $2.60.

(b) For tea bags changed to 200 to the pound in packages containing 8, 16, and 48 tea bags; one ounce tea bags in packages containing multiples of 16 tea bags and packaged tea in 4 ounce and 1⅜ ounce packages. Tea packers who formerly packed tea in weights and sizes other than (1) tea bags 200 to the pound in packages containing 8, 16 and 48 tea bags, (2) one ounce tea bags in packages containing multiples of 16 tea bags or (3) packaged tea in 4 ounce or 1⅜ ounce packages, and now change to such new weights or sizes shall determine their maximum prices for such new weights or sizes by calculating as follows:

(1) Tea bags. (i) Calculate the present (GMPR) maximum price per tea bag in old weight or size.

(ii) Add to or subtract from the maximum price per tea bag in old weight or size (result of (i)) the differential for this new weight or size as shown in Table No. 1.

(iii) For maximum price per case or other unit multiply maximum price per new size tea bag (result of (ii)) by number of tea bags to be used in new size case or unit.

Example

Old size pack: 36/10's, 250 tea bags to the pound. Maximum price $2.55.

New size pack: 36/8's, 200 tea bags to the pound.

1. 36×10=360 tea bags in old size unit pack, $2.55÷360=$.00708, maximum price per tea bag.

2. $.00708+$.00070 (the differential from Table 1)=$.00778.

3. $.00778×288 (number of bags in new size case)=$2.24 maximum price per new case.

(2) Packaged tea; 1⅜ oz. size. (i) Calculate the present (GMPR) maximum price of the old size per dozen packages.

(ii) Add to or subtract from this maximum price of the old size per dozen packages (result of (i)) the differential as shown for the new size in Table No. 1.

(iii) For a maximum price per case or other unit multiply (result of (ii)) maximum price per dozen of the new size by number of dozen packages to be used in new case or unit.

Example

Old size pack: 36/1⅛ oz. packages, maximum price, $2.50.

New size pack: 36/1⅜ oz. packages.

1. $2.50÷3 (number of dozen in old size pack)=$.83⅓ per doz.

2. $8.83⅓ − $8.06 (the differential from Table 1) = $8.77⅓.

3. $8.77⅓ × 3 (the number of dozen in new size pack) = $2.32, new maximum price per case.

(3) Packaged tea; 4 oz. size. (i) Calculate the present (GMPR) maximum price of the old size for one pound.

(ii) Subtract from maximum price per pound of old size packages (result of (i)) the differential shown for the new size in Table No. 1.

(iii) For a maximum price per case or other unit multiply the maximum price per pound of the new size package (result of (ii)) by the number of pounds to be used in the new size case or unit.

Example

Old size pack: 24/3 oz. package, maximum price, $3.70.

New size pack: 24/4 oz. packages.

1. 24×3 oz. = 72 oz. or 4½ pounds.

$3.70 ÷ 4½ pounds = $8.8222 per pound.

2. $8.8222 − $.01 (the differential from Table 1) = $8.8122.

3. 24×4 oz. (the new size) = 96 oz. or 6 pounds.

$8.8122 × 6 pounds = $4.87 maximum price per new pack.

(4) In calculating new maximum prices of the tea bags or tea packages as provided herein, all calculations shall be carried to the fifth decimal place of a dollar. Where the maximum price resulting from the calculations for the unit to be sold contains a fraction of one-half cent or more it shall be raised to the next higher cent. Where it results in a fraction of less than one-half cent, it shall be lowered to the next lower cent.

(5) If the maximum price for any size and weight of tea cannot be determined under this section, the tea packer's maximum prices for such weight and size shall be as specifically authorized by order of the Price Administrator after application. A packer who seeks such authorization shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., an application for adjustment in the manner prescribed by the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, setting forth: (1) all his old sizes of the brand of packaged tea and tea bags and their maximum prices, (2) the new size.

Article II—Beverages

SEC. 2.1 Soft drinks.—(a) Maximum prices for bottlers and wholesalers to sellers at retail. (1) A bottler whose maximum price to a retailer for a soft drink as determined under the general provisions of § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation (herein called the unadjusted maximum price) is less than the maximum adjusted price set forth in the schedule of this paragraph (a) may add to his unadjusted maximum price the amount of the "permitted increase" set forth in such schedule: Provided, That prices so increased shall in no event exceed the maximum adjusted price set forth in this schedule.

(2) A wholesaler whose supplier has adjusted his maximum price under the provisions of this section may adjust his own maximum price as determined under the general provisions of § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation by adding thereto the amount of the "permitted increase" set forth in the schedule of this section: Provided, That the price so increased shall in no event exceed the maximum adjusted price set forth in such schedule.

(3) Schedule of permitted increase of maximum adjusted price for bottlers and wholesalers of soft drinks to retailers.

Size	Unit of sale	Permitted increase	Maximum adjusted price
6–23 oz. bottles, incl.	Case of 24	5 cents per cs.	$.80

(b) Maximum prices for bottlers to wholesalers. The bottler's maximum price to a wholesaler for a soft drink shall be the maximum price determined under the schedule in paragraph (a) of this section less the amount expressed in dollars and cents by which the bottler's average selling price to retailers during July, 1941, exceeded the bottler's average selling price to wholesalers during the same period.

(c) Maximum prices for retailers. A seller of a soft drink at retail whose supplier has adjusted his maximum price under the provisions of this section may adjust his own maximum price as determined under the general provisions of § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation by adding thereto the amount in dollars and cents by which his supplier's maximum price has been increased: Provided, That in the case of soft drinks sold in containers of 6–23 oz., inclusive, the maximum price at retail, as adjusted hereunder, shall not exceed five cents per bottle.

(1) In figuring his adjusted maximum price under the provisions of this section, a seller of a soft drink at retail shall take the amount of the increase in price per case which has been reported to him by his supplier and divide it by the number of bottles in the case to get the per bottle increase. For single bottle sales he shall add the per bottle increase to his unadjusted maximum price for a single bottle sale. For quantity sales he shall first multiply the per bottle increase by the number of bottles sold and add this latter figure to his unadjusted maximum price for a sale in that quantity. If, after doing this, in the case either of single bottle or quantity sales, he gets a fractional cent price, he shall adjust the price to the next lower cent if the fraction is less than half a cent, or to the next higher cent if the fraction is one-half a cent or greater.

(2) Table showing maximum prices which may be charged by a retailer when price to retailer has been increased by bottler or wholesaler.

Bottled water	Single bottles or quantity sales	March ceiling price plus increase.

(d) Definition. "Soft drinks" means flavored or unflavored nonalcoholic beverages and waters in bottles or other closed containers, whether carbonated or not, but excluding milk drinks and drinks consisting of fruit juices, vegetable juices, and combinations thereof, where at least 85 per cent by weight of such drinks is pure fruit juices, vegetable juices or a mixture thereof.

(e) Notification to retailers. (1) On or before the first delivery after the effective date of the price increase every bottler and wholesaler who increases his maximum price or prices for soft drinks under the provisions of this section shall (i) prepare and supply to each retailer to whom he sells or contracts to sell such soft drinks, a statement written or printed by any method showing the soft drink and size thereof on which a price increase has been made, the permitted increase which may be made by the retailer per case and the permitted increase which may be made by the retailer per bottle on such sizes of such drinks, and (ii) file a copy of each such statement or, if the same statement is supplied to any class of purchasers, one copy of such statement within 30 days thereof with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.

(2) The statement to be supplied by the bottler or wholesaler to the retailer, as above required, shall contain the following information:

Item: (description of item, including bottle size.) Permitted increase per case of ____ bottles ____¢. You may add ____ cent (s) per bottle to your March 1942, ceiling price. However, the retail price shall not exceed 5 cents per bottle for 6 to 23 ounce bottles, inclusive.

On single bottle sales add the per bottle increase to your March 1942, ceiling price.

On quantity sales multiply the per bottle increase by number of bottles sold and add this amount to your March, 1942, ceiling price charged for sales of the same quantity.

If in either case above the total is a fractional cent price, adjust to next lower cent if fraction is less than half cent, or to the next higher cent if fraction is one-half cent or more.

(f) Applicability. The provisions of this section shall be applicable to the United States and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 2.2 Vintners' maximum prices for California grape wine—(a) Base maximum price; wine in carload lots. On and after November 1, 1942, every vintner's base maximum price for California grape wine in bulk in carload lots shall be as follows:

	Cents per gallon naked, f. o. b. winery
Dessert wine	$.39
Table wine	.21½

Provided, That if the maximum price established for any vintner under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation for dessert wine or for table wine in bulk in carload lots is higher than the base maximum price set forth above, such vintner's base maximum price for such dessert or table wine shall be the maximum price established therefor under said § 1499.2. Vintners' customary price differentials charged in March 1942, for bulk California grape wine in barrels or other containers larger than 4½ gallons capacity but less than a carload lot may be charged for the same container size after November 1, 1942.

(b) Permitted increase. On and after November 1, 1942, any vintner may add to the maximum prices established for him under said § 1499.2 or to his base maximum prices for California grape wine established under (a), a permitted increase per gallon for dessert wine and for table wine computed as hereinafter prescribed. To compute his permitted increase per gallon, each vintner shall:

(1) Figure the weighted average price per ton paid by him during the 1941 season for grapes to be crushed into California grape wine.

(2) Figure the weighted average price per ton paid or contracted to be paid by him in good faith during the 1942 season up to and including October 27, 1942, for grapes to be crushed into California grape wine.

(3) Subtract the price computed under (1) from the price computed under (2). The result of the subtraction, or $8.30, whichever is the lower, shall be the vintner's allowable grape cost increase. In the case of a growers' cooperative operating a winery, and in the case of a vintner who grows more than 50 per cent of the grapes crushed and to be crushed by him, the allowable grape cost increase shall be $8.30.

(4) Figure the number of tons of grapes acquired or contracted to be acquired by him in good faith during the 1942 season up to and including October 27, 1942, for crushing into wine, and make a bona fide estimate of the number of additional tons of grapes he will acquire during the remainder of the 1942 season for crushing into wine. The number of tons of grapes acquired or contracted to be acquired by him in good faith and the estimated number of additional tons of grapes to be acquired shall be added together, and the total shall be the vintner's estimated 1942 grape tonnage.

(5) Divide his estimated 1942 grape tonnage computed under (4) into two parts corresponding to the portions of his estimated 1942 grape tonnage to be crushed into dessert wine and into table wine.

(6) Multiply his allowable grape cost increase figured under (3) by his estimated 1942 grape tonnage for dessert wine and for table wine figured under (5).

(7) Determine his total estimated 1942 crush by figuring his estimated 1942 grape tonnage as converted into wine on the basis of 80 gallons of dessert wine produced from each ton of grapes to be crushed for that purpose, and 160 gallons of table wine produced from each ton of grapes to be crushed for that purpose. The resulting figures will be the vintner's estimated 1942 crush of dessert wine and his estimated 1942 crush of table wine, respectively.

(8) Multiply his estimated 1942 crush of dessert wine by 1.7 cents. Multiply his estimated 1942 crush of table wine by 0.85 cents.

(9) Add the dollar amount computed under (6) for dessert wine to the dollar amount computed under (8) for dessert wine. Add the dollar amount computed under (6) for table wine to the dollar amount computed under (8) for table wine. The totals are, respectively, the vintner's total dollar allowance for dessert wine and his total dollar allowance for table wine.

(10) Figure in gallons his total inventory of dessert wine and of table wine, respectively, as of October 27, 1942 (including any portion of his 1942 crush then on hand) and add thereto his estimated 1942 crush of dessert wine and of table wine, respectively, computed under (7). The sum of his total inventory of dessert wine and his estimated 1942 crush of dessert wine shall be his total gallonage of dessert wine. The sum of his total inventory of table wine and his estimated 1942 crush of table wine shall be his total gallonage of table wine.

(11) Divide his total dollar allowance for dessert wine computed under (9) by his total gallonage of dessert wine computed under (10). Divide his total dollar allowance for table wine computed under (9) by his total gallonage of table wine computed under (10). The resulting figures are the vintner's permitted increases per gallon for dessert wine and for table wine, respectively: Provided, That in the case of concentrates and condensed grape must, the permitted increase per gallon shall be increased in proportion to the ratio of concentration: And provided further, That a vintner's permitted increase per gallon for California light sweet wine shall not exceed 90 percent of his permitted increase for dessert wine.

(c) Taxes; permitted increase. Any vintner may, at any time, add to the maximum prices established for him under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation or to his base maximum prices for California grape wine the amount of any new tax, or any increase in an existing tax incident to the sale, delivery, processing or use thereof, imposed upon the vintner after March 31, 1942, by any statute of the United States, or by any statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof: Provided, That such amount has actually been paid or has accrued and will be payable by the vintner to the proper taxing authorities or to any prior vendor with respect to the particular kind and quantity of California grape wine in question.

SEC. 2.3 Distillers' maximum prices for California grape spirits—(a) Base maximum prices. On and after November 1, 1942, every distiller's base maximum prices for California grape spirits shall be the maximum prices established for him under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(b) Permitted increase. On and after November 1, 1942, any distiller may add to his base maximum prices for California grape spirits a permitted increase per proof gallon computed as hereinafter set forth. To compute his permitted increase each distiller shall:

(1) Figure the weighted average price per ton paid by him during the 1941 season for grapes to be crushed into California grape spirits.

(2) Figure the weighted average price per ton paid or contracted to be paid by him in good faith during the 1942 season up to and including October 27, 1942, for grapes to be crushed into California grape spirits.

(3) Subtract the price computed under (1) from the price computed under (2). The result of this subtraction, or $8.30, whichever is lower, shall be the distiller's allowable grape cost increase. In the case of a growers' cooperative operating a winery and in the case of a distiller who grows more than 50 percent of the grapes crushed and to be crushed by him, the allowable grape cost increase shall be $8.30.

(4) Figure the number of tons of grapes acquired or contracted to be acquired by him in good faith during the 1942 season up to and including October 27, 1942, for crushing into grape spirits and make a bona fide estimate of the number of additional tons of grapes he will acquire during the remainder of the 1942 season for crushing into grape spirits. The number of tons of grapes acquired or contracted to be acquired by him in good faith and the estimated number of additional tons of grapes to be acquired shall be added together and the total shall be the distiller's estimated 1942 grape tonnage.

(5) Multiply his allowable grape cost increase figured under (3) by his estimated 1942 grape tonnage figured under (4).

(6) Determine his estimated 1942 crush by figuring his estimated 1942 grape tonnage as converted into grape spirits on the basis of 40 proof gallons of grape spirits produced from each ton of grapes to be crushed for that purpose.

(7) Multiply the number of proof gallons figured under (6) by 1½ cents per proof gallon.

(8) Add the dollar amount computed under (5) to the dollar amount computed under (7). The result will be the distiller's total dollar allowance for California grape spirits.

(9) Divide his total dollar allowance computed under (8) by his estimated 1942 crush computed under (6). The result will be the distiller's permitted increase per proof gallon.

(c) Taxes; permitted increase. Any distiller may at any time add to his base maximum prices for California grape spirits the amount of any new tax or any increase in an existing tax incident to the sale, delivery, processing or use thereof imposed upon the distiller after March 31, 1942, by any statute of the United States or by any statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof: Provided, That such amount has actually been paid or has accrued and will be payable by the distiller to the proper taxing authorities or to any prior vendor with respect to the particular kind and quantity of California grape spirits in question.

(d) Notification. When a distiller sells any quantity of any type, quality and container size of California grape spirits at a price in excess of his base maximum price established under (a) he shall:

(1) Figure the total permitted increase per proof gallon under (b) and (c) for each type, quality, and container size of California grape spirits sold. No adjustments of fractional parts of a cent shall be made in figuring a distiller's permitted increase hereunder.

(2) Notify the purchaser at or before the first delivery of each type, quality, and container size of California grape spirits to such purchaser of the total permitted increase per container figured under (1) for each such type, quality, and container size.

(3) No distiller is required to give a notice to any purchaser of any type, quality or container size of California grape spirits after one notice to such purchaser of the distiller's maximum price for such type, quality, and container size as increased under (b) and/or (c): Provided, That if such distiller's maximum price for any type, quality, and container size of California grape spirits is subsequently adjusted under (c), a similar notice covering such adjustment shall be given by the distiller to such purchaser.

SEC. 2.4 Records, reports, and correction of maximum prices applicable to vintners and distillers subject to sections 2.2 and 2.3—(a) Records. (1) Each vintner of California grape wine and each distiller of California grape spirits shall preserve for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 remains in effect all his existing records relating to

(i) The number of tons of grapes purchased by him during the 1941 season for crushing purposes and the prices paid therefor, and

(ii) The number of tons of grapes purchased or contracted to be purchased by him during the 1942 season prior to November 1, 1942, for crushing into wine and/or grape spirits respectively and the prices paid or contracted to be paid therefor.

(2) Each vintner of California grape wine and each distiller of California grape spirits shall make and preserve for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 remains in effect, complete and accurate records relating to the number of tons of grapes purchased by him during the 1942 season subsequent to November 1, 1942, for crushing into wine and/or grape spirits respectively and to the prices paid therefor.

(b) Reports. (1) On or before January 15, 1943, each vintner of California grape wine and each distiller of California grape spirits shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., a statement showing

(i) The number of tons of grapes actually purchased by him during the 1942 season to December 31, 1942, for crushing into wine and/or grape spirits respectively and the total price paid therefor.

(ii) The total number of gallons of unfinished wine purchased by him from November 1, 1942, to December 31, 1942, and the total price paid therefor.

(iii) The weighted average selling price per gallon charged by him for dessert wine and for table wine respectively in carload lots asked, f. o. b. winery, from November 1, 1942, to December 31, 1942.

(2) On or before February 15, 1943, each vintner of California grape wine and each distiller of California grape spirits shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., a statement showing separately the number of gallons of finished and unfinished wine purchased or otherwise acquired by him either in bulk or in containers during the period from October 27, 1942, to December 31, 1942. Such statement shall show the date of each such purchase or acquisition, the name and address of the seller, the prices paid therefor, the type, quality, and quantity purchased from each seller and the kind of container in which the wine was received by the vintner or distiller. Each statement shall show whether the finished and unfinished wine so purchased is in the vintner's or distiller's inventory or has been used or sold, and if sold in bulk, shall show the date of sale, name and address of the buyer, selling price, and the place to which it was shipped by the vintner or distiller.

(c) Correction of permitted increases by the Office of Price Administration. The Office of Price Administration or any duly authorized officer thereof, may by order adjust the permitted increase computed by any vintner under paragraph (b) of section 2.2 or by any distiller under paragraph (b) of section 2.3, both of this regulation, if such vintner or distiller fails to file the statement required under (b) (1) and/or (b) (2) above, or if the statements filed show that:

(1) The weighted average price per ton of grapes computed under (b) (2) of section 2.2 or under (b) (2) of section 2.3, both of this regulation, is substantially above or below the weighted average price per ton actually paid by the vintner or distiller during the 1942 season for grapes to be crushed into wine or grape spirits respectively, or that

(2) The estimated 1942 grape tonnage computed under (b) (4) of section 2.2 or (b) (4) of section 2.3, both of this regulation, is substantially above or below the number of tons of grapes actually purchased by the vintner or distiller during the 1942 season for grapes to be crushed into wine or grape spirits respectively, or that

(3) The amount of finished or unfinished California grape spirits purchased or otherwise acquired by the vintner or distiller after October 27, 1942, and during the remainder of the 1942 season is more than 1.25 times the amount of similar California grape wine and California grape spirits purchased or acquired by the vintner during the 1941 season: Provided, That the Office of Price Administration will make no adjustment of a vintner's or distiller's permitted increase under this subparagraph (3) if the vintner or distiller demonstrates that his purchases of finished and unfinished California grape wine and California grape spirits in excess of 1.25 times the amount of similar purchases during 1941 were for the sole purpose of maintaining his normal inventory balance.

SEC. 2.5 Bottlers' maximum prices for California grape wine—(a) Base maximum prices. On and after November 1, 1942, every bottler's base maximum prices for California grape wine shall be the maximum prices established for him under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(b) Permitted increase. On and after November 1, 1942, any bottler may add to the base maximum prices established for him under (a) a permitted increase for any brand, type, quality, and container size of California grape wine computed as hereinafter set forth. To compute his permitted increase, each bottler shall:

(1) Figure his weighted average cost per gallon for the quantity of each type and quality of California grape wine sold by him during March, 1942, or during the bottler's customary fiscal month ending nearest March 31, 1942. Cost per gallon shall be figured on a naked f. o. b. winery basis.

(2) Figure his weighted average cost per gallon on his first purchase of the same type and quality of California grape wine at a price adjusted by the vintner under section 2.2 of this regulation. Cost per gallon shall be figured on a naked f. o. b. winery basis in the same containers used in the computation under (1).

(3) Subtract the costs computed under (1) from the corresponding costs computed under (2). The results of the subtractions shall be the bottler's initial permitted increase per gallon for each type and quality of California grape wine.

(4) Figure his weighted average cost per gallon for the quantity of each type and quality of California grape wine purchased by him during every calendar month after his first purchase at prices adjusted by the vintner under section 2.2 of this regulation, or during his customary fiscal month ending nearest the end of such calendar months. Cost per gallon shall be figured on a naked f. o. b. winery basis in the same containers as those used in the computation under (1).

(5) Subtract the costs computed under (1) for March, 1942, from the corresponding costs computed for each calendar or fiscal month under (4). The results of the subtraction shall be the bottler's permitted increase per gallon for each brand, type, and quality of California grape wine sold by him in the next calendar or fiscal month.

(6) Determine his permitted increase per container, case or other unit of sale for each brand, type, and quality of California grape wine by converting his permitted increase per gallon computed under (3) or (5) into the permitted increase applicable to such container, case or other unit of sale according to the number of gallons or fractional gallons of each brand, type, and quality of California grape wine therein.

(7) No bottler may increase his previous month's permitted increase per gallon for any brand, type or quality of California grape wine unless

(i) His permitted increase per gallon therefor, computed under (5) for a subsequent calendar or fiscal month, exceeds his previous month's permitted increase per gallon therefor by two or more cents per gallon; and

(ii) The quantity of the particular brand, type or quality of California grape wine upon which his permitted increase per gallon is computed under (5) is at least equal to the monthly average of his purchases of such California grape wine during the preceding twelve calendar or fiscal months.

(8) No bottler shall be required to decrease his previous month's permitted increase per gallon for any brand, type or quality of California grape wine unless his permitted increase per gallon therefor, computed under (5) for a subsequent calendar or fiscal month, is less than his previous month's permitted increase per gallon therefor by two or more cents per gallon: Provided, That no bottler shall be required to reduce his maximum price for a particular brand, type or quality of California grape wine below his base maximum price therefor established under (a), plus any increase in such base maximum price permitted under (c).

(c) Taxes; permitted increase. (1) Any bottler may, at any time, add to his base maximum prices for California grape wine the amount of any new tax, or any increase in an existing tax incident to the sale, delivery, processing or use thereof imposed upon the bottler after March 31, 1942, by any statute of the United States or any statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof: Provided, That such amount has actually been paid or has accrued and will be payable by the bottler to the proper taxing authorities or to any prior vendor with respect to the particular kind and quantity of California grape wine in question. After any bottler has adjusted his maximum prices to include a permitted increase under (b), the provisions of this paragraph shall no longer apply to the amount of the Federal floor stocks tax imposed in connection with the increase in Federal Excise Tax effective November 1, 1942.

(2) The bottler shall convert the permitted increase with respect to taxes into a permitted increase per container, case or other unit of sale on the basis of the number of gallons or fractional gallon of each brand, type, and quality of the California grape wine contained in the container, case or other unit of sale in question.

(d) Notification. Commencing with his first sale and monthly thereafter, in the event of an adjustment of his maximum prices, as provided in (b) and (c), each bottler shall:

(1) Figure the permitted increases under (b) and (c) for each brand, type, quality, and container size of California grape wine sold without adjusting fractional parts of a cent. If the total of such permitted increases includes the fractional part of a cent, the total shall be adjusted to the nearest higher full cent if the fraction is ½ cent or more, or to the nearest lower full cent if the fraction is less than ½ cent.

(2) Notify purchasers in writing as follows:

(i) If the purchaser is a wholesaler, the bottler shall notify him, at or before the first delivery of each brand, type, and quality of California grape wine to such wholesaler, of the total permitted increase per container, case or unit of sale figured under (d) (1) for each such brand, type, and quality of California grape wine.

(ii) If the purchaser is a retailer, the bottler shall confirm any sales or deliveries of California grape wine made to the retailer after November 1, 1942, and prior to November 9, 1942, by a written statement as follows, and shall supply the retailer, commencing November 9, 1942, on or before the bottler's first subsequent delivery of California grape wine, with a written statement as follows:

(iii) Notice given by a bottler to a retailer prior to January 28, 1943, in accordance with Amendment 54 to Supplementary Regulation No. 14, shall be deemed compliance with the provisions of (d) (2) (ii) with respect to the kinds of California grape wine listed in Tables VI and VII. Every bottler shall, however, give each retailer notice as provided in (d) (2) (ii) with respect to each kind of California grape wine listed in Tables I, II, III, IV, and V, at or before his first delivery thereof to such retailers after January 27, 1943.

(iv) No bottler is required to give a notice to any purchaser of any brand, type, quality or container size of California grape wine after one notice to such purchaser of the bottler's maximum price for such brand, type, quality, and container size as increased under (b) and/or (c): Provided, That if such bottler's maximum price for any brand, type, quality, and container size of California grape wine is subsequently adjusted upward or downward under (b) or (c), a similar notice covering such adjustment shall be given by the bottler to each purchaser other than a retailer.

SEC. 2.6 Wholesalers' maximum prices for California grape wine—(a) Base maximum price. On and after November 1, 1942, every wholesaler's base maximum prices for California grape wine shall be the maximum prices established for him under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(b) Permitted increase; wines in bulk. On and after November 1, 1942, any wholesaler may add to the base maximum prices established for him under (a) for any type and quality of California grape wine in bulk a permitted increase computed as hereinafter set forth. To compute his permitted increase each wholesaler shall:

(1) Figure his weighted average cost per gallon for the quantity of each type and quality of California grape wine in bulk sold by him during March, 1942, or during his customary fiscal month ending nearest March 31, 1942. Cost per gallon shall be figured on a naked f. o. b. winery basis.

(2) Figure his weighted average cost per gallon of his first purchase of the same type and quality of California grape wine in bulk at a price adjusted by the vintner under section 2.2 of this regulation. Such average cost shall be figured on a naked f. o. b. winery basis in the same containers used as in the computation under (1).

(3) Subtract the costs computed under (1) from the corresponding costs computed under (2). The results of the subtractions shall be the wholesaler's initial permitted increase per gallon for the quantity of each type and quality of California grape wine in bulk.

(4) Figure his weighted average cost per gallon for the quantity of each type and quality of California grape wine in bulk purchased by him during every calendar month after his first purchase at prices adjusted by the vintner under section 2.2 of this regulation, or during his customary fiscal month ending nearest the end of such calendar month. Cost per gallon shall be figured on a naked f. o. b. winery basis in the same containers as used in the computation under (1).

(5) Subtract the costs computed under (1) from the corresponding costs computed for each calendar or fiscal month under (4). The results of the subtraction shall be the wholesaler's permitted increase per gallon for each brand, type, and quality of California grape wine in bulk sold by him in the following calendar or fiscal month.

(c) Permitted increase; wines other than bulk. On and after November 1, 1942, upon receipt of notification given by a bottler pursuant to section 2.5 (d) (2) (i), any wholesaler may add to the base maximum price established for him under (a) above, for any brand, type, quality, and container size of California grape wine, the permitted increase stated in said notice and applicable to the brand, type, quality, and container size of California grape wine in question. Upon receipt of a subsequent notice from the bottler, raising or lowering the permitted increase applicable to any brand, type, quality, or container size of California grape wine, the wholesaler may adjust his permitted increase upward and shall adjust his permitted increase downward in accordance with said notice. Such adjustments in the wholesaler's permitted increase shall not apply to his inventory at the date of receipt of the notice.

(d) Taxes; permitted increase. Any wholesaler may, at any time, add to his base maximum prices for California grape wine the amount of any new tax or any increase in an existing tax incident to the sale, delivery, processing or use thereof, imposed upon the wholesaler after March 31, 1942, by any statute of the United States or any statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof: Provided, That such amount has actually been paid or has accrued and will be payable by the wholesaler to the proper taxing authorities or to any prior vendor with respect to the particular kind and quantity of California grape wine in question. The wholesaler shall add the permitted increase for taxes to his maximum prices for the particular quantity of the brand, type, quality, and container size on the basis of the number of gallons or fractional gallon of California grape wine in the particular container, case or unit of sale.

(e) Notification. When a wholesaler sells any quantity of any brand, type, quality or container size of California grape wine either in bulk or otherwise at a price in excess of his base maximum price established under (a) above, he shall:

(1) Figure the total permitted increases under (b) or (c) and (d) for each brand, type, quality, and container size of California grape wine without adjusting fractional parts of a cent. If the total of such permitted increases includes the fractional part of a cent, the total shall be adjusted to the nearest higher full cent if the fraction is one-half cent or more or to the nearest lower full cent if the fraction is less than one-half cent.

(2) Confirm any sales or deliveries of any brand, type, quality, and container size of California grape wine made to any purchaser after November 1, 1942, and before November 9, 1942, by a written statement and supply the purchaser, commencing November 9, 1942, on or before the wholesaler's first subsequent delivery of any California grape wine to such purchaser, with a written statement in the manner and form provided in section 2.5 (d) (2), (i), (ii), (iii), and (iv) as if such wholesaler were a bottler.

(3) No wholesaler is required to give a notice to any purchaser of any brand, type, quality or container size of California grape wine after one notice to such purchaser of the wholesaler's maximum price for such brand, type, quality or container size as increased under (b) and/or (c) and (d): Provided, That if such wholesaler's maximum price for any brand, type, quality and container size of California grape wine is subsequently adjusted upward or downward under (b) and/or (c) and (d), a similar notice covering such adjustment shall be given by the wholesaler to each purchaser other than a retailer.

(f) Wholesalers' maximum prices for concentrates and condensed grape must shall be computed according to the ratio of concentration and in the same manner as herein provided for their maximum prices of California grape wine.

SEC. 2.7 Packers' maximum prices for California grape wine—(a) Base maximum prices. On and after November 1, 1942, every packer's base maximum prices for California grape wine shall be the maximum prices established for him under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(b) Permitted increase—(1) Sales of bulk wine in original container or car. On and after November 1, 1942, any packer may add to the base maximum price established for him under (a) a permitted increase for any kind and quality of California grape wine sold by him in the container or car in which it was received. Such permitted increase shall be computed in accordance with the provisions under section 2.6 (b) and (d) as if such packer were a wholesaler.

(2) Sales of wine repacked. On and after November 1, 1942, any packer may add to the base maximum price established for him under (a) a permitted increase for any brand, type, and quality of California grape wine sold by him otherwise than in the container or car in which it was received. Such permitted increase shall be computed in accordance with the provisions of section 2.5 (b) and (c) as if such packer were a bottler.

(c) Taxes; permitted increase. Any packer may at any time add to his base maximum prices for California grape wine the amount of any new tax or any increase in an existing tax incident to the sale, delivery, processing or use thereof, imposed upon the packer after March 31, 1942, by any statute of the United States or any statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof: Provided, That such amount has actually been paid, or has accrued and will be payable by the packer to the proper taxing authorities or to any prior vendor with respect to the particular kind and quantity of California grape wine in question. The packer shall add the permitted increase for taxes to his maximum prices for the particular quantity of the brand, type, quality, and container size on the basis of the number of gallons or fractional gallons of California grape wine in the particular container, case or unit of sale.

(d) Notification. When a packer sells any quantity of any brand, type, quality, and container size of California grape wine at a price in excess of the base maximum price established for him under (a) he shall:

(1) Figure the total permitted increase under (b) and/or (c) for each brand, type, and quality of California grape wine in the particular container, case or unit of sale. If the resulting total includes the fractional part of a cent, that total shall be adjusted to the nearest higher full cent if the fraction is one-half cent or more, or to the nearest lower full cent if the fraction is less than one-half cent.

(2) Notify purchasers in writing as if the packer were a bottler, as follows:

(i) If the purchaser is a wholesaler, the packer shall notify him in the manner and form provided in section 2.5 (d) (2) (i),

(ii) If the purchaser is a retailer, the packer shall notify him in the manner and form provided in section 2.5 (d) (2) (ii) and (iii).

(iii) Each packer shall give subsequent notices to purchasers in the manner and form and under the circumstances provided in section 2.5 (d) (2) (iv).

(e) Packers' maximum prices for concentrates and condensed grape must shall be computed according to the ratio of concentration and in the same manner as herein provided for their maximum prices for California grape wine.

SEC. 2.8 Retailers' maximum prices for California grape wine. (a) On and after November 1, 1942, any retailer may add to the maximum prices established for him under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation for any brand, type, quality, and container size of California grape wine a permitted increase per bottle as follows:

Permitted increases in container sizes larger than one gallon shall be proportionate to the permitted increase for one gallon.

(b) Taxes; permitted increase. Any retailer may at any time add to his base maximum prices for California grape wine established under (a) the amount of any new tax or any increase in an existing tax incident to the sale, delivery, processing or use thereof imposed upon him after March 31, 1942, by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof: Provided, That such amount has actually been paid or has accrued and will be payable by the retailer to the proper taxing authorities or to any prior vendor with respect to the particular kind and quantity of California grape wine in question. If the permitted increase for new or existing taxes computed on the quantity of California grape wine in the particular container, case or unit of sale results in a figure including the fractional part of a cent, the retailer shall adjust his maximum price to the nearest higher full cent if the fraction is one-half cent or over, or to the nearest lower full cent if the fraction is under one-half cent. The provisions of this paragraph (b) shall not apply to the increases in the Federal Excise Tax which became effective November 1, 1942, as allowance for such tax increases is included in the increase of retail prices provided in (a) above.

SEC. 2.9 Wholesalers' maximum prices for California grape spirits—(a) Base maximum prices. On and after November 1, 1942, every wholesaler's base maximum prices for California grape spirits shall be the maximum prices established for him under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(b) Permitted increase. On and after November 1, 1942, upon receipt of notification given by a distiller pursuant to section 2.3 (d) (2), any wholesaler may add to the base maximum price established for him under (a) above for any brand, type, quality, and container size of California grape spirits the permitted increase stated in said notice and applicable to the type, quality, and container size of California grape spirits in question. Upon receipt of a subsequent notice from the distiller, adjusting the permitted increase applicable to any brand, type, quality or container size of California grape spirits, the wholesaler may adjust his permitted increase in accordance with said notice. Such adjustments in the wholesaler's permitted increase shall not apply to his inventory at the date of receipt of the notice.

(c) Taxes; permitted increase. Any wholesaler may at any time add to his base maximum prices for California grape spirits the amount of any new tax or any increase in an existing tax incident to the sale, delivery, processing or use thereof, imposed upon the wholesaler after March 31, 1942, by any statute of the United States or any statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof: Provided, That such amount has actually been paid or has accrued and will be payable by the wholesaler to the proper taxing authorities or to any prior vendor with respect to the particular kind and quantity of California grape spirits in question. The wholesaler shall add the permitted increase for taxes to his maximum prices for the particular quantity of the type, quality, and container size on the basis of the number of proof gallons of California grape spirits in the particular container or unit of sale.

(d) Notification. When a wholesaler sells any quantity of any type, quality or container size of California grape spirits at a price in excess of his base maximum price established under (a) he shall:

(1) Figure the total permitted increases under (b) and (c) for each type, quality, and container size of California grape spirits. If the total of these permitted increases includes the fractional part of a cent, the total shall be adjusted to the nearest higher full cent if the fraction is ½ cent or more, or to the nearest lower full cent if the fraction is less than ½ cent.

(2) Confirm any sales or deliveries of any type, quality and container size of California grape spirits made to any purchaser after November 1, 1942, and before November 9, 1942, by a written statement and supply the purchaser commencing November 9, 1942, on or before the wholesaler's first subsequent delivery of any California grape spirits to such purchaser, with a written statement specifying the amount of the wholesaler's permitted increases for the particular type, quality, and container size of California grape spirits sold.

(3) No wholesaler is required to give notice to any purchaser of any type, quality or container size of California grape spirits after one notice to such purchaser of the wholesaler's maximum price for such type, quality, and container size as increased under (b) and/or (c): Provided, That if such wholesaler's maximum price for any type, quality, and container size of California grape spirits is subsequently adjusted under (c), a similar notice covering such adjustment shall be given by the wholesaler to each purchaser.

SEC. 2.10 Maximum prices for California grape wine and California grape spirits for sellers not specifically provided for. (a) If any seller's base maximum price for any brand, type or quality of California grape wine or California grape spirits cannot be determined under sections 2.2 to 2.9, inclusive, the seller's base maximum price therefor shall be the maximum price established under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation for the most closely competitive seller of the same class for the same kind and quality of California grape wine or California grape spirits, or for the similar commodities most nearly like them (as such term is defined in § 1499.2) for sales to a purchaser of the same class.

(2) Divide the total permitted tax increase per case computed under (1) with respect to each brand, type, and quality of imported distilled spirits or imported wines within the particular case by the number of individual containers of that brand, type, quality, and container size of imported distilled spirits or imported wines within such case.

(3) Adjust the figures arrived at under (2) to the next higher even cent if the fraction is ½ cent or over, and to the next lower even cent if the fraction is less than ½ cent. (d) Computation of permitted tax increase per unit served by retailers other than packaged good retailers. If the seller is a retailer other than a packaged goods retailer, he shall compute the amount of the permitted tax increase per individual unit or drink served by dividing the amount of the permitted tax increase per container size by the number of particular units or drinks of equal quantity customarily derived by such seller from the particular container size. The figures thus arrived at shall be adjusted to the next higher even cent if the fraction is ½ cent or over, and to the next lower even cent if the fraction is less than ½ cent. The resulting figure shall be the permitted tax increase per individual unit or drink served by such sellers of imported distilled spirits or imported wines.

(e) Definitions. (1) "Container" when used in connection with imported distilled spirits shall mean a liquor bottle or other closed receptacle of imported distilled spirits; and when used in connection with imported wines shall mean any bottle, cask or other closed receptacle irrespective of size or of the material from which made.

(2) In the event that any vendor of imported distilled spirits or wines, whether domestic or imported, is permitted to increase his maximum price to any monopoly state for any imported distilled spirits or wines to cover new or increased taxes, such monopoly state may add to its maximum prices for such imported distilled spirits or wines in accordance with subparagraph (3) hereof the exact amount per case and per container which is furnished to it by its vendor pursuant to paragraph (b) below.

The total amount of any new or increased tax shall be computed on the basis of the number of gallons or fractional gallons of the particular brand, type, and quality of imported distilled spirits or wines contained in the particular case. The total amount of any new or increased tax so computed shall then be divided by the number of containers in the case of the particular brand, type, and quality of imported distilled spirits or wines. The figures so arrived at per case and per container shall then be adjusted to the next higher even cent if the fraction is ½ cent or more, and to the next lower even cent if the fraction is less than ½ cent. (a) Alternative maximum prices. If the retailer off-premise licensee in the New York City metropolitan territory shall elect to establish an alternative maximum price for sales of any particular brand, type, and container size of packaged imported whiskey, he shall determine such maximum price as follows:

(1) The retailer off-premise licensee shall determine his net cost per case for his largest single purchase of the particular brand, type, and container size in question in February, 1943, or if no purchase of the particular commodity in question was made in that month, such net cost in the nearest preceding month in which a purchase of the commodity was made during the period from July 19, 1942, through January 31, 1943. "Net Cost" shall not include the amount of the increased Federal excise tax of November 1, 1942, and it shall mean the net price paid by the seller for the particular commodity in question delivered at his customary receiving point less all discounts allowed him, except the discount for prompt payment. Adjust the figure thus arrived at to the next higher even cent if the fraction is ½ cent or over and to the next lower even cent if the fraction is less than ½ cent.

(5) Multiply the resulting figure at (4), as computed by the Class I or Class II retailer off-premise licensee, as the case may be, by the percentage rate of any sales tax or similar tax imposed upon the seller by any ordinance of any subdivision of the state of New York within the New York City metropolitan territory. The resulting figure shall be rounded off to the nearest full cent in accordance with the pr. tice of the seller in March, 1942, and added to the amount determined at (4): Provided, That ence to which his net cost is determined; the name of his supplier; his former maximum price for the commodity in question; his new maximum price established under paragraph (a); and the method of his computations under paragraph (a).

(6) The resulting figure at (5) shall be such retailer's maximum price per unit for sales of the particular brand, type, and container size of packaged imported whiskey in question, and such maximum price shall be applicable to such retailer's floor stocks of the particular commodity priced hereunder as well as to new purchases of such commodity, subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) and (c).

(c) Maximum prices cannot be changed. (1) On and after the date of filing the report required by paragraph (b) the maximum price established by the retailer off-premise licensee for the particular brand, type, and container size of packaged imported whiskey in question shall not be changed unless an adjustment thereof is required for the addition of new or increased taxes in accordance with paragraph (a) (3), or unless a change is required by written notification from the District Office of the Office of Price Administration, New York City, New York.

(2) If a retailer off-premise licensee in the New York City metropolitan territory does not establish a maximum price under paragraph (a) by June 8, 1943, his maximum prices established under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation shall not be altered under the provisions of this section.

If such gross sales totalled $300,000 or more, he shall be a Class I retailer off-premise licensee for the purposes of this section. If such sales totalled less than $300,000, he shall be a Class II retailer off-premise licensee for the purposes of this section.

(2) If the retailer off-premise licensee cannot determine his classification by reference to such gross sales for 12 months during the calendar year 1941, such retailer shall determine his classification by reference to his gross sales during the earliest 12-month period commencing after January 1, 1941.

(3) Where the retailer's classification is determined by reference to any period of time after November 1, 1942, such retailer shall deduct from the amount of the gross sales made after such date the amount of the increase in the Federal excise tax which became effective on November 1, 1942 paid by the retailer to the proper taxing authorities or to any prior vendor.

(c) Reports. (1) On or before the twentieth day of each calendar month the seller of any semifabricated article containing newly-mined domestic silver shall file in the Office of the Secretary of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., a report on form OPA:677:125A covering the preceding calendar month and showing all purchases of newly-mined domestic silver, and the disposition thereof, made during the period covered by the report.

(2) The seller of any semifabricated articles containing newly-mined domestic silver, upon purchasing newly-mined domestic silver, shall cause the person from whom such silver is purchased to submit directly to the Director of the Mint, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., evidence for the purpose of establishing that the silver so purchased is newly-mined domestic silver. Such evidence shall include miners' affidavits on Treasury Department Forms TSA–2 or TSA–2A, executed pursuant to section 80.7 of the Newly-Mined Domestic Silver Regulations of July 6, 1939; and the seller of any semifabricated articles containing newly-mined domestic silver shall authorize and direct the Director of the Mint to cancel such affidavits.

(d) Records and certificates. Every sale of semifabricated articles containing newly-mined domestic silver shall be invoiced by the seller. The original invoice shall be delivered to the buyer, who shall preserve every such invoice for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than two years, and the seller shall preserve a copy of every such invoice for the same period. Each such invoice shall contain:

(1) The names and addresses of the buyer and seller;

(2) A full description of the articles sold;

(3) A statement of the silver content, in fine troy ounces, of the articles sold;

(4) A statement of the price charged; and

(d) Definitions. (1) "Newly mined domestic silver" means silver which the Director of the Mint, subject to any regulations which have been or may hereafter be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury pursuant to section 4 (c) of the Act of July 6, 1939, is satisfied has been mined subsequently to July 1, 1939, from natural deposits in the United States or any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof.

(2) "Silver bullion" means silver, other than newly-mined domestic silver, which has been melted, smelted or refined and which is in such state or condition that its value depends primarily upon the silver content and not upon its form.

(3) "Semifabricated article" refers to silver, other than newly-mined domestic silver, which has been melted, smelted or refined, and further processed, or combined with other materials, by alloying, machining, rolling, drawing, turning, blanking, slitting, cutting, spinning, remelting, recasting, or other similar process, or by being subjected to special refining processes, and which is in such state or condition that its value depends primarily upon the metallic silver content and not upon its form. The term includes, but is not restricted to, silver alloys, grain, shot, powder, wire, sheet, blanks, circles, solders, brazing alloys, sintered products, silver-clad metals, silver inlays and bar silver in weights or degrees of fineness different from the weight and fineness of standard commercial bars; it excludes, but without limitation, standard commercial bar silver and any article, other than those specifically referred to herein, which is suitable for ultimate use without further processing or combination with other materials.

SEC. 6.2 Semi-vitreous china and pottery: sales by jobbers—(a) Maximum prices. The maximum price for the sale by a jobber of any article of semi-vitreous china and pottery, on which the difference between the jobber's maximum price under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation and the manufacturer's maximum price to the jobber under Maximum Price Regulation No. 116 is lower than the difference received by the jobber during the period October 1 to 15, 1941, on sales of the same or similar articles, shall be 102½ percent of the jobber's maximum prices established by § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(b) Notification of purchasers. Every jobber who increases the price of semi-vitreous china and pottery, pursuant to the authority herein granted, shall furnish each purchaser, on the first sale to such purchaser at the increased price, with a copy of the following notice: "This price increase of 2½% has been authorized by the Office of Price Administration. It represents the proportionate share of the increase in manufacturer's price granted by Maximum Price Regulation No. 116 which you are required to absorb. We are absorbing our share. You are, therefore, not permitted to raise your present ceiling prices."

SEC. 6.3 New commercial motor vehicles—(a) Maximum prices. To the maximum price of any new commercial motor vehicle, determined in accordance with the provisions of § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, there may be added for each calendar month or greater part thereof after February 28, 1942, which elapses prior to the sale of such new commercial motor vehicle:

(1) In the case of new commercial motor vehicles other than trailers, the lower of the following two amounts: (i) 1 per cent of the list price of such new commercial motor vehicle and of the list price of any extra, special or optional equipment built into or installed on such vehicle, or if there is no such list price, 1 per cent of the price at which such new commercial motor vehicle or extra, special or optional equipment was last contracted to be sold between January 1, 1942, and March 31, 1942, or (ii) $25;

(2) In the case of trailers continuously stored indoors on and after October 31, 1942, the lower of the following two amounts (i) ¾ of 1 per cent of the list price of such trailer and of the list price of any extra, special or optional equipment built into or installed on such trailer, or if there is no such list price, ¾ of 1 per cent of the price at which such trailer or extra, special or optional equipment was last contracted to be sold between January 1, 1942, and March 31, 1942, or (ii) $20; and

(3) In the case of trailers stored outdoors at any time on or after October 31, 1942, the lower of the following amounts: (i) ½ of 1 per cent of the list price of such trailer and of the list price of any extra, special or optional equipment built into or installed on such trailer, or if there is no such list price, ½ of 1 per cent of the price at which such trailer or extra, special or optional equipment was last contracted to be sold between January 1, 1942, and March 31, 1942, or (ii) $15: Provided, That no amount whatsoever under subparagraphs (1), (2) or (3) of this paragraph (a) shall be added to such maximum price unless such new commercial motor vehicle shall have received maintenance operations as set forth in subparagraphs (4), (5), (6) or (7) of this paragraph (a) and the seller, at the time of delivery, shall have executed and delivered to the purchaser and to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., the certification set forth in paragraph (e).

(4) The new commercial motor vehicle shall have received, on and after October 31, 1942, the maintenance operations set forth in paragraph (b), as therein required.

(5) The new commercial motor vehicle has not received, on and after October 31, 1942, the maintenance operations set forth in paragraph (b), as therein required, but the time for the performance thereof has been extended under the provisions of paragraph (c) to a certain date, and the new commercial motor vehicle shall have received on and after such date, the maintenance operations set forth in paragraph (b), as therein required.

(6) (i) The new commercial motor vehicle has not received, on and after October 31, 1942, the maintenance operations set forth in paragraph (b), as therein required, but the seller has, prior to delivery, obtained permission from the Office of Price Administration, in accordance with subdivision (ii) below, to omit the performance of certain specified maintenance operations, and the new commercial motor vehicle has received all the other maintenance operations set forth in paragraph (b), as therein required.

(ii) In order to obtain permission to omit the performance of certain specified maintenance operations, the seller shall file a report with the nearest Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration setting forth: (a) the specific maintenance operations which have not and/or will not be performed, and a detailed statement of the reasons therefor; (b) a statement that the new commercial motor vehicle is not and will not be damaged by the non-performance of such specified maintenance operations, and that the new commercial motor vehicle is and will remain in a condition substantially equal to its condition when newly manufactured; and (c) a statement that the new commercial motor vehicle has received, and will continue to receive until the date of sale, all the other maintenance operations set forth in paragraph (b). If the Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration shall approve such report, or shall fail to disapprove such report within 15 days after receiving it, the seller may omit the performance of the maintenance operations specified in such report.

(7) The new commercial motor vehicle has not received, on and after October 31, 1942, the maintenance operations set forth in paragraph (b), as therein required, but the following circumstances prevail:

(i) On or before March 15, 1943, the vehicle shall have been transferred, by voluntary or involuntary action, to the United States, or any agency thereof, or the manufacturer or a lien holder (in this subparagraph called the "transferee"), and

(ii) (a) Within 30 days after the transfer to the transferee the vehicle shall have been reconditioned by the transferee, and shall thereafter, until the date of any sale, have received the maintenance operations set forth in paragraph (b), as therein required, or

(b) Within 30 days after the transfer to the transferee, the vehicle shall have been sold to the manufacturer, or a distributor, exporter or retail dealer (other than the person who failed to perform the maintenance operations set forth in paragraph (b)) who delivers a written statement to the transferee that the vehicle will be reconditioned within 30 days after the sale to him, and that it will receive, on and after the date on which it is reconditioned, until it is sold by such person, the maintenance operations as set forth in paragraph (b), as therein required. On any subsequent sale by such manufacturer, distributor, exporter or retail dealer the vehicle must have been reconditioned and maintained in accordance with such written statement.

(b) Standards for maintenance of new commercial motor vehicles—(1) General instructions. (i) All new commercial motor vehicles, other than trailers, must be stored indoors. Select a clean, dry building, suitable for storage of such vehicles. Cover all openings through which animals and birds may enter storage space. Prevent water leakage. Remove loose dirt and whitewash lime.

(ii) Allow sufficient space between vehicles for accessibility to perform all specified maintenance operations.

(iii) The operations specified under the heading "maintenance operations" are of two categories: "initial" operations, which if not already performed, are to be performed, and "repeat" operations, which must be performed at intervals of six months, or when necessary, as indicated below.

(iv) Symbol * indicates maintenance operations applicable to new commercial motor vehicles except trailers, third axles, and dollies. Symbol † indicates maintenance operations applicable to trailers, third axles, and dollies.

(2) TABLE OF MAINTENANCE OPERATIONS

No.	When to be done	Item	Maintenance operations
*†(i)	Initial and whenever necessary.	Vehicle	(a) Thoroughly wash vehicle; remove all foreign substances, mud, dirt, grease spots, oil, tar. (b) Check paint, touch up all exposed metal surfaces to prevent rust.
*(ii)	Initial	Windshield wiper	Remove blades; store in glove compartment.
*(iii)	Initial and every six months.	Upholstery	(a) Clean and moth-proof all upholstery, including seat cushions, seat backs, side walls, headlinings, floor mats, and carpets.
	Initial		(b) After moth-proofing upholstery, protect it from direct sunlight, except when on display in customary display room, by one of the following methods: (1) Cover all openings through which light may enter storage space. (2) Cover the inside of all car windows and windshields with paper, using masking tape. (3) Cover vehicle with a paper or cloth cover. (4) Completely cover all upholstery with paper, using masking tape.
	Initial		(c) Place floor mats in their normal position on floor, not rolled up.
*†(iv)	Initial and whenever necessary.	Chrome plated surfaces.	Thoroughly wash and clean all chrome plated surfaces with clear water; when dry, apply a coating of light oil, liquid wax or special preparations; wipe off until no excess oil or wax appears on the surface of the chrome.
(v)	Initial	Convertible tops	With respect to convertibles, see that the tops are up and leave the shipping cover over the top, or cover it with paper, using masking tape.
*(vi)	Initial	Engine	(a) Drain engine oil and refill crank case with at least ½ charge of rust-inhibiting oil. (b) Run engine for 5 minutes at idle speed or about 1,000 R. P. M. Leave this oil in engine.
*(vii)	Initial	Chrome plated and carburetor.	(a) Drain gasoline tank completely and replace filler cap to exclude dust. (b) Run engine until all gasoline is consumed.
*(viii)	Initial	Spark plugs	Remove spark plugs. Inject 2 ounces of rust-inhibiting oil into each cylinder when piston is on the power stroke. Slowly turn engine over a few revolutions with starter. Replace spark plugs.
*(ix)	Initial	Valve compartment (overhead valve engines).	Remove cover. Spray rust-preventive compound or S. A. E. 10 W on mechanism and inside cover, or pack with oil soaked rags. Replace cover.
*(x)	Initial	Seal engine	Seal the engine. This can be done in the following manner: remove engine oil filler tube cover and crankcase breather cover, if there is one, and seal the openings. Also seal the air cleaner, tail pipe, and any other openings into the engine. Tubes or pipes can be sealed satisfactorily by covering with a small piece of oiled or waxed paper, gathering the edges of the paper around the tube and tying them with a cord. The air cleaner can be sealed conveniently by covering with a paper bag and tying a cord around it at the solid part on the engine side of the air intake openings. Sealing the engine to a large extent prevents air moisture from entering the engine. NOTE: Since no provision has been made for turning the engine over at regular intervals, it is absolutely essential that the recommended procedure for conserving the engine be followed carefully.
*(xi)	Initial	Battery removal	(a) Remove the battery and store it in a cool place near recharging equipment, to facilitate servicing. Clean battery connections and wipe with light grease. (b) If dealer has portable battery charging equipment, he may elect to leave battery in car. In either case, battery must be maintained as per item (xii) below.
*(xii)	Initial and as specified under "maintenance operations."	Battery maintenance	(a) Check the specific gravity at regular intervals of 6 weeks, except in extremely hot weather when inspection periods should be cut to 3 weeks. (b) Check and correct water level at each inspection and recharge batteries as necessary to bring gravity reading to 1.280 or above. In no case should the specific gravity be allowed to fall below 1.220. NOTE: These specific gravity readings are given for batteries at 60° F. air temperature.

(2) TABLE OF MAINTENANCE OPERATIONS—Continued

No.	When to be done	Item	Maintenance Operations
*(xiii)	Initial	Cooling system	Completely drain cooling system, including radiator, cylinder block, pump, heater, hose, and all water connections. Leave system drain. NOTE: If coolant contains antifreeze and rust-inhibiting solution, it may be left in the cooling system.
*(xiv)	Initial	Brakes	Leave all brakes in released position.
*(xv)	Initial	Clutch	Block the pedal of dry clutches in partially disengaged position. If is not necessary to disengage other type clutches.
*†(xvi)	Initial and as specified under "maintenance operations."	Tires	(a) Indoor storage. Jack up vehicle in storage location taking weight off the tires. Maintain the air in tires between ½ and ⅔ operating pressure so that vehicles can be pushed or towed out quickly if necessary in an emergency. Tension in cords will be relieved by lowered pressure. (b) Outdoor storage in the case of trailers. Jack up vehicles in storage space. Remove tires from wheels. Leave wheels mounted on axle spindles. Lower weight of trailer to rest upon wheels. Store tires in a dark cool place protected from direct sunlight, in a horizontal position, with separators.
*†(xvii)	Initial, and, if necessary, every 6 months where applicable.	Latches, hinges, brake connections, vertical supporting mechanisms, and fifth wheels.	Lubricate with light oil all hood latches, hinges, and brake connections, vertical supporting mechanisms, and fifth wheels.
*†(xviii)	Initial where applicable.	Doors, windows, and vents.	(a) Close all doors, windows, and vents tightly. (b) Close all venti-panes. (c) Leave cowl ventilator open (if screened).

NOTE: Materials called for in the performance of these maintenance operations, such as oils, wax, and rust-inhibitor, should be of a grade recommended by the vehicle manufacturer.

(c) Extension of time for performance of maintenance operations. (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the time for the performance of any maintenance operation or operations set forth in the preceding paragraph (b) may be extended to a date not later than December 31, 1942, when satisfactory evidence has been furnished the Office of Price Administration, in accordance with subparagraph (2) below, showing that one or more of the following conditions exist:

(i) That there is, in the locality in which the new commercial motor vehicle is to be stored, a shortage of indoor storage facilities; or

(ii) That there is, in the locality in which the new commercial motor vehicle is stored, a shortage in the supply of a commodity necessary in the performance of any of the specified maintenance operations; or

(iii) That there is, in the locality in which the new commercial motor vehicle is stored, a shortage of mechanics to perform the specified maintenance operations.

(2) Reports. If any person desires such an extension of time under the circumstances set forth in the preceding subparagraph (1), a report shall be filed with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., containing a detailed statement of the facts making such extension of time necessary and the requested date thereof, which shall in no event be later than December 31, 1942.

(3) Approval of extension. If the Office of Price Administration approves the requested extension of time, or fails to disapprove it within 10 days after receiving such report, the date of the extension sought shall be substituted for October 31, 1942, throughout this section.

(d) Lower maximum prices if standard delivery operations are not performed. (1) The maximum price established by § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation applicable to the sale of any new commercial motor vehicle delivered to the purchaser on and after March 15, 1943, shall be reduced by 5 per cent, unless (i) the vehicle shall have received, prior to delivery, all the standard delivery operations set forth in subparagraph (2) below, and (ii) the seller shall have delivered to the purchaser a copy of subparagraph (2) below, and (iii) the seller shall have, at the time of delivery, executed and delivered to the purchaser and to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., the certification set forth in paragraph (e).

(2) Standard delivery operations; general purpose. The operations set forth in the checklist below are identical with those established by Conservation Order M–216–A, as amended, issued by the War Production Board. Before any vehicle is delivered into the hands of a buyer, it shall be processed according to the provisions and instructions contained in the following checklist. This checklist is purposely detailed so as to discourage omissions of necessary operations. The sequence of the items listed is based on the fact that serious damage may result if certain operations are done out of turn. Accordingly, this list is arranged so that each operation is done only after the necessary preparatory work has been completed. The purpose of this checklist is to set forth this step-by-step procedure for conditioning every vehicle so that it will give maximum service when put to use. The procedure, as outlined in the following pages, is intended to be used as a checklist. A responsible person should be charged with the duty of seeing that the order of operations is followed strictly, and that each item is checked only after it is completed. Vehicles should be processed for delivery as near the storage location as practicable.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

1. Under no circumstances should a reserve vehicle be operated, under its own power, until the Standard Delivery Operations numbered 1–13, inclusive, have been performed upon it.

2. With respect to change of location of reserve vehicles in storage, the following conditioning operations must be performed:

Before being towed by crane truck or rigid bar, Items Nos. 1 a, b; and 2 b.
Before being towed by loose linkage (rope or chain), Items Nos 1 a, b; and 2 b, e, f, g.

(3) "Sales agency" means any distributor, exporter, or retail dealer of new commercial motor vehicles.

(4) "Trailer" means full trailers and semi-trailers and includes van, tank, livestock, dump, platform, and low bed trailers; but does not include trailers designed for the conveyance of passengers, or household trailers, which are not deemed to be included within the term "new commercial motor vehicle."

(b) Tagging. Every person who offers a new Remington "Envoy" portable typewriter for sale to a consumer shall attach to it a tag reading as follows, with the blank appropriately filled in:

The Office of Price Administration has established a maximum retail price of $40.00 for this Remington "Envoy" portable typewriter, exclusive of Federal excise tax. Our selling price is $----.

SEC. 6.5 Vulcanized vegetable oil—(a) Maximum prices for types of vulcanized vegetable oil delivered or offered for delivery during March, 1942—(1) Molded vulcanized vegetable oil. The maximum price for a sale by a manufacturer of a kind of molded vulcanized vegetable oil (other than truss pads) of a kind which is the same as a kind which was delivered or offered for delivery in March, 1942, by the manufacturer shall be the highest price charged for it by the manufacturer during March, 1942 (as defined in paragraph (c) of this section).

(2) Unmolded vulcanized vegetable oil. The maximum price for a sale by a manufacturer of a grade of unmolded vulcanized vegetable oil which is the same as a grade which was delivered or offered for delivery in March, 1942, by the manufacturer shall be the highest price charged for it by the manufacturer during March, 1942 (as defined in paragraph (c) of this section) adjusted by adding a certain percentage, named below, of the amount by which the replacement cost to the manufacturer, at July 25, 1942, maximum prices, for the vegetable oil used to produce the product being priced is greater than the inventory cost during March, 1942, of the same quantity of vegetable oil. For the purposes of this subparagraph and subparagraph (b) (4) of this section the "July 25, 1942, maximum price" for a particular vegetable oil means the maximum price for that oil when purchased in the quantity normally purchased by the manufacturer. The inventory cost during March, 1942, shall be determined by multiplying the quantity of the kind of vegetable oil used to produce the product being priced by the average cost of that oil charged to production during March, 1942, or, if it was not charged to production during that month, by the average cost at which it was in the manufacturer's inventory on March 1, 1942. The following named manufacturers shall use the specified percentages in calculating the amount of the adjustment to be made: Stamford Rubber Supply Company, 70 per cent; Carter Bell Manufacturing Company, 80 per cent; all other manufacturers, 100 per cent.

(3) Transportation costs. No seller shall require any purchaser, and no purchaser shall be permitted to pay a larger proportion of transportation costs incurred in the delivery of a type of vulcanized vegetable oil delivered by the seller during March, 1942, than the seller required purchasers of the same class to pay during that month on deliveries of the same type.

(b) Maximum prices for types of vulcanized vegetable oil not delivered or offered for delivery during March, 1942. The maximum f. o. b. price for the sale by a manufacturer of a grade of unmolded vulcanized vegetable oil which is not the same as a grade which was delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer during March, 1942, shall be the sum total of direct labor costs, direct materials costs, gross margin, and an adjustment, determined in accordance with subparagraphs (1), (2), (3), and (4) of this paragraph. The maximum f. o. b. price for a sale by a manufacturer of a kind of molded vulcanized vegetable oil (other than truss pads) which is not the same as a kind which was delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer during March, 1942, shall be the sum total of the same components with the exception that it shall not contain an adjustment. The maximum delivered price for a type of vulcanized vegetable oil (other than truss pads) not delivered or offered for delivery during March, 1942, shall be the maximum f. o. b. price, plus the cost of transportation to the place of delivery.

(1) Computation of direct labor costs. Direct labor costs shall be determined by finding the average cost per pound of direct labor employed during the first quarter of 1942 in producing the type (unmolded white, unmolded brown or molded) of vulcanized vegetable oil which includes the particular grade being priced and multiplying that figure by the number of pounds being priced; except that for any kind of molded vulcanized vegetable oil (other than truss pads) which is individually molded and requires special hand labor which results in direct labor costs higher than the figure which would be obtained by computing the direct labor costs on the basis of average cost per pound as required by this subparagraph (1) for molded vulcanized vegetable oil generally, direct labor costs may be determined each time a quantity of such molded vulcanized vegetable oil is to be priced by multiplying the estimated number of hours of each type of labor required in the manufacture of the quantity being priced by the following wage rates: The wage rates to be used shall be the highest wage rates, in effect in the manufacturer's plant for any substantial portion of March, 1942, for each class of labor involved in the production of the kind of molded vulcanized vegetable oil being priced. If the manufacturer did not employ a given class of labor in March, 1942, he shall use the highest wage rate paid for any substantial portion of March, 1942, by the nearest employer operating under comparable conditions who employed that class of labor during that month.

(2) Computation of direct materials costs. Direct materials costs shall be determined by multiplying the quantity of each material used in the manufacture of the vulcanized vegetable oil being priced by materials prices determined as follows:

The price of any material used in the manufacture of the vulcanized vegetable oil being priced shall be the first applicable among the following:

(i) The average cost at which the material was charged into production during March, 1942;

(ii) The average cost at which it was in the manufacturer's inventory on March 1, 1942;

(iii) The highest price charged during March, 1942, (as defined in paragraph (c) of this section) by the manufacturer's supplier. The manufacturer's supplier shall be (a) his March, 1942, supplier of the material, or (b) lacking a March, 1942, supplier of the material, his most recent supplier of the material. If neither of these exists, it shall be his potential supplier.

(iv) The first price at which the manufacturer's supplier offered to sell the material to a purchaser of the same class as the manufacturer after March 31, 1942. However, if the first applicable of those prices is higher than the maximum price established by the Office of Price Administration for the sale of the material to the manufacturer by his supplier, that maximum price shall be used as the price of the material.

(3) Computation of gross margin. The gross margin shall be determined as follows:

(i) Determine the total sales value for the first quarter of 1942 of each grade of the particular type (unmolded white, unmolded brown or molded) of vulcanized vegetable oil which includes the grade being priced, at its March, 1942, highest price, by multiplying the quantity of each grade of that type produced during that quarter by the highest f. o. b. price for which the grade was sold during March, 1942, or, if it was not sold during that month, by the highest f. o. b. price for which it was offered for sale during March, 1942. Add the resulting figures to determine the total sales value for the quarter at March, 1942, highest prices, for the particular type of vulcanized vegetable oil.

(ii) Subtract from that figure the total direct labor and materials costs for the particular type to determine the gross margin. Direct labor costs for this purpose shall be computed by multiplying the average direct labor costs per pound of the particular type of vulcanized vegetable oil produced during the first quarter of 1942, by the total quantity of that type produced during that period. Direct materials costs shall be computed by multiplying the quantity of each material, used in the manufacture of the particular type by the average cost at which the material was charged into production during March, 1942, or, if it was not charged into production in that month, by the average cost at which it was in the manufacturer's inventory on March 1, 1942.

(iii) Divide the figure resulting from subtracting direct costs from total sales value by the total direct costs figure to determine the gross margin percentage of direct costs. That percentage shall be applied to the direct costs of the grade being priced (computed in accordance with subparagraphs (b) (1) and (2) of this section) to determine the gross margin for that grade.

(4) Adjustment. The sum total of direct labor costs, direct materials costs, and gross margin for a grade of unmolded white or unmolded brown vulcanized vegetable oil, computed as required by this paragraph (b), shall be adjusted by adding the percentage, designated for the particular manufacturer in subparagraph (a) (2) of this section, of the amount by which the replacement cost to the manufacturer, at July 25, 1942, maximum prices for the vegetable oil used to produce the product being priced is greater than the inventory cost during March, 1942, of the same quantity of vegetable oil. The inventory cost during March, 1942, shall be determined by multiplying the quantity of the kind of vegetable oil required to produce the product being priced by the average cost of that oil charged to production during March, 1942, or, if it was not charged to production during that month, by the average cost at which it was in the manufacturer's inventory in March, 1942. No adjustment shall be made in the case of molded vulcanized vegetable oil.

(c) Definitions. (1) "Brown vulcanized vegetable oil" means vulcanized vegetable oil produced by hot vulcanization.

(2) "Highest price charged during March, 1942" means:

(i) The highest price which the seller charged to a purchaser of the same class for delivery of the commodity during March, 1942;

(ii) If the seller made no such delivery during March, 1942, such seller's highest offering price to a purchaser of the same class for delivery during that month;

(iii) If the seller made no such delivery and had no such offering price to a purchaser of the same class, the highest price charged by the seller during March, 1942, to a purchaser of a different class, adjusted to reflect the seller's customary differential between the two classes of purchasers.

(3) "Manufacturer" when referring to molded vulcanized vegetable oil means a person who makes the molded product from vulcanized vegetable oil manufactured by him.

(4) "Molded vulcanized vegetable oil" means a vulcanized vegetable oil in which the vulcanization reaction takes place substantially in molds which give shape utility to the production.

(5) "Type of vulcanized vegetable oil" means one of the three classifications of that product, namely, unmolded white, unmolded brown and molded.

(6) "Vulcanized vegetable oil" means the solid reaction product of unsaturated fatty oils and vulcanizing agents.

(7) "White vulcanized vegetable oil" means vulcanized vegetable oil produced by cold vulcanization.

(d) Geographical applicability. This section applies only to the 48 states of the United States and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 6.6 Imported pyrethrum flowers; sales under War Production Board directive—(a) Maximum price. The maximum price for the sale by an importer of imported pyrethrum flowers, sold to any purchaser in accordance with an order or directive of the Director of Industry Operations of the War Production Board, shall be the total landed costs of the pyrethrum flowers to the importer, plus any actual transportation costs incurred by the importer with respect to shipment of the pyrethrum flowers within the continental United States. This maximum price shall apply whether or not the seller normally sells pyrethrum flowers in the ordinary course of his business, but shall not apply to any sale which is not made in accordance with an order or directive of the Director of Industry Operations of the War Production Board.

(b) Effect on other regulations. The provisions of this section supersede the provisions of Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 12[3] and of Maximum Price Regulation No. 204[4] with respect to sales for which maximum prices are established herein.

(c) Definitions. (1) "Total landed costs" means the sum of the price paid to or for the account of the foreign seller, plus all the costs, expenses, and charges, including customs duties or entry fees, and dock charges, if any, incurred by the importer with respect to the shipment of the pyrethrum flowers from the point of shipment outside the continental United States to the point in the continental United States where delivery is made.

(2) "Importer" means any person who is the ultimate consignee in the United States of pyrethrum flowers entering into the continental United States.

SEC. 6.7 Dog and cat foods; manufacturers' maximum prices of new packages. Any manufacturer of any dog or cat food desiring to sell new packages (whether of different sizes and/or of different containers) of the same commodity shall determine his maximum price for such new packages as follows:

(a) Take the maximum price of the fastest selling old package of said dog or cat food to a given class of purchasers;

(b) Where a change to different containers is made deduct therefrom the actual cost of the old containers and of packing therein and add to the resultant figure the actual cost of the new containers and of packing therein;

[4] 7 F.R. 6479, 7366, 8948; 8 F.R. 4785, 6364.

(c) Where a size change is made divide said maximum price of the fastest selling old package of said dog or cat food to a given class of purchasers by the net weight number of ounces (or other unit of measurement) in the old size package and multiply that quotient by the net weight number of ounces (or other unit of measurement) in the new size package.

In like manner determine the new size maximum price to other classes of purchasers, using as the base, however, the same old package of dog or cat food but as sold to different classes of purchasers.

SEC. 6.8 Corrective eye glasses sold to the ultimate user and services involving the examination and refraction of eyes. (a) The extent to which sales to the ultimate user of corrective eye glasses and of services involving the examination and refraction of eyes are subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation shall be as follows:

(1) All sales other than manufacturers' sales of corrective eye glasses and spectacles are subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(2) The charge to a person for services involving the examination and refraction of eyes is not subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation if the seller is not selling corrective eye glasses or spectacles to that person, either as part of the same transaction or as part of the general course of dealing.

(3) If a seller is rendering to any person services involving the examination and refraction of eyes, and he is also selling corrective eye glasses or spectacles to that person, either as part of the same transaction or as part of the same general course of dealing, the following rules apply:

(i) If the seller makes a single charge for the sale of both the glasses and the services, the joint sale is subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(ii) If the seller makes a separate charge for the sale of the glasses and a separate charge for the sale of the services, and during March, 1942, he customarily made separate charges, then the charge for the services is not subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation. The sale of the glasses, however, is subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(iii) If the seller makes a separate charge for the sale of the glasses and a separate charge for the sale of the services, but in March, 1942, he did not customarily make separate charges, and made a single charge for the services and the glasses, then the sum of the charge for the examination and refraction of eyes, plus the charge for the sale of the glasses shall not exceed the highest charge made in March, 1942, for the same combination of services and glasses. In order to maintain the correct maximum prices on the sale of the eye glasses, the sale of the glasses and the sale of the services shall be treated as a joint sale of the glasses and the services and shall be subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation.

If the General Maximum Price Regulation ceiling price used in computing the maximum price in accordance with this section included all or any portion of the freight charges, the maximum price so computed shall include the same proportion of freight charges. The maximum f. o. b. mill price shall be the price so computed less the average amount of the actual freight charges paid by the seller during March 1942.

	Cents per door
No. 3 Doors made from No. 3 and No. 4 lumber with honeycomb backs or 6 foot lengths	5
No. 2 Doors made from all No. 4 lumber	10

(ii) He shall next divide the March 1942 weight of the twist selected under (i) into the March 1942 weight of the twist for which a minimum weight is being figured.

(iii) He shall then multiply the figure obtained under (ii) by 1.333 or by .64 according to whether the twist selected under (i) is of the March 1942 suggested retail price class of 10 cents or 5 cents. The result shall be the minimum weight of the twist for which the computation is made.

(4) A manufacturer adjusting the weight of twist tobacco pursuant to this paragraph (a) shall make and keep available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for as long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 remains in effect, his records and figures showing the method he used in making such adjustment.

OPA has authorized us to reduce the size of (insert brand name) twist tobacco from ____ ounces to ____ ounces per twist. OPA has authorized us to establish the following minimum discounts on our sales of (insert brand name) twist tobacco:

Less than 30 lbs	10	2
30 lbs. but less than 60 lbs	10 and 3	2

(NOTE: The first or second sentence of the notice may be omitted if not applicable in a particular case. No more than one notice covering a particular brand and size of twist tobacco need be given to any purchaser.)

(d) Wholesalers' and jobbers' maximum prices; notice to purchasers. (1) After receipt of notice from his supplier, any wholesaler or jobber may sell, and any person may buy from that wholesaler or jobber, twist tobacco of a minimum weight provided in paragraph (a) at a maximum price not greater than that established by the particular wholesaler or jobber under the General Maximum Price Regulation for his sales of the same twist tobacco to a purchaser of the same class, prior to adjustment of its weight. No wholesaler or jobber shall so alter his March 1942 customary terms of sale to any class of purchasers as to make them more burdensome to a purchaser.

(2) Each wholesaler or jobber shall mark on the invoice or sales slip given to any purchaser, coyering his first sale to that purchaser of a brand of twist tobacco of a weight adjusted pursuant to (a) the following:

Weight of brands of twist tobacco included in this purchase has been reduced by the manufacturer with OPA authorization. Wholesalers, jobbers and retailers are authorized to sell the reduced weight without changing their ceiling prices for those brands.

INSTRUCTIONS

(This method of adjustment may be applied only to rates charged by carriers other than common carriers performing pick-up and delivery service for rail, motor, and water line haul carriers.)

GENERAL

Purpose and Use

This form must be submitted by either the pick-up and delivery carrier or the line-haul carrier to obtain permission to adjust the ceiling rate charged for pick-up and delivery service in accordance with the provisions of sec. 7.11 of Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 14. This section allows a carrier performing pick-up and delivery service for line haul carriers by rail, motor or water to increase his ceiling rates by no more than the amount of any actual lawful dollar-and-cents increases in his material and labor costs incurred in supplying the services: Provided, That both carriers certify to the facts required by this form.

Number of Copies—Place and Time of Filing

Two copies of this form, with the appropriate sections filled in and signed by the pick-up and delivery carrier and the line haul carrier, must be filed with the Office of Price Administration, Transportation and Public Utilities Division, Washington, D. C., at least 30 days before the effective date of the increased rate.

Authorized Date for Use of New P. U. & D. Rates

A. If no wage or salary increase which requires National War Labor Board approval is quoted in support of your request for an increase in rate, the requested rate may be charged 30 days after such filing, unless and until the Office of Price Administration notifies the "pick-up and delivery carriers" and the "line haul carriers" to the contrary.

B. If an agreed-upon wage or salary increase requiring National War Labor Board approval is a factor in the increased costs reported in justification of the requested increase in rates, two copies of this form must be filed within 15 days from the date on which application for approval of the agreed-upon wage or salary adjustment was filed with the National War Labor Board.

C. If a disputed wage or salary proceeding is involved, the Office of Price Administration must be notified in writing within 15 days after the pick-up and delivery carrier receives notice that the case was certified to the National War Labor Board; and two copies of this form must be filed within five days of the date upon which carrier is notified of the proposed National War Labor Board decision in his case. In the case of either B or C, the pick-up and delivery carrier may not charge the increased rate until the date upon which the wage or salary increase becomes finally effective.

Definitions

"Pick-up service" means the transportation of property to a terminal of a line haul carrier from the point of origin from which the line haul carrier's rate applies.

"Delivery service" means the transportation of property from a terminal of a line haul carrier to the point of destination to which the line haul carrier's rate applies.

"Pick-up and delivery carrier" means a carrier who contracts with a line haul carrier to perform pick-up or delivery service.

"Line haul carrier" means a carrier by rail, motor, or water, engaged in transportation of property for hire.

Instructions on Questions

Question No. 3: Before inserting the ceiling rates in effect as of the date of the application, read carefully Note 5–1 in paragraph 5 for instructions on how to determine the proper ceiling date.

If the rate schedule applies to more than one line haul carrier, it should show clearly which rates are applicable to each such carrier. If the rate schedule contains varying rates for different classes of service, such as zone rates, the rates applicable to each classification of service should be set forth clearly.

Question No. 4: If your increased costs listed in question 5 includes an increase in wage rates as an item of increased cost of operation, check the appropriate blocks for "Yes" or "No" in lines A, B, and C. If line D applies to your case, give the title and date of the order in the space provided.

Question No. 5 Column (1): The description of the items of cost inserted in this column must be specific and brief. It should follow well-recognized breakdowns of truck operating expense and each entry should cover a single item. Example: "operating expenses," which might include cost of repairs, tires and gasoline, would be too general. Each of the items "repairs," "tires," and "gasoline" should be listed separately.

Column (2): The cost of each item as used in this column means the total dollar-and-cent cost of the item for the pick-up and delivery service covered by the application. It may be taken either from the applicant's profit and loss statements or may be arrived at by multiplying the unit cost as shown in column (4) by the total units of that item used in a given period. The calendar year 1941 shall be used as the basis for calculating both the revenue and the cost of any particular item. Where costs have advanced during a given period, use an average. The percentage is the result obtained by dividing the cost of the item by the total pick-up and delivery revenue.

Example: A pick-up and delivery carrier had an average revenue of $100 per month or a total of $1200 per year derived from pick-up and delivery service. His expenditure for gasoline during this same period was $180. Therefore, $180 divided by $1200 equals 15 percent, which is the percentage which the cost of gasoline bears to the pick-up and delivery revenue. On the other hand, if the pick-up and delivery carrier does not have information available to determine the amount of his total expense for gasoline, he should be able to estimate quite accurately the number of gallons of gasoline which he used during the period selected. Thus, if he uses 1200 gallons per year at an average cost of 15 cents per gallon, his gasoline cost would amount to $180 per year.

As used in this column, "P. U. & D." means "pick-up and delivery."

Column (3): Show the unit of measure, as "gallon," "mile," "hour," "week," etc.

Column (4): Show the unit cost of the item shown on each line (under Column (1)) for the date you inserted at the head of this column.

Column (5): "Present unit cost," as used in column (5), means the cost of items described in column (1) as of the date of the certification of the application or the closest practicable date thereto.

Column (6): Subtract column (4) from column (5) then divide the result by column (4), and insert the resulting percentage in column (6).

Question No. 6: This certification shall be signed and dated by the owner, or designated employee, of the company, or person, doing the pick-up and delivery service.

Question No. 7: This certification shall be executed by the line-haul carrier (railroad, motor truck, barge or other carrier) carrying the signature and official title of the officer signing as designated.

SEC. 8.3 Cold storage services—(a) Storage of apples, apricots, peaches, pears, plums, and prunes in States of Oregon and Washington—(1) Maximum prices—(i) Sellers supplying same service during 1941–42 season. Maximum prices for the cold storage of apples, apricots, peaches, pears, plums, and prunes, including handling in and out of warehouse, in the States of Oregon and Washington shall be determined, as to each seller supplying the same service during the 1941–42 season, by adding the amounts listed below to the highest prices of such seller for supplying such services to purchasers of the same class during the 1941–42 season.

Service	Amount of increase
Cold storage of apples and pears other than cannery pears	3¢ per box
Cold storage of cannery apricots, cannery peaches, cannery pears, cannery plums and cannery prunes	$1.00 per ton

Where the price of a seller during the 1941–42 season was on the basis of a single charge for the entire season or period of storage, the increase permitted above may be added to the seasonal charge of such seller. Where the price of a seller during the 1941–42 season was on the basis of a charge per month or other period shorter than the entire period of storage, the increase permitted above may be added by such seller to the charge for any particular period or may be divided among two or more periods, but the total increase for the entire period of storage may not exceed the amount specified above.

(ii) Sellers not supplying same service during 1941–42 season. Maximum prices for the cold storage of apples, apricots, peaches, pears, plums, and prunes, including handling in and out of warehouse, in the States of Oregon and Washington shall be, as to each seller not supplying the same service during the 1941–42 season, the maximum prices established under subparagraph (1) (i) hereof for the most closely competitive seller of the same class who supplied such services during the 1941–42 season.

(iii) Effective date of increased maximum prices. The maximum prices authorized by this paragraph (a) shall be effective as of the beginning of the 1941–42 season.

(2) Refund of additional amounts previously collected on a conditional basis. Any person storing apples or pears in the State of Oregon or the State of Washington who, pursuant to Amendment No. 29 to Supplementary Regulation No. 14 to the General Maximum Price Regulation, made a conditional charge of an amount in excess of the increases authorized in this paragraph (a) shall immediately refund or remit such excess amount to the person to whom such charge was made.

(3) Definitions. As used in this paragraph (a), the term "season" refers to the period during which fruit maturing in a particular year remains in cold storage, the term "1941–42 season" refers to the period of storage of fruit maturing during 1941, and the term "1942–43 season" refers to the period of storage of fruit maturing during 1942.

(b) Storage of apples in States of Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia—(1) Maximum prices. Maximum prices for the cold storage of apples, including handling in and out of warehouse, in the States of Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia shall continue to be determined under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that any seller in any of such states whose maximum price under said § 1499.2 is less than 20 cents per season per bushel basket, bushel box, or bushel crate, or is less than 50 cents per barrel per season, may charge and collect for such storage and handling services 20 cents per season per bushel basket, bushel box or bushel crate and 50 cents per barrel per season: Provided, however, That any such seller whose charges during the 1941–42 season were quoted on a per month as well as on a per season basis may charge, in addition to his maximum charge under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, for the first month's storage, an amount equal to the increase in his per season charge authorized by this paragraph (b).

(2) Definition. As used in this paragraph (b), the term "season" means, as to each seller, a period corresponding to that to which the 1941–42 seasonal rates of such seller were applicable.

SEC. 8.4 Bulk storage of liquid commodities—(a) Services connected with storage and distribution of aviation gasoline for War and Navy Departments—(1) Maximum prices. Maximum prices for services involved in connection with the storage and distribution of aviation gasoline for the War Department and the Department of the Navy, including the services of arranging for shipment to and from supply and storage points, handling through terminals and bulk plants, delivery to points of consumption, and services incidental thereto, shall be either (i) the maximum prices established for such services by § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation or (ii) prices agreed upon by the seller and the purchaser of such services and reported to the Office of Price Administration by such seller by February 16, 1943, or within 10 days of the date on which such agreement is made, whichever is later.

(2) Adjustment of maximum prices by Office of Price Administration. Maximum prices established pursuant to subparagraph (1) (ii) hereof shall be deemed to have been established and approved as maximum prices for the services to which they relate unless the Office of Price Administration disapproves or modifies such prices by an order mailed to the seller within 30 days after receipt of the report described in subparagraph (3) hereof. Such disapproval or modification shall become effective five days after the date of mailing of such order.

(3) Form of report. The report required by subparagraph (1) (ii) hereof shall be mailed in duplicate to the Office of Price Administration, Transportation and Public Utilities Division, Washington, D. Such average quantity shall be calculated by adding together the number of gallons shown on all reports filed with Defense Supplies Corporation during such month and dividing the total by the number of such reports.

(ii) For handling—(a) To or from tank, barge, or tanker. One cent per barrel for handling into storage and one cent per barrel for handling out of storage;

(b) To or from tank car. Two cents per barrel for handling into storage and two cents per barrel for handling out of storage;

(2) Definition. The term "barrel" means 42 wine gallons.

Article IX—General Pricing Provisions

SEC. 9.1 Packers' maximum prices for commodities packed in new container types and sizes—(a) Explanation. The purpose of the new method of pricing provided by this section is to permit the packer who is now packing certain commodities in containers of new types and sizes (that is, types and sizes which he did not deliver or offer for delivery during March, 1942) to establish maximum prices for those items. The method permits him to account for differences in container costs, and for differences in transportation costs caused by the difference in containers, without permitting him to increase the price per unit of the commodity packed in the new container. The new method, however, applies only where a previous maximum price of the commodity has been set for a container size not more than 50 per cent larger or smaller than the new size, and only in cases where both containers are of the nonreturnable, single-use type. Packers must refigure every maximum price set under the General Maximum Price Regulation for a commodity packed in a new container type or size to which the rules of this section are applicable. However, packers who before January 25, 1943, had figured the maximum price for a commodity under § 1499.2 (b) or § 1499.3 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, or under the rules theretofore provided by § 1499.73 (a) (7) of Supplementary Regulation No. 14, may, if they wish, keep that price or instead figure a new maximum price using the new pricing method where it is applicable. The new pricing method applies to the following commodities:

(1) Food commodities, excepting coffee and coffee compounds (see section 1.9 of this regulation) and dog and cat foods (see section 6.7 of this regulation).

(2) Granite grit.

(b) Pricing method. To figure the maximum price to any class of purchasers for the commodity in the new container type or size, the packer shall:

(1) Determine the base container. The packer shall first determine the most similar container type in which he has already established a maximum price for the commodity to that class of purchasers without using the former provisions of § 1499.73 (a) (7) of Supplementary Regulation No. 14 (even though he no longer sells that container type). From that container type he shall choose the nearest size which is 50 per cent or less larger or, if there is no such size, 50 per cent or less smaller (even though he no longer sells those sizes). This will be the "base container." If there is no such smaller size, he shall go to the next most similar container type and proceed in the same manner to find the base container.

NOTE: In most cases "the most similar container type" will be merely the container type which the packer is adding to or replacing, like the tin which he may be replacing with glass. Where there has been only a size change, "the most similar container type" will, of course, be the same container type. This is also true in the reverse situation; where there has been a change only in container type, the "nearest size" will be the same size.

(2) Find the base price. The packer shall take as the "base price" the maximum price which he may charge that class of purchasers for the commodity in the base container. However, if this maximum price is a price delivered to the purchaser or to any point other than the packer's factory, the packer shall first convert it to a base price f. o. b. packer's factory simply by deducting whatever transportation charges were included in it.

(3) Deduct the container cost. Taking his base price f. o. b. factory, the packer shall then subtract the direct cost of the base container. "Direct cost of the container" means the net cost, at the packer's factory, of the container, cap, label, and proportionate part of the outgoing shipping carton, but it does not include costs of filing, closing, labeling or packing.

(4) Adjust for any difference in contents. The figure gotten by this deduction shall then be adjusted, in the case of a size change, by dividing it by the number of ounces or other units in the base container and multiplying the result by the number of the same units in the new container.

(5) Add to new container cost to get the price f. o. b. factory. Next, the packer shall add to the adjusted figure the "direct cost of the container" in the new type and size. If his maximum price for the commodity in the base container is an f. o. b. factory price, the resulting figure is the packer's maximum price to that class of purchasers, f. o. b. factory.

(6) Convert to a maximum delivered price, if the maximum price for the base container is on a delivered basis. If the packer's maximum price for the commodity in the base container is a delivered price, he shall figure transportation charges to be added, as follows: The packer shall take the transportation charges which he first deducted to get his base price and adjust them in exact proportion to the difference in shipping weight. However, if for any reason the commodity in the new container will move under a different freight tariff classification, he shall figure his transportation charges (by the same means of transportation and to the same destination) on the basis of the new shipping weight, but at the rate in effect for that freight tariff classification during March, 1942. Increases in tariff rates or transportation taxes made since March 31, 1942, shall not be taken into account. (Similar principles shall apply where shipping volume is the measure of the transportation charge.) The packer shall then add these transportation charges to his f. o. b. factory price for the commodity in the new container. The resulting figure is the packer's maximum delivered price to that class of purchasers.

(c) Units of sale and fractions of a cent. The packer shall figure each maximum price, and the costs that enter into it, in terms of the same general units (like pounds, dozens, etc.) in which he has customarily quoted prices for the commodity in the base container. If any maximum price includes a fraction of a cent, the packer shall adjust the price to the nearest fractional unit (like 1 cent, ½ cent, ¼ cent, etc.) in which he has customarily quoted prices for the commodity in the base container.

(d) Records. Packers shall keep records showing how they figured each maximum price under this section.

(e) Examples showing how the pricing method is to be applied.

Case 1. The maximum price f. o. b. factory if the base container is the same in size as the new container but different in type. Assume the base container is a 16 oz. tin and the new container is a 16 oz. glass (pork and beans).

Maximum price per doz. f. o. b. factory in base container ("base price")	$0.55
Subtract "direct cost" of base container	−.20
	.35
Add "direct cost" of new container	+.34
New maximum price (f. o. b. factory)	$0.69

Case 2. The maximum price f. o. b. factory if the base container is different in size from the new container and either the same or different in type. Assume the base container is a 10½ oz. tin and the new container is an 8 oz. tin or glass (spaghetti sauce).

Maximum price per doz. f. o. b. factory in base container ("base price")	$1.20
Subtract "direct cost" of base container	−.15
	1.05
Adjust to new container:
Divide by number of ounces of commodity in base container	$1.05 ÷.10½
	.10
Multiply by number of ounces of commodity in new container	×8
	.80
Add "direct cost" of new container (glass)	.26
New maximum price (f. o. b. factory)	$1.06

Case 3. Maximum delivered price if the base container is the same in size as the new container but different in type. Assume the base container is a 16 oz. tin and the new container is a 16 oz. glass (pork and beans).

Maximum delivered price per doz. in base container (figured carload)	$0.60
Subtract transportation charges	−.05
Price f. o. b. factory ("base price")	.55
Subtract "direct cost" of container	−.20
	.35
Add "direct cost" of new container	+.34
Add new transportation charges: $.05 (old transportation charges) × 40 lb. (new shipping weight/case) / 34 lb. (old shipping weight/case)
New maximum delivered price	$0.75

Case 4. Same except that the new container type puts the commodity in a different freight tariff classification. Assume the base container is a 16 oz. tin and the new container is a 16 oz. glass (pork and beans).

Maximum delivered price per doz. in base container (figured less than carload)	$ .60
Subtract transportation charges	−.05
Price f. o. b. factory ("base price")	.55
Subtract "direct cost" of container	−.20
	.35
Add "direct cost" of new container	+.34
Add new transportation charges: 40 lb. (new shipping weight) / 100 × $.185 (rate per cwt. under new classification)	=.074
New maximum delivered price (doz.)	$0.76

SEC. 9.2 Accommodation sales at retail. (a) The maximum price for an accommodation sale at retail of any commodity by a seller who, in March, 1942, had the fixed practice of making such accommodation sales, shall be the seller's maximum price for such commodity determined in accordance with the provisions of § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation or the actual cost of the commodity, whichever is higher.

(b) "Accommodation sale" means a sale made entirely without profit, solely for the benefit or convenience of the purchaser—for example, a sale by an employer to his employees, or by a school to its students—and not for the purpose of promoting trade. It does not include sales by cooperative, non-profit or other organizations which make sales, initially above cost, but later give refunds, bonuses, dividends or other allowances to purchasers.

(c) If the seller manufactures or produces the commodity, "cost" means the actual cost of manufacturing or producing the commodity, determined in the same manner as the seller normally determines his actual costs. If the seller does not manufacture or produce the commodity, "cost" means invoice cost, plus any transportation charges paid by the seller, less any discounts allowed to the seller, in connection with his purchase of the commodity. But in no case shall "cost" exceed the seller's lowest maximum price for such commodity for sales other than accommodation sales.

SEC. 9.3 Sales covered by orders issued under regulations covering manufacturers' sales. Maximum prices for wholesale and retail sales covered by the General Maximum Price Regulation may be set by orders issued under regulations covering manufacturers' sales of the commodities.

PULPWOOD PRODUCED IN NORTH CAROLINA AND THAT PORTION OF VIRGINIA WEST OF THE COUNTIES OF CRAIG, MONTGOMERY, FLOYD, AND PATRICK

In the judgment of the Price Administrator the prices of pulpwood have risen and are threatening to rise to an extent and in a manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

The Price Administrator has ascertained and given due consideration to the price of pulpwood prevailing in North Carolina and that portion of Virginia west of the counties of Craig, Montgomery, Floyd, and Patrick, between October 1, 1941 and October 15, 1941, and has made adjustments for such relevant factors as he has determined and deemed to be of general applicability. In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of said Act. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been prepared and is issued simultaneously herewith.*

(b) Prohibited practices. Any practice which is a device to get the effect of a higher-than-ceiling price without actually raising the dollars-and-cents price is as much a violation of this regulation as an outright over-ceiling price.

Any advance whatsoever to a producer is to be considered as part of the price of the logs or bolts to be supplied by the producer.

SEC. 2. Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in Appendix A may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

SEC. 3. Adjustable pricing. Any person may offer or agree to adjust or fix prices to or at prices not in excess of the maximum prices in effect at the time of delivery.

SEC. 4. Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 433 shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase or receipt of, or relating to pulpwood cut in North Carolina and that portion of Virginia west of the Counties of Craig, Montgomery, Floyd, and Patrick, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or by way of commission, service, transportation, or other charge, discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying agreement or other understanding, or otherwise.

SEC. 5. Records and reports. (a) Every person making a purchase or sale of pulpwood, for which a maximum price is established by this regulation, shall make and shall preserve, for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 shall be in effect, the same records of such purchases and sales as such person customarily made prior to the effective date of this regulation.

(b) Every person required to keep records by paragraph (a) of this section shall submit such reports as the Office of Price Administration, with the approval of the Bureau of the Budget, may from time to time require.

SEC. 6. Enforcement. Persons violating any provision of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 433 are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 7. Petitions for amendment. Persons seeking any amendment of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 433 may file petitions for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 8. Definitions. (a) When used in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 433 the term:

When such package is transported out of the Territory the permittee must at the time forward to the collector of customs at the port of clearance a copy of his permit bearing the seal of the United States Department of the Interior and a list correctly showing the number and kinds of animals or birds, or parts thereof, or the nests or eggs of birds contained in the package, and in the event subsequent packages are exported under the one permit, such a list of the contents of each such subsequent package, together with a reference to the number of the permit, shall be mailed to the collector of customs at the port of clearance.

§ 91.33 License, guide, or other requirements. Unless specifically provided therein no permit of the Secretary to take, possess, buy, sell, exchange, or transport any game or fur animal or any bird for scientific or propagating purposes shall be deemed to exempt the permittee from compliance with the license, guide, or other requirements of the Alaska Game Law, but no license is required to export such species or specimens for such purposes.

§ 91.34 Taking animals or birds for the protection of property. When information is furnished the Secretary that any species of game or fur animal or bird has become, under extraordinary conditions, seriously injurious to agricultural or other interests in the Territory, an investigation will be made to determine the nature and extent of the injury and whether the animal or bird alleged to be doing the damage should be killed, and, if so, during what time and by what means. PART 927—MILK IN THE NEW YORK METROPOLITAN MARKETING AREA

ORDER SUSPENDING A CERTAIN PROVISION

Order suspending a certain provision of the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan marketing area.

Pursuant to the applicable provisions of Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress, as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937 (7 U.S.C. 1940 ed. 601 et seq.), hereinafter referred to as the "act," and of the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan marketing area, it is hereby determined that the provision of such order for a reduction in the Class I price of milk sold under a program approved by the Secretary of Agriculture and upon which payment is made out of Federal funds does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act with respect to producers of milk under such order.

It is therefore ordered, That, effective as of 12:01 a. m., e. w. t., August 1, 1943, § 927.4 (a) (2) of the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan marketing area, is hereby suspended.

Chapter XI—War Food Administration

[FDO 10, Amdt. 2]

PART 1432—RICE

SALE AND DISTRIBUTION

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States will result in a shortage in the supply of rice for defense, for private account and for export; and, therefore, the following amendment to Food Distribution Order No. 10, issued by the Secretary of Agriculture January 21, 1943 (8 F.R. 1076), as amended, is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 1432.1 Restrictions on sale and distribution of rice—(a) Definitions. (1) "Person" means any individual, or any partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity, or any State, Territorial, Municipal, County, or other local government, or instrumentality or subdivision thereof, or any agency of the United States other than a governmental agency.

(2) "Governmental agency" means (i) the Armed Services of the United States (excluding, for purposes of this order, United States Army post exchanges, United States Navy ships' service departments, and United States Marine Corps post exchanges); (ii) the Food Distribution Administration, War Food Administration (including, but not restricted to, the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation); (iii) the War Shipping Administration; (iv) the Veterans' Administration; and (v) any other instrumentality or agency designated by the War Food Administrator. The term "governmental agency" also includes any contract school or ship operator, as defined in Food Distribution Regulation 2 (8 F.R. 7523), which purchases rice in accordance with said regulation.

(3) "Armed Services of the United States" means the Army, the Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard of the United States.

(4) "Director" means the Director of Food Distribution, War Food Administration, or any employee of the War Food Administration, designated by such Director.

(5) "First owner" means any person, including a miller, who, on the effective date of this order, is the original owner of brown, undermilled, or milled rice, or who becomes the original owner of any such rice.

(6) "Miller" means any person who converts rough rice into brown, undermilled, or milled rice.

(7) "Rough rice" means the commodity defined by the "United States Standards for Rough Rice", as amended May 15, 1942.

(8) "Brown rice" means the commodity defined by the "United States Standards for Brown Rice", as amended May 15, 1942.

(9) "Undermilled rice" means rice from which all of the hull and part of the bran and germ have been removed.

(10) "Milled rice" means the commodity defined by the "United States Standards for Milled Rice," as amended June 1, 1943: Provided, That, as used in paragraph (b) (2) of this order, the term "milled rice" shall not include Screenings milled rice or Brewers milled rice.

(b) Restrictions. (1) No person shall sell or otherwise dispose of, except to a governmental agency, or use more than fifty-five percent of the total quantity of brown, undermilled, or milled rice as to which he is, at any time, the first owner; and every person shall set aside for sale to a governmental agency milled rice of the grade No. 4 or better of one of the classes I to X inclusive, in an amount equal to forty-five percent of the brown, undermilled, or milled rice as to which he is, at any time, the first owner. Sales of other grades or classes of brown, undermilled, or milled rice to a governmental agency by a first owner may be credited against the amount of rice he is required to set aside. All rice set aside may be offered for sale by the first owner at no more than ceiling prices established by the Office of Price Administration to a governmental agency in response to announcements or notices by such agency that offers for the sale of such rice will be received on specified dates.

(2) No first owner shall sell, ship, consign, or deliver brown, undermilled, or milled rice to persons within any State or the District of Columbia in amounts which will result in his total deliveries to persons within such State or the District during the year August 1, 1943, to July 31, 1944, exceeding eighty-five percent of the quantity of such rice delivered by him to persons in such State or the District during the year August 1, 1941, to July 31, 1942.

(c) Exemptions from restrictions of paragraph (b) (1). (1) The Director may, upon application of any first owner, authorize such first owner to deliver to persons other than governmental agencies brown, undermilled, or milled rice and to credit such deliveries against the quantity of milled rice required to be set aside for sale to governmental agencies, when satisfactory evidence is submitted to the Director that the brown, undermilled, or milled rice so delivered is to be subsequently delivered to a governmental agency in the form of rice or a product thereof.

(2) The Director may upon application of any first owner authorize such first owner for a designated period of time to deliver to persons other than governmental agencies all of the brown, undermilled, or milled rice as to which he is a first owner during such period, on condition that such first owner will during a designated later period of time set aside for sale to governmental agencies a sufficient quantity of milled rice of the grade No. 4 or better of one of the classes I to X inclusive, to constitute forty-five percent of the total brown, undermilled, or milled rice as to which he is a first owner during such periods.

(d) Transfer, establishment, reduction or increase of quotas under paragraph (b) (2). (1) The Director may upon application of any first owner authorize the transfer of such first owner's quota or any part thereof with respect to any State or the District, to another first owner, upon submission of satisfactory proof that both first owners have agreed to such transfer and the first owner whose quota is transferred agrees to refrain from delivering brown, undermilled, or milled rice under such quota to the extent that it has been transferred.

(2) The Director may establish a quota for, or reduce or increase the quota of, any first owner, for any State or the District of Columbia, if he determines that such action is necessary to insure the efficient and proper distribution of the available supply of rice.

(e) Applicability of restrictions. (1) The restrictions contained in this order shall be observed without regard to existing contracts or any payments made or any action taken thereunder.

(2) The restrictions contained in this order shall not apply to rice owned by any individual for use in his own household.

(f) Audits and inspections. The Director shall be entitled to make such audit or inspection of the books, records and other writings, premises, or stocks of rice of any person, and to make such investigations, as may be necessary or appropriate, in his discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this order.

(g) Records and reports. The Director shall be entitled to obtain such information from, and require such reports and the keeping of such records by, any person, as may be necessary or appropriate, in his discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this order. (h) Bureau of the Budget Approval. The reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942. C., setting forth in such petition all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought. The Director may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate, which action shall be final.

In addition, any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order is guilty of a crime and may be prosecuted under any and all applicable laws. Further, civil action may be instituted to enforce any liability or duty created by, or to enjoin any violation of, any provision of this order.

No. 9279, 7 F.R. 10177, and the authority vested in me by the Chairman of the War Manpower Commission in Administrative Order No. 26, 7 F.R. 10512, Selective Service Regulations, Second Edition, are hereby amended in the following respect:

1. Amend § 633.13 to read as follows:

§ 633.13 Classification when man is inducted. Upon receiving notice from the induction station that a selected man has been inducted, he shall be placed in Class I–C.

2. Amend the regulations by adding a new section to be known as § 633.13–1 to read as follows:

§ 633.13–1 Identification of man accepted for limited service but not inducted. (a) Upon receiving notice from the induction station that a selected man has been found acceptable for limited military service but is not immediately inducted, the local board will not change his classification but will identify him in all records by following his classification with the letter "(L)." Such a registrant may again be forwarded to the induction station by the local board under instructions issued by the Director of Selective Service.

(b) If the local board determines there has been a change in the status of such a registrant before he is again ordered to report for induction, it will reopen such registrant's classification and classify him in the usual manner.

3. Amend the regulations by adding a new section to be known as § 633.13–2 to read as follows:

§ 633.13–2 Classification of man not accepted. (a) Upon receiving notice from the induction station that a selected man has not been accepted because he is disqualified for service in the land or naval forces, the local board shall reopen his classification and classify him in Class IV–F unless he is a man who was honorably discharged from the land or naval forces based on physical or mental disability, in which case the local board shall classify him in Class I–C.

(b) The classification of a registrant who has been placed in Class IV–F or Class I–C under the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section may be reopened subject to such provisions of §§ 633.14 and 633.15 as may be applicable to such registrant.

4. Amend § 633.14 to read as follows:

§ 633.14 Classification of man separated from the land or naval forces. (a) The local board shall not change the classification of a registrant separated from the land or naval forces by death but shall note the facts in the Classification Record (Form 100), on the registrant's Cover Sheet (Form 53), and on his Registration Card (Form 1).

(b) When a man has been separated from the land or naval forces by honorable discharge based on physical or mental disability, the local board shall, if the man is a registrant, retain him in Class I–C or, if the man was not a registrant at the time of his separation but thereafter registers, classify him in Class I–C. The classification of a registrant retained or placed in Class I–C under the provisions of this paragraph may be reopened and consideration may be given to classifying him anew. If, after reopening the classification of such a registrant, it is determined that he is qualified for a deferred classification, he shall be retained in Class I–C. If it is determined that he should be placed in a class available for service, the provisions of § 633.15 shall be complied with before such registrant is so classified.

(c) When a man has been separated from the land or naval forces for any cause other than those stated in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, the local board shall, if the man is a registrant, reopen his classification and classify him anew or, if the man was not a registrant at the time of his separation but thereafter registers, classify him in the usual manner. If, in classifying a registrant under the provisions of this paragraph, it is determined that he should be placed in a class available for service, the local board shall comply with instructions issued by the Director of Selective Service pertaining to such registrants before such registrant is so classified.

5. Amend the regulations by adding a new section to be known as § 633.15 to read as follows:

§ 633.15 Instructions concerning separated or disqualified men. (a) A registrant who has been separated from the land or naval forces or who has not been accepted at the induction station because he is disqualified for military service shall be placed in a class available for service only after instructions pertaining to such registrants issued by the Director of Selective Service have been complied with, including, when applicable, forwarding the registrant to a member or members of the medical advisory board for special physical examination.

(b) It shall be the duty of the registrant (1) to comply with any directions given by the local board in carrying out the instructions of the Director of Selective Service, (2) to report to and be examined by a member or members of the medical advisory board when directed to do so by the local board, and (3) to comply with such directions and to submit to such examination as the member or members of the medical advisory board shall deem necessary to make a complete determination of the registrant's physical condition.

6. The foregoing amendments to the Selective Service Regulations shall be effective immediately upon the filing hereof with the Division of the Federal Register.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Regulation 3, as Amended July 16, 1943]

UNIFORM METHOD OF APPLICATION AND EXTENSION OF PREFERENCE RATINGS

§ 944.23 Priorities Regulation 3—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this regulation:

(1) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

(2) "Material" means any commodity, equipment, accessory, part, assembly or product of any kind.

(3) "Assignment" of a preference rating means the granting to any person, by order or certificate issued by or under the authority of the War Production Board, of the right to use such rating.

(4) "Application" of a preference rating means the use of the rating by the person to whom it is initially assigned by or under the authority of the War Production Board, and includes the initial issuance by any governmental agency, under authority of the War Production Board, of a preference rating certificate rating a delivery or the use of facilities directly to or for such agency.

(5) "Extension" of a preference rating means the use of the rating by any person to whom it is applied or extended by another person.

(b) General provisions. (1) Any person may apply a preference rating assigned to him by any regulation, preference rating certificate or preference rating order issued to him in his name or as one of a class, and, subject to the provisions of this regulation, any person may extend any rating which has been applied or extended to deliveries to be made by him.

(2) A preference rating may be applied by a person to whom it is assigned only to the specific quantities and kinds of material authorized (or to the minimum required amounts of material when no specific quantities are authorized) or to the particular use of facilities specified.

(3) No person shall duplicate, in whole or in part, purchase orders which he has placed with one or more suppliers for delivery of material to which he has applied or extended a rating, in such manner that the amount of the material ordered exceeds the amount to which he is authorized to apply or extend the rating, even though he intends to cancel or reduce his purchase orders to the authorized amount prior to completion of delivery.

(c) Restrictions upon the application or extension of ratings for the use of facilities. Ratings may be applied or extended to obtain the use of facilities only, in the following cases:

(1) A rating which has been specifically assigned by the War Production Board to permit a named person to obtain the use of specified facilities only may be applied only by the person named and only to obtain the use of the specified facilities.

(2) When a person is authorized to apply or extend a rating to obtain material which he will deliver (or which will be physically incorporated in material to be produced or delivered) he may apply or extend the same rating to obtain the processing by a concern regularly engaged in such business of the material to be produced or delivered or of material which will be physically incorporated therein, regardless of the fact that the material to be so processed may be the property of the customer for whom the processing is to be done. As used in this paragraph (c) (2) the term "processing" includes manufacturing and fabricating operations which are incidental to the production of finished material, but does not include processing of goods after their production is completed. For example, it includes industrial dyeing for manufacturers when such dyeing is incidental to the preparation of goods or material for sale but does not include the dyeing of clothing after it has been sold by the manufacturer.

(3) A person to whom a rating has been applied or extended pursuant to paragraphs (c) (1) and (2) to obtain the use of his facilities only may not extend the rating for any purpose. The person applying or extending a rating for the use of facilities only shall place upon the purchase order an endorsement substantially as follows: "For the use of facilities only; may not be extended by you for any purpose".

(d) Extension of ratings for material. The following provisions of this paragraph (d) shall be applicable to all extensions of preference ratings originally applied by any person to obtain deliveries of material, notwithstanding any inconsistent provisions of the preference rating certificate or preference rating order assigning the rating. No preference rating may be extended to the delivery of any material except:

(1) Material which will itself be delivered by the person extending the rating on a delivery bearing the rating which is being extended, or which will be physically incorporated into material to be so delivered, including the portion of such material normally consumed or converted into scrap or byproducts in the course of processing; or

(2) Material which is required to replace in inventory material so delivered or incorporated. Material shall not be deemed to be required if the delivery can be made and a practicable working minimum inventory of such material still retained; and if, in making delivery, the inventory is reduced below such minimum, the rating may be extended to replace such material only to the extent necessary to restore the inventory to such minimum: Provided, however, That the material ordered for replacement must be substantially the same as the material delivered or incorporated in the material delivered, subject only to minor variations in size, shape or design or substitutions of less scarce materials, which in any case do not substantially alter the purpose for which the same is to be used.

A person may not extend a rating to any materials in excess of the quantities specified in this paragraph (d), nor to materials for plant improvement, expansion or construction, to machine tools or other capital equipment, to business machines whether purchased or leased, or to maintenance, repair or operating supplies.

(e) CMP Regulation 3 and Priorities Regulation 11. Nothing contained in paragraphs (b) or (d) above shall be deemed to enlarge or limit or to alter in any way any of the provisions or restrictions contained in CMP Regulation 3 (§ 3175.3) or Priorities Regulation 11 (§ 944.32).

(f) Restrictions upon application and extension of ratings. The following provisions are designed to eliminate or limit the use of preference ratings with respect to certain materials and products as to which such use is inappropriate because of adequate supply, specialized needs or other particular factors:

(1) Items as to which preference ratings have no effect: List A. Any item on List A attached to this regulation may be produced or delivered without regard to preference ratings. No person shall apply or extend any rating to any of these items and no person selling any such item shall require a rating as a condition of sale. Any rating purporting to be applied or extended to any such item shall be void and no person shall give any effect to it in filling an order.

(2) Items to which MRO ratings do not apply: List B. Items on List B attached to this regulation are not subject to preference ratings assigned by any regulation or order of the War Production Board for maintenance, repair or operating supplies (including CMP Regulation 5 and CMP Regulation 5A), and no person shall apply or extend any such rating for such a purpose. Ratings assigned for purposes other than maintenance, repair and operating supplies may, however, be used to acquire items on List B. If any person receives an order for any item on List B bearing a rating assigned for maintenance, repair or operating supplies (as shown by the symbol MRO or other prescribed identification, or which he otherwise knows to have been assigned for that purpose) he shall not give effect to such rating, and such rating shall be void.

(3) Illustration. A manufacturer of a product listed on Schedule II of CMP Regulation 5 is assigned a rating of AA-2 for operating supplies. He may not use the rating to buy wooden shelving for his own use since it is on List B. A contractor has received an order bearing a rating of AA-3 to install wooden shelving in an Army camp. He may extend that rating to obtain the wooden shelving from the manufacturer since in this case the shelving is production material as to him and not operating supplies. If, however, wooden shelving were on List A instead of List B, neither rating could be used.

(4) Items to which only ratings assigned under specified orders apply: List C. No person may apply or extend any preference rating to the delivery of any item on List C attached to this regulation, unless the rating is assigned or authorized by the particular order specified after that item on the list. No person shall give any effect to any rating in delivering any such item unless the purchase order bears the specific endorsement or certification required by the order assigning the rating; or, if no such endorsement or certification is required by the order, unless the purchase order bears a notation substantially as follows: "This rating has been assigned by Order No. ------".

(g) Method of application or extension. (1) Any person authorized to apply or extend preference ratings may do so:

(i) On a written contract or order by endorsing on or attaching to it a certification in substantially the form prescribed by CMP Regulation No. 7 (Section 3175.7), or substantially as follows, if preferred:

CERTIFICATION

The undersigned purchaser hereby represents to the seller and to the War Production Board that he is entitled to apply or extend the preference ratings indicated opposite the items shown on this order, and that such application or extension is in accordance with Priorities Regulation No. 3 as amended, with the terms of which the undersigned is familiar.

(Name of Purchaser and PRP Certificate No. if Purchaser is a PRP Unit)

(Address)

By --- (Signature and Title of Duly Authorized Officer)

(Date)

The certification which is used shall be signed manually or as provided in Priorities Regulation 7 (§ 944.27) by an official duly authorized for that purpose.

(ii) On a purchase order placed by telegraph, by including in the telegram the following abbreviated certification: "Ratings certified". The requirements for manual signature or authorization under Priorities Regulation No. 7 (§ 944.27) will be satisfied in such case if the copy of the outgoing telegram retained by the person placing the order is signed or authorized in the manner provided in that regulation.

(iii) On a purchase order placed by telephone and requiring shipment within seven days, by stating to the supplier at the time of placing the order the substance of either certification authorized in subdivision (i) of this paragraph (g) (1): provided, however, in such case, that the person making the statement is an official duly authorized to make such certification, and the person making the statement furnishes to the supplier within fifteen days after placing the purchase order confirmation in writing describing the material ordered and bearing a certification of such preference rating substantially in one of the forms authorized by subdivision (i) of this paragraph (g) (1). No preference rating received by telephone shall be extended by the supplier to replace in inventory any material delivered, until receipt by the supplier of the written confirmation herein required. On or before the twentieth day of each month, any supplier who has received in the prior month a preference rating applied or extended by telephone shall notify the War Production Board, Compliance Division, of any case in which a purchaser has failed to furnish to him the written certification when due.

(iv) The person receiving the certification and rating shall be entitled to rely on such representation, unless he knows or has reason to believe it to be false. Each person applying or extending a rating must maintain at his regular place of business all documents, including purchase orders and preference rating orders and certificates, upon which he relies as entitling him to apply or extend such rating, segregated and available for inspection by representatives of the War Production Board, or filed in such manner that they can be readily segregated and made available for such inspection. In addition thereto, each person applying or extending a rating shall execute and file with the War Production Board all reports and questionnaires required by the applicable preference rating certificate or preference rating order and such other reports and questionnaires as said Board shall from time to time request.

(2) Such certification may be used in lieu of any other form of certification required by the terms of any regulation, preference rating order or preference rating certificate (including, without limitation, the instructions accompanying Forms PD-1A, PD-3A and PD-25A) as a means of applying or extending a preference rating and in lieu of furnishing any copy of any preference rating order required thereby; except that the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 9 (§ 944.30) with respect to the method of applying (but not extending) preference ratings covering certain types of exports must be complied with when ratings are applied pursuant to that regulation.

(3) Notwithstanding the requirements of any applicable preference rating order or certificate,

(i) A person may defer extending any rating for a period of not more than three months after he becomes entitled to extend the same;

(ii) Ratings of the same grade assigned by different preference rating certificates or orders may be combined and extended to a single delivery; and

(iii) Ratings of different grades whether assigned by the same or different preference rating certificates or orders, may be extended to deliveries under a single purchase order provided the amount of each material to which a particular grade of rating is extended is shown either as a separate item, or on a percentage basis where the material involved is of such type and in such quantities that the supplier can readily determine, from percentage figures alone, the exact effect of the extension of the rating on his production and delivery schedule. To the extent necessary to avoid production or delivery of material in quantities smaller than the minimum commercially practicable, items to which ratings of different grades might be extended may be combined and the rating of the lowest grade extended to the total production or delivery.

(4) In addition to complying with the foregoing requirements of this paragraph (g), any person applying or extending a preference rating shall include on his purchase order or contract such information (except designation of the number or serial number of the preference rating certificate or preference rating order assigning the rating) as may be required by the terms of any applicable order of the War Production Board and which the person placing the purchase order is able to furnish.

(h) Applicability of other restrictions. Except as expressly otherwise provided in paragraphs (d) and (g) of this regulation, the application or extension of any rating shall be subject to any applicable restrictions contained in any order of the War Production Board assigning the preference rating in question or regulating transactions in the material or the use of the facilities involved, including, without limitation, restrictions as to the kind and amount of material to which preference ratings may be applied or extended, requirements of countersignature or other written approval of particular transactions, and restrictions on the use of material or facilities.

(i) Effect on existing certificates and orders. All existing forms of preference rating certificates issued by or under authority of the Office of Production Management or the War Production Board are continued in full force and effect, and additional certificates on such forms may continue to be issued by the persons now or hereafter authorized to issue the same until such authority is revoked or amended, subject to the provisions of this and other regulations of the War Production Board. All certificates and all existing orders of the Office of Production Management or the War Production Board are to be deemed amended by this regulation only where and to the extent that the provisions of this regulation indicate that it is to control.

Issued this 16th day of July 1943.

The restrictions on the use of ratings for the items on Lists A, B and C, which were added to the regulation by the amendment of June 4, 1943, apply to orders for such items which had been placed before June 4 but were not yet filled.

Paragraph (f) provides that no person shall give effect to any rating the use of which is restricted by that paragraph, in filling an order. It follows, therefore, that (1) all outstanding ratings on unfilled orders for items on List A are cancelled; (2) all outstanding ratings assigned for maintenance, repair or operating supplies which have been applied on unfilled orders for items on List B are cancelled; and (3) all outstanding ratings other than those specifically authorized by List C on unfilled orders for items on that list are cancelled. [Issued June 12, 1943]

FIRE PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT

Preference ratings assigned to the delivery of maintenance, repair and operating supplies (MRO ratings) may be used to obtain repair parts and materials for existing fire protective equipment, but may not be used to obtain end items of fire protective equipment. The term "Fire protective equipment", item 13 on List B attached to Priorities Regulation 3, includes only end items and does not include materials or parts required for the repair or maintenance of existing fire protective equipment.

For example, a fire extinguisher or a fire hose coupling is an end item of fire protective equipment and therefore may not be obtained on MRO ratings, whereas a part required to repair an extinguisher or coupling is not an end item and therefore may be obtained on MRO ratings. Similarly, MRO ratings may not be used to obtain a fire sprinkler system nor to extend an existing sprinkler system, but such ratings may be used to repair or replace sprinkler heads which have been opened up by fire or damaged in any other way However, MRO ratings may not be used to repair or replace new equipment which is still usable. [Direction 1 to Priorities Regulation 3, as Amended]

The following Direction is issued pursuant to Priorities Reg. 3 as amended.

The use of these ratings is permitted as an exception to the restrictions of paragraph (f) (2) of Priorities Regulation 3 which prohibits the use of ratings assigned for maintenance, repair or operating supplies for certain items set out on List B.

Issued this 16th day of July 1943.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 1340.159 (b) (11) is amended to read as follows:

(11) (i) Notwithstanding any other provision of § 1340.159 (b), except as otherwise provided in this subparagraph (11), a seller's maximum tank wagon price at a particular point for a particular grade of gasoline, kerosene, range or stove oil, distillate fuel oils, and tractor and diesel fuel shall be the maximum price as determined under other provisions of this Schedule of the reference tank wagon seller named hereunder for the same grade at the same point provided the reference tank wagon seller's maximum price is higher than the maximum price which would otherwise be applicable.

(ii) (a) Where deliveries are made within the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York, any seller's maximum price for tank wagon and returnable steel barrel deliveries of gasoline to a consumer of any class shall be as follows:

(1) For tank wagon deliveries in single lots of 250 gallons or more to a purchaser whose semi-annual requirements, as hereinafter defined, for bulk delivery are:

(i) 10,000 gallons and up to 60,000 gallons the maximum commercial consumer's tank wagon price, as determined under other provisions of this price schedule, of the reference tank wagon seller named hereunder.

(ii) Under 10,000 gallons one-half cent (½¢) per gallon in addition to the maximum price established under (i).

(iii) 60,000 gallons or more one-quarter cent (¼¢) per gallon less than the maximum price established under (i).

(2) For tank wagon deliveries in single lots of less than 250 gallons, one cent (1.0¢) per gallon in addition to the maximum price of the reference tank wagon seller, named hereunder, for single lot deliveries of 250 gallons or more.

(3) For returnable steel barrel deliveries, 3¢ per gallon in addition to the maximum commercial consumer's tank wagon price as determined under other provisions of this price schedule of the reference tank wagon seller named hereunder.

(b) Where deliveries are made within the States of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia, any seller's maximum price for tank wagon and returnable steel barrel deliveries of gasoline to a consumer of any class shall be as follows:

(1) For tank wagon deliveries in single lots of 250 gallons or more to a purchaser whose semi-annual requirements as hereafter defined for bulk delivery are:

(iii) 60,000 gallons and more, three-quarters cent (¾¢) per gallon less than the maximum price established under (i).

(2) For tank wagon deliveries in single lots of less than 250 gallons, one cent (1.0¢) per gallon in addition to the maximum price of the reference tank wagon seller, named hereunder, for single lot deliveries of 250 gallons or more.

(3) For returnable steel barrel deliveries, two cents (2.0¢) per gallon in addition to the maximum commercial consumer's tank wagon price as determined under other provisions of this price schedule of the reference tank wagon seller named hereunder.

(iii) For the purpose of this section, a consumer's semi-annual requirements of gasoline shall be the sum of all lawful ration allotments for bulk delivery only converted to semi-annual basis in effect to a given consumer as of January 1 for the first six months, and July 1 for the last six months of any calendar year.

It shall be the responsibility of the purchaser to provide reasonable proof to the seller as to the amount of the purchaser's semi-annual gasoline requirements for bulk delivery as calculated in the manner prescribed above. In the event that the purchaser fails to provide the seller with reasonable proof of the purchaser's annual gasoline requirements for bulk delivery as prescribed above, then such purchaser shall be presumed to have semi-annual gasoline requirements for bulk delivery of less than 10,000 gallons.

(iv) For a product of a particular seller to be regarded as of the same grade as a product of the reference seller, it must customarily have been so regarded in trade practice at the point of sale and it must be a product that has customarily been sold in competition with the product of the reference seller.

(v) The companies hereinafter named are the reference tank wagon sellers for any point in the Continental United States, in the state, states or districts set out opposite the name of the company: Provided, That such company has an applicable maximum price for such point:

price of a new article (which is the same as or similar to the used article you are pricing), according to the rules in section 6.

(b) Second, you must find the class in which the used article you are pricing belongs. (Class I or Class II—See section 7).

(c) You then find your ceiling price which is either ¾ or ⅓ of the price of the new article, depending on the class in which the used article you are pricing belongs.

SEC. 6. How to find the price of the new article. You find the price of the new article by using these rules in the order in which they appear:

(a) Rule 1. Find the retail selling price of the same article, new, for sale in your own stock.

(b) Rule 2. If you do not have the same article, new, in stock, find the retail selling price of a similar article, new, in your own stock. A used article is "similar" to a new article if the used article has the same uses and when new would give fairly equivalent service. In addition, the used article, when new, must have sold for approximately the same price as the similar new article now sells for.

(c) Rule 3. If you do not have a similar article, new, in stock, find the retail selling price of the same article, new, in the same shopping area. (The shopping area is the area in which persons in your community shop for new goods of the kind you are pricing.

(d) Rule 4. If the same article, new, is not for sale in the same shopping area, find the retail selling price of a similar article, new, for sale in the same shopping area. A used article is "similar" to a new article if the used article has the same use and when new would give fairly equivalent service. In addition, the used article, when new, must have sold for approximately the same price as the similar new article now sells for.

(e) Rule 5. If the same or similar article is not being sold in your community, find the retail selling price when this article was last sold in your community.

(f) Rule 6. If you cannot find the retail selling price under any of these Rules above, apply to the appropriate Office of Price Administration District Office, for information on how to determine your price.

Remember, if you can find the price of the new article in Rule 1, you cannot use Rules 2, 3, 4, 5, or 6. If you can use Rule 2, you cannot use Rules 3, 4, 5, or 6. If you can use Rule 3, you cannot use Rules 4, 5, or 6. If you can use Rule 4, you cannot use Rules 5 or 6.

SEC. 7. How to determine the class of a used article—(a) Class I. An article is a Class I article if:

(1) No part is missing which is necessary to make the article fully useful.

(2) The article is in good working condition, can be used by the consumer for the purpose intended without further repair, and the article is clean and its appearance is good.

For example: In the case of floor covering, upholstered furniture and bedding, the fabric must be clean and substantially free from burns, cuts, tears, stains, frayed edges, faded colors, and worn spots.

(b) Class II. An article is a Class II article if it is not in Class I.

SEC. 8. How to find the ceiling price for each class. The ceiling price for the used article must be no more than:

Class I ¾ (75%) of new.
Class II. ⅓ (33⅓%) of new.

Example for Class I: If the selling price of a new article is $40, you determine the ceiling price of the used article by multiplying $40 by 3 and dividing the result by 4; 3 times $40 is $120; $120 divided by 4 is $30; $30 is the ceiling price for the Class I used article.

Example for Class II: The selling price of the new article is $30. To determine the ceiling price of the used article, you divide the $30 by 3; $30 divided by 3 is $10. This is the ceiling price for the Class II used article.

No sales, attempts to sell or offers to sell shall be made at prices higher than the ceiling price. Of course, sales may be made at lower than ceiling prices.

SEC. 9. Fixing of dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for certain articles by Regional or other offices of the Office of Price Administration. Any Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration or such other offices as may be authorized by the appropriate Regional Office, may by order fix dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for the sales of any articles covered by this regulation in any area or locality within its jurisdiction. Any order fixing maximum prices issued under the authority of this provision will supersede the provisions of this regulation with respect to sales subject to such order.

SEC. 10. Adjustment of prices under certain circumstances. Any regional office of the Office of Price Administration or such other offices as may be authorized by the proper regional office may grant permission to any person subject to this regulation to charge a higher price for the sale of any rebuilt or reconditioned article than is permitted by this regulation if it is found that:

(a) The article is essential, and is one of which there is a serious shortage.

(b) There has been expended (in the course of rebuilding, reconditioning, or renovating the used article) a substantial amount for labor and materials.

(c) Considering the substantial amount expended for labor and materials, the establishment of a price by the Class I formula would result in a price so low that he could not reasonably be expected to continue to recondition or rebuild the article.

For further information consult with your nearest district office of the Office of Price Administration.

Until such permission is granted the ceiling price is the price fixed by this regulation.

SEC. 11. Credit, delivery and other charges. (a) Any additional charge for credit, packing, delivery, or anything else, which is not quoted and billed separately is considered part of the selling price. (b) You may make a charge for the extension of credit or delivery, or packing only if: (1) during March 1942, you made a separate charge for any of those services, (2) the amount which you charge the buyer is not greater than the charge you made during March 1942. If the charge is for credit, the rate of charge cannot exceed the rate charged during March 1942 on the same unpaid balance for the same period of time on sales of used goods, and (3) you quote and bill these extra charges separately.

If you were not engaged in the business of selling used goods in March 1942 then your charge for credit delivery or packing may not exceed the charge made by your closest competitor selling used goods who makes a separate charge for credit, delivery, or packing.

You cannot require the customer to take any of these services.

SEC. 12. Evasion, licensing and enforcement—(a) Evasion. You must not evade any of the provisions of this regulation by any scheme or device, or by any practice which has the effect of getting a higher-than-ceiling price. Specifically, you cannot offer to sell used goods covered by this regulation only on condition that the customer agree to pay for reconditioning, repairing, or rebuilding to be performed by you before or after he buys the merchandise or only on condition that the customer buy goods which he does not wish to buy. If the customer buys an article from you, and asks you to rebuild it or recondition it, the total amount which you receive on account of the sale of the goods and on account of the reconditioning or rebuilding cannot exceed the ceiling price of the goods if you offered the goods for sale as Class I goods.

You may not use the published list price as the price of the new article under section 6, if that published list price was generally not observed by sellers of new goods. Section 6 requires you to find the actual selling price of the new article.

(b) Registration and licensing. The registration and licensing provisions of §§ 1499.15 and 1499.16 of the General Maximum Price Regulation apply to every person subject to this regulation, selling the goods covered by this regulation at retail.

(c) Enforcement. On and after Sept. 1, 1943, you are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension proceedings and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, if you violate any provision of this regulation.

SEC. 13. Posting ceiling price notice. If you are a retailer, you must post a sign no smaller than 11" x 17" in size, in a place that is permanently and clearly visible to all customers for used goods. Your nearest Office of Price Administration Office can help you get this sign. This sign must read substantially as follows except that you may omit from it any articles not sold in your store.

In addition to the selling price, the tag must show the class (Class I or Class II). This tag or label must not be removed except by the person to whom you sell the article. The price written on the tag or label must be the one set by this regulation or a lower price. Any goods priced and tagged under the provisions of this regulation, before the effective date, are covered by this regulation.

SEC. 15. Sales slips or receipts. If you have customarily given a customer a sales slip, receipt, or similar evidence of purchase you shall continue to do so. Upon request, regardless of previous custom, you shall give a receipt showing the date, your name and address, a list of the articles bought and the prices paid, kind and amount of any additional charges, and the name and address of the customer.

SEC. 16. Petitions for amendment. You may seek a change in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 429 or any exception to its terms by filing a petition for amendment in accordance with the rules outlined in Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 [8] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(b) Maximum prices on the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway. Maximum prices for the transportation, by carriers other than common carriers, of petroleum and petroleum products in bulk by barge between points on the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway, for distances of 75[1] miles or more, shall be as set forth in the table below. (See proviso in paragraph (e) of this section 7.6.)

[Rate in mills per net ton per mile]

Distance in miles	Minimum cargoes in tow
	500 tons	1,000 tons	2,000 tons	3,000 tons
75 to, but not including, 100 miles	7.00	6.50	6.00	5.50
100 to, but not including, 150 miles	6.50	6.25	5.50	5.00
150 miles and over	6.00	5.75	5.00	4.25

Rules and Regulations Applicable to the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway

(1) Distances. Distances shall be determined in accordance with the official distance tables of the U. S. Engineers, except that three miles may be added in the case of movements having one terminus east of Canal Street, New Orleans, Louisiana, and the other west of Harvey Canal Lock.

(2) Application of rates to cargoes in tow. The rates set forth in the above table are for the furnishing of tugs and barges by the carrier. Maximum prices for furnishing towing services only shall not exceed 75% of the maximum prices herein provided for furnishing tugs and barges.

The rates set forth in the above table are based on the specified minimum cargoes in tow. The maximum charge for a cargo in tow of less than 500 tons for distances over 75 miles shall be either (i) the charge determined by agreement between the parties, or (ii) the maximum charge for a cargo of 500 tons computed at the 500-ton rate for the applicable distance. Charges determined under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph which exceed the maximum charges computed in accordance with the terms of subdivision (ii) shall be reported by the carrier within 10 days of the date of the agreement to the District Office of the Office of Price Administration, Canal Building, New Orleans, Louisiana.

The maximum charge for a particular cargo shall not, in any case, exceed the maximum charge for a cargo of the next higher minimum tonnage computed at the rate applicable thereto. For example, the maximum charge for a cargo in tow of more than 500 tons but less than 1,000 tons shall be computed at the rate established in the above table for minimum cargoes of 500 tons, unless the charge thus computed exceeds the charge for a cargo of 1,000 tons computed at the 1,000-ton rate, in which event the latter charge shall prevail.

(3) Wharfage and dockage. Wharfage and dockage charges are not included in the rates set forth in the above table.

(4) Tolls and port charges. Canal tollage, lock charges, and port charges are included in the rates set forth in the above table for tugs and barges but are not included in the rates for towing only.

(5) Insurance. Cargo insurance is not included in the rates set forth in the above table. Insurance on barges is included in the rates for tugs and barges but is not included in the rates for towing only.

(6) Pumping out by carrier. When cargo is discharged by use of carrier's pumps, a charge of three-quarters (¾) of one cent per barrel may be made for use of carrier's pumps. In addition, if the carrier performs discharging service, at the request of the shipper, an additional charge therefor may be made, which shall not exceed the actual cost to the carrier of furnishing such service.

(7) Cleaning of equipment. Where cleaning is required to render barges suitable for the transportation of the products of a particular shipper, the cost of cleaning shall be paid by the carrier or shipper, as determined by agreement between the parties: Provided, That the amount which may be added to the maximum prices herein specified shall not exceed the actual cost of such cleaning. In the event the shipper does not clean barges which have become dirtied in his service, the carrier may make an additional charge not to exceed the actual cost incurred for the cleaning necessary to render such barges suitable for the transportation of the commodities for which they were suitable when placed in the shipper's service. In addition, the carrier may charge for all time necessarily consumed for such cleaning, whether performed by carrier or shipper, at the rates specified below for demurrage.

(8) Demurrage. The rates specified above include free time of three hours at loading point and three hours at unloading point. Loading and discharge rates shall be determined by agreement between the parties, or, in the absence of such agreement, the loading rate shall be 2,500 barrels per running hour and the discharge rate shall be 1,500 barrels per running hour, day or night, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays not excepted. Demurrage for all time in addition to the free time and the loading and discharge time may be charged at the rate of $10.00 per running hour or fraction thereof per tug and $2.50 per running hour or fraction thereof per barge.

(9) Additional charge for operating on the Gulf of Mexico. When operating conditions on the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway between Panama City and Port St. Joe, Florida necessitate operation on the Gulf of Mexico, an additional charge may be made of not more than 33¢ per ton when the maximum rate is based on a minimum cargo of 2,000 tons or less and 24¢ per ton when the maximum rate is based on a minimum cargo of 3,000 tons.

(Attention is directed to the provisions of paragraph (h) of this section 7.6 requiring persons subject to the terms of this paragraph (b) to file quarterly financial reports with O. P. A.)

(c) Maximum prices on the Gulf of Mexico. Maximum prices for the transportation, by carriers other than common carriers, of petroleum and petroleum products in bulk by barge between points on the Gulf of Mexico shall continue to be determined under the provisions of section 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that, for distances of 75 miles and over, maximum prices shall be as follows:

[Rate in mills per net ton per mile]

Distance in miles	Minimum cargoes in tow
	1,000 tons	2,000 tons	3,000 tons
Under 150 miles	6.50	6.00	5.50
150 to, but not including, 300 miles	6.25	5.50	4.50

700 miles and over	5.70	5.00	4.00

Rules and Regulations Applicable to the Gulf of Mexico

(1) Distances. Distances shall be determined in accordance with United States Coast and Geodetic Survey Charts, from the bar of the port of loading to the bar of the port of discharge, to which may be added actual mileage from the bar to the dock at each port.

(2) Application of rates to cargoes in tow. The rates set forth in the above table are for the furnishing of tugs and barges by the carrier. Maximum prices for furnishing towing service only shall not exceed 75% of the maximum prices herein provided for furnishing tugs and barges.

The rates set forth in the above table are based on the specified minimum cargoes in tow. The maximum charge for a cargo in tow of less than 1,000 tons shall be the maximum charge for a cargo of 1,000 tons computed at the 1,000-ton rate. The maximum charge for a particular cargo shall not, in any case, exceed the maximum charge for a cargo of the next higher minimum tonnage computed at the rate applicable thereto. For example, the maximum charge for a cargo in tow of more than 1,000 tons but less than 2,000 tons shall be computed at the rate established in the above table for minimum cargoes of 1,000 tons, unless the charge thus computed exceeds the charge for a cargo of 2,000 tons computed at the 2,000-ton rate, in which event, the latter charge shall prevail.

(3) Wharfage and dockage. Wharfage and dockage charges are not included in the rates set forth in the above table.

(4) Port charges. Port charges on vessels are included in the rates set forth in the above table.

(5) Insurance and crew's bonus payments. Cargo insurance is not included in the rates set forth in the above table, but insurance and war risk insurance on vessels, war risk insurance on crews and bonus payments to crew members are included.

(6) Pumping out by carrier. Use of the carrier's pumps for discharging and the service of pumping out cargo are included in the rates set forth in the above table.

(7) Cleaning of equipment. Where cleaning is required to render barges suitable for transportation of the products of a particular shipper, the cost of cleaning shall be paid by the carrier or shipper, as determined by agreement between the parties: Provided, That the amount which may be added to the maximum prices herein specified shall not exceed the actual cost of such cleaning. In the event the shipper does not clean barges which have become dirtied in his service, the carrier may make an additional charge not to exceed the actual cost incurred for the cleaning necessary to render such barges suitable for the transportation of the commodities for which they were suitable when placed in the shipper's service. In addition, the carrier may charge for all time necessarily consumed for such cleaning, whether performed by carrier or shipper, at the rates specified below for demurrage.

(8) Demurrage. The rates set forth in the above table include free time of three hours at loading point and three hours at unloading point for minimum cargoes in tow of less than 2,000 tons and six hours at loading point and six hours at unloading point for minimum cargoes in tow of 2,000 tons and over. Loading and discharge rates shall be determined by agreement between the parties or, in the absence of such agreement, they shall be the maximum loading and discharge rates of the available pumping equipment. Demurrage for all time in addition to the free time and the loading and discharge time may be charged at the rate of $35.00 per running hour or fraction thereof for tugs having minimum cargoes of 2,000 tons and over and $25.00 per running hour or fraction thereof for

(d) Maximum prices on the Atlantic Intracoastal Waterway. Maximum prices for the transportation, by carriers other than common carriers, of petroleum and petroleum products in bulk by barge between points on the Atlantic Intracoastal Waterway south of Norfolk, Virginia, and its tributaries, shall continue to be determined under the provisions of § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that the maximum prices for distances of 25 miles or more shall be as follows:

(2) Application of rates to cargoes in tow. The rates set forth in the above table are for the furnishing of tugs and barges by the carrier. Maximum prices for furnishing towing services only shall not exceed 75% of the maximum prices herein provided for furnishing tugs and barges.

The rates set forth in the above table are based on the specified minimum cargoes in tow. The maximum charge for cargoes in tow of less than 750 tons shall be the charge for a cargo of 750 tons computed at the 750-ton rate. The maximum charge for a particular cargo shall not, in any case, exceed the maximum charge for a cargo of the next higher minimum tonnage computed at the rate applicable thereto. For example, the maximum charge for a cargo in tow of more than 750 tons but less than 1,000 tons shall be computed at the rate established in the above table for minimum cargoes of 750 tons, unless the charge thus computed exceeds the charge for a cargo of 1,000 tons computed at the 1,000-ton rate, in which event the latter charge shall prevail.

(3) Wharfage and dockage. Wharfage and dockage charges are not included in the rates set forth in the above table.

(4) Tolls and port charges. Canal tollage, lock charges and port charges are included in the rates set forth in the above table for tugs and barges but are not included in the rates for towing only.

(5) Insurance. Cargo insurance is not included in the rates set forth in the above table. Insurance on barges is included in the rates for tugs and barges but is not included in the rates for towing only.

(6) Pumping out by carrier. When cargo is discharged by use of carrier's pumps, a charge of three-quarters (¾) of one cent per barrel may be made for use of carrier's pumps. In addition, if the carrier performs discharging service, at the request of the shipper, an additional charge therefor may be made, which shall not exceed the actual cost to the carrier of furnishing such service.

(7) Cleaning of equipment. Where cleaning is required to render barges suitable for transportation of the products of a particular shipper, the cost of cleaning shall be paid by the carrier or shipper, as determined by agreement between the parties: Provided, That the amount which may be added to the maximum prices herein specified shall not exceed the actual cost of such cleaning. In the event the shipper does not clean barges which have become dirtied in his service, the carrier may make an additional charge not to exceed the actual cost incurred for the cleaning necessary to render such barges suitable for the transportation of the commodities for which they were suitable when placed in the shipper's service. In addition, the carrier may charge for all time necessarily consumed for such cleaning, whether performed by carrier or shipper, at the rates specified below for demurrage.

(8) Demurrage. The rates set forth above include free time of three hours at loading point and three hours at unloading point. Loading and discharge rates shall be determined by agreement between the parties, or, in the absence of such agreement, the loading rate shall be 1,250 barrels per running hour and the discharge rate shall be 750 barrels per running hour, day or night, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays not excepted. Demurrage for all time in addition to the free time and the loading and discharge time may be charged at the rate of $10.00 per running hour or fraction thereof per tug, and $2.50 per running hour or fraction thereof per barge.

(Attention is directed to the provisions of paragraph (h) of this section 7.6 requiring persons subject to the terms of this paragraph (d) to file quarterly financial reports with O. P. A.)

(e) Maximum prices on the Mississippi River. Maximum prices for the transportation, by carriers other than common carriers, of petroleum and petroleum products in bulk by barge between points on the Mississippi River and its tributaries, shall continue to be determined under the provisions of § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, except that the maximum prices for distances of 150 miles or more shall be as set forth below: Provided, That the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section 7.6, governing transportation on the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway, shall apply to transportation originating on the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway and terminating or transferring at a point on the Mississippi River south of, and including, North Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and also to movements on the Mississippi River wholly between points south of, and including, North Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Maximum prices for furnishing towing services only shall not exceed 75% of the maximum prices herein provided for furnishing tugs and barges or towboats and barges.

The rates set forth above are based on minimum cargoes of 500 tons per barge. The maximum charge for cargoes of less than 500 tons per barge shall be the charge for a cargo of 500 tons.

(3) Wharfage and dockage. Wharfage and dockage charges are not included in the rates set forth in the above table.

(5) Pumping out by carrier. When cargo is discharged by use of carrier's pumps installed on barges, an additional charge of three-quarters (¾) of one cent per barrel may be made for use of carrier's pumps. If the carrier performs discharging service, at the request of the shipper, an additional charge therefor may be made, which shall not exceed the actual cost to the carrier of furnishing such service.

(6) Cleaning of equipment. Where cleaning is required to render barges suitable for transportation of the products of a particular shipper, the cost of cleaning shall be paid by the carrier or shipper, as determined by agreement between the parties: Provided, That the amount which may be added to the maximum prices herein specified shall not exceed the actual cost of such cleaning. In the event the shipper does not clean barges which have become dirtied in his service, the carrier may make an additional charge not to exceed the actual cost incurred for the cleaning necessary to render such barges suitable for the transportation of the commodities for which they were suitable when placed in the shipper's service. In addition, the carrier may charge for all time necessarily consumed for such cleaning, whether performed by carrier or shipper, at the rates specified below for demurrage.

Demurrage for all time in addition to the free time and the loading and discharge time may be charged at rates for barges which shall not exceed three-tenths (3/10) of one mill per barrel of 42 gallons per hour, based on barge capacity, size of barge to be determined by Barge Calibration Table, and at rates for tugboats which shall not exceed three (3) cents per indicated or rated horsepower, as the case may be, per hour.

Rules and Regulations Applicable to the Charter of Tank Barges

(1) Capacity shall be the full cubical capacity of the barge as allowed in its certificate without regard to the density of the cargo.

(2) The maximum charge for a particular barge shall not, in any case, exceed the maximum charge for a barge of the next greater capacity group computed at the rate applicable thereto. For example, the maximum charge for a barge of more than 750 barrels capacity but less than 1,500 barrels shall be computed at the rate established in the above table for barges of 750 to, but not including, 1,500 barrels, unless the charge thus computed exceeds the charge for a barge of 1,500 barrels capacity computed at the 1,500-barrel rate, in which event the latter charge shall prevail.

(3) The rates set forth in the above table may be increased by twenty percent (20%) for barges equipped with pumps.

(4) The rates set forth in the above table are for a period of one month extending from the date on which the charter commences to, but not including, the same date in the next calendar month, but, if there be no corresponding date in the next succeeding calendar month, it shall extend to and include the last day of that month. Fractions of a month shall be computed on the basis of one-thirtieth (1/30) of the monthly rate for each twenty-four hour period or fraction thereof.

PART 1412—SOLVENTS

[MPR 37,[1] Amdt. 6]

BUTYL ALCOHOL AND ESTERS THEREOF

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation No. 37 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1412.103 (b) is hereby revoked.

2. Section 1412.116 (a) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) Maximum prices per pound, delivered, in eastern territory—(i) Sales in tank cars of butyl alcohol and butyl acetate produced after June 30, 1943.

	Butyl alcohol	Butyl acetate	Base average cost per bushel of whole grain
Produced by fermentation of molasses	$0.185	$0.18
Produced by Commercial Solvents Corp. by fermentation of grain	.188	.1795	$1.22
Produced by U. S. Industrial Chemicals, Inc. and Publicker Commercial Alcohol Corp. by fermentation of grain	.226	.2115	1.22

(ii) Differentials for fluctuations in average cost per bushel of whole grain. For every increase or decrease of $.035 in the average cost per bushel of whole grain from the corresponding base average cost set opposite the maximum prices in subdivision (i) above, the corresponding price of grain fermentation butyl alcohol shall be increased or decreased, as the case may be, by $.005 per pound, and the corresponding price of grain fermentation butyl acetate shall be increased or decreased, as the case may be, by $.0035 per pound. The increases or decreases in the maximum prices for grain butyl alcohol and grain butyl acetate required by increases or decreases in the average cost of grain shall be made for each calendar month on the first day of each month and shall apply to the butyl alcohol and butyl acetate produced during each such month, except that such price determinations for July 1943 shall be made within ten days after July 15, 1943, and shall apply to the grain butyl alcohol and grain butyl acetate produced during July 1943. In making such increases or decreases, a producer shall compute his average cost for a current month by one of the following methods:

(a) The average cost for a current month shall be the actual average cost per bushel of grain used in production during the preceding month, computed by taking the actual average cost of the grain inventory on hand at the beginning of the preceding month plus the grain received during the preceding month; or

(b) The average cost for a current month shall be the actual average cost of the grain to be used during the current month, computed by taking the actual average cost of the inventory on hand at the beginning of the current month plus the grain for which contracts have been made for delivery during the current month for use in butyl alcohol production.

(iii) Meaning of average cost per bushel of whole grain. For the purposes of this subparagraph (1), "Average cost per bushel of whole grain" shall mean the average cost, delivered to the plant:

(a) In the case of wheat, of a 60-pound bushel.

(b) In the case of corn, of a 56-pound bushel.

(c) In the case of alcomeal or wheat flour, of 56-pounds of the granulated material, less the milling charges.

(d) In the case of rye, of 1⅛ bushels (65½ lbs.).

(iv) Election of method of computation and reporting. Within ten days after July 15, 1943, each producer of grain fermentation butyl alcohol and butyl acetate listed in subdivision (i) shall inform the Office of Price Administration by registered mail which one of the above methods of determining actual average cost of grain he elects to use; the maximum prices for butyl alcohol and butyl acetate which he has determined for July 1943 under that method; and a detailed statement of the average grain cost upon which such prices were determined. Thereafter, within ten days after the first day of each succeeding month, each such producer shall report to the Office of Price Administration his maximum prices for butyl alcohol and butyl acetate for that month computed under the method chosen by him, and a detailed statement of the actual average grain cost upon which such prices are determined. A producer having once elected to compute his average cost by one of the two methods set forth above, must continue using that method thereafter.

(v) Sales in tank cars of butyl alcohol and butyl acetate produced before July 1, 1943. The maximum prices under subdivisions (i) and (ii) shall apply only to butyl alcohol and butyl acetate produced after June 30, 1943. For normal fermentation butyl alcohol and butyl acetate produced before July 1, 1943 the following maximum prices are established for sales in tank cars:

	Butyl alcohol	Butyl acetate
Produced in Indiana and Illinois	$0.1425	$0.1475
Produced elsewhere in the U. S.	.19	.1825

(vi) Differentials for sales in other than tank cars. For sales in drums in carload lots, and for sales in drums in less than carload lots, there may be added to the maximum tank car prices $.01 and $.015 per pound, respectively.

3. Section 1412.116 (a) (5) (i) is amended to read as follows:

(i) Sales from plants in the territories and possessions. The following maximum prices per pound are established for sales of normal fermentation butyl alcohol and normal fermentation butyl acetate produced in plants in the territories and possessions of the United States, f. o. b. plant:

	Normal fermentation butyl alcohol	Normal fermentation butyl acetate
Tank cars	$0.1375	$0.1425
Drums carload lots	.1475	.1525
Drums l. c. l.	.1525	.1575

4. Section 1412.116 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Sales in containers of 50 gallons or more of normal synthetic butyl alcohol and normal synthetic butyl acetate. The maximum prices for normal synthetic butyl alcohol or normal synthetic butyl acetate in containers of 50 gallons or more shall be the seller's maximum prices for such commodities as determined under the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

This amendment shall become effective as of July 1, 1943.

(Pub. Laws 421 and 729, 77th Cong.; E.O. 9250, 7 F.R. 7871)

TITLE 5—ADMINISTRATIVE PERSONNEL

Chapter I—Civil Service Commission

PART 18—WAR SERVICE REGULATIONS

RECRUITMENT AND PLACEMENT

Section 18.4 Recruitment and placement is amended as follows:

§ 18.4 Recruitment and placement—(a) Procedure in filling vacancies. * * *

(7) Upon the receipt of a request for names of qualified persons, the Commission will supply an adequate number from the head of appropriate lists of eligibles, or from such other sources as, in the judgment of the Commission, may be appropriate. The eligibles supplied by the Commission will not include the name of persons suggested by the appointing officer unless, in the judgment of the Commission, such persons are among the best qualified and available persons known to the Commission.

The Commission will not normally certify the name of a person proposed by an agency unless and until it has had a minimum period of two weeks in which to certify qualified applicants in response to the requisition. Under emergency circumstances, the Commission may shorten the time period specified in the preceding sentence, and the Commission may require a longer time period in the event of doubt as to the qualifications of the proposed appointee and in the temporary absence of other better qualified candidates.

Whenever public announcement is made of a special competitive examination for filling a particular vacancy in which the statement is made that the register will expire upon appointment to the particular vacancy, such vacancy may not thereafter be filled noncompetitively by promotion, transfer, reinstatement, or otherwise. Applications for such examination, however, may be accepted by the Commission from persons who are currently in the Federal service, or who have a status for reappointment to such service, and who are specially recommended by the appointing officer at any time before appointment is made to the vacancy involved. The qualifications of such persons will be rated under the competitive standards observed in the examination, and their names will be entered on the register and certified as if they had orginally filed an application in the competitive examination.

(d) Selection. The nominating or appointing officer shall, with sole reference to merit and fitness, make selections for appointment from the names of eligibles furnished by the Commission unless better qualified persons for the position in question could be obtained by the Commission by presenting for consideration other names on the list of eligibles or by going outside the list entirely. The names of persons suggested by an appointing officer will not be included among the eligibles furnished by the Commission unless, in the judgment of the Commission, such persons are among the best qualified and available persons known to the Commission. An appointing officer who passes over an eligible granted disability preference or military preference and selects a person not granted such preference shall file with the Commission a statement setting forth in detail his reasons for so doing, which reasons shall not be made available to the veteran or to anyone else except in the discretion of the appointing officer.

The Commission may, in its discretion, require that selections for appointment be made in the order and manner provided for in Part 7 of this chapter.

AUTHORITY: §§ 741.401 to 741.413, inclusive, issued under 56 Stat. 664, 52 Stat. 38, 45; 7 U. S. C. 1301, 1303.

§ 741.401 Eligibility for payment. An application for parity payment with respect to a crop may be made by any person for whom, under the provisions of § 741.403, a share in the payment with respect to a crop may be computed.

§ 741.402 Rates of payments and deductions—(a) Corn—(1) Payment: corn-allotment farms. 7.2 cents per bushel of the normal yield of corn for each acre in the corn allotment.

(2) Deduction—(i) Corn-allotment farms. 10 times the payment rate for each acre planted to corn in excess of the corn allotment. The deduction for excess corn acreage shall not exceed the payment computed for corn plus 10 times the payment rate for each acre planted to corn in excess of 130 percent of the corn allotment.

(ii) Non-corn-allotment farms. 10 times the payment rate for each acre planted to corn in excess of 15 acres or 130 percent of the corn allotment, whichever is larger.

(2) Deduction—(i) Wheat-allotment farms. 10 times the payment rate for each acre planted to wheat in excess of the wheat allotment except that the deduction for any person who seeded within his allotment but who did not store his excess volunteer wheat until it could be marketed free of marketing quota penalty shall be (a) ten times the payment rate for each acre by which the sum of the acreage seeded to wheat and the acreage of volunteer wheat which reaches maturity is in excess of the allotment times his percentage share (applicable if the wheat allotment exceeds 15 acres or if the sum of the acreage seeded to wheat and the acreage of volunteer wheat which reached maturity is less than 110 percent of the wheat allotment) or (b) the sum of the wheat payment for the farm and 10 times the payment rate for each acre of wheat harvested in excess of 15 acres times his percentage share (applicable if wheat allotment is 15 acres or less and the sum of acreage seeded to wheat and the acreage of volunteer wheat which reaches maturity equals or exceeds 110 percent of wheat allotment): Provided, however, That on any farm in the Southern Region except Oklahoma and Texas, which comprised more than one farm under the 1941 Agricultural Conservation Program, but which was determined by the county committee after the wheat was seeded for harvest in 1942 to comprise only one farm, the deduction for excess wheat acreage for the combined farm shall not exceed the larger of (1) the deduction which would have been computed had there been no combination for 1942 and (2) the wheat payment for the combined farm.

(ii) Non-wheat-allotment farms. Ten times the payment rate for each acre of wheat on the farm harvested for grain, or for any other purpose after reaching maturity, in excess of the larger of 15 acres or the wheat allotment or permitted acreage, whichever is applicable, or, in the East Central Region and in the Southern Region except Texas and Oklahoma, in excess of the largest of (a) the wheat acreage allotment or permitted acreage, whichever is applicable, (b) 15 acres, or (c) if no wheat is sold from the farm, 3 acres per family living on the farm and having an interest in the wheat crop grown thereon: Provided, That for any farm in the Southern Region except Oklahoma and Texas, which in 1941 comprised more than one farm but which was determined by the county committee after the wheat was seeded for harvest in 1942 to comprise only one farm, the deduction shall not exceed the deduction which would have been computed had there been no combination for 1942.

(c) Tobacco (Types 42–44, 46 and 51–55—(1) Payment. 1 cent per pound of the normal yield of tobacco for the farm for each acre in the tobacco allotment.

(2) Deduction. 10 times the payment rate for each acre of tobacco harvested in excess of the tobacco allotment or permitted acreage, whichever is applicable.

(d) Tobacco (Type 41)—(1) Payment. .2 cent per pound of the normal yield of tobacco for the farm for each acre in the tobacco allotment.

(2) Deduction. 10 times the payment rate for each acre of tobacco harvested in excess of the tobacco allotment or permitted acreage, whichever is applicable.

§ 741.403 Division of payments and deductions. The net payment or net deduction computed for any farm with respect to any crop shall be divided among the landlords, tenants, and sharecroppers in the same proportion (as indicated by their acreage shares expressed in terms of either acreages or percentages) that such persons are determined by the county committee to be entitled, as of the time of harvest, to share in the proceeds (other than a fixed commodity payment) of such crop(s) grown on the farm in 1942. Such determination shall be made at the time the county committee approves the application for payment: Provided, That if any such crop is not grown on the farm in 1942, or the acreage of such crop is substantially reduced by flood, hail, drought, insects, or plantbed disease, the net payment or net deduction computed for such crop shall be divided among the landlords, tenants, and sharecroppers in the proportion that the county committee determines such persons would have been entitled to share in the proceeds of such crop if the entire acreage in the acreage allotment for such crop had been planted and harvested in 1942: And provided further, That, in cases where two or more separately owned tracts of land comprise a farm in any area designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Agency as an area in which a substantial proportion of the farms comprise two or more separately owned tracts of land, and all persons who are entitled to receive a share of the proceeds of any such crop agree, as shown by their signatures on the application for payment or a separate statement, the share of each such person in the net payment or net deduction computed with respect to such crop on such farm shall be that share which fairly reflects the contribution of each such person to performance with respect to such crop and also results substantially in a division of such payment or deduction among landlords, tenants, and sharecroppers as classes as each such class shares in the crop, or proceeds thereof, with respect to which the payment or deduction is being made. In cases where landlords, tenants, or sharecroppers have lost their interests in any crop for which special crop allotments are determined after planting but prior to harvest thereof, by reason of the acquisition of title to or lease of the farm for use in connection with the national war effort, the net payment (excluding any compensation for the loss of payment) or the net deduction computed with respect to such crops shall be divided among such persons in the same proportion that the county committee determines that such persons would have been entitled, as of the time of harvest, to share in the proceeds of such crops except for such acquisition of title or lease.

Notwithstanding any other provisions herein, any deduction computed for failure to store excess volunteer wheat until it could be marketed free of marketing quota penalty shall be considered as a personal deduction for the person who failed to comply.

§ 741.404 Proration of net deductions. If the sum of the net payments computed for all persons on a farm exceeds the sum of the net deductions computed for all persons on such farm, the sum of the net deductions computed for all persons on such farm shall be prorated among the persons on such farm for whom a net payment is computed, on the basis of such computed net payments. If the sum of the net deductions computed for all persons on a farm equals or exceeds the sum of the net payments computed for all persons on such farm, no payment will be made with respect to such farm and the amount of such net deductions in excess of the net payments shall be prorated among the persons on such farm for whom a net deduction is computed, on the basis of such computed net deductions.

§ 741.405 Deductions incurred on other farms—(a) Other farms in the same county. Each person's share of the net deduction computed for a farm shall be deducted from his share of the net payment computed for any other farm in the county.

(b) Other farms in the same State. Each person's share of the net deduction computed for all farms in the county shall be deducted from his share of the net payment computed for any other farm in the State, if the State committee finds under the 1942 Crop Parity Payment Program that the crops grown on the farms for which net deductions are computed substantially offset the contribution to the program on other farms.

§ 741.406 General provisions relating to payments—(a) Payments restricted to effectuation of purposes of the program. All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be computed for any person under this program may be withheld or required to be returned if he adopts or has adopted any practice which tends to defeat any of the purposes of the 1942 Crop Parity Payment Program; if, by means of any corporation, partnership, estate, trust, or any other device, or in any manner whatsoever, he has offset, or has participated in offsetting, in whole or in part, the performance for which such payment is otherwise authorized; or if, with respect to grazing land, forest land, or woodland owned or controlled by him, he adopts or has adopted any practice which is contrary to sound conservation practices.

Practices which tend to defeat the purposes of this program and the amount of the payment which shall be withheld or required to be refunded in each such case shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following cases:

Practice and Amount To Be Withheld or Refunded

(1) A landlord or operator, including the landlord of a cash or standing or fixed rent tenant, either by oral or written lease or operating agreement, or by an oral or written agreement supplementary to such lease or operating agreement, requires by coercion or induces by subterfuge his tenant or sharecropper to agree to pay to such landlord or operator all or a portion of any Government payment which the tenant or sharecropper has received or is to receive for participating in the 1942 Crop Parity Payment Program.

Amount: The entire payment which has been or otherwise would be made to such landlord or operator with respect to the farm.

(2) A landlord or operator requires that his tenant or sharecropper pay, in addition to the rental customarily paid in the community for similar land and use, a sum of money or any thing, or service of value equivalent to all or a portion of the Government payment which may be, is being, or has been earned by the tenant or sharecropper.

Amount: The entire payment which has been or otherwise would be made to such landlord or operator with respect to the farm.

(3) A landlord or operator knowingly omits the names of one or more of his landlords, tenants, or sharecroppers on an application for payment form or other official document required to be filed in connection with the 1942 Crop Parity Payment Program, or knowingly shows incorrectly his or their acreage shares of a crop, or otherwise falsifies the record required therein to be submitted in respect to a particular farm, thereby intentionally depriving or attempting to deprive one or more landlords, tenants, or sharecroppers of any Government payment to which they are entitled.

Amount: The entire payment which has been or otherwise would be made to such landlord or operator with respect to the farm.

(4) A person complies with the provisions of the program on a farm or farms operated by him as an individual, but causes or fails to prevent the substantial offsetting of such performance by the farming operations of a partnership, association, estate, corporation, trust, or other business enterprise in which he has a financial interest and the policies of which he is in a position to control.

Amount: The amount of the net deduction computed for such business enterprise.

(5) A partnership, association, estate, corporation, trust, or other business enterprise carried on its operations so as to qualify for payment, but one of the persons who is interested in and in position to control the operations or policies of such partnership, association, estate, corporation, trust or other business enterprise, substantially offsets such performance by such person's individual operations.

Amount: All or any part of the person's payments shall be forfeited except that the amount so forfeited shall not be less than the greater of the amount of the deduction incurred with respect to the person's farm or the person's share of the payment computed for the partnership, association, estate, corporation, trust, or other business enterprise, and the payments to the partnership, association, estate, corporation, trust, or other business enterprise, shall be reduced by the amount which the State committee finds or estimates is commensurate with his interest in such enterprise.

(6) A person operates farms in two or more States and substantially offsets his performance in one State by overplanting his farm allotments in another State.

Amount: The net amount of the deduction which would be computed for such person for such overplanting if the farms were in the same State.

(7) A person rents land for cash, standing, or fixed rent to another person who he knows or has good reason to believe will offset such person's performance by substantially overplanting the acreage allotment for the farm which includes such rented land.

Amount: The net amount of the deduction which would be computed if the person were entitled to receive all the crops planted on the land so rented.

(8) A person participates in the planting, production, or harvesting of a crop on a farm other than a farm in which he admits having an interest. (A person shall be considered to be participating in the planting, production, or harvesting of a crop if the committee finds that he furnished labor, machinery, workstock, or financial assistance for the planting, production, or harvesting of such crop and that he has a financial interest in such crop.)

Amount: The proportion of the net amount of the deduction which would be computed for the farm which the committee determines was such person's interest in the crops planted, produced, or harvested.

(9) A tenant, in settling his obligations under a written or oral rental contract or operating agreement, or a written or oral contract or agreement supplemental or collateral thereto, pays or renders cash, standing rent, or fixed rent, or a share of the crop, or any service or thing of value, aggregating in value in excess of the rental customarily paid in the community for similar land and use, thereby diverting to the landlord or operator the whole or any part of any Government payment which the tenant is entitled to receive. The application of this rule shall be subject to the approval of the regional director.

Amount: The whole of any payment with respect to the farm which has been or otherwise would be made to such tenant. There shall be withheld from or required to be refunded by such landlord or operator the whole of the payments with respect to all of his farms under the program involved: Provided, however, That, where a tenant is renting for a share of the crop only and the tenant's share is 60 percent or less, only the landlord's or operator's payments shall be withheld or recovered.

(10) A landlord or operator forces or causes, by coercion, subterfuge, or in any manner whatsoever, a tenant or sharecropper to abandon a crop prior to harvest for the purpose of obtaining the share of the Government payment that would otherwise be made to the tenant or sharecropper with respect to such crop.

Amount: The entire payment which has been or otherwise would be made to such landlord or operator with respect to the farm.

(11) A person misuses or participates in the misuse of a marketing card with respect to any crop for which marketing quotas are in effect or fails to file or knowingly falsifies any report required by or under the regulations pertaining to marketing quotas for the 1941–42 or 1942–43 marketing year and such misuse or failure to file or falsification of such report results in any erroneous or incomplete record pertaining to any farm in connection with marketing quotas.

Amount: The entire payment which has been or would otherwise be made to such person with respect to the farm.

(b) Payment computed and made without regard to claims. Any payment or share of payment shall be computed and made without regard to questions of title under State law; without deduction of claims for advances (except for indebtedness to the United States subject to set-off under orders issued by the Secretary), and without regard to any claim or lien against any crop, or proceeds thereof, in favor of the owner or any other creditor.

(c) Changes in leasing and cropping agreements, reduction in number of tenants, and other devices. If on any farm in 1942 any change in the arrangements which existed on the farm in 1941 is made between the landlord or operator and the tenants or sharecroppers and such change would cause a greater proportion of the payments to be made to the landlord or operator under the 1942 program than would have been made to the landlord or operator for performance on the farm under the 1941 program, payments to the landlord or operator under the 1942 program with respect to the farm shall not be greater than the amount that would have been paid to the landlord or operator if the arrangements which existed on the farm in 1941 had been continued in 1942, unless the county committee certifies that the change is justified and approves such change.

If on any farm the number of sharecroppers or share tenants in 1942 is less than the average number on the farm during the three years 1939 to 1941 and such reduction would increase the payments that would otherwise be made to the landlord or operator, such payments to the landlord or operator shall not be greater than the amount that would otherwise be made, unless the county committee certifies that the reduction is justified and approves such reduction.

The action of the county committee under this paragraph (c) is subject to approval or disapproval by the state committee.

If the state committee finds that any person who files an application for payment pursuant to the provisions of the 1942 program has employed any other scheme or device (including coercion, fraud, or misrepresentation), the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of any payment under the 1942 Crop Parity Payment Program to which such person would normally be entitled, the War Food Administrator may withhold, in whole or in part, from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require such person to refund, in whole or in part, the amount of any payment which has been or would otherwise be made to such person in connection with the 1942 program.

(d) Deductions in cases of erroneous notice of acreage allotments. Notwithstanding the provisions of § 741.402, in any case where, through error in a county or State office, the producer was officially notified of an allotment or permitted acreage for a crop larger than the finally approved allotment or permitted acreage for that crop and the county and State committee find, if the notice was in writing, or the county and State committees, with the approval of the Chief of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency, find, if the notice was not in writing, that the producer, acting upon information contained in the erroneous notice, planted an acreage to the crop in excess of the finally approved allotment of permitted acreage, the producer will not be considered to have exceeded the allotment or permitted acreage for the crop unless he planted an acreage to the crop in excess of the acreage stated in the notice erroneously issued, and the deduction for excess acreage will be made only with respect to the acreage in excess of that stated in the notice erroneously issued.

(e) Operated farms. Payments will be made only with respect to farms that are operated except in areas designated by the Agricultural Adjustment Agency as areas in which a substantial number of farms will not be operated for causes beyond the control of the operators. In these areas the payment for any crop on a farm that is not operated will be computed on the smaller of (1) the acreage allotment or (2) 125 percent of the acreage planted to the crop.

§ 741.407 No deduction for association expenses. No part of the parity payment computed for any farm shall be deducted for county association expenses incurred or to be incurred in connection with 1942 crop parity payments.

§ 741.408 Application for payment. Applications heretofore or hereafter filed in the county office for 1942 agricultural conservation and parity payments or for 1942 parity payments will be regarded as applications for 1942 crop parity payments and the data on these applications will be used in determining 1942 crop parity payments.

§ 741.409 Appeals. Any person may, within 15 days after notice thereof is forwarded to or made available to him, request the county committee in writing to reconsider its recommendation or determination in any matter affecting his right to or the amount of payment for any farm in which he has an interest as landlord, tenant, or sharecropper. The county committee shall notify him of its decision in writing within 15 days after receipt of written request for reconsideration. If he is dissatisfied with the decision of the county committee he may, within 15 days after the decision is forwarded to or made available to him, appeal in writing to the State committee. The State committee shall notify him of its decision in writing within 30 days after the submission of the appeal. If he is dissatisfied with the decision of the State committee, he may, within 15 days after its decision is forwarded to or made available to him, request the regional director to review the decision of the State committee.

Written notice of any decision rendered under the section by the county of State committee shall also be issued to each person known to it who, as landlord, tenant, or sharecropper having an interest in the operation of the farm, may be adversely affected by such decision. Only a person who shows that he is adversely affected by the outcome of any request for reconsideration or appeal may appeal the matter further but any person who, as landlord, tenant, or sharecropper having an interest in the operation of the farm, would be affected by the decision to be made on any reconsideration by the county committee or subsequent appeal shall be given a full and fair hearing if he appears when the hearing thereon is held.

§ 741.410 Forms and instructions. The Agricultural Adjustment Agency shall prescribe such forms and issue such instructions as may be necessary to carry out these regulations.

§ 741.411 Performance of duties of State and county committees in Hawaii and Puerto Rico. The Officer in Charge of the Office of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency for the Territory of Hawaii or for Puerto Rico, as the case may be, shall perform the duties of both the State and county committees as set forth in these regulations.

§ 741.412 Definitions. As used herein and in all forms and documents relating to 1942 crop parity payments for producers of corn (in the commercial corn-producing area) wheat or tobacco, unless the context or subject matter otherwise requires, the terms:

(a) "Secretary," "Regional Director," "State committee," "county committee," "person," "landlord," "tenant," "sharecropper," "commercial corn-producing area," "special crop allotment," "acreage planted to corn," and "acreage planted to wheat," shall have the same meanings as are assigned to them in ACP–1942 as amended.

(b) "Farm" means the area of land considered as a farm for the purposes of ACP–1942, as amended.

PART 954—MILK IN THE DULUTH-SUPERIOR MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER REGULATING HANDLING OF MILK

§ 954.0 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933), as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), and the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR 1941 Supp., 900.1–900.16; 7 F.R. 3350; 8 F.R. 2815), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the marketing agreement, as amended, and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Duluth-Superior marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced in such hearing and the record thereof, it is hereby found that:

(1) The order regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, as amended and as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended and as hereby amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in the said marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk as determined pursuant to sections 2 and 8 (c) of the act are not reasonable in view of the prices of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supplies of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in the tentatively approved marketing agreement, upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers of more than 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by the said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, which is marketed within the Duluth-Superior marketing area, have signed the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the aforesaid marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that the issuance of this order further amending the aforesaid order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum on the question of the approval of the order and who, during the determined representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the Duluth-Superior marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that from and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Duluth-Superior marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby further amended; and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended in the following respects:

3. Delete § 954.5 (a) (1) and substitute therefor the following:

(1) Class I milk—For each delivery period the price for Class II milk for such delivery period plus $0.52.

4. Delete § 954.5 (a) (2) and substitute therefor the following:

(2) Class II milk—For each delivery period the price which results from the following computation by the market administrator: (i) determine the average of the daily prices per pound of 92-score butter at wholesale in the Chicago market, as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture for the period from the 25th day of the month second preceding such delivery period through the 24th day of the month immediately preceding such delivery period; (ii) multiply by 4; (iii) add 25 percent thereof; and (iv) add an additional 7/10 cent for each 1 10 cent that the average f. o. b. gross factory price per pound of dry skim milk solids for human consumption as reported to the United States Department of Agriculture by the American Dry Milk Institute, Inc., for the month second preceding such delivery period is above 7 cents.

5. Renumber as § 954.12 the section headed "Market Advisory Committee" which appeared as § 954.11 in Amendment No. 1, effective February 1, 1942.

6. Add as § 954.14 the following:

(10) The term "season" means from April 1 of any year through March 31 of the succeeding year.

(b) Restrictions. (1) No person may during the season beginning April 1, 1943 except pursuant to (b) (2) or (b) (3) hereof, ship (i) any pears from region 1 in excess of 100% of the quantity of pears shipped by such person from said region 1 for fresh consumption during the season beginning on April 1, 1942, or (ii) any pears from region 2 in excess of 75% of the quantity of pears shipped by such person from said region 2 for fresh consumption during the season beginning on April 1, 1942: Provided, That any person who has shipped in excess of the quotas herein prescribed prior to the effective date hereof shall not be deemed to have violated the provisions of this order.

(2) The Director may authorize any person to ship a particular lot of pears if (i) the pears are not suitable for canning; (ii) canning facilities are not accessible; or (iii) for any other reason the Director may deem necessary in order to effectuate the purposes of this order.

Each shipper shall, with respect to each shipment of pears, pay the aforesaid assessment to the program manager (within ten days after the end of each calendar month after said assessment is specified) of the region from which the respective shipment of pears was made. Each canner doing business in region 1 or region 2 shall, with respect to each lot of pears purchased for canning, pay the aforesaid assessment to the program manager (within ten days after the end of each calendar month after said assessment is specified) of the region in which the respective lot of pears was canned.

(4) At the end of each season, the program manager in each region specified herein shall refund to each shipper and canner, respectively, any amount paid in excess of such person's pro rata share of the aforesaid expenses incurred by the Program Manager, in accordance with the provisions hereof.

(d) Audits and inspections. The Director shall be entitled to make such audit or inspection of the books, records and other writings, premises, or stocks of fresh or canned pears of any person, and to make such investigations, as may be necessary or appropriate, in his discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this order.

Subject: Delegation of Authority to Approve Contract Forms and Deviations from Approved Forms.

The authority delegated to the Director, Purchases Division, by the Commanding General, Services of Supply, dated September 15, 1942 and the authority delegated to me by the Under Secretary of War, dated September 15, 1942 (in respect of matters relating to the Army Air Forces) to act for the Secretary of War or the Under Secretary of War in approving War Department contract forms and deviations from approved forms is hereby further delegated to the Chief Counsel, Purchases Division, and to the Chief, Legal Branch, Purchases Division, Army Service Forces, or either of them, and to any person who for the time being may be acting in either capacity.

ALBERT J. BROWNING,
Colonel, General Staff Corps,
Director, Purchases Division.

(i) Authority delegated by these procurement regulations. These regulations to the extent, and only to the extent, that they actually confer authority upon the chiefs of the technical services and other officers or civilian officials of the War Department to exercise power to enter into contracts and into amendments or modifications of contracts heretofore or hereafter made and to make advance, progress and other payments thereon shall constitute a redelegation by the Commanding General, Army Service Forces of the authority delegated to him as set forth in § 81.107(e), and by the Special Representative of the Under Secretary of War of the authority delegated to him, as set forth in § 81.107(g). The authority granted as provided in the preceding sentence, of course, does not dispense with the necessity of obtaining any approval expressly specified in any paragraph of these procurement regulations (see e. g. § 81.315(a)). Authority conferred upon the chiefs of the supply services under any paragraph of these procurement regulations may be redelegated (with or without power of further redelegation) to such officer or officers or civilian official or officials as the chiefs of the technical services severally may direct, whether or not express mention of the powers of redelegation is made in any such paragraph, unless it is expressly provided in the paragraph that the power shall not be redelegated. The exercise prior to the date of these regulations of any such authority by any such officer or officers or civilian official or officials is hereby ratified and confirmed in all respects.

Section 81.108 (e) is amended as follows:

§ 81.108 Applicability as to various activities. • • •

(e) Definition of terms—(1) Technical services and supply services. Pursuant to Circular No. 30, Army Service Forces, May 15, 1943, the designation of "supply services" is changed to "technical services." This change is being made in the Procurement Regulations as occasion arises to reprint pages for other reasons. In the meantime, the term "supply services" should be read as "technical services".

(2) Service commands. These regulations are applicable to the procurement activities of the service commands. Where procurement is accomplished by a service command at the direction of the chief of a technical service or his duly authorized representative, the directions will contain references to the applicable paragraphs of the procurement regulations and will also contain supplementary instructions where appropriate. In such a case, for the purposes of these regulations, the procurement shall be regarded as procurement by the technical service concerned and the contract will be regarded as a contract of that technical service. In all other cases, the service command accomplishing the procurement shall act independently of any technical service and the term "technical service" and the term "service", as used in these regulations, shall be deemed to refer to the service commands and the term "chiefs of technical services" and "chiefs of services" shall be deemed to refer to the Commanding Generals of the Service Commands. In connection with this subparagraph (2) see subparagraph (1) above.

GENERAL PURCHASE POLICIES

Section 81.223 (a) is amended as follows:

§ 81.223 Factors governing placement of contracts. • • •

(a) Ability to perform. Primary emphasis shall be placed upon securing performance or deliveries at the time, in the quantity, and of the quality required by the war program. In addition an effort should be made to have for each item of supply and equipment at least two producers so located as not to be subject to the same hazard. The effort to be made shall be such as is deemed reasonable by the chief of the technical service concerned.

• • • • •

Section 81.228 is added as follows:

§ 81.228 Labor aspects of production rescheduling—(a) General policy. (1) When production in an individual plant is reduced substantially as a result of rescheduling, withdrawal or reduction of contracts or for other reasons, the War Manpower Commission will be informed of the change so that that agency may (i) work with the employer, determine the number and types of workers to be released and on what date; and (ii) arrange for the immediate reemployment of the displaced workers in other essential industry.

(2) In such cases, workers to be released as a result of the cut-back will be notified of their pending separation, of the assistance to be provided by the War Manpower Commission in obtaining other employment for them, and, so far as security considerations permit, of the reasons for the cut-back.

(3) These arrangements are desired to avoid impairment of labor morale, to insure continuous employment of workers in essential jobs and to avoid public impression that cut-backs are due to poor allocation of materials, inefficient management of the facility itself or unsatisfactory work by the employees laid off.

(4) To accomplish these objectives, the procedure specified in paragraphs (b) to (d) of this section will be followed. The procedure applies only after final decision to make a cut-back is reached and it has been determined that the facilities made available by the cut-back probably will not be used by another contracting agency. Application of the procedure should not be withheld because of a vague possibility that some other agency might use the facilities.

(b) Procedure for technical services. Each technical service is responsible for:

(1) Notifying the regional office of the War Manpower Commission in whose area the plant is located of the cut-back, transmitting a copy of the notification to the headquarters office of the technical service involved. If the technical service making the notification has knowledge of subcontractors and suppliers who will be substantially affected, notification concerning these employers should also be transmitted to the appropriate War Manpower Commission regional offices.

(2) Advising management of the cut-back and the reasons therefor. If the notification is first made verbally, it should be confirmed by letter. Management should be asked to notify the workers affected and their union representatives if any. Management should also be asked to inform such of their subcontractors or suppliers as may be substantially affected by the cut-back.

(3) Preparing official statements to the press announcing the curtailment and the reasons for it. These statements will be cleared with the Bureau of Public Relations. After the latter's approval they will be transmitted to the appropriate field procurement office for release in the locality in which the facility is located. Such action is normally desirable only when a large lay off results or there is an unusually adverse community reaction to the change.

(4) Establishing and operating necessary controls to insure that management carries out its responsibilities.

(5) Transmitting to the War Manpower Commission information concerning where, in the technical service's opinion, the displaced workers might be reemployed with advantage to the war production program.

(6) Determining that classified information is not revealed in notifications, explanations, meetings, press releases, etc., except as authorized in § 5.4.

(c) Responsibilities of the management of the affected facilities. (1) Appropriate notification to workers individually or as a group using written or verbal methods as indicated by the individual situation.

(2) Notification to subcontractors and suppliers with a request that they in turn inform such of their employees as may be released because of the change.

(3) Cooperate with the War Manpower Commission in determining the workers to be released and in placing them elsewhere. Management should also give the War Manpower Commission the names of such of the subcontractors and suppliers who, it is believed, will be substantially affected.

When the facility involved is a Government owned one, the Commanding Officer will discharge the responsibilities of management as described above.

(d) Temporary curtailments. When a temporary curtailment of production due to changes in specifications, change over to production of a different product or to other factors occurs, the following procedure will be followed:

(1) The technical service involved will notify the contractor of the change and reasons therefor. The technical service will make every effort to give the contractor such information as will permit exact determination of the date on which employment operations will be resumed.

(2) Management will be asked to transmit this information to the workers affected and to take steps to avoid disintegration of its labor force pending resumption of full operations. However, it is not desirable that the temporarily displaced workers be idle during the interim. Therefore, management should solicit the aid of the War Manpower Commission in finding temporary local employment for the workers involved.

In § 81.292 paragraphs (b) and (c) are amended as follows:

§ 81.292 Responsibility of the chiefs of the supply services and the commanding generals of the service commands. • • •

(b) Responsibility for the preparation, typing, checking, and distribution of the daily report on procurement (daily log). The Statistics and Progress Branch, Control Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, will advise as to the form and distribution of this report. The Control Approval Symbol for this report is ICY–32.

(c) Responsibility for the preparation of individual strips for all purchase actions in excess of $150,000. From these strips arranged in alphabetical order, pages will be made up for a quarterly report. These pages will be submitted to the Statistics and Progress Branch for reproduction and final compilation of the report required to be filed with Congress pursuant to Public Law 528, 77th Congress. That Branch will advise as to the form and time schedule of these strips. The Control Approval Symbol for this report is ICY–35.

The introductory paragraph in § 81.294 is amended as follows:

§ 81.294 Monthly summary of purchase actions. A summary of all negotiated purchase actions in excess of $10,000 will be rendered for each calendar month as of the last day thereof and submitted on an 8"x10½" sheet through the offices of the chiefs of the various services in accordance with the time schedule (5 calendar days after close of the month) and procedure stated in § 81.291 (e) (on the basis of net obligations undertaken during the month and not appropriations authorized). The form set forth below will be used for all reports submitted following the submission of the reports covering the month of April, 1943. Accordingly, the reports submitted in June covering purchase actions in May and any unreported activity for previous months will be on the new form.

CONTRACTS

In § 81.302 subparagraph (4) of paragraph (c) is amended as follows:

§ 81.302 Definitions. • • •

(c) Contracting officer. • • •

(4) A designation authorized by subparagraph (3) above may be made by instructions relating to particular contractual instruments or classes of instruments, and may, to the extent not specifically prohibited by the terms of the contractual instrument involved, empower the representative to take any or all action thereunder which could lawfully be taken by the contracting officer. In no event, however, shall a representative, by virtue of his appointment as such, be empowered to execute any contract or supplemental agreement (as distinguished from change order). Of course, if he has also been appointed a contracting officer pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, he may, pursuant to any authority conferred by such appointment, execute contracts or supplemental agreements.

• • • • •

Section 81.303a is added as follows:

§ 81.303a Use of letters of intent and letter orders—(a) Letters of intent and letter orders. The use of letters of intent and letter orders (see § 81.386a) was frequently necessary in the earlier stages of the war procurement program to enable contractors to start work immediately upon war contracts prior to the time when the information was available upon which a definitive contract could be negotiated and without the delay incident to contract negotiations. At the present stage of the procurement program, such temporary contractual instruments will be used only for the most cogent reasons and will be superseded at the earliest possible moment by definitive contracts. In general, such instruments should be used only (1) where it is essential to give the contractor a binding commitment to permit of preparatory work immediately and without any delay, or (2) where because of the experimental nature of the work involved or the lack of definite information as to the volume of supplies to be ordered, the amount of work to be done, or detailed specifications, it is impossible to negotiate a definitive contract. Such instruments should not be used as a method of delaying the making of a definitive contract until a substantial portion of the contractor's performance of the contract has been completed. The standard termination provisions for inclusion in letter orders and letters of intent (see § 81.386a) leave room for the insertion of a date by which the definitive contract is to be executed, and also permit postponement of such date by mutual consent (see paragraph 6 (a) of the contract forms set forth in §§ 81.1307, 81.1308, 81.1309, 81.1310). The date inserted should be the earliest date feasible under the circumstances, and postponement should not be consented to except for good cause.

(b) Use of provisions for allowance of profit in standard termination provisions. The standard termination provisions (see § 81.386a) permit of an allowance for profit in the event of termination of a letter of intent or letter order for the convenience of the Government. The chiefs of the technical services will include such provisions for a profit allowance (other than those providing for the payment of a unit price for completed articles) only (1) in those letter orders and letters of intent which, because of inability on the part of the Government to furnish full specifications or essential information or other similar reason, will necessarily remain in effect for a considerable period before they can be superseded by definitive contract, or (2) in cases where the contractor is required to proceed under a letter of intent or letter order, although willing to quote a reasonable fixed price, solely because the Government for its own interest is unwilling immediately to negotiate a definitive contract.

Section 81.304 (a) is amended as follows:

§ 81.304 Definitions—(a) Standard forms of contract. The phrase "standard forms of contract", as used in §§ 81.304 to 81.308g, includes:

Forms so approved should be periodically revised (see § 81.301 (a)) to accord with requirements of these procurement regulations published following approval of the forms. Section 81.306(d) is amended as follows:

§ 81.306 Making and approval of contracts, supplemental agreements and change orders. * * *

(d) Contracts, supplemental agreements and change orders requiring approval of Purchases Division. The approval of the Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces shall be obtained, as herein provided, in connection with all contracts other than those specified in § 81.306 (a), and all supplemental agreements and change orders other than those specified in § 81.306 (c). Where approval is necessary solely because one or more provisions of the contract, supplemental agreement or change order fail to comply with the requirements of §§ 81.322 through 81.365 or present a matter or matters of policy which should be considered by authority higher than the supply service, the necessary approval may be obtained, prior to execution of the instrument on behalf of the technical service, on submission of the contract or the material provisions thereof to the Chief Counsel or the Chief, Legal Branch, Purchases Division, whose approval will be signified by indorsement, memorandum, letter or telegram in response to the request for approval; or on submission of the contract, supplemental agreement or change order, after execution on behalf of the technical service, for approval and manual execution by the Director, Purchases Division. In every other instance the contract, supplemental agreement or change order must be submitted, after execution on behalf of the technical service, for approval and manual execution by the Director, Purchases Division. Upon receipt of requests for the approval of deviations from the contract clauses set forth in §§ 81.365 (a) to 81.365 (i), the Chief Counsel or the Chief, Legal Branch, Purchases Division, will attend to all necessary clearances with the Insurance Branch, Fiscal Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

Section 81.308b is amended as follows:

§ 81.308b Correction of mistakes. (a) Effecting amendment of contracts with the least possible delay to correct misunderstanding, mistakes, errors, and ambiguities will facilitate the prosecution of the war by expediting the procurement program and by giving contractors proper assurance that mistakes unavoidable in a war program as large and extensive as that now in progress, will be corrected expeditiously and fairly. Accordingly, mistakes may be corrected by supplemental agreement pursuant to Title II of the First War Powers Act, 1941, and Executive Order No. 9001, as follows:

(1) Each chief of a technical service may, within the time prescribed by § 81.308f, enter into a supplemental agreement correcting mistakes found by the chief of the technical service to be of the following types:

(i) Misunderstandings, mistakes, and errors of the parties to a written agreement, or ambiguities therein, the correction of which would result in benefit to the Government;

(ii) Misunderstandings, mistakes and errors of the parties to a written agreement, or ambiguities therein, which consist solely of a failure to express in the written agreement the true agreement between the parties in accordance with the negotiations between them, or of a mutual mistake as to a material fact;

(iii) Mistakes and errors of a contractor, even if unilateral which consist solely of the failure of the contractor, in good faith, to set forth in a bid or in a written agreement what he intended to include therein.

Except as to misunderstandings, mistakes, errors or ambiguities of the type referred to in subdivision (i) above, the authority conferred upon the chiefs of the technical services by this subparagraph (1) is subject to the following limitations:

(a) The notice of the mistake must have been given by the Contractor to the Contracting Officer before completion of performance or termination of the contract;

(b) The change involved must not result in an adjustment in excess of $50,000; and

(c) Where the contract was made as a result of a formal or informal invitation to bid the change must not result in the payment to the contractor of a sum in excess of the amount of any bid submitted by any other bidder upon substantially the same terms and conditions, except that if the contract was not originally placed on a basis of competition as to price but primarily on the basis of other considerations the limitation contained in this subdivision (c) shall not be applicable.

(2) In any other case where the chief of a technical service determines that it will facilitate the prosecution of the war to execute a supplemental agreement to correct a mistake, he will first obtain approval of the Director, Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

(3) Approval of the Director, Purchases Division, will not be required in the case of any supplemental agreement correcting a mistake, under which the Government receives adequate new legal consideration, regardless of whether the supplemental agreement involves an adjustment amounting to $50,000 or more, and regardless of the time of execution of such supplemental agreement.

(b) Requests for approval by the Director, Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, of supplemental agreements to correct misunderstandings, mistakes, errors and ambiguities in contracts in accordance with the provisions of this section will be accompanied by a full statement of the circumstances including all relevant papers or copies thereof. The evidence submitted shall show that an error or mistake was made or that a misunderstanding or ambiguity exists, in what it consists, and how it occurred, the true intent of the parties, and the effect of the mistake, if not corrected, upon the financial condition of the contractor. When this paragraph does not require that the approval of the Director, Purchases Division, be obtained, the chief of the technical service approving or executing such agreement will see that a similar statement is prepared with respect to each such supplemental agreement and that such statement and all relevant papers and evidences are carefully preserved. Attention is directed to the provisions of § 81.308g.

(b) United States Employees' Compensation Commission. [Rescinded]

Section 81.325 is amended as follows:

§ 81.325 Anti-discrimination clause. (a) Every contract, regardless of subject matter or amount, will contain the following clause without deviation:

Anti-discrimination.—(a) The Contractor, in performing the work required by this contract, shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, creed, color, or national origin.

(b) The Contractor agrees that the provision of paragraph (a) above will also be inserted in all of its subcontracts. For the purpose of this article, a subcontract is defined as any contract entered into by the contractor with any individual, partnership, association, corporation, estate, or trust, or other business enterprise or other legal entity, for a specific part of the work to be performed in connection with the supplies or services furnished under this contract: Provided, however, That a contract for the furnishing of standard or commercial articles or raw material shall not be considered as a subcontract.

(b) The contract clause set forth in paragraph (a) above is required, under the provisions of Executive Order No. 9346 issued under date of May 27, 1943, to be included "in all contracts hereafter negotiated or renegotiated • • •". The inclusion of the word "renegotiated" has been interpreted as imposing the requirements set forth in paragraphs (c) and (d) below.

(c) Whenever the terms of a contract or contracts are to be modified by the execution of a supplemental agreement, and the contract or contracts to be modified do not contain a clause identical in wording with that set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, such supplemental agreement will provide that the contract or contracts are modified to include such a clause.

(d) Normally the provisions of paragraph (c) above will not be applicable to renegotiation agreements executed pursuant to the Renegotiation Act referred to in Procurement Regulation No. 12 (§§ 81.1200–81.1292). If, however, the renegotiation agreement expressly purports to modify the terms of specified existing contracts with respect to future deliveries, the provisions of paragraph (c) will be applicable. Likewise, if the renegotiation agreement is to be followed by a supplemental agreement or agreements, modifying, with respect to future deliveries, the terms of existing contracts, such supplemental agreement or agreements will provide for the inclusion, in the contracts modified thereby, of the clause set forth in paragraph (a) of this section.

(e) The clause set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, which prohibits discrimination against any employee or applicant for employment because of "national origin", is construed as prohibiting discrimination based on non-citizenship as well as discrimination based on country of origin. In this connection, see § 81.990.

Section 81.329a is amended as follows:

§ 81.329a "Changes" article for supply contracts. In any case where it is desired to include in a supply contract a provision giving the contracting officer in addition to the powers set forth in § 81.1301 (b) a power by change order (1) to increase or decrease within stated percentage limits the quantity of articles called for by the contract or (2) to accelerate or reduce the rate of delivery of the articles in the quantity called for by the contract, the following article relating to changes may be used instead of the article set forth in § 81.1301 (b).

ARTICLE • • • Changes. The Contracting Officer may at any time, by a written order, and without notice to the sureties make changes of any one or more of the following types: (a) changes in the directions as to shipment and packing of any supplies; (b) increases or decreases in the quantity of supplies to be furnished hereunder, the total increase or decrease not, however, to exceed ------% of the quantity of supplies deliverable hereunder; (c) changes in the drawings or specifications, where the supplies to be furnished are to be specially manufactured in accordance with drawings and specifications; (d) extensions of the delivery schedules hereunder reducing the rate of deliveries of the supplies called for by this contract; or (e) accelerations of the delivery schedules hereunder by an increase or increases in the rate of deliveries hereunder. Unless consented to in writing by the Contractor, no change orders hereunder of the type mentioned in clause (d) of the preceding sentence shall cause decreases in the deliveries hereunder, and no change orders of the type mentioned in clause (e) of such sentence shall cause increases in the deliveries called for hereunder, amounting respectively in the aggregate in any one month to more than ------% of the quantity of supplies, the delivery of which is called for in such month by the delivery schedule originally contained in this contract. If such changes cause an increase or decrease in the amount of work under this contract or in the cost of performance of this contract or in the time required for its performance an equitable adjustment shall be made which adjustment may include in any instance an adjustment (i) in the purchase price, including (but not limited to) any adjustment in unit price fair in the light of any change in volume caused by such order, and (ii) in the delivery time or schedule, or (iii) in either the price or delivery schedule and the contract shall be modified in writing accordingly. Any claim for adjustment under this article must be asserted within 30 days from the date the change is ordered: Provided, however, That the Contracting Officer, if he determines that the facts justify such action, may receive, consider and adjust any such claims asserted at any time prior to the date of final settlement of the contract. If the parties fail to agree upon the adjustment to be made the dispute shall be determined as provided in Article -------- (Disputes) hereof. But nothing provided in this Article shall excuse the Contractor from proceeding with the contract as changed.

When the article set forth in § 81.1301 (b) is used, the fourth sentence of the article set out above beginning with the words "Any claim for adjustment • • •" may be used, at the discretion of the Contracting Officer, in lieu of the fourth sentence (beginning with the same words) of the Article 2 of the contract form set forth in § 81.1301. The provisions of clauses (d) and (e) of the first sentence of the foregoing article, or either of such clauses, may be omitted in the discretion of the Contracting Officer and, in the event of any such omission, the second sentence of the article will either be omitted or appropriately modified.

Section 81.334 is amended as follows:

§ 81.334 Records of Government-owned property. All contracts, in connection with which property or supplies of any kind owned by the United States are furnished to a contractor for use on the contract or as guides, samples, etc. will contain the following clause without deviation:

Records of Government-owned property

The Property Officer, ----------, is designated as the officer to maintain the necessary property records in connection with this contract, as contemplated by AR 35-6520.[1]

Section 81.338 is amended as follows:

§ 81.338 Plant protection clause. In those cases where the Contracting Officer deems it necessary to retain some control as to the plant protective devices in a particular plant, the contract will contain a clause substantially similar to one of those set forth below. Such a clause will not normally be necessary in construction contracts.

Plant protection.—The Contractor shall maintain in and about his plant adequate plant protective devices and shall employ such watchmen, guards and other personnel as the Contracting Officer may deem necessary to prevent espionage, sabotage, and other malicious destruction or damage.

Plant protection.—The Contractor shall maintain in and about his plant adequate plant protective devices and shall employ such watchmen, guards and other personnel as the Contracting Officer may deem necessary to prevent espionage, sabotage, and other malicious destruction or damage. If the Contracting Officer from time to time shall require the installation of plant protective devices or the employment of watchmen, guards or other personnel, or both, in addition to those deemed necessary by him on the date the Contractor shall commence performance of this contract, the cost of any such devices installed or the pay of any such personnel employed, or both, at the written request and upon the written authorization of the Contracting Officer, shall be reimbursed to the Contractor upon submission of vouchers approved by the Contracting Officer, provided that no reimbursement of the cost of any such installation or pay of any such personnel, or both, shall be made in excess of the cost thereof, as estimated in advance and approved in writing by the Contracting Officer.[1]

Plant protection.—(a) The Contractor and such Subcontractor, at his own expense, at all times during the term of this contract, or any subcontract hereunder, shall continue all such precautions for the guarding and protection of his plant, property and work in process, as immediately prior to the date of this contract have been taken by the Contractor or Subcontractor for the protection of the plant, and shall make available such information with respect thereto as the Contracting Officer may request.

(b) The Contractor agrees to furnish the authorized Security and Safety personnel of the War Department with a survey of the existing internal security system at the Contractor's plant. The Contractor agrees, at his own expense, to make the changes set forth in Appendix ------ hereto annexed and made a part hereof to cause his existing internal security system to comply with the regulations of ---------- including the recommendations made by the appropriate War Department Internal Security personnel.

(c) At any time during the term of this contract, the Contracting Officer or his duly authorized representative may require the Contractor or Subcontractor to install and maintain in and about the plant additional protective devices, equipment and personnel. The Contractor and each Subcontractor shall submit promptly to the Contracting Officer or his duly authorized representative, for prior approval as to estimated cost, detailed inventories, including the estimated cost of each item of protective devices or equipment so required to be installed and of installing the same and a detailed estimate of the cost of maintaining any such additional protective devices or equipment and personnel.

[1] Administrative regulations of the War Department pertaining to property accountability and responsibility.

[1] If desired an additional provision may be added, reading substantially as follows:

Provided further that no reimbursement of the cost of any such installation or pay of any such personnel is being made to the contractor by other means.

(d) The Contractor or Subcontractor shall be reimbursed, upon the submission of a voucher approved by the Contracting Officer or his duly authorized representative, the invoice price of the additional plant protective devices or equipment so required pursuant to Paragraph (c) hereof. In addition the Contractor or Subcontractor shall be reimbursed the reasonable cost of installing such additional plant protective devices or equipment. Such reasonable cost shall include only transportation to the Contractor's or Subcontractor's plant, direct labor, and direct material necessary for the installation of the additional plant protective devices or equipment. The Government shall not be under obligation to make reimbursement of total cost of such additional plant protective devices or equipment and of installing the same in excess of the estimate approved in advance by the Contracting Officer unless payment of such excess shall be approved or ratified by the Contracting Officer as reasonable. If the Contracting Officer and the Contractor or Subcontractor, as the case may be, are able to agree upon the amount of the cost of such additional devices or equipment, such sum shall be the amount to be reimbursed hereunder.

(e) Title to all plant protective devices and equipment added under Paragraph (c) of this Article shall be in the Government. The Contractor or Subcontractor, during the term of this contract or any extension thereof or during the term of the Subcontract or any extension thereof, at his own expense, shall maintain and keep in good condition and repair all such protective devices and equipment. If such protective devices and equipment are to be installed on premises leased by the Contractor, the Contractor shall take appropriate steps to preserve the Government's right to remove such property pursuant to Paragraph (g) of this Article.

(f) The ---------- or his
duly authorized representative, and authorized plant protection personnel of the War Department, at all times during the performance of this Contract or any extension thereof, or during the term of the Subcontract or any extension thereof, and until after expiration of the right of removal set forth below, shall have access to the Contractor's plant, or the plant of the Subcontractor, in order to inspect, inventory, or remove any of said plant protective devices or equipment required pursuant to Paragraph (c) hereof, and to inspect the premises with respect to compliance with all regulations and requirements concerning plant protection, including any recommendations made by the appropriate War Department Internal Security personnel.

(g) After the completion or termination of this contract and prior to final settlement thereof, the Contractor, or the Subcontractor, as the case may be, shall have the option, exercisable in writing, to purchase at the then value as fixed by the Contracting Officer, or his duly authorized representative, any special plant protective devices or equipment theretofore installed in his plant pursuant to Paragraph (c). Not later than the date of final settlement, the Contractor or Subcontractor shall notify the Contracting Officer in writing to remove any such devices or equipment as to which the option to purchase is not to be exercised, and the Government shall have the right, at any time within 180 days after the receipt of such notice, to remove at its own expense any such plant protective devices or equipment.

(h) The Contractor agrees to insert in each of his subcontracts the following provision:

prime contract with the Government insofar as they are applicable to this contract. The Prime Contractor will reimburse the Subcontractor for the cost of such special devices, equipment and personnel as have been or hereafter may be added by the Subcontractor, pursuant to Paragraph (c) of Article ----------, for which reimbursement has not been made by the Government direct to the Subcontractor according to the terms set forth in Paragraph (d) of Article ----------"

(i) For the purpose of this Article a subcontract is defined as any contract or agreement entered into between the Contractor and any other party, for the performance of all or any part of the work called for under this Contract.

(j) The Contractor, upon the request of the Contracting Officer, shall dismiss any officer or employee whose continued employment is deemed by the Contracting Officer to endanger the safety of the plant. In the event any such officer or employee is reinstated upon request of the Contracting Officer, the Contractor shall be reimbursed the costs incident to such rehiring, including back wages approved by the Contracting Officer.

(k) If guard personnel are members of the Civilian Auxiliary to the Military Police or successor organization, the Contractor shall be reimbursed for such additional cost approved by the Contracting Officer as may be incurred because of compliance with regulations and orders issued by a military commanding officer in charge of the Contractor's plant guards.

Section 81.363 is amended as follows:

§ 81.363 Disposition of government-owned property by contractors. The following clause may be inserted in cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts when authorized by the provisions of § 83.727:

• • • • • •

In § 81.373 paragraph (f) is added as follows:

§ 81.373 Where the contract contains no article substantially in the form set forth in § 81.234 or § 81.324 (a), or where there is failure to agree on a negotiated settlement. • • •

(f) The provisions of this paragraph do not apply to letters of intent, letter purchase orders and letter contracts (see §§ 81.303a (a), 81.386a to 81.386a (d)).

Section 81.386a is added as follows:

§ 81.386a Standard termination provisions for letter orders and letters of intent. The standard termination provisions for inclusion in letter orders (see § 81.303a) are those set forth in § 81.1307 (f) (Letter Order for Supplies, No Price Stated), § 81.1308 (f) (Letter Order for Supplies, Price Stated), § 81.1309 (f) (Letter Order for Cost-Plus-a-Fixed-Fee Construction), and § 81.1310 (f) (Letter Order for Lump Sum Construction). As to letters of intent, provisions conforming as nearly as may be to the provisions set forth in the cited sections shall be regarded for purposes of this section as standard termination provisions. As used in this section and in §§ 81.303a and 81.303a (a) the term "letter order" includes instruments of the type hitherto sometimes referred to as letter contracts or letter purchase orders.

(a) Technical services authorized to include standard termination provisions in existing letter orders and letters of intent. (1) The standard termination provisions furnish expeditious and equitable methods of terminating letter orders and letters of intent, and provide for a negotiated settlement of the amount due by reason of termination, thus in various respects reducing misunderstanding, expense, auditing difficulties, delays in settlements, and other inconvenience both for the Government and for contractors in a manner which will facilitate the prosecution of the war. Use of such provisions will assist materially in enabling contractors, whose letter orders and letters of intent have been terminated, to undertake other production on war work at an early date, in a manner consistent with the public interest.

(2) The chiefs of the several technical services, in their discretion and without the approval of higher authority, are hereby authorized by supplemental agreement to amend any letter of intent or letter order to include therein the substance of the appropriate standard termination provisions, other than those provisions which permit an allowance of profit (except that the unit price may be paid for completed articles if the terminated instrument specifies a unit price). Wherever possible, such amendments will be made prior to the giving of notice of termination. However, the chiefs of the several technical services are authorized to make such amendments even after the giving of a termination notice (compare § 81.373).

(3) Amendment of any type other than that authorized in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph (and other than the execution of a definitive contract), of the termination provisions of a letter of intent or letter order, whether effected before or after the giving of a notice of termination, will be made only with the approval of the Director, Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

(4) Pursuant to the First War Powers Act, 1941, and Executive Order No. 9001, authority is delegated to the chiefs of the technical services to make amendments consistently with the provisions of this paragraph. It is determined that the making of such amendments will facilitate the prosecution of the war. The chiefs of the technical services will be liberal in permitting and agreeing to such amendments.

(5) Amendments pursuant to this paragraph should not be utilized to delay in any manner whatsoever the execution of a definite contract (see § 81.303a).

(b) Procedure on termination under standard termination provisions. In general, and so far as relevant, the procedure in terminating letter orders and letters of intent containing standard termination provisions will be similar to that provided in §§ 81.370 to 81.386 inclusive, making due allowance for the difference between such instruments and definitive contracts. The chief of each technical service may prescribe such instructions, not inconsistent with these regulations, regarding termination of

Section 81.978 is amended as follows:

§ 81.978 Wage stabilization policy of the National War Labor Board. (a) The policy directive given the National War Labor Board by Congress and by the President is clear. Under that directive, the Board will act on the presumption that wage rates prevailing on September 15, 1942 are proper. The Board will grant wage increases over the level prevailing on September 15, 1942 only in exceptional cases and in accordance with the following paragraph of Executive Order No. 9250 of October 3, 1942:

> The National War Labor Board shall not approve any increases in the wage rates prevailing on September 15, 1942, unless such increase is necessary to correct maladjustments or inequalities, to eliminate substandards of living, to correct gross inequities, or to aid in the effective prosecution of the war.

The National War Labor Board will examine carefully each claim for such exceptional treatment before approving any increase. In considering specific cases, the Board will be guided by the following general principles. The application of these principles by regional directors will be subject to all general orders of the Board and to its announced rules of procedure.

(1) Maladjustments. If a group of employees has received increases amounting to 15% in their average straight-time rates over the level prevailing on January 1, 1941, the Board will not grant further increases as a correction for maladjustments.

Beginning about January 1, 1941 a race between wages and prices began. Between that date and May, 1942, when the President's seven point program to stabilize the cost of living was announced the cost of living had risen 15% as measured by the general index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

In the same period, very considerable but varying increases in wage rates were made. The irregularity of wage increases caused many maladjustments in the wage relationships between different plants and industries. A substantial majority of industrial workers had received more than 15% increase; some had received less.

To correct these maladjustments, the Board will consider requests for general increases in straight-time rates up to 15% above the level prevailing on January 1, 1941. This policy sets a terminal point for general wage increases. It is not applicable to individual workers or to employees in particular job classifications. It will be applied only to groups composed of all the employees in a bargaining unit, in a plant, a company, or an industry, depending upon the circumstances of each case.

Adjustment of wage rates to correct maladjustments may be made by regional directors: Provided, however, That their authority in this regard will be limited to cases arising in those industries which have been specifically designated by the Board, and if in the judgment of a regional director a wage adjustment for the correction of a maladjustment would act to unstabilize wages, the case shall be referred by him to a tri-partite regional panel.

A list of designated industries is attached hereto and may be enlarged or modified by the Board from time to time. Any proposed wage adjustments in industries not listed must be referred to the National War Labor Board at Washington for action.

(2) Inequalities and gross inequities. The wage rate inequalities and the gross inequities which may require adjustment under the stabilization program are those which represent manifest injustices that arise from unusual and unreasonable differences in wage rates.

Wage differentials which are established and stabilized are normal to American industry and will not be disturbed by the Board.

The Board itself will review cases where evidence is submitted to show that existing differences in wage rates are so discriminatory as to make their continuance a manifest injustice. Such evidence may be submitted to the regional director. If the regional director is satisfied that the evidence submitted so justifies, the claim may then be transmitted to the National War Labor Board in Washington for consideration.

(3) Substandards of living. In the President's Message of April 27, 1942 and again in the Executive Order of October 3, 1942, the word "substandard" is used with reference to the need for eliminating substandards of living. The National War Labor Board has dealt with but a very few cases in which the substandard issue has been a factor. Therefore, the Board is not in a position at this time to enunciate a general policy to govern the adjustment of wages to eliminate substandards of living. The Board will not undertake to measure substandards of living by any fixed wage rate.

Such cases involving substandards of living as may arise will be considered by the Board on their individual merits until sufficient experience has accumulated to permit the statement of a more general policy.

(4) Effective prosecution of the war.— Under Executive Order 9250, the National War Labor Board may approve any increase of the wage rates prevailing on September 15, 1942 if such an increase is necessary "to aid in the effective prosecution of the war." Every adjustment in September 15, 1942 wage levels that the Board may make will be, in its judgment, for a more effective prosecution of the war.

The National War Labor Board will not approve wage increases for the purpose of influencing or directing the flow of manpower.

When in a particular case management and labor, in cooperation with the War Manpower Commission and other government agencies, have taken concerted action to solve a manpower need, the Board will consider a request in that case to correct whatever inequalities or gross inequities may then need correction.

(b) Policy directive clarifying Executive Order 9328. Executive Order No. 9328 was issued April 8, 1943. (See § 81.984.) On May 12, 1943, the Director of Economic Stabilization issued a policy directive clarifying and defining the basis of the War Labor Board in making wage adjustments under that order. The text of the directive follows:

> 1. In order to provide clear-cut guides and definite limits as a basis for correcting substandards of living, and as a basis for permitting the Board to make within the existing price structure and within existing levels of production costs, minimum and non-inflationary adjustments which are deemed necessary to 'aid in the effective prosecution of the war or to correct gross inequities' within the meaning of section 1 of the Act of October 2, 1942, the Board is authorized to establish as rapidly as possible, by occupational groups and labor market areas, the wage-rate brackets embracing all those various rates found to be sound and tested going rates. All the rates within these brackets are to be regarded as stabilized rates, not subject to change save as permitted by the Little Steel Formula. Except in rare and unusual cases in which the critical needs of war production require the setting of a wage at some point above the minimum of the going wage bracket, the minimum of the going rates within the brackets will be the point beyond which the adjustments mentioned above may not be made. The careful application of these wagerate brackets to concrete cases within the informed judgment of the War Labor Board will strengthen and reinforce the stabilization line to be held. Maladjustments between wages and the cost of living will be considered by the Board only for the purpose of correcting substandard conditions of living, or determining adjustments within the 15% limit of the Little Steel Formula. In connection with the approval of wage adjustments necessary to eliminate substandards of living or to give effect to the Little Steel Formula or in connection with the adoption of a longer work week, the Board may approve wage or salary adjustments for workers in immediately interrelated job classifications to the extent required to keep the minimum differentials between immediately interrelated job classifications necessary for the maintenance of productive efficiency.
> 2. All wage adjustments made by the Board which may furnish the basis either to increase price ceilings or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in price ceilings, or if no price ceilings are involved which may increase the production costs above the level prevailing in comparable plants or establishments, shall become effective only if also approved by the Economic Stabilization Director. The Board shall cooperate with the Office of Price Administration or such other agency as the Economic Stabilization Director may designate with a view to supplying the Economic Stabilization Director with the data necessary to judge the effect of any proposed wage adjustment on price ceilings and the levels of production costs.

(c) Statement of Director of Economic Stabilization regarding Policy Directive of May 12, 1943. In issuing the general policy directive, the Director of Economic stabilization stated:

> 1. The directive makes clear that alleged maladjustments between the cost of living and existing wage schedules will be considered by the Board only to the extent necessary to eliminate substandard conditions of living or to determine wage adjustments within the 15% limit of the Little Steel Formula.
> 2. The directive makes clear the ancillary authority of the Board to make wage adjustments to keep the minimum differentials between immediately interrelated job classifications necessary to maintain productive efficiency.
> This authority is needed to enable the Board to avoid intraplant inequities which would otherwse be created by wage adjustments ordered by the Board to elminate substandard conditions of living or to satisfy the Little Steel Formula.
> Similar adjustments for immediately interrelated salary job classification may be necessitated, and are authorized, when a longer work week is adopted which creates a maladjustment between the pay of workers on an hourly oasis and those on a salary basis.
> Adjustments of this character, however, are to be so staggered as to avoid the need for adjustment in higher wage or salary brackets.
> 3. The directive also makes clear the authority of the Board to make wage adjustments within the existing price structure and within existing levels of production for the purpose of stabilizing wage schedules for recognized categories of employments in various labor markets. It does not permit adjustments to correct "inequalities" which were permitted by the Executive Order of October 3, 1942. It does, however, permit the Board to make adjustments in accordance with the language of the Act of Congress of October 2, 1942, "to aid in the prosecution of the war or correct gross inequities": Provided Such adjustments do not increase prices or increase production costs. Such adjustments, except where necessary to eliminate substandard conditions of living or to give effect to the Little Steel Formula, are not to bring the wages of the worker affected above the minimum of the going rates for comparable work in comparable plants or establishments in the same labor market.
> In rare and unusual cases where critical war production cannot otherwise be obtained, the minimum of the preexisting going rates may be stepped up to the next lowest of the going rates for other most nearly comparable work in the same labor market. A good example of such a case is the situation found in the canning and first processing of perishable foods and feeds industries in a number of localities where the necessary seasonal labor to process this year's crops cannot be recruited on the basis of last year's obsolete wage schedules. On May 10th a special directive was issued to deal with this situation.
> Apart from the rare and exceptional case, adjustments to the minimum of the applicable going rates are to be made, not to increase existing wage schedules, but only to bring obvious and sporadic stragglers into line.
> 4. The directive again makes clear that any wage adjustments which may furnish the basis either to increase price ceilings or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in price ceilings, or if no price ceilings are involved which may increase the production costs above the level prevailing in comparable plants or establishments, cannot become effective until approved by the Economic Stabilization Director.

Section 81.979 is amended as follows:

§ 81.979 Jurisdiction and procedure of Regional War Labor Boards. On April 5, 1943, the War Labor Board created twelve regional war labor boards and outlined the jurisdiction of these regional boards and the procedure to be followed in matters within their jurisdiction. This information is contained in the succeeding paragraphs.

Region XII: Washington, Oregon, Alaska. White Henry Stewart Building, Seattle, Wash.

(2) Each regional war labor board consists of the following members appointed by the National War Labor Board:

(i) Eight representatives of labor, four of whom are to be regular members and four alternate members.

(ii) Eight representatives of industry, four of whom are to be available for service with the regional war labor board at any given time.

(iii) Representatives of the public, four of whom are to be available for service with the regional war labor board at any given time. There is a chairman and one vice-chairman, designated by the National War Labor Board from among full-time members.

(3) Six members constitute a quorum and 12 constitute full attendance; the composition at any given time is to be equally tripartite.

(4) The National War Labor Board, after considering the recommendations of the regional war labor boards, appoints tripartite panels in appropriate places throughout the regions to serve in dispute cases, as hereinafter described.

(5) The staff of each regional war labor board consists of a wage stabilization director, a disputes director, a regional attorney, and such other assistants as the National War Labor Board may approve. The staff is under the general supervision of the regional war labor board.

(6) Regional representatives designated by the Director of the U. S. Conciliation Service of the Department of Labor act as liaison officers between each regional war labor board and the U. S. Conciliation Service.

(b) Procedure in dispute cases not involving wages or salaries. (1) Immediately upon the certification of a labor dispute to the National War Labor Board, under the provisions of Executive Order No. 9017, the regional war labor board for the region in which the dispute has arisen will be notified and the formal certification, together with all other available data and reports, will be transmitted to it (except in those cases in which the National War Labor Board

[1] Section 7 was rescinded by section 4 (b), Act of April 11, 1943, Public Law 34, 78th Congress, which reads as follows:

(1) Section 7 of Title II and all other provisions of Executive Order 9250, "providing for the stabilization of the national economy" issued October 3, 1942, and all provisions of § 4001.9, promulgated by the Economic Stabilization Director on October 27, 1942, which are in conflict with this section are hereby rescinded; and (2) all orders, regulations, and other directives, and all decisions, promulgated or made by virtue of said Executive Order or regulation which are in conflict with this section are hereby rescinded.

may elect to retain original jurisdiction or refer the case to an authorized agency or commission or back to the conciliation service.)

(2) Upon receipt of the certification, the case will be considered by a New Case Committee of the regional war labor board, composed of the chairman or vice-chairman, one industry, and one labor member, and the disputes director. If the committee does not consider the case ready for a hearing, it may refer the case back to the parties for further negotiation or to the regional representative of the Conciliation Service for further information or further investigation or conciliation. If the case is deemed ready for a hearing, the committee will designate a tripartite panel to hear the case, unless the parties agree to have the case heard by a single person, in which event the regional war labor board will designate one of the public panel members or some other suitable person to hear the case. Wherever the term "panel" is hereafter used, it will be deemed to include a single hearing officer in the cases just mentioned.

(3) The New Case Committee, in determining what action to take, will consult with the regional representative of the Conciliation Service. If it is determined to set the case down for hearing, the parties shall be notified at least 10 days in advance of the date and place of the hearing. They shall be requested to submit to the disputes director a written and signed statement of such of the facts as they can agree upon, together with such supplementary statements, briefs, and exhibits as they believe necessary to explain and support their respective contentions. There should be included a statement by the employer as to whether price relief will be requested if a wage or salary increase is directed. These documents will be transmitted to the panel prior to the hearing. (In cases where, prior to certification, the commissioner of conciliation has obtained from the parties an agreed statement of facts and the other documents above mentioned, this procedure may be modified accordingly.)

(4) The hearing before the panel will be informal and, save, in exceptional cases and upon the instructions of the regional war labor board, not stenographic record of the hearing will be kept. Upon the conclusion of the hearing, if a settlement is not effected, the panel will submit its report and recommendations as speedily as possible to the regional war labor board, together with the written statements, briefs, and exhibits of the parties. Copies of the report and recommendations will be furnished to the authorized representatives of each of the parties to the dispute, and the parties will be afforded one week after receipt of the report within which to submit comments to the regional war labor board. (In unusual cases and for good cause shown this time may be extended by the regional chairman.)

(5) If the panel's report is unanimous, the regional war labor board will not, save in exceptional cases, hear argument upon the matter but will proceed to a decision. If the report is not unanimous, the regional war labor board may in its discretion hear argument upon the case before reaching a decision.

(6) Any regional war labor board may certify to the National War Labor Board any case, or any question in any case, upon which it desires the National War Labor Board's decision; but the National War Labor Board may in its discretion reject such certification and require the regional war labor board to decide the case or the particular question, with or without a subsequent review by the National War Labor Board.

(c) Procedure in dispute cases and in arbitration proceedings involving wages or salaries. The procedure will be the same as in other dispute cases (see paragraph (b) of this section), except as follows:

(1) If an agreement between the parties calling for a wage or salary adjustment is brought about, the conciliator assigned to the dispute or the panel chairman or the hearing officer, as the case may be, will file the agreement directly with the appropriate regional wage stabilization director together with a completed application Form 10, which he will assist the parties in preparing. Conciliators, through the regional representative and panels will be at liberty in all cases to consult the regional wage stabilization director in advance of any settlement regarding the application to the particular situation of the Board's wage stabilization policy.

(2) If an agreement to refer the wage or salary question to arbitration is brought about, whether as a result of conciliation or without it, and the arbitrator's award provides for a wage or salary adjustment, the arbitrator shall file the award, together with a completed application Form 10 (or if the parties prefer not to sign such a form, a statement of the necessary facts on which to base a decision) directly with the appropriate regional wage stabilization director. Arbitrators should consult the regional wage stabilization director, in advance of any award, regarding the application to the particular situation of the Board's wage stabilization policy.

(3) After either of the above steps has been taken, the procedure will be the same as in voluntary wage and salary adjustment cases. In all cases the conciliator, hearing officer, or panel chairman should remind the employer that he should promptly apply to the Office of Price Administration for price relief if he intends to make any order requiring increased payment of wages and salaries the basis for asking such relief.

(d) Procedure in voluntary wage and salary adjustment cases. This procedure is set forth in paragraphs (e) to (h) of this section.

(e) The handling of preliminary inquiries about jurisdiction. (1) An employer or a union (or an employee or a group of employees not represented by a union with respect to an adjustment) directly concerned in a proposed wage or salary adjustment may ask the nearest office of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Division of the U. S. Department of Labor in the region (hereinafter referred to as the Wage and Hour Office) for a ruling as to whether the proposed adjustment may be made without Board approval. The Wage and Hour Office, as agent of the National War Labor Board, shall then issue a written ruling and send copies of it to the person or persons who made the inquiry and to the appropriate regional attorney.

(2) If said ruling is that the proposed wage or salary adjustment may be made without approval of the Board:

(i) The ruling shall be deemed to be authoritative and shall remain in effect unless reversed as provided below.

(ii) If, on receipt of the ruling from the Wage and Hour Office, it is reversed by the regional attorney (after consultation, where necessary, with the regional wage stabilization director), the Wage and Hour Office shall be notified promptly, and it shall immediately notify the person or persons who made the inquiry that the adjustment requires approval. If in the meantime the employer has made the adjustment, relying upon the ruling by the Wage and Hour Office that it did not need approval:

(a) The adjustment may be continued in effect for a period of ten days following the notification by the Wage and Hour Office, within which period the employer may file with the Wage and Hour Office (jointly with a duly recognized collective bargaining agency, or by himself, as subsequently provided), an application for approval of the adjustment and

(b) If such an application is so filed, the adjustment may be further continued in effect until and unless it is finally disapproved. Such disapproval shall take effect only from the date of the issuance of the order of disapproval.

(iii) If the Wage and Hour Office to which an inquiry has been addressed rules that the proposed adjustment cannot properly be made without approval, the ruling shall be deemed to be authoritative. The person or persons who made the inquiry may seek from the regional attorney, by written petition filed within 10 days after the ruling of the Wage and Hour Office, a reversal of the ruling. The regional attorney's ruling (after consultation, where necessary, with the regional wage stabilization director) on the question so submitted shall be final and shall be transmitted to the applicant through the Wage and Hour Office.

(f) The filing of applications for approval of wage or salary adjustments. (1) Each application for approval of proposed voluntary wage or salary adjustments (other than those described in paragraph (c) of this section) shall be filed with the nearest Wage and Hour Office in the region. All applications shall be made upon appropriate forms prepared by the National War Labor Board.

(2) Such applications may be of two kinds. The first kind, in which approval is sought of an adjustment agreed upon by the parties, may be signed by any party (or jointly by any or all the parties) to the contract. The application shall state whether all the parties to the contract have signed the application and shall state the name and address of each party who has not signed the application. If there be any such party who has not signed, the Wage and Hour Office at which the application was filed shall, as agent of the Board, before acting on the application, send said party a notice of the application. The notice shall request the party to state whether he contests the fact of the contract having been made. If, within seven days of the sending of the notice, he has not filed a statement contesting such fact or if he files a statement admitting it, the application will then be acted upon. If he contests the fact of the contract having been made, the matter will be treated as a dispute case and referred to the Conciliation Service of the Department of Labor, unless (i) the contract was in writing, (ii) the writing or a certified or otherwise authenticated copy thereof has been produced, and (iii) the Wage and Hour Office is satisfied that no substantial question exists as to the party being a party thereto. Where the Wage and Hour Office is so satisfied, it shall rule accordingly and proceed with the handling of the application. The ruling may be reviewed (on petition of the protesting party) by the regional attorney when the application is transmitted to the regional war labor board under subparagraph (7) below. His ruling shall be final.

(3) The second kind of application, in which an employer on his own initiative wishes to make a wage or salary adjustment, shall be signed either (i) jointly by the employer and a duly recognized collective bargaining agent for any or all of the employees who are to be affected by the proposed wage or salary adjustment, or (ii) by the employer alone. In either case the application shall state whether or not there is a duly recognized collective bargaining agent (for any or all of the affected employees) which has not joined with the employer in the application. If it appears that there is such an organization which has not so joined, the Wage and Hour Office at which the application was filed shall, before acting on the application, send to the appropriate local officials of such organization a notice of the application, requesting the organization, if it has any objections to the application being acted upon, so to inform the office. If no such objections are filed within seven days of the sending of the notice, or if the organization in question states that it has no objections, the application will then be acted upon. If objections are made within said period, the matter will be treated as a dispute case and referred to the Conciliation Service of the Department of Labor.

(4) In cases where the employer has signed or joined in signing an application for approval of a wage or salary increase he shall state in the application whether he intends to make the proposed increase, if approved, the basis of the application to the Office of Price Administration for an adjustment of his maximum prices or for an amendment of the regulations establishing those prices.

(5) In cases where the employer has not signed or joined in signing an application for approval of a wage or salary increase, he shall be requested in the notice of the filing of the application sent to him by the Wage and Hour Office to state whether he intends to make the proposed wage or salary increase, if approved, the basis of an application to the Office of Price Administration for an adjustment of his maximum prices or for an amendment of the regulations establishing those prices. He shall be asked to make this statement (i) within seven days of the sending of said notice or (ii), if (as described in subparagraph (2) above) he contests the fact of the agreement or arbitration award having been made, within seven days of any ruling by the Wage and Hour Office finding him to be a party to said agreement.

(6) If the employer states that he intends to make the proposed wage or salary increase, if approved, the basis of an application to the Office of Price Administration for an adjustment of his maximum prices or for an amendment of the regulations establishing those prices, (i) his statement shall be entered in an appropriate place on the application before the application is acted on by the regional wage stabilization director as provided below, and (ii) the employer will be required to furnish further information, the nature and effect of which will be set forth under paragraph (j) below.

(7) When an application has been submitted to a Wage and Hour Office and no preliminary inquiry about jurisdiction has been made under paragraph (e) of this section, the office shall first make certain that the application needs approval. If the office believes that approval is not or may not be required by the applicable regulations and orders, the office shall proceed exactly as if the applicant has asked for a preliminary ruling on jurisdiction. If no jurisdictional question is involved or if such a question has been cleared up under paragraph (e) above, the Wage and Hour Office shall see that appropriate forms are fully and accurately filled out and shall transmit them to the regional wage stabilization director of the appropriate regional war labor board.

(8) Upon receipt of the application, the regional wage stabilization director, acting in collaboration with the regional attorney, shall first make certain that the application requires Board approval (unless this question has already been ruled upon and determined under paragraph (e) above). If it is determined by the regional attorney that the application does not require Board approval, a written ruling to that effect shall be made and copies sent to the applicant or applicants. If it is determined that the application requires Board approval, it shall be acted upon as provided in paragraph (i) of this section. In any case, the regional wage stabilization director may, before acting, obtain further needed information informally from the applicant or applicants, from the Wage and Hour Office, from the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, or any other source or refer the application back to the Wage and Hour Office for such information as he may specify. In cases where the application reveals that the employer intends to make the proposed increase the basis of an application to the Office of Price Administration for an adjustment of his maximum prices or for an amendment of the regulations establishing those prices, the Regional Wage Stabilization Director shall send a copy of the application to the Office of the Economic Advisor, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.

(g) Application by Employers' Association for approval of wage or salary adjustment. (1) Application for approval of a wage or salary adjustment may be made on a form approved by the National War Labor Board on behalf of more than one employer by an employers' association or other similar organization. Such an application may be executed by the appropriate representative of the association or other similar organization acting on behalf of all such employers.

(2) The application shall state, in addition to the other matters required by paragraphs (e) to (h) of this section, the name and address of each employer on whose behalf it is made and who has not signed the application. The application shall be filed with the Wage and Hour Office in the city where the association or other similar organization customarily carries on its wage or salary negotiations. The Wage and Hour Office with which the application is filed shall, before acting on the application, send to each such employer a notice of the application.

(3) The notice shall request the employer to state whether he has authorized the applicant to file the application on his behalf. If the employer has not filed a statement contesting the authorization within seven days of the sending of the notice or if he files a statement admitting it, the application will then be acted upon. If he contests the fact of authorization, he will not be considered as a party to the application.

(4) The application shall be accompanied by individual statements which shall contain for each employer the information required by the National War Labor Board's Form No. 10, except that, where such information is identical for all or some of the employers, an appropriate consolidated statement containing such information may be filed with the application.

(5) In all other respects the procedure herein set forth shall obtain, and the word "employer" wherever used herein shall, for the purpose of this section, include, "employers' association or other similar organization".

(h) Single application by employer with plants or establishments in more than one region. (1) In the case of an employer with plants or establishments in more than one region, a single application may be filed covering employees in all or some of such plants or establishments.

(2) The application may be filed at the regional Wage and Hour Office in the region where the employer maintains his principal place of business.

(3) The application shall be accompanied by individual statements which shall contain for each plant or establishment covered by the application on the information required by the National War Board's Form No. 10, except that the regional director of the Wage and Hour Office may, in appropriate cases and for good cause shown, modify this requirement so as to provide for one or more consolidated statements covering all or some of the plants or establishments.

(4) Upon receipt of the application, together with such statements, the said regional director of the Wage and Hour Office, if not satisfied that sufficient data and information have been presented with respect to each plant or establishment, may require the applicant to submit additional data or information or may refer any statement relating to a particular plant or establishment not in his region to the appropriate regional director of the Wage and Hour Office for such additional data or information as may be necessary.

(5) When the regional director of the Wage and Hour Office is satisfied that sufficient data and information have been presented, he shall transmit the application, together with the statements and all other pertinent information, to the appropriate regional war labor board which shall inform other affected regional war labor boards and shall act on the application unless it determines that due to the scope of the employer's operations, or because of important policy questions, the application should be referred to Washington.

(6) In all other respects, the procedure herein set forth shall obtain.

(i) Disposition of applications for approval of wage or salary increases in which the application indicates that no price relief will be sought if approval is granted. (1) In cases where he is authorized so to do by orders or regulations of the National War Labor Board, the regional wage stabilization director shall rule upon the application, subject to the rights of review hereinafter set forth and subject to his right to refer any case for decision with his recommendation to the regional war labor board, if he believes that the case is sufficiently important from a stabilization point of view or presents sufficiently serious and doubtful questions of interpretation of policy to justify such action.

(2) If the regional wage stabilization director disapproves the application (or approves a lesser increase than that requested), the applicant, or any applicant if there be more than one, may within ten days after the date of the issuance of the ruling file with the regional war labor board a petition for a review.

(3) Copies of all rulings made by regional wage stabilization directors shall be promptly filed with the chairman of the regional war labor board, whose duty it will be to lay before the regional war labor board for such action as it may care to take all rulings which involve serious questions of policy. Copies shall also be promptly filed with the National War Labor Board's wage stabilization division together with such additional information as the division may require for purposes of review.

(j) Disposition of applications for approval of wage or salary increases in which the applicant states that he intends to make the proposed wage or salary increase, if it is approved, the basis of an application to the Office of Price Administration for an adjustment of his maximum prices or for an amendment of the regulations establishing those prices. The procedure shall be the same as in the cases described under paragraph (i) of this section except that:

(1) A copy of the application shall be sent by the regional wage stabilization director to the Office of the Economic Advisor, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. Copies of any forms which the employer has filled out, pursuant to the requirement of the Office of Price Administration (and which have been supplied for that purpose by said Office to the Wage and Hour Offices) shall be sent at the same time as the copy of the application to the Office of Price Administration.

(2) In those cases where the Office of Price Administration determines that the proposed wage or salary adjustment will not require an adjustment of the employer's prices or an amendment of the regulations establishing those prices, the Regional War Labor Board will be so notified. In cases where such notice has been received, the ruling of the regional stabilization director or of the regional war labor board may be made effective without further reference to the Office of Price Administration or the Office of Economic Stabilization.

(3) In those cases where the Office of Price Administration determines that approval of the wage or salary increase will necessitate an adjustment of the employer's prices or an amendment of the regulations establishing these prices, the regional war labor board will be no notified. In such cases, if the application for a wage or salary increase is approved, the ruling shall state that it will become effective only on final approval by the Economic Stabilization Director, as required by the provisions of Executive Order No. 9250.

(4) Unless the regional war labor board has been notified as in subparagraph (2) above, copies of every ruling shall be sent to the Office of the Economic Adviser, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.

(k) Authority of Regional War Labor Boards—(1) Applications for approval of voluntary wage or salary adjustments. (i) Each regional war labor board shall have authority to approve or disapprove applications for voluntary wage or salary adjustments.

(ii) Each such ruling shall be final, subject only to the National War Labor Board's right of review on its own initiative. Any reversal or modification of such ruling by the National War Labor Board shall take effect only from the date of its issuance: Provided, however, That, if a ruling denying an application for permission to make a wage or salary adjustment is overruled, the final ruling of the National War Labor Board shall incorporate as the effective date of the adjustment the date specified in the application or such other date as the National War Labor Board shall specify.

(iii) Copies of all such rulings and of any accompanying opinions (together with such other material as the wage stabilization division may require) shall, when issued, be filed with the National War Labor Board. Unanimous rulings may be issued when made. Rulings which are not unanimous may be issued only upon the expiration of ten days after the date of their receipt in Washington (subject thereafter to the National War Labor Board's power of nonretroactive review on its own motion), unless (a) the ruling is earlier approved by the National War Labor Board, or (b) within the ten-day period the National War Labor Board sets the case down for review, in which event the ruling will be stayed until the case is finally disposed of.

(2) Directive orders in dispute cases. (i) Regional War Labor Boards are authorized to issue directive orders in dispute cases in conformity with the policies of the National War Labor Board. Each order shall bear the date of its actual issue and the date it becomes effective. Orders requiring a wage or salary adjustment and other orders in cases where, in the judgment of the Regional War Labor Board, immediate compliance is not necessary in the public interest, shall not become effective until the time within which a petition for review may be filed has elapsed. If such a petition is filed, the order, if not then in effect, shall remain suspended until the National War Labor Board otherwise directs.

(ii) Copies of all directive orders and of any accompanying opinions (together with such other material as the wage stabilization division may require) shall, when issued, be filed with the National War Labor Board.

(iii) Within fourteen days of the date of issuance of any directive order, any party may file with the Board at Washington, D. C., an original and four copies of a petition (including a legal brief if he desires) setting forth objections to the directive order and seeking review thereof by the National War Labor Board. In such cases the burden will be on the petitioner to persuade the Board that (a) a novel question is involved of sufficient importance to warrent national action, or (b) that the procedure resulting in the order was unfair to the petitioner and has caused substantial hardship, or (c) that the order exceeds the National War Labor Board's jurisdiction or contravenes when issued, be filed with the National War Labor Board.

(iv) The party filing the petition shall at the same time serve a copy thereof upon each other party and shall file a copy with the regional war labor board. The regional war labor board and the parties may within seven days after receipt of the copy of the petition file an original and four copies of a reply or comment with the National War Labor Board and serve the same upon each other party. If the original petition relates only to a part of the order, the reply or comment may include a request to review other parts thereof. Upon proper cause shown, the National War Labor Board may extend the period within which parties may file petitions and replies or comments.

(v) The National War Labor Board may on its own motion assume jurisdiction over any dispute case at any stage of the proceedings either before or after the final order of a regional war labor board.

(vi) If the National War Labor Board takes jurisdiction of a case on its own motion or on petition of a party for review, it shall determine what, if any, further oral or written argument of the parties it will require or permit.

(l) Regional War Labor Boards subject to National War Labor Board policies. Decisions, regulations, and policies which the National War Labor Board will continue to announce from time to time shall control the regional war labor boards, Wage and Hour Offices, and staffs in performing the duties and exercising the powers assigned to them herein.

Section 81.979a is amended as follows:

§ 81.979a War Labor Board instructions to Regional Boards re Executive Order 9328 and supplementary directive of May 12, 1943. On May 29, 1943, the National War Labor Board announced that instructions for handling certain types of wage and salary cases under the "Hold-the-Line" Executive Order No. 9328 have been sent to its Regional Boards and industry commissions. The Board pointed out that under the Executive Order "reasonable adjustments of wages and salaries in case of promotions, reclassifications, merit increases, incentive wage or the like" may be made by the Board if such adjustments "do not increase the level of production costs appreciably or furnish the basis either to increase prices or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in prices."

(a) Within the meaning of the provision of the Executive Order quoted in the initial paragraph of this section, the Regional Boards were instructed that they may deal with the following three types of cases within their sound discretion:

(1) Intra-plant adjustments which are necessary to do equity and to promote production and which are not mentioned in the May 12 directive of the Economic Stabilization Director.

(2) Applications by employers not under the Fair Labor Standards Act to pay time and one-half for hours over forty, or to change from a fluctuating to a fixed workweek for the purpose of computing overtime as currently permitted to employers who are under said Act.

(3) Adjustments incident to the improvement of work conditions which do not involve increasing basic wage rates and which do not exceed the sound prevailing practice in the industry or area. The adjustments specified in subparagraph (3) includes such items as vacation pay, sick leave plans, night shift bonuses, and holiday pay.

(b) The Board's instructions also stated that specific regulations for approval of incentive plans cannot be given until further experience with various types of cases have been reported to the National Board. The Board emphasized that the working out of such incentive plans is particularly suited to collective bargaining and that where a collective bargaining agency exists it should be consulted in the preparation of such plans. Reiterating that the Little Steel Formula usually requires that the adjustment be applied to the largest appropriate group, the Board stated that in unusual cases where adjustments are being sought by a single individual or for relatively few persons, the formula may be applied to them where the application would "afford an equitable and expeditious method of disposing of the case."

(c) In cannery cases, the Board stated that rates may be adjusted through use of the wage rate bracket section of the May 12 directive of the Economic Stabilization Director in cases where it would not be practicable to use the Director's earlier order on canneries issued May 11, 1943.

Section 81.979e is rescinded as follows:

§ 81.979e National War Labor Board decentralization plan. [Rescinded]

Section 81.980e is amended, paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d) (8 F.R. 2531) being rescinded.

§ 81.980c General Order No. 5.

General Order No. 5. Subject to the requirements of General Order No. 31, wage adjustments may be made in wage rates of individual employees, without approval of the National War Labor Board, if they are incident to the application of the terms of a wage agreement which existed previous to or has been approved since October 3, 1942, or incident to an established or approved wage rate schedule covering the work assignments of employees and are made as a result of:

(a) Individual promotions or reclassifications

(b) Individual merit increases within established rate ranges

(c) Operation of an established plan of wage increases based upon length of service within established rate ranges

(d) Increased productivity under piecework or incentive plans

(e) Operation of an apprentice or trainee system

Wage adjustments made under this order shall not result in any appreciable increase of the level of production costs and shall not furnish a basis either to increase prices or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in prices.

(a) Interpretation No. 1 of General Order No. 5. [Rescinded]

(b) The reduction or acceleration of the time intervals. [Rescinded.]

(c) Where a length of service schedule contains several steps. [Rescinded]

(d) A wage rate schedule. [Rescinded]

Section 81.980f is amended, paragraphs (a) and (b) being rescinded.

§ 81.980f General Order No. 6.

General Order No. 6. (a) The hiring of an individual at a wage rate in excess of the rate previously established in the plant for employees of similar skill and productive ability within the classification in which the individual is employed is a "wage increase" within the meaning of Executive Order No. 9250.

(b) If a wage rate or range of rates for a job classification has not theretofore been established by the employer for the plant involved, the rate or rate range should bear the same relation to rates or ranges of rates for similar classifications in the area as the existing rates or rate ranges in the plant bear to comparable rates or rate ranges in the area: Provided, however, That schedules covering new establishments or new departments within existing establishments must be submitted for approval as provided in General Order No. 31.

(a) General Order No. 6–A. [Rescinded]

(b) Interpretation No. 1 of General Order No. 6. [Rescinded]

Section 81.980g is amended as follows:

§ 81.980g General Order No. 7.

General Order No. 7. Since Title VI, section 1 of Executive Order No. 9250, dated October 3, 1942, states that "nothing in this order shall be construed as affecting the present operation of the Fair Labor Standards Act," and since statutes and orders of the duly constituted authorities of the several states fixing minimum rates for certain types of workers carry out the true purposes and intent of the Fair Labor Standards Act, and are designed and intended to eliminate substandards of living within the meaning of section 2 of Title II of Executive Order No. 9250, the National War Labor Board hereby approves increases in wage and salary rates made in compliance with such statutes and orders, Provided, however, That, if any changes in such statutes or orders are made or promulgated after April 8, 1943, increases in wage or salary rates directed thereby may not be made without the approval of the Board.

In § 81.980i, section III of General Order No. 9 of the National War Labor Board contained therein is amended as follows:

§ 81.980i General Order No. 9. • • •

III. Salary increases which do not require Board approval. Subject to the requirements of General Order No. 31, salary adjustments may be made in salary rates of individual employees over which the Board has jurisdiction without the approval of the Board, if they are incident to the application of the terms of a salary agreement which existed previous to or has been approved since October 27, 1942, or incident to an established or approved salary rate schedule and are made as a result of:

(a) Individual promotions or reclassifications

(b) Individual merit increases within established rate ranges

(c) Operation of an established plan of salary increases based on length of service within established rate ranges

(d) Increased productivity under incentive plans

(e) Operation of an apprentice or trainee system, or

(f) Such other reasons, or circumstances as may be prescribed in orders, rulings, or regulations, promulgated under the authority of these regulations.

Salary adjustments made under this order shall not result in any appreciable increase of the level of production costs and shall not furnish a basis either to increase prices or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in prices.

Paragraph (b) is added to § 81.980j as follows:

§ 81.980j General Order No. 10. • • •

(b) Ruling of War Labor Board on payment of bonuses. On April 2, 1943, the National War Labor Board clarified its position on bonus payments by explaining that a bonus may not be paid without Board approval, if no bonus was paid in the year immediately preceding the proposed payment. The term "preceding bonus year" as used in General Order No. 10 has been interpreted to mean the year, calendar or fiscal, immediately preceding the year, calendar or fiscal, in which it desired to pay a bonus. If no bonus was paid in the year immediately preceding, no bonus may be paid without Board approval.

Section 81.980l is amended as follows:

§ 81.980l General Order No. 12–B.

General Order No. 12–B. General Order No. 12 adopted November 12, 1942, was revoked as of December 29, 1942. In its stead the procedures set forth in the Joint Statement of the National War Labor Board and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, dated December 26, 1942 were adopted as General Order No. 12–A on January 6, 1943. General Order No. 12–A was revoked on May 25, 1943, and in its stead there was adopted, as General Order No. 12–B, the Joint Statement of the National War Labor Board and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, dated May 25, 1943, and set forth hereinafter.

JOINT STATEMENT OF THE NATIONAL WAR LABOR BOARD AND THE COMMISSIONER OF INTERNAL REVENUE

On November 12, 1942, and December 26, 1942, the National War Labor Board and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue issued joint statements with respect to the procedure to be followed in making adjustments in salaries and wages of state, county, municipal and other non-federal governmental employees. It was stated that Congress in the Act of October 2, 1942, clearly intended that all employers and all employees would be covered by the national stabilization policy, and since millions of public employees are engaged in the same kind of work as private employees, the duty of public employers to conform to that policy is as plain as that of private employers It was also stated that the Joint Committee on Salaries and Wages had been authorized to advise whether particular adjustments were in accordance with the national stabilization policy.

It is presumed that public employers will continue to cooperate as they have in the past and will not make adjustments in wages or salaries which would be in contravention of the national stabilization policy as expressed in Executive Order 9250 of October 3, 1942, and Executive Order 9328 of April 8, 1943, and the Economic Stabilization Director's policy directive of May 12, 1943. Adjustments will continue to be deemed approved without the necessity of filing certificates for the information of the Board or the Commissioner, and adjustments will neither be approved nor disapproved by the National War Labor Board or the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The Joint Committee on Salaries and Wages will continue to advise, when requested, as to the national stabilization policy. However, it should be understood that reliable advice relating to the national stabilization policy may also be obtained from the Regional War Labor Boards and the regional offices of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, as well as from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in Washington and the National War Labor Board.

On November 25, 1942, the National War Labor Board determined that General Order No. 12, applies to employees of the District of Columbia. It is therefore to be assumed that General Order No. 12–B likewise applies to such employees.

In paragraph (b) of § 81.980n the following Engineers fixed-fee projects are added in their proper sequence as follows:

§ 81.980n General Order No. 14 • • •

(b) Government-owned, privately-operated facilities. • • •

Non-manual employees employed on the following fixed-fee Engineers projects are embraced within the delegation to the War Department Agency.

Paragraph (c) is added to § 81.980p as follows:

§ 81.980p General Order No. 16. • • •

(c) Effect of Executive Order No. 9328 on General Order No. 16. General Order No. 16 has neither been impaired nor amended as a result of Executive Order No. 9328. It remains in full force and effect. (Letters from National War Labor Board Chairman to Secretary of Labor, made public June 4, 1943.)

Section 81.980bb is added as follows:

§ 81.980 bb General Order No. 31.

General Order No. 31. The following regulations supplementary to General Orders 5, 6, and 9 relating to wage and salary schedules and to plans for making individual wage and salary adjustments under such schedules are hereby adopted.

I. Established schedules within the meaning of General Orders 5 and 9—A. Definitions and criteria—1. Specific criteria for all established schedules. A "schedule" involves job-classification rates or rate ranges and a plan for making individual adjustments within and between such rates or rate ranges.

a. Job-classification rates or rate ranges in existence on May 31, 1943, do not require approval of the National War Labor Board.

(1) Rate ranges consist of clearly designated minimum and maximum rates in existence as of May 31, 1943, for jobs of similar skill and responsibility. (Such minimum and maximum rates are not necessarily the rates actually being paid on May 31, 1943, for particular job classifications. Thus individual minimum or maximum or with-in-grade rates may be "vacant" at any given time. Nor are the established minimum and maximum rates for any given job classification necessarily determined by the fact that for special reasons particular employees may be receiving less than the minimum or more than the maximum rate. Save as exceptional cases may be brought to the Board's attention, no rate range exists (a) where the employer customarily pays single rates for particular job classifications, or (b) where jobs are remunerated on a piece-rate method of wage payment.)

b. A plan for making individual adjustments within and between rate ranges which was in existence on May 31, 1943, does not require Board approval if

(1) It is contained in a collective bargaining agreement in existence on May 31, 1943; or

(2) It conforms to the employer's practice prior to October 27, 1942, as demonstrated by (a) a plan formally communicated to the employees; or (b) the employer's payroll records; or

(3) It was specifically approved by the National War Labor Board or any of its authorized agents or agencies; or

(4) It includes one or more of the following methods and conforms to the appropriate standards set forth under each:

(a) Merit increases. (These increases may be made only within rate ranges)

i. These are individual wage or salary rate adjustments made as a reward for superior quantity and/or quality of work or service.

ii. No employee may receive more than two merit increases during any calendar year.

iii. Except in cases where there have been substantial fluctuations in employment, no more than 50 percent of the average number of employees in a job classification may receive merit increases during any calendar year.

iv. No merit increase may exceed 33⅓ percent of the difference between the minimum and maximum rates of the appropriate range.

(b) Automatic length of service increases. (These increases may be made only within rate ranges)

i. These are individual adjustments usually made automatically at the end of specified periods of satisfactory service.

ii. Frequency of adjustment may not exceed four times in any calendar year.

iii. Amount of adjustment may not exceed 25 percent of the difference between the minimum and maximum rates of the appropriate range.

(c) Promotions or reclassifications. (These adjustments may be made between single-rate jobs as well as between jobs which bear rate ranges)

i. These are individual adjustments which result from moving an employee into a different job classification.

ii. When promoted or reclassified to a higher-rated job, an employee may receive a rate not in excess of 15 percent above his rate on his former job or the minimum rate for the new job, whichever is higher: Provided, however, That where an employee has special ability and experience, he may be paid a rate within the appropriate range corresponding to such ability and experience.

(d) Apprentice or trainee system. (Under these systems, adjustments may be made with respect to jobs which bear single rates as well as with respect to jobs which bear rate ranges.)

i. These are individual rate adjustments resulting from improvement, over specified periods of time, in the productive abilities of apprentices or trainees who are employed under a bona fide apprentice or trainee plan as defined below.

ii. Apprenticeship plans—with respect to length of apprenticeship period; proportion of number of apprentices to number of journeymen; and relation of apprentice wage rate at various periods to journeymen wage rate—should conform to the standards set forth in a collective bargaining agreement or in the regulations of federal or state agencies.

iii. Learner or trainee plans—with respect to length of learning period; proportion of number of learners to number of experienced workmen in a given job classification; and relation of learner or beginner rate to the rate paid experienced workmen—should conform to the standards set forth in a collective bargaining agreement or in the regulations of federal or state agencies.

iv. Nothing in this section precludes the reexamination or modification of existing apprentice or trainee programs in the interest of greater production for the war effort.

2. General criteria for all established schedules. a. Each job classification must be clearly defined and described.

b. Except where there has been a substantial fluctuation in employment, proportionate distribution of employees within and among rate ranges must remain substantially the same from quarter-year to quarter-year.

c. No appreciable increase in the level of production costs may result from individual rate adjustments.

B. Records. Any employer who makes individual wage or salary rate adjustments pursuant to an established schedule must hereafter keep the following records available in his establishment(s) for a period of two years:

1. The rate or range of rates for each job classification.

2. The description of each job classification

3. A statement of the plan of making adjustments within the rate ranges and between the rates or rate ranges.

4. The date when the schedule was established.

5. For each job classification in which merit increases have been made, the number of employees in each such job classification during the payroll period when adjustments were made.

6. With respect to each employee who received an adjustment:

a. Name of employee

b. Date on which employee was hired

c. For each adjustment given to the employees:

(1) Date of adjustment

(2) Job classification prior to and after the adjustment

(3) Rate of pay prior to and after the adjustment

(4) Reason for adjustment.

No particular order or form is prescribed for these records, provided that the information required is easily obtainable.

II. New schedules. A. All wage or salary rate schedules which are not exempt from the requirement of Board approval under (I) above must be submitted for approval to the appropriate Regional War Labor Board. Pending final action by the Board, individual rate adjustments may be made in accordance with the criteria set forth under (I) above.

B. Requirements for obtaining approval—1. Rate ranges. (Where ranges are desired for the purpose of making individual merit or length-of-service increases.)

a. Existing establishments.—(1) The minimum rate for each job classification shall be fixed at (a) the minimum rate prevailing in the plant or establishment for each job classification or (b) at a level not exceeding the minimum of the bracket of sound and tested rates which prevails for similar job classifications in the same labor market, whichever is higher; provided, however, that in rare and unusual cases where the critical needs of war production require, a higher minimum rate may be set.

(2) The spread between the minimum and maximum rates for each job classification shall wherever possible be in accordance with the standards prevailing in the industry and area.

b. New establishments or new departments in existing establishments. (1) Except in rare and unusual cases where the critical needs of war production require or except as may be necessary, in the case of new departments, to maintain internal balance of the rate structure, the minimum rate for each job classification shall be fixed at a level not exceeding the minimum rate of the bracket of sound and tested rates which prevails for similar job classifications in the same labor market.

(2) The spread between the minimum and maximum rates for each job classification shall wherever possible be in accordance with the standards prevailing in the industry and area.

2. Single rates (where single rates are desired for making promotions or reclassifications or for making individual rate adjustments under apprentice or trainee plans).

a. Existing establishments. (1) A reclassification of single rates for existing establishments, may, if designed to bring about a more harmonious and appropriate relationship of rates within an establishment, be approved where it will not appreciably affect the level of production costs or furnish the basis either to increase prices or to resist otherwise justifiable reductions in prices.

b. New establishments or new departments in existing establishments. (1) Except in rare and unusual cases where the critical needs of war production require or except as may be necessary, in the case of new departments, to maintain internal balance of the rate structure, the rate for each job classification shall be fixed at a level not exceeding the minimum rate of the bracket of sound and tested rates which prevails for similar job classifications in the same labor market.

3. Plans for making adjustments between rates or within and between rate ranges (existing establishments or new establishments and departments). A proposed plan for making individual adjustments within and between rate ranges should contain the following information with respect to one or more of the methods outlined below. The plan should also indicate to what extent the adjustments to be made thereunder will affect the proportionate distribution of employees within and among the rates or rate ranges, and to what extent production costs will be increased thereby. The plans so submitted need not necessarily conform to the criteria set forth in (I) above.

a. Merit increases. (1) The number of increases within the appropriate range to be given to any employee during the calendar year.

(2) The percentage of the number of employees in each job classification who will receive increases during the calendar year.

(3) The maximum amount (in terms of the percentage of the difference between the minimum and maximum rates of the range) of the individual increases to be given in each job classification.

b. Automatic length of service increases. (1) How frequently such increases are to be given during the calendar year.

(2) The maximum amount (in terms of the percentage of the difference between the minimum and maximum rates of the range) of the individual increases which are to be given in each job classification.

c. Promotions or reclassifications. (1) The rate to be paid upon promotion or reclassification to a higher-rated job (whether the minimum rate called for by the new job, or a rate in excess of such minimum).

(2) If a rate in excess of the minimum called for by the new job is to be paid, the criteria that will determine the rate should be described (i. e. special skill and experience, other unusual qualifications, etc.).

d. Apprentice or trainee systems. (1) How does the plan conform to the standards set forth in appropriate collective bargaining agreements or in appropriate regulations of federal or state agencies with respect to the following items: length of apprenticeship or learner period; proportion of number of apprentices or learners to number of experienced workmen in a given job classification; relation of apprentice or learner rate at various periods to the rate paid experienced workmen?

C. Any employer who makes individual wage or salary adjustment pursuant to an approved schedule must keep in his establishment(s) for a period of two years the records listed in (I).

III. Any employer who wishes to change one or more provisions of his established or approved wage or salary rate schedules may obtain consideration of such proposed change from the appropriate Regional War Labor Board without the necessity of having his entire schedule approved or reapproved.

IV. If there is a duly recognized or certified labor organization which represents any or all of the employees included in a proposed schedule or in a proposed change in any existing schedule, approval must be jointly requested by the employer and such labor organization. But if agreement on any point can not be reached, the parties may jointly submit the issues to the appropriate Regional War Labor Board for determination or may ask the Regional Board to refer the matter to the National War Labor Board for determination. Failing joint submissions, the matter will be treated as a dispute case.

V. Where an application includes more than one establishment, it shall set forth separately a schedule for each establishment, or for groups of similar establishments.

VI. Companies having establishments in more than one Region may apply for approval of schedules, where approval is necessary, in each of the Regions where the establishments are located or in the Region in which is located the company office at which the schedules are determined. In the latter case, the Regional Board may, if it considers that the application warrants national consideration, refer it to the National War Labor Board.

Section 81.983d is added as follows:

§ 81.983d Procedure under Executive Order 9250. (a) When probable noncompliance on the part of a prime contractor with Executive Order 9250 or the regulations is discovered by or brought to the attention of the technical services, such agency should inform each such prime contractor of the apparent violation and advise him to bring his practices in compliance with the provisions of the Executive Order and the regulations.

(b) The technical services should report apparent violations of Executive Order 9250 to the Labor Branch, Industrial Personnel Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, Washington, D. C., their reports should include the following information:

(1) Name and address of contractor.

(2) Date, number and place of performance of contract.

(3) Résumé of facts constituting alleged violations including approved wage rates, by whom approved, wages actually paid, names or designations of persons paid, dates of alleged improper payments, and name of party making payments if other than contractor.

(4) The Regional War Labor Board or other agency which has jurisdiction over approval of wage rates in the case.

(c) Each probable violation reported to the Labor Branch, Industrial Personnel Division, will be taken up with the appropriate Government agency authorized, under Executive Order 9250 and the regulations issued thereunder, to determine whether a violation has, in fact, occurred, the extent of the violation and the corrective action to be taken.

(d) When the technical services have made such report of a probable violation, no further action is required of them until they are specifically directed by the Labor Branch of the Industrial Personnel Division to withhold payments or take other action in a particular case. If the contractor is found, by the appropriate Government agency, to have violated Executive Order 9250 or the regulations, specific instructions will be issued through the Labor Branch, Industrial Personnel Division, to the technical service.

(e) Final determinations of violations are in all cases to be made by the National War Labor Board or other wage agency named in the regulations. The technical services are not required or authorized to make the determination, in the first instance, that the prime contractor is guilty of violation of the Order and regulations. Agencies of the War Department are not required to conduct audits, investigations, or payroll reviews merely for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not contractors have complied with the Order and regulations.

(f) All responsibilities which the technical services had prior to issuance of Executive Order 9250 on this regulation with respect to reimbursement of contractors in accordance with other laws and regulations are in no way affected by this regulation.

EMPLOYMENT OF ALIENS

Section 81.990 is added as follows:

§ 81.990 Joint statement on employment of aliens—(a) Statement. Under date of June 7, 1943, the Secretary of War, the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Navy and the Chairman of the Maritime Commission issued a joint statement on the employment of aliens. This statement reads as follows:

I. Introductory statement. 1. The protection of the war effort against espionage, sabotage, and subversive activities is paramount to all other considerations. The Departments of War, Justice and Navy, and the Maritime Commission, recognize clearly the importance of meeting to the fullest possible extent the expanding military and industrial demands for manpower. The governmental agencies herein named are, therefore, making this joint statement with respect to the national policy to the end that the available manpower may be utilized by contractors and sub-contractors to the maximum degree consistent with the paramount importance of internal security.

2. The granting of full employment opportunities to all loyal and qualified workers irrespective of national origin or citizenship is urged upon and expected of all contractors and sub-contractors of the government agencies herein named. The applicable national policy was clearly stated by the President in his statement of July 11, 1942, in which he said:

"Persons should not hereafter be refused employment, or persons at present employed discharged, solely on the basis of the fact that they are aliens or that they were formerly nationals of any particular foreign country. A general condemnation of any group or class of persons is unfair and dangerous to the war effort. The Federal Government is taking the necessary steps to guard against, and punish, any subversive acts by disloyal persons, citizens as well as aliens."

3. The policy and procedure herein outlined apply to the employment of aliens by Government contractors and sub-contractors within the continental United States. Special regulations apply to the employment of aliens on shipboard and in territories outside of the continental United States.

II. Permission to employ an alien is required in only two classes of cases. 4. Contractors and sub-contractors are required to obtain the written consent of the head of the Government department concerned, before employing aliens under the following conditions only:

(a) Aeronautical contracts: Written consent is required before an alien employee may be permitted to have access to the plans or specifications or the work under construction or to participate in the contract trials under contracts involving aircraft, aircraft parts, or aeronautical accessories for the United States.

(b) Classified contracts: Written consent is required before aliens employed by a contractor in the performance of secret, confidential, or restricted Government contracts shall be permitted to have access to the plans or specifications, or the work under such contracts, or to participate in the contract trials.

5. War and Navy Department and Maritime Commission contractors and sub-contractors may employ aliens as freely as American citizens except under the specific conditions specified in paragraph 4, (a) and (b), above.

III. Application of anti-discrimination clause. 6. Pursuant to Executive Order No. 8802, dated June 25, 1941, an anti-discrimination clause (sometimes called "non-discrimination" clause) has been included in all War and Navy Department and Maritime Commission contracts entered into since June 25, 1941. This clause requires the granting of full employment opportunities to all loyal and qualified workers regardless of race, creed, color, or national origin. This clause is intended to apply equally to citizens and non-citizens. For contractors or sub-contractors of the War or Navy Departments, or of the Maritime Commission to require American citizenship as an essential condition for employment is considered for employment is considered a breach of the clause in the contract and is contrary to the national policy as expressed in the Executive Order.

7. Even on aeronautical and classified contracts, if a qualified applicant whose services the contractor needs is an alien whose loyalty to the United States the contractor has no reason to doubt, the contractor is obligated to cooperate with the applicant in applying for consent to his employment. Failure to request consent for the employment of, or to employ such an alien upon securing consent, if except for his alien status he would have been employed, constitutes a breach of the anti-discrimination clause of the contract and is contrary to national policy as expressed in the Executive Order. If a contractor refuses employment to a qualified and authorized alien worker, he should be prepared to present specific and sufficient reasons to avoid a charge of discrimination.

8. In no case, except those in which an individual alien is denied employment by the specific action of the War or Navy Departments or the Maritime Commission, is a contractor justified in informing an applicant that he is being refused employment because of Government regulations. The same considerations apply to removal from employment.

IV. Procedure for requesting consent to employ aliens for work on aeronautical or classified contracts. 9. In order to obtain consent of the Head of the Government Department concerned, for the employment of an alien on an aeronautical or classified contract, the alien and the contractor are required to fill out their respective parts of an Alien Questionnaire form. The procedure in this connection is as follows:

(a) The alien may go to the nearest office of the United States Employment Service, which will furnish him with the application form and will assist him in filling out his portion of the Questionnaire. However, if the contractor has forms and office facilities conveniently available, the alien may go directly to the contractor's plant and may there fill out his portion of the questionnaire. The Plant Security Officer is instructed to furnish to contractors the Alien Questionnaire forms. However, the form may also be secured from the local office of the United States Employment Service.

(b) When the alien's portion of the Questionnaire has been completed, the form will then be submitted to the employer who will fill out his portion of the Questionnaire. Insofar as possible, statements made by the contractor or reported by him, regarding the loyalty of the alien, should be factual rather than simply expressions of opinion.

(c) When the contractor has completed the Alien Questionnaire (seven copies), he will retain one copy and will deliver the others to the plant security officer. This officer will retain one copy and will forward the others to the authorized representative of the head of the department concerned.

(d) This representative, after full investigation of the loyalty of the alien applicant makes his recommendation, pursuant to which the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, or the Chairman of the Maritime Commission grant or deny consent to employ the alien. Notice of such action is sent directly to the contractor. In the normal case, the employer should receive a decision on his request within less than two weeks from the date the application is filed with the plant security officer.

V. Significance of, and appeals from denial of consent. 10. The denial of consent does not necessarily indicate a decision that the alien concerned has disloyal tendencies, but may merely mean that his loyalty to the United States has not yet been positively proved.

11. If consent is denied, the contractor should promptly so inform the alien applicant, and at the same time advise him as to possible reconsideration.

12. Reconsideration of a denial of consent may be requested by either the alien or the contractor and additional evidence of loyalty, and letters of recommendation, may be sent direct to the Office of the Provost Marshal General.

13. Aliens whose applications for employment on aeronautical or classified contracts have been denied by the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, or the Chairman of the Maritime Commission, should be directed to the United States Employment Service for referral to other work.

VI. No penalties apply if consent is obtained before employing aliens on aeronautical and classified contracts. 14. Some contractors and sub-contractors have hesitated to employ aliens because of a lack of clear understanding of the statutory restrictions, and concern as to the penalty for violation thereof. It is repeated and emphasized that the only restrictions are those set forth in paragraph 4 above, and that an employer is not subject to any penalty if, in good faith, he obtains the written consent of the head of the Government department concerned before an alien is permitted to have access to the work, plans, or trials under aeronautical or classified contracts.

VII. Responsibilities for plant security. 15. The contractor is responsible for the protection of the plant against all persons who might endanger its security, regardless of their citizenship. Contractors will comply with detailed regulations concerning plant security issued from time to time by the War and Navy Departments and the Maritime Commission, including:

(a) Complying with the provisions of their contracts respecting the safeguarding of all plans and specifications and all work under these contracts.

(b) In any case and at any time where there is a definite indication that an employee is subversive or engaged in subversive activities, no investigation will be conducted by the employer, but the facts will be furnished to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for appropriate consideration. (Employees have the same duty of reporting in this regard as have employers.)

VIII. Prior statements and contract provisions. 16. This joint statement is applicable with equal force to the employment of aliens under all existing contracts. If any clause of any existing contract prescribes greater restrictions on the employment of aliens than are hereby required or permitted, the Government will waive compliance with such clause, to the extent that it conflicts with this Statement.

17. All previous statements of the Departments of War, Navy, Justice, and the Maritime Commission with respect to the policy and procedure in connection with the employment of aliens, are hereby superseded insofar as they may be inconsistent with any statements contained herein.

HENRY L. STIMSON,
Secretary of War.
FRANCIS BIDDLE,
Attorney General.
FRANK KNOX,
Secretary of the Navy.
E. S. LAND,
Chairman, U. S. Maritime Comm.

(b) Procedure. It is to be noted that under Article IV of the Joint Statement set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, it is contemplated that the Alien Questionnaire, when completed, will be delivered to the plant security officer. If, at a given plant, there is no plant security officer, the questionnaire should be delivered to the Director of Internal Security at the Headquarters of the Service Command within the limits of which the plant is located.

MISCELLANEOUS PURCHASE INSTRUCTIONS

Section 81.1187 is added as follows:

§ 81.1187 Restrictions on purchases of selected items for the duration of the war. Circular No. 420 issued by the Director, Bureau of the Budget, under date of May 21, 1943, provides as follows:

TO THE HEADS OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS, INDEPENDENT ESTABLISHMENTS AND AGENCIES

Subject: Restrictions on Purchases of Selected Items for the Duration of the War.

The necessity for maximum curtailment of expenditures by all agencies, and the scarcity of materials used in the manufacture of numerous office equipment and supply items, require immediate administrative action to limit the purchase of luxury and nonessential items.

In the event any of the items listed herein are found to be absolutely necessary for operation and unavailable from surplus stores of the Procurement Division, requests for purchase in the commercial market should be submitted to the head of the agency for advance approval.

Instances have been reported where agencies, especially through their field offices, have ignored War Production Board priority regulations and purchased such items as stapling machines, staples, gem clips, rubberbands, twine, etc., in local markets at exorbitant prices. Any steps necessary should be taken to prevent such purchases.

It will be appreciated if three copies of instructions issued pursuant to this circular are forwarded to the Equipment and Supply Section, Estimates Division, Bureau of the Budget, upon issue.

HAROLD D. SMITH, Director.

The purchase of the items referred to in the above circular is prohibited for the duration of the war except in accordance with the provisions of said circular.

GENTLEMEN:

1. An order is hereby placed with you to furnish the equipment and materials and perform the work necessary for the construction and completion of:

---

2. The work shall be started immediately upon your acceptance hereof and shall be completed within ____ months thereafter. Your acceptance hereof shall operate as a notice to you to proceed.

3. All applicable articles (other than the article "Termination for the Convenience of the Government") now required by Federal law, Executive Order, or War Department Procurement Regulations to be included in contracts for work of the kind herein described are incorporated herein by reference.

4. By your acceptance hereof, you undertake without delay to enter into negotiations with the War Department looking to the execution of a definitive contract which will follow in the main War Department Contract Form No. 2[1] and will include all applicable articles then required by Federal law, Executive Order and War Department Procurement Regulations to be included in contracts for work of the kind herein described. The definitive contract will also contain detailed terms and conditions as agreed to by the parties, which may or may not be at variance with the provisions of this order.

5 Pending the execution of a definitive contract, each expenditure, order, subcontract or commitment made by you in furtherance of the performance of this order for an amount in excess of _____ Dollars ($_____) will be subject to the written approval of the Contracting Officer, and you are not authorized to expend or obligate, in furtherance of your performance hereunder, more than _____ ($_____) in the aggregate.

6. (a) In case a definitive contract is not executed by _____, 19____ (or any subsequent date mutually agreed upon) because of the inability of the parties to agree upon a definitive contract, this order will terminate on the stated date or such subsequent date, as the case may be.

(b) The Government may at any time terminate this order in whole or in part for its convenience by giving you written notice of such termination.

(c) In the event of any termination pursuant to either paragraph 6 (a) or paragraph 6 (b) of this order, you and the Contracting Officer will attempt to agree upon a negotiated settlement on reasonable terms of the amount to be paid by reason of such termination (but no allowance of profit will be made to you in case of termination pursuant to paragraph 6 (a)).[2] Any such negotiated settlement shall be embodied in a Supplemental Agreement.

(d) If you and the Contracting Officer are not able to agree upon such a negotiated settlement within 90 days after the effective date of the termination (or within such longer period as at any time may be mutually agreed upon), the Government binds itself (without duplication of any of the following payments or of any payments previously made) to reimburse you for the cost incurred by you in the performance of the order and for any amounts paid by you or for your account in settling with the approval of the Contracting Officer your obligations for commitments made in the performance of this order. In lieu of reimbursing you for the expenditures made by you in settling any of your obligations for commitments, the Government, in the discretion of the Contracting Officer, may assume such obligations or any of them. The total of such reimbursement (and of all payments previously made), together with the amount of any obligations assumed, shall not exceed the amount above specified.

If such termination shall take place pursuant to paragraph 6 (a) of this order no allowance of profit will be made to you. If termination shall take place for the convenience of the Government pursuant to paragraph 6 (b) of this order, such allowance of profit will be made to you with respect to the work done by you prior to the effective date of the termination as the Contracting Officer may find to be reasonable under all the circumstances.[2]

(e) The Government may permit you to sell or retain at prices or on terms agreed to by the Government any equipment materials or work in process and the proceeds of any such sale, or such agreed prices, shall be paid or credited to the Government in such manner as the Contracting Officer may direct.

(f) Upon payment or reimbursement to you pursuant to paragraph 6 (c) or 6 (d) of this order, title to all equipment, work in process, materials, plans, information, and other things, for which you are so paid or reimbursed (except such property as may be sold or retained by you as above provided) will vest in the Government (if title thereto has not already become vested in the Government). The Government will also become entitled to any rights under any commitment which it shall have reimbursed you.

(g) Any dispute which arises under this paragraph 6 regarding a matter of fact (including any dispute (1) as to whether termination has in fact taken place for the convenience of the Government or because of the inability of the parties to agree upon a definitive contract, or (2) as to the extent of any allowance of a profit in the event of a termination for the convenience of the Government)[2] will be treated and resolved as a dispute under the "Disputes" article incorporated in this order by reference.[3]

(h) Partial payments on account of any amount admittedly due to you pursuant to this paragraph 6 may be made by the Government at any time in the discretion of the Contracting Officer.

7. After your acceptance hereof, partial and advance payments, in accordance with regulations from time to time applicable, may be made to you upon your application.

8. The sums to be expended by the Government hereunder are chargeable to the following allotments, the available balances of which are sufficient to cover the same: _____

9. PART 83—DISPOSITION OF SURPLUS AND UNSERVICEABLE PROPERTY

DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY

§ 83.701 Rescission of regulation. This Procurement Regulation No. 7 does not rescind, amend, or otherwise affect the provisions of Technical Manual 38–220 or other Directives concerning stock control for military property. All other regulations and instructions inconsistent herewith are hereby rescinded. This Procurement Regulation No. 7 does not, however, rescind or in any way supersede any other Army Regulations or manuals of procedure dealing with the disposition of property except to the extent of any inconsistency with the provisions hereof.

§ 83.702 Property defined. The term "property" as hereinafter used in this Procurement Regulation No. 7 means all property, title to which is in the Government, other than real property. This disposition of real property is governed by AR 100–62 (§§ 52.5–52.16) and 100–63: This Procurement Regulation No. 7 is not applicable to property not owned by the Government which is in the hands of a contractor under a contract in process of termination, but the general principles stated in § 83.702 are equally applicable to such property.

§ 83.703 Classification of property. The following classifications of property owned by the United States and under the control of the War Department are established for the purpose of this Procurement Regulation No. 7.

(a) All property is divided into military property and non-military property.

(b) Military property consists of all supplies and equipment held for issue or issued, to or for troops, military posts within the United States, and theaters of operation; and includes tactical supplies and equipment, subsistence items, and property required by tables of allowances, tables of basic allowances, and tables of equipment.

(c) Non-military property is all property other than military property. Non-military property is in turn divided into industrial property and miscellaneous property.

(1) Industrial property is all equipment and materials which are used or usable, directly or indirectly in manufacturing or processing activities, other than military property. Industrial property includes machine tool equipment; processing equipment; construction equipment of all kinds; perishable tools, gages and precision measuring equipment; plant protective equipment and clothing; manufacturing aids; buildings, fixtures and appurtenances when severed from realty; raw materials, partly fabricated materials, completely processed or fabricated materials; scrap, cuttings and by-products of all kinds and forms resulting directly or indirectly from manufacturing operations; and all other equipment, assemblies and subassemblies, materials and by-products of industrial operations; which may be used directly or indirectly in manufacturing activities: Provided, That no articles of military property and no article specifically listed as miscellaneous property in subparagraph (2) below shall be classified or treated as industrial property within the meaning of this paragraph.

(2) Miscellaneous property is all non-military property other than industrial property. Miscellaneous property includes, but is not limited to, all automotive vehicles and equipment, typewriters, office machinery and equipment, office furniture and fixtures, electrical building materials, plumbing and heating materials, and agricultural equipment, that art not classified as military property under paragraph (b) of this section.

(d) All property is classified in respect of degree of serviceability as serviceable and unserviceable.

(e) Serviceable property is property which is suitable for use in its existing condition.

(f) Unserviceable property is property which is unsuitable for use in its existing condition, and scrap and waste. Unserviceable property is divided into repairable property and non-repairable property.

(1) Repairable property is unserviceable property which can in the best interests of the Government be mended or restored to serviceability. This Procurement Regulation No. 7 does not relate to the repair or reclamation of Government property, which is governed by Circular 75, War Department, 1943, and Pamphlet No. 38–1, War Department, 1943.

(2) Nonrepairable property is unserviceable property which cannot in the best interests of the Government be mended or restored to serviceability, and scrap and waste. Nonrepairable property includes, but is not limited to obsolete property and also any industrial equipment, components and assemblies (whether partially or completely fabricated, processed or assembled) for which there is no reasonable use except as scrap.

(g) All serviceable property is classified in respect of state of supply as authorized, excess and surplus.

(1) Authorized is, in the case of military property, the maximum stock level authorized for a particular organization, supply point, or technical service, and, in the case of non-military property, the amount for which there is an immediate or definitely foreseeable need for use in the function, activity, and project or industrial operation in connection with which the property was acquired or accrued.

(2) Excess is any amount above the authorized amount.

(3) Surplus is an amount declared by competent authority to be, or deemed to be, above the amount for which there is an immediate or definitely foreseeable need for use in the War Department in accordance with the provisions of this Procurement Regulation No. 7.

§ 83.704 Negotiation. The term "negotiation" as used in this Procurement Regulation No. 7 means any method of reaching an agreement on the terms of sale except the formal sealed bid procedure contemplated by section 3709 Revised Statutes with respect to purchases. (There is no statutory requirement for such procedure in the case of sales of government property. See Opinions of the Judge Advocate General dated March 19, 1941, SPJGC 1941, 163, and March 30, 1943, SPJGC, 1943, 3449).

§ 83.705 Disposition of proceeds of sale. The subject of disposition of the proceeds of sales of property (other than Government property being used by or in the care custody or possession of contractors under cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts which is dealt with in § 83.727) is not covered by this Procument Regulation No. 7. Reference is made to AR 35–780 and AR 35–6660.

§ 83.706 Written contracts of sale, numbering and distribution thereof. All contracts for the sale of property for an amount in excess of $1,000 and all contracts for more than $500 which are not to be performed within sixty days, and all contracts authorized under §§ 83.721, 83.722, 83.723 (a), or 83.724 shall be evidenced by a written contract. Unless otherwise prescribed by the chief of the technical service concerned, all other sales may be evidenced on an accounting form acceptable to the Fiscal Director, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, who shall in this respect be deemed to be acting as representative of the Secretary of War. The provisions of § 81.309 and of § 81.318b (e) of this chapter relating to the numbering of contracts are applicable to contracts for the sale of property except that in connection with such contracts a separate series of numbers will be used in which the letter "s" will be added immediately after the letters representing the technical service (or service command) concerned. Contracts for the sale of property will be distributed in the same manner as other contracts (see §§ 81.315–81.318), except that (1) when a sale of War Department property is made under a contract or agreement the officer or agent of the War Department by whom funds are received as a result thereof will, in turning the funds over to a disbursing officer, accompany such remittance with a copy of the contract or agreement covering the terms of the sale; and (2) the original signed number of each unnumbered contract of sale will be forwarded through channels to the General Accounting Office instead of being sent to the Finance Officer, as in the case of unnumbered contracts of purchase.

§ 83.707 Compliance with OPA and WPB regulations. All sales or other transfers (except transfers within the Government) of property made under the authority of this Procureemnt Regulation No. 7 or otherwise shall conform to applicable orders and regulations of the War Production Board and the Office of Price Administration.

§ 83.708 Application to Army Air Forces. This Procurement Regulation No. 7 is applicable to the Army Air Forces. Whenever the phrase "technical service" is used herein it shall include the Army Air Forces, and when the phrase "chief of a technical service" is used, it shall be deemed to include the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, or his delegate or delegates. Unless otherwise specifically indicated, wherever reference herein is made to the authority of or action by the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, such authority or action shall, with respect to the Army Air Forces, be exercised by the officer who is acting as Special Representative of the Under Secretary of War, under § 81.107 (g) of these Procurement Regulations.

§ 83.709 Designation of Redistribution and Salvage Officer. The chief of each technical service will designate a Redistribution and Salvage Officer in his office. In the case of the Army Air Forces, the Commanding General may designate such an officer in such Command or Commands of the Army Air Forces as he may specify. The Redistribution and Salvage Officer will assume responsibility for coordinating the activities of the technical service as to salvage activities; as to the determination of what items of non-military property are excess within the technical service; as to the determination of what items of military property should be processed for declaration by competent authority as surplus; and as to the acquisition and use by the technical service of military and non-military items available from other technical services. A report of the appointment of such officer will be made within five days of the receipt of this Procurement Regulation No. 7, to the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

§ 83.710 Sales over $1,000,000. No contract of sale involving a price of more than $1,000,000, authorized by this Procurement Regulation No. 7 or otherwise, will be executed without the prior approval of the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

§ 83.711 Coordination with Property Officer. All transfers or sales of property under authority herein contained must be coordinated with the Property Officer accountable for the property involved for compliance with applicable property accountability regulations.

§ 83.712 Reports. (a) On or before November 1, 1943, each technical service will report to the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, the following information as to transactions during the period July 1 through September 30, 1943; and will maintain such records as will permit submission of like reports of transactions for subsequent periods upon request of the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, and within 30 days of such request:

(1) Cost, estimated if not known, of serviceable property transferred to other technical services.

(2) Cost, estimated if not known, of serviceable property transferred to Government agencies and instrumentalities outside the War Department, separately by agencies and instrumentalities.

(3) Realization from property sold to purchasers as follows:

(ii) Others than government agencies or instrumentalities separately as between sales of serviceable property and nonrepairable property (including scrap and waste).

(b) Cost figures required under subparagraphs (1) and (2) above will be such as to afford a fair indication of the magnitude of transfers. Record costs may be used without regard for storage, transportation, handling or other overhead costs. In the absence of record costs, estimates may be made on the basis of data at hand, without resort to refined accounting or engineering studies.

(c) The report required by § 83.712 shall be known as Redistribution and Salvage Report and shall carry Control Approval Symbol UPT–17.

§ 83.713 Direct correspondence authorized. Direct correspondence is authorized among all levels of the technical services and representatives of other Government agencies in respect of redistribution of available non-military property under this Procurement Regulation No. 7.

§ 83.714 Special treatment of items of interest to a particular technical service. The Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, is authorized to require that specified items of nonmilitary property which may be of peculiar interest to a particular technical service be reported to such technical service prior to any circularization required under this Procurement Regulation No. 7 and to prescribe special treatment of such items.

DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY FOR PURPOSES DIRECTLY RELATED TO THE PROSECUTION OF THE WAR

§ 83.720 Disposition of property. Section 83.720 to 83.733, relates to the disposition of property without regard to its classification as military or non-military, or as to serviceability or state of supply. Since all sales, leases or transfers of property under the authority of the following §§ 73.721 to 83.733 will be for the purpose of enabling the property involved to be utilized directly in the prosecution of the war, the authority granted by such sections may be exercised without first obtaining from the Chief of Staff a certificate under the Act of June 28, 1944, Title I, sec. 14a, 54 Stat. 681, 10 U. S. C. 1262a. The authority to dispose of industrial property under these sections is subject to the provisions of § 83.760 (a).

§ 83.721 Authorization of the chiefs of the technical services. The chiefs of the technical services are authorized, when it is determined by them that such action will facilitate the prosecution of the war, to make contracts by negotiation for the sale of, and to sell to manufacturers and suppliers having war contracts, including employees and suppliers of war contractors, any machine tool equipment, processing equipment, uniforms, safety clothing and equipment, plant protective clothing and other special articles necessary to persons employed in or otherwise connected with war industries or establishments, manufacturing aids, raw materials, manufactured materials or other materials or facilities presently owned or hereafter acquired by the Government. Such sales shall, however, be made only for the purpose of facilitating the performance of such war contracts. All such contracts will recite that they are entered into pursuant to the First War Powers Act and Executive Order 9001.

§ 83.722 Sales to Red Cross and U. S. O. The chiefs of the technical services are authorized to make contracts by negotiation and to sell to the Red Cross and the United Service Organization any military, subsistence or other supplies or property which the chief of the technical service finds is needed by such institution in connection with its activities with the Army: Provided, That no such sale of military property will be made without the prior approval of the Director, Stock Control Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, or in the case of the Army Air Forces, the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, or his delegate or delegates. All such contracts will recite that they are entered into pursuant to the First War Powers Act and Executive Order 9001. Copies of all such contracts for the sale of military equipment, munitions, or supplies, the original cost of which exceeded $2,000 will be transmitted to the Chairman of the Military Affairs Committees of the House and Senate within twenty-four hours after such contracts are made.

§ 83.723 Leases. The chiefs of the technical services are authorized, when it is determined by them that such action will facilitate the prosecution of the war—

(a) To enter into agreements to lease any machine tool equipment, processing equipment, manufacturing aids, or other facilities presently owned or hereafter acquired by the Government, and under the control of the chiefs of the technical services or any of them, such leases (1) to be made only to manufacturers and suppliers having war contracts and to suppliers of such war contractors, for the purpose of facilitating the performance of such contracts, (2) in no case to cover property having an estimated value in excess of $1,000,000 and (3) to comply with § 81.1002 and any other applicable sections of these procurement regulations.

(b) In cases where the property involved was acquired under authority of section 1 (b) of the Act of July 2, 1940 (54 Stat. 712) as continued in effect by section 13 of the Act of June 5, 1942, (Public Law 580, 77th Congress), to include in any lease agreement an option in the lessee to buy property which is the subject of the lease, such option comes into effect (1) either one year after the expiration of the lease or (2) upon the receipt by the contractor of a written notice from the Government that it does not desire to remove the facilities, whichever happens first; and to continue only for a limited time.

(c) To waive the requirement of performance bonds in connection with leases or agreements made pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) above.

§ 83.724 Other sales and leases under the First War Powers Act. In addition to contracts of sale and leases specifically authorized by §§ 83.721 through 83.723, the chiefs of the technical services are authorized to enter into by negotiation, any other agreements for the disposition of property (whether by sale, lease or otherwise, and with or without options to purchase) authorized by the First War Powers Act and Executive Order No. 9001: Provided, That the approval of the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, is first obtained.

§ 83.725 Leases under other statutes. In addition to the authority contained in the First War Powers Act, authority for the execution of leases may be found in other statutes. See AR 850–30 [1] for the term of those statutes.

§ 83.726 Required clauses. All contracts and agreements authorized by §§ 83.721, 83.723 (a) or 83.724 will contain a "Disputes Clause" (§ 81.326), and "Officials Not to Benefit" clause (§ 81.322 and a "Covenant Against Contingent Fees." The latter clause will read as follows:

> The Purchaser warrants that he has not employed any person to solicit or secure this contract upon any agreement for a commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee. Breach of this warranty shall give the Government the right to annul the contract, or at at its option, to recover from the Purchaser the amount of such commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee, in addition to the consideration herein set forth. This warranty shall not apply to commissions payable by the Purchaser upon contracts or purchases secured or made through bona fide established commercial agencies maintained by the Purchaser for the purposes of doing business.

§ 83.727 Disposition by contractors. The chiefs of the technical services are authorized, when it is determined by them that insertion of such provision will facilitate the prosecution of the war or is necessary to carry out the purposes specified in section 1 of the Act of July 2, 1940 (Public Law 703, 76th Congress, 54 Stat. 712), to insert in cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts heretofore or hereafter executed, the clause set forth in § 81.363, and any property may be disposed of by contractors pursuant to such clause.

§ 83.728 Transfer to other Federal Agencies. Any property not declared or deemed surplus may, upon the requisition of another Federal agency made pursuant to section 7 (a) of the Act of May 21, 1920 (41 Stat. 613) as amended by section 601 of the Act of June 30, 1932 (47 Stat. 417) and by the Act of July 20, 1942, (Public Law 670, 77th Congress, 56 Stat. 661, 31 U.S.C. 686), be transferred to such agency in accordance with said section: Provided, That military property will be transferred under the supervision and authority of the Director, Stock Control Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, or, in the case of the Army Air Forces, the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, or his delegate or delegates.

§ 83.729 Transfer to other War Department components. Any property may, by direction of the chief of the technical service having control thereof, be transferred to another War Department component which has need of such property and makes request therefor. Such transfers will be effected without any reimbursement or transfer of funds for either the cost of the property, packing, handling, or transportation. Transfers of military property will be made under the supervision and authority of the Director, Stock Control Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, or, in the case of military property of the Army Air Forces, the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, or his delegate or delegates.

§ 83.730 Transfers to and from Navy. Upon request from the Navy, any property may be transferred to the Navy with the approval of the chief of the technical service concerned and any property requested by the chief of the technical service concerned may be accepted from the Navy, in either case without reimbursement or transfer of funds for either the cost of the property, packing, handling or transportation, in accordance with the procedure established in § 83.731. Such transfers of property to the Navy will be subject to such further regulations and limitations as may be prescribed by the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, as to non-military property, of the Director, Stock Control Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces as to military property, and of the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, as to property of the Army Air Forces.

§ 83.731 Procedure for transfers without reimbursement. Officers authorized to transfer or direct the transfer of property without reimbursement under § 83.729 or § 83.730 will prepare written orders or shipping tickets, listing in detail the property to be transferred, copies of which will be furnished to the Accountable Property Officer and the receiving officer. Such orders will contain a request that the authority directing the transfer be advised of any discrepancies between the order and the property shipped or received. A copy of such orders will be used as a valid debit or credit voucher to property accounts. An Accountable Property Officer will accept accountability of property transferred upon being furnished satisfactory evidence of receipt of property and of request thereafter by the chief of the technical service concerned. It will not be necessary to list dollar values of property transferred, for fiscal or accounting purposes.

§ 83.732 Gifts and loans of drawings and similar property. The chiefs of the technical services are authorized, without further approval, to give or lend drawings, manufacturing and other information and samples of supplies and equipment to be manufactured or furnished, to contractors and private firms which are or may likely be manufacturers or furnishers of supplies and equipment for the use of the War Department under approved production plans, and to give or lend to organizations engaged in experimental research, testing, or development such items and any other material, supplies or equipment for use in connection therewith: Provided, That if in the case of a gift the estimated value of the property in question exceeds $1,000, or, in the case of a loan, $50,000, the approval of the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, will first be obtained.

Exchanges of property may be made with the prior approval of the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

DISPOSITION OF NONREPAIRABLE PROPERTY

§ 83.740 Disposition of nonrepairable industrial property—(a) Nonrepairable industrial property other than current production scrap. Nonrepairable industrial property (other than current production scrap, which will be disposed of under (b) below, and industrial property to be disposed of under § 83.763 (d), will be disposed of as follows, unless disposed of under §§ 83.720 to 83.733 above.

(1) A list of the property involved will be prepared by or submitted to an officer designated by the chief of the technical service concerned, who will accomplish the following certification thereon:

It is my opinion that the property listed hereon is properly classified as nonrepairable industrial property in accordance with the provisions of Procurement Regulation No. 7, and that its condition is not due to fault or neglect.

The certifying officer will require the submission of such statement of facts, including any report of inspection, as he deems necessary as a basis for the execution of the certificate.

(2) A copy of such list appropriately certified will be furnished to the Property Officer accountable for the property involved and will operate as a credit voucher discharging accountability.

(3) Property so certified will be turned over to a salvage officer (who may be designated by the chief of the technical service concerned) together with a copy of such list appropriately certified. Property which cannot be certified under the foregoing provisions of this paragraph (a) will be held for report of survey or other action in accordance with applicable regulations. Upon completion of such action, the property involved will be turned over to a salvage officer who may be designated by the chief of the technical service concerned.

(b) Current production scrap. Current production scrap resulting from the fabricating or processing of raw materials (such as chips, cuttings, borings, and short ends of ferrous and non-ferrous metals, clippings and cuttings from wool and cotton fabric, residues from chemicals and plastics, rubber and treated fabric offal, glass, paper and lumber offal, damaged and unsuitable packing materials and containers), other than that disposed of by a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractor under contract provisions, will be turned over to a salvage officer (who may be designated by the chief of the technical service concerned), without the certification required under paragraph (a) above, and will be sold by negotiation or otherwise disposed of by such salvage officer under the direction of and pursuant to regulations established by the chief of the technical service concerned.

§ 83.741 Disposition of nonrepairable military and miscellaneous property. Unless disposed of pursuant to §§ 83.720 to 83.733 hereof, nonrepairable military and miscellaneous property will be turned over to a salvage officer in accordance with applicable regulations.

§ 83.742 Disposition by salvage officer. All property turned over to a salvage officer in accordance with the provisions of § 83.740 (a) and § 83.741 will be reclaimed, sold by negotiation in existing condition or after any processing, or otherwise disposed of, in accordance with applicable regulations, which, in the case of property turned over to a salvage officer under § 83.740 (a), may be regulations prescribed by the chief of the technical service concerned, and approved by the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

§ 83.743 Donations. In addition to the methods of disposal provided in § 83.742, any property turned over to a salvage officer may be donated, without reimbursement except for the costs of packing, handling and transportation to schools for use in connection with vocational training, or to any charitable or tax-supported institution, with the prior approval of the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, or in the case of Army Air Forces, the Commanding General, Army Air Forces.

DISPOSITION OF SURPLUS SERVICEABLE MILITARY AND MISCELLANEOUS PROPERTY

§ 83.750 Disposition of surplus serviceable military property. In view of existing and potential shortages of materials, and to diminish so far as possible current demands upon the manufacturing and producing resources of the nation during the war period, it is important that serviceable property shall not be permitted to accumulate unreasonably and unnecessarily in the possession of the War Department. Accordingly in addition to the powers of disposition set forth in §§ 83.720 to 83.733 hereof and pursuant to the First War Powers Act and Executive Order 9001, and any other relevant provisions of law, in order to facilitate the prosecution of the war by making unneeded serviceable military property available for any proper use, chiefs of technical services are authorized to declare serviceable military property surplus, with the approval of, or subject to regulations prescribed by, the Director, Stock Central Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, or the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, or his delegate or delegates, as to property of the Army Air Forces, when the property is of no immediate or definitely foreseeable use (1) in the function, activity or project in connection with which it was acquired or accrued, and (2) to the technical service concerned; and to dispose of such property in the manner provided in §§ 83.752 and 83.753, notwithstanding the provisions of section 14a of Chapter 440 of Title I of the Act of June 28, 1940, 54 Stat. 681, 10 U.S.C. 1262a: Provided, That all sales of military property, the original cost of which exceeded $2,000, made pursuant to § 83.753 will be reported to the Chairmen of the Military Affairs Committee of the House and Senate within twenty-four hours after the contract is made.

(b) The chiefs of technical services may, with the approval of the Director, Stock Control Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, or of the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, or his delegate or delegates, as to property of the Army Air Forces, classify as industrial property and dispose of as such, any parts or components of items of military property which are held for issue or have been issued and which have been determined to be obsolete or excess.

§ 83.751 Disposition of surplus miscellaneous property. When miscellaneous property is found to be excess it will be circularized to such an extent as may be deemed desirable by the technical service concerned to effect expeditious redistribution by transfer within the War Department or in such other manner as is permitted under §§ 83.720 to 83.733 of this Procurement Regulation No. 7. In the case of items as to which purchase responsibility has been assigned to a particular technical service, such circularization will include in every case reporting to such technical service. Items which are not so redistributed within a reasonable time will be deemed to be surplus, without further determination.

§ 83.752 Report to Procurement Division, Treasury Department. Military property declared surplus under § 83.750, miscellaneous property deemed to be surplus under § 83.751, and industrial property required or permitted to be reported to Procurement Division, Treasury Department, under §§ 83.760 to 83.781 of this Procurement Regulation 7, will be reported to that agency, on the forms prescribed by that agency. Reference is made to § 81.613 (e) of these Procurement Regulations for a list of Regional Offices of the Procurement Division, Treasury Department, where reports of surplus property may be filed.

§ 83.753 Disposition. Property reported to the Procurement Division, Treasury Department, as surplus, will be delivered to or upon the order of that agency, or withheld from sale pending disposition by it for such time as may be prescribed by the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces. At the expiration of such time or upon earlier clearance by the Procurement Division, the property may be sold by negotiation under the direction of the chief of the technical service concerned.

DISPOSITION OF SERVICEABLE INDUSTRIAL PROPERTY

§ 83.760 General. The prompt return to industry of all forms of property and materials not immediately needed by the War Department which are usable directly or indirectly in manufacturing or processing activities is necessary to the successful prosecution of the war and to the protection of the national economy against shortages of needed materials. It is accordingly determined that all such property for which there is no immediate or definitely foreseeable need in connection with the function, activity, project or industrial operation in connection with which it was acquired, and which is not disposed of in accordance with the preceding provisions of this Procurement Regulation No. 7, is not essential to the national defense, and that its sale or other disposition will promote the Army procurement program and will facilitate the prosecution of the war.

(a) Industrial property in the hands of a contractor of the War Department with whom a contract is in process of termination may be disposed of pursuant to any provision of such contract. Furthermore, such property may be disposed of pursuant to §§ 83.720 to 83.733 of this Procurement Regulation No. 7 at any time prior to the transmittal of circularization lists under § 83.761 (c). During and after the circularization period specified in §83.761 (d) industrial property may be disposed of as provided in §§ 83.762 and 83.763.

(b) For the purpose of carrying out the policies stated in the introductory paragraph of the section, the chiefs of the technical services are directed to actively review the items of industrial property on hand and in process of manufacture, including industrial property title to which has in fact passed to the Government as the result of contract termination and which has not been disposed of pursuant to §§ 83.720 to 83.733 of this Procurement Regulation No. 7, to determine the essentiality of these items for the prosecution of approved functions, activities, projects or industrial operations and to establish procedures for the sale or disposition of excess items in accordance with the following provisions of these §§ 83.760 to 83.781.

§ 83.761 Circularization. Determinations will be made as frequently as practicable as to which items of serviceable industrial property on hand and in process of manufacture are excess, and such items, if not disposed of pursuant to §§ 83.720 to 83.733 of this Procurement Regulation No. 7, will be listed in the Circularization Lists for circularization in accordance with the following provisions of this paragraph. It is intended that determinations of excess will be made at the lowest practicable level within the technical service and that circularization will be effected contemporaneously within the technical service and among other technical services to the fullest extent practicable. The chiefs of the technical services will prescribe the intervals and levels at which determinations of excess will be made, and the levels from which circularization will be effected, with due regard for the nature of the property and the organization of the technical service.

(a) Circularization lists. Circularization Lists will be divided into Part 1, Part 2, Part 3, Part 4, and Part X. Property listed under the respective subdivisions will be referred to as "Part 1 property", "Part 2 property", and so forth.

(1) Part 1 will include all items of the nature set forth in § 83.780.

(2) Part 2 will include all construction equipment of a standard type not so restricted in design as to render it unsuitable for non-military use of a recurring nature. Such construction equipment includes, but is not limited to, drilling and boring equipment, earth and rock, including core drills, rock drills, churn drills, earth borers and horizontal augers; power cranes and shovels, drag lines, buckets, stiff-leg derricks, and dredges; scrapers, maintainers, and graders; tractors, track-laying and wheel types; tractor-mounted construction equipment including angledozers, bulldozers, and power control units; winches and hoists, contractors elevating; road brooms concrete buggies and carts, bins, centerline marking equipment, road discs, ditchers, aggregate dryers, joint and crack filling machinery, road forms, form tamping machines, mud jacks, portable snow loaders, tamping rollers, scarifiers, concrete towers, contractors' crawler wagons, and similar equipment; construction material mixers, spreaders, pavers, surfacers, finishers, tampers, vibrators, and related construction machinery; construction material processing equipment, including asphalt plants and portable crushers.

(3) Part 3 will include all items not included in Parts 1, 2, or 4 which, in the judgment of the technical service, have a reasonably foreseeable use for industrial or military purposes or for civilian supply and which cannot practicably and expeditiously be redistributed without wide circularization.

(4) Part 4 will include controlled materials in the forms and shapes and in the minimum quantities set forth in § 83.781. Part 4 will be subdivided into—

Part 4A, consisting of steel;
Part 4B, consisting of copper and copper base alloy; and Part 4C, consisting of aluminum.

(5) Part X will include all items not included in Parts 1, 2, 3, and 4.

(b) Description and coding. (1) Circularization Lists will be on 8" x 10½" paper and will contain the following information:

(i) Identification of issuing office with station identification number and contract symbol assigned by the Chief of Finance.

(ii) Serial number of list. Each issuing office will serially number each list circularized beginning with the number 1.

(iii) Date of circularization, which will be the date of transmittal required under paragraph (c) of this section.

(iv) Date of transmittal to War Production Board required under § 83.763 (b), in the case of Part 1 and 4 property.

(v) Serial number of items or lots. Items or lots will be serially numbered under each part of each list, and, in the case of Part 1, under each section.

(vi) Description of items or lots. Descriptions will comprise such information as would be required by the controlling technical service if it were procuring the property, including, when pertinent, name of manufacturer, manufacturer's catalog number if available, identification numbers, location, age, condition, quantity and cost per unit if available.

(vii) Specific instructions by which an interested agency may be guided in negotiating sale or transfer of property reported. Names, mail and telephone addresses of officers authorized to carry on negotiations may be either included in each list circularized, or published in bulletin form by the technical service concerned to all recipients of the lists.

(2) Items of property at any one location, of a cost, estimated if not known, of less than $100 per item may be reported in Part X either singly or in mixed lots with such abbreviated description as would inform an interested agency of the general nature and utility of such property, subject to inspection or the furnishing of a more detailed description upon specific inquiry.

(3) For the purpose of convenient abbreviation in communications regarding property circularized, items may be identified by code, which will include in sequence, the station identification number and contract symbol of the issuing office, serial number of item. For example, a particular heat exchanger listed as the second item in Part 1 of the third list circularized by an office of Ordnance Department having station identification number "123" would be identified as "123–Ord–3–1–BQ–2".

(c) Transmittal of lists. Circularization will be accomplished by transmitting copies of circularization lists as follows:

(1) Parts 1, 2, 3, and 4 to Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, to the Redistribution Division, War Production Board, Washington, D. C. Information copies will be transmitted to Procurement Division, Treasury Department, upon request of that agency, but the furnishing of such copies will not constitute a reporting as surplus of the items comprised therein.

(2) Part X, to Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, to procurement officers of other technical services at such levels and within such geographical areas as the technical service concerned deems desirable, and to the Regional Offices of War Production Board and the Procurement Division, Treasury Department, for the regions in which the property is located. Transmittal of Part I to the Procurement Division, Treasury Department will not constitute a reporting as surplus of the items comprised therein.

(3) Copies of Circularization Lists will be transmitted to the Navy Department as directed by the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

(d) Circularization period. The period of 20 days after transmittal of copies of Circularization Lists will be referred to as the "circularization period."

§ 83.762 Disposition during circularization period. Before the termination of the circularization period, the technical service concerned will determine what property included in Circularization Lists should be retained for present or definitely foreseeable needs within such service for military or industrial purposes and will withdraw such property from availability. Property which is not so withdrawn may be disposed of in accordance with the provisions of §§ 83.720 to 83.733 of this Procurement Regulation No. 7 upon request of an interested service or agency made prior to the expiration of the circularization period. The Redistribution and Salvage Officer designated by the Chief of Engineers is specifically charged with acquiring items of Part 2 property not withdrawn under the first sentence of this paragraph, which are suitable for troop use or tactical operations.

§ 83.763 Disposition after circularization period—(a) Disposition of Part 2 property upon termination of circularization period. Upon the termination of the circularization period, Part 2 property which has not been withdrawn or disposed of under § 83.763 will be deemed to be surplus and will be promptly reported as surplus to the Regional Office of Procurement Division, Treasury Department, for the region in which the property is located, in the manner provided in § 83.752, and will be disposed of in accordance with the provision of § 83.753.

(b) Disposition of Part 1 property and Part 4 property upon termination of circularization period. Upon the termination of the circularization period Part 1 and 4 property which has not been withdrawn or disposed of under § 83.762 will be promptly reported as follows:

(iv) Part 4C property, to War Production Board, c/o Murray Cook, Agent for Metals Reserve Corporation, 155 East 44th Street, New York, N. Y. Such report may be made in the form of either the original Circularization List with Physical deletion of items withdrawn or disposed of under § 83.762, or the original Circularization List with a memorandum of deletions, or a new list including only items not withdrawn or disposed of under § 83.762.

(2) Part 1 and 4 property reported under this (b) may be (i) disposed of in accordance with the provisions of section II of this Procurement Regulation No. 7, or (ii) sold to any private purchaser, or (iii) delivered to Procurement Division, Treasury Department, upon request of that Division, or (iv) withdrawn, prior to disposal, for an immediate or definitely foreseeable use within the technical service concerned; provided that after the reporting of such property and prior to the expiration of the second calendar month following the month in which such property is reported, such disposititon or withdrawal will be subject to the specific authorization of War Production Board. Items sold under (ii) or delivered under (iii) of this subparagraph (2) will be deemed to be surplus for the purpose of such sale or delivery.

(c) Disposition of Part 3 property and Part X property upon termination of circularization period. Upon the termination of the circularization period, Part 3 and Part X property may be withdrawn or disposed of in the manner provided in paragraph (b) subparagraph (2) of this section, except that such withdrawal or disposition will not require the specific authorization of War Production Board prescribed by paragraph (b) subparagraph (2) of this section.

(d) Disposition of slow-moving items. Excess industrial property which has been circularized under these §§ 83.760 to 83.781 and has not been withdrawn or disposed of within a reasonable time (to be fixed by the technical service concerned, with due regard for the nature of the property) after (1) the expiration of the second calendar month after the month of reporting under paragraph (c) subparagraph (2) of this section, in the case of Part 1 and Part 4 property, (2) the clearance of items by Procurement Division, Treasury Department, in the case of Part 2 property, (3) the termination of the circularization period, in the case of Part 3 and Part X property, will be turned over to a salvage officer in the manner provided for nonrepairable property in § 83.740 (a).

§ 83.764 Sales. Sales of industrial property under these § § 83.760 to 83.781 will be made by negotiation under regulations prescribed by the responsible technical service and which will assure that the negotiating officer will obtain such degree of competititon, by inquiry or otherwise, as is practicable in the circumstances, and consistent with economy, efficiency and the expeditious completion of the proposed sale, and that the negotiating officer will make every effort to effect the sale in such manner and for such further uses as will most effectively facilitate the prosecution of the war.

§ 83.765 Deviation from regulations in exceptional cases. When adherence to the regulations prescribed in these §§ 83.760 to 83.781 would impede the expeditious return of unneeded industrial property to use in the war effort, the Director, Production Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, is authorized to permit deviation therefrom with respect to the disposition of classes or particular items of industrial property. Applications under these §§ 83.760 to 83.781 will include the following:

(a) A description of the class of items, or in the case of particular items, a reference to the list in which the items have been listed, or a description of the items in accordance with § 83.761 (b) (1) (vi) if they have not been listed.

(b) A statement of the circumstances indicating the desirability of deviation from the procedures established in §§ 83.760 to 83.781. Bulletins will be issued from time to time which will set forth classes of property in respect of which deviation will be permitted.

§ 83.766 Industrial property peculiar to Army Air Forces. These §§ 83.760 to 83.781 do not apply to industrial property to aircraft production to the extent that any of the provisions hereof may be inconsistent with procedures established for the redistribution of such property by or under the direction of the Aircraft Resources Control Office of the Aircraft Production Board.

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration

PART 2—REGULATIONS FOR THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG AND COSMETIC ACT

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

By virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act [sec. 701 (a); 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371 (a)], the following regulations are hereby promulgated:

The following new regulation is added to the regulations for the enforcement of such Act (21 C. F. R. Part 2):

§ 2.13 Conformity to definitions and standards of identity. In the following conditions, among others, a food does not conform to the definition and standard of identity therefor:

(a) If it contains an ingredient for which no provision is made in such definition and standard;

(b) If it fails to contain any one or more ingredients required by such definition and standard;

(c) If the quantity of any ingredient or component fails to conform to the limitation, if any, prescribed therefor by such definition and standard.

PART 10—DEFINITIONS AND STANDARDS FOR FOODS

Section 10.0 of the regulations under such Act, entitled "General Regulation" (21 C.F.R. 10.0, Supp. 1939), is amended to read as follows:

§ 10.0 General regulations. (a) The definitions and interpretations of terms contained in section 201 of the Act shall be applicable also to such terms when used in regulations promulgated under the Act.

(b) If a regulation prescribing a definition and standard of identity for a food has been promulgated under section 401 of the Act and the name therein specified for the food is used in any other regulation under section 401 or any other provision of the Act, such name means the food which conforms to such definition and standard, except as otherwise specifically provided in such other regulation.

(c) No provision of any regulation prescribing a definition and standard of identity or standard of quality or fill of container under section 401 of the Act shall be construed as affecting the application of any provision of the Act or regulations thereunder. For example, all regulations under section 401 contemplate that the food and all articles used as components or ingredients thereof shall be clean, sound and fit for food; a provision in such regulations for the use of coloring or flavoring does not authorize such use under circumstances or in a manner whereby damage or inferiority is concealed or whereby the food is made to appear better or of greater value than it is.

TITLE 30—MINERAL RESOURCES

Chapter III—Bituminous Coal Division

[Docket No. A-2010]

PART 330—MINIMUM PRICE SCHEDULE, DISTRICT NO. 10

ORDER CORRECTING ORDER GRANTING RELIEF

Order correcting order granting temporary relief and conditionally providing for final relief in the matter of the petition of District Board No. 10 for the establishment of price classifications and minimum prices for Mine Index No. 1629.

An original petition, pursuant to section 4 II (d) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, was filed with this Division by District Board No. 10, requesting, among other matters, the establishment both temporary and permanent, of price classifications and minimum prices for the coals in Size Group 29 of New Coal Co. Mine, Mine Index No. 1629, of New Coal Company, in District No. 10, for truck shipments.

Supplement T attached to and made a part of the Order Granting Temporary Relief and Conditionally Providing For Final Relief issued in the above-entitled matter on June 8, 1943, 8 F.R. 8528, inadvertently established a minimum price for the said coals in Size Group 34 rather than in Size Group 29 as requested in the original petition. It appears, therefore, that the said Supplement T should be corrected accordingly.

Now, therefore, It is ordered, That Supplement T, § 330.25 (General prices in cents per net ton for shipment into all market areas), attached to and made a part of the order granting temporary relief and conditionally providing for final relief, issued on June 8, 1943, 8 F.R. 8528, in the above-entitled matter, be, and it hereby is, amended by deleting therefrom the designation "Size Group 34" and substituting in lieu thereof the designation "Size Group 29."

Dated: July 15, 1943.

By virtue of the provisions of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 (54 Stat. 885, 50 U.S.C., Sup. 301–318, inclusive); E.O. 8545, 5 F.R. 3779, E.O. 9279, 7 F.R. 10177, and the authority vested in me by the Chairman of the War Manpower Commission in Administrative Order No. 26, 7 F.R. 10512, Selective Service Regulations, Second Edition, are hereby amended in the following respect:

1. Amend § 623.41 to read as follows:

When Local Board Physical Examination Not Required

§ 623.41 Local board physical examination not required in certain cases. (a) The physical examination of registrants by an examining physician shall not be required when:

(1) Under the provisions of § 623.35, the Director of Selective Service or the State Director of Selective Service waives such examination; or

(2) The examining physician is disqualified to make such examination under the provisions of § 603.63; or

(3) The registrant is a delinquent; or

(4) The registrant is outside an area where local boards are organized; or

(5) The registrant is outside the area of his local board and the local board determines that the registrant is so far from his local board as to make his return for such examination a hardship; or

(b) When physical examination by an examining physician is not required under the provisions of this section, the registrant affected shall be classified in the manner provided in paragraph (f) of § 623.51.

2. Amend the regulations by deleting § 623.42 in its entirety.

3. Amend paragraph (f) of § 623.51 to read as follows:

§ 623.51 Procedure for classification after physical examination. * * *

(f) If the physical examination of the registrant by an examining physician has been waived or is not required, the classification of the registrant shall be completed in the manner set forth in this section with the exception that the local board shall make its determination without the assistance of a report of the examining physician and shall not consider whether the registrant has a physical or mental defect which would require that he be classified in Class IV–F. Such registrant shall, therefore, be classified in either Class I–A, Class I–A–O, or Class IV–E. The classification thus made by the local board shall have the same effect as a classification made following physical examination by an examining physician. PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Amdt. 1 to Suspension Order S–343]

CUTTING ROOM APPLIANCES CORPORATION

After a review of the case by the Chief Compliance Commissioner, it has been determined that Suspension Order S–343 should be modified so as to expire at an earlier date than is now specified.

In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that paragraph (d) of § 1010.343 Suspension Order S–343, issued June 18, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

(d) This order shall take effect June 20, 1943, and shall expire on August 20, 1943.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDER

[Suspension Order S–365]

BAER BROTHERS

Abraham Baer and Max Baer are partners, doing business under the firm name of Baer Brothers, and operating a factory in Stamford, Connecticut, which makes such products as paints and varnishes; gold, aluminum and bronze powders and leaf. Their office is located at 738–48 West 37th Street, New York, New York. During the period July 14, 1942 through November 9, 1942, the respondents processed approximately 63,000 pounds of copper scrap without obtaining authorization from the War Production Board, in fact contrary to specific instruction of the War Production Board. This was a violation of Supplementary Order M–9–b, as amended May 9, 1942. During the period June 1, 1942 through July 19, 1942, the respondents sold approximately 972 pounds of bronze powder, in violation of Supplementary Conservation Order M–9–c–3, as amended June 1, 1942. On June 15, 1942 the War Production Board authorized the respondents to sell certain specified bronze powders, pursuant to a request made by the respondents, but during the period July 16, 1942 through October 31, 1942, the respondents sold bronze powders which were not permitted under Supplementary Conservation Order M–9–c–3 and were not included in the said authorization granted on July 15, 1942. Despite the fact that respondents had been directed in the authorization from the War Production Board, dated July 15, 1942, to deliver to each purchaser of bronze powder a copy of the said authorization of July 15, 1942, which contained certain instructions to guide the purchasers, nevertheless, respondents failed to supply such purchasers with copies of the said letter of authorization.

These violations by the respondents, who had been in this business for over half a century, were wilful. They not only involved critical metal, but were performed, in some instances, contrary to specific and clear instructions from the War Production Board. Critical material has been diverted by the respondents from uses authorized by the War Production Board and their acts have hampered and impeded the war effort of the United States. In view of the foregoing; It is hereby ordered, That:

§ 1010.365 Suspension Order S–365. (a) Deliveries of material to Abraham Baer and to Max Baer, doing business as Baer Brothers, or otherwise, their or its successors or assigns, shall not be accorded priority over deliveries under any other contract or order and no preference ratings shall be assigned, applied or extended to such deliveries by means of preference rating certificates, preference rating orders, general preference orders or any other orders or regulations of the War Production Board, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) No allocation or allotment shall be made to Abraham Baer or Max Baer, doing business as Baer Brothers, or otherwise, their or its successors or assigns, of any material or product, the supply or distribution of which is governed by any order of the War Production Board, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Abraham Baer or Max Baer, doing business as Baer Brothers or otherwise, from any restriction, prohibition, or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, except in so far as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(d) This order shall take effect on the 17th day of July, 1943 and shall expire on the 17th day of November, 1943.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

ZYNDA BREWING COMPANY

The Zynda Brewing Company, a corporation of Detroit, Michigan, is engaged in the business of manufacturing, bottling and selling malt beverages. During the months of June through November, 1942, the company used in the bottling of such beverages 3704 gross of closures in excess of its quota for those months as established and provided under Conservation Order M–104. During this period the company knew of the provisions of Conservation Order M–104 and knew the extent of its quota as established therein, but knowingly and wilfully exceeded its quota.

The company did further during the period from June to December, 1942 inclusive, purchase and accept excessive deliveries of closures as defined in Order M–104 and by so doing effected an increase in its inventory thereof in the amount of 638 gross over and above 20% of the number used during the calendar year 1941 as provided in said order which also was a knowing and wilful violation thereof.

These violations of Conservation Order M–104 have hampered and impeded the war effort of the United States by diverting scarce materials to uses not authorized by the War Production Board. In view of the foregoing: It is hereby ordered, That:

§ 1010.367 Suspension Order S–367. (a) During the months of July, August and September, 1943, the Zynda Brewing Company, its successors and assigns, shall not use in the bottling of malt beverages more than 50% of the closures which it would otherwise be entitled to use under the provisions of Conservation Order M–104.

(b) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve the Zynda Brewing Company, its successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(c) This order shall take effect on July 17, 1943, and shall expire on September 30, 1943, at which time the restrictions contained in this order shall be of no further effect.

Issued this 16th day of July 1943.

§ 1052.5 Supplementary Limitation Order L–30–d—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Manufacturer" means any person who produces or assembles any article listed on Schedule A or Schedule B attached to this order, or any part for any such article.

(3) "To put into process" means for a person to perform the first manufacturing or assembly operations on material or parts received by him.

(4) "Base period" means the twelve months ending June 30, 1941.

(5) "Joining hardware" means nuts, screws, nails, bolts, clasps, rivets and other similar items of small hardware used for joining or other similar purposes.

(6) "Repair parts" means any part for an article or product which is not produced for or used in a new article or product.

(b) Prohibition of production of articles on Schedule A. No manufacturer shall produce or assemble any of the articles listed on Schedule A or parts (including repair parts) for such articles containing any metal.

(c) Restrictions on production of articles on Schedule B. No manufacturer shall produce or assemble any articles listed on Schedule B or any parts (including repair parts) for such articles containing any metal except in accordance with the provisions of that schedule.

(d) Exceptions. The provisions of paragraphs (b) and (c) shall not apply to:

(e) Provisions concerning distribution. (1) For the purpose of this paragraph (e):

(i) "Special order" means a rated purchase order or contract bearing a statement that the preference ratings were assigned pursuant to Form WPB–547 (formerly PD–1X). It is the policy of the War Production Board to assign such ratings only to take care of emergencies or to fill special needs arising from war conditions.

(ii) "Total quarterly production" means either the total dollar value or the total number of units of each article produced under this order during a calendar quarter. Articles produced or sold on preferred orders shall be disregarded in this calculation.

(2) Of his total quarterly production of any article each manufacturer shall allocate his sales so that 25% are sold on special orders and 75% on other orders. Fifteen days after the end of the quarter any balance of the 25% for which he has no special orders may be sold on other orders. For example, articles produced in the third quarter and held for sale on special orders may be sold on or after October 15th on other orders.

(3) It is hereby declared to be the policy of the War Production Board that each manufacturer shall distribute equitably all articles sold on other than special orders. In line with this policy, each manufacturer should follow his 1942 pattern of distribution, making any adjustments necessary to take care of population and other changes resulting from war conditions. Upon complaint of any person or without such complaint, the War Production Board may investigate any case of supposed failure of any person to distribute his product equitably, and may issue such instructions as are necessary to obtain equitable distribution. Any instructions pursuant to this paragraph to be valid must be in writing.

(4) It is hereby further declared to be the policy of the War Production Board that the following articles produced in accordance with Schedule B shall be sold for use only by commercial or industrial establishments, and not by the general public:

Baking pans—commercial type.
Heavy duty roast pans.

(5) In complying with the provisions of subparagraphs (3) and (4) above, each manufacturer shall fill all rated orders (other than special orders) in accordance with applicable War Production Board Regulations. However, it should be noted that under Priorities Regulation No. 3, as amended, articles produced under this order are not subject to preference ratings assigned by any Regulations or Orders of the War Production Board for maintenance, repair or operating supplies (including CMP Regulation Nos. 5 and 5A).

(f) Applicability of other orders. In so far as any other order heretofore or hereafter issued by the Office of Production Management or the War Production Board limits the use of any material in the production of any articles to a greater extent than the limits imposed by this order, the restrictions in such other order shall govern unless otherwise specified therein.

(g) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(h) Appeals. Any appeal from this order should be made on Form WPB–1477 (formerly PD–500) and should be filed with the field office of the War Production Board for the district in which is located the plant to which the appeal relates.

(i) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control, and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(j) Reports. Each manufacturer shall file with the War Production Board, on or before August 15, 1943, Form WPB–2861 showing the amount of iron and steel by weight put into process by him during the base period in the production of each article in column (2) of Schedule B which he produces or intends to produce after June 30, 1943. This reporting provision has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reporting Act of 1942.

PART 1188—RAILROAD EQUIPMENT

[General Limitation Order L–97, as Amended July 17, 1943]

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of locomotives for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 1188.1 General Limitation Order L–97—(a) Applicability of priorities regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the priorities regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

(2) "Locomotives" means all types of new or used locomotives, including but not limited to steam, electric, diesel, diesel-electric gasoline and gasoline-electric locomotives. This definition does not include underground mine-type locomotives.

(3) "Producer" means any person engaged in the production of new locomotives; or in the repairing, rebuilding, redesigning, or otherwise processing of used locomotives.

(4) "Produce" means to produce new locomotives; or to repair, rebuild, redesign or otherwise process used locomotives for the purpose of sale or resale. This definition does not include the repairing, rebuilding, redesigning or otherwise processing of used locomotives by or for the owner thereof.

(c) Restrictions on production and delivery of locomotives. Irrespective of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase or of any other commitment, no producer shall produce or deliver any locomotives except as authorized pursuant to the provisions of paragraphs (d), (e), and (f) hereof.

(d) Production and delivery schedules. (1) Each producer shall schedule, or reschedule, if necessary, his production and make deliveries of locomotives in accordance with such specific directions as may be issued from time to time by the War Production Board.

(2) The production and delivery schedules established by any specific direction issued pursuant to paragraph (d) (1) above shall be maintained without regard to any preference ratings already assigned or hereafter assigned to particular contracts, commitments, or purchase orders and without regard to production schedules in effect on January 1, 1943, and may be altered only upon specific direction of the War Production Board.

(3) If it becomes impossible for any producer to maintain production and delivery of locomotives in accordance with any such schedule, he shall immediately notify the War Production Board, and, unless otherwise directed by the War Production Board, he shall continue to produce and deliver locomotives in the order set forth in such schedule and shall postpone production and delivery of any such locomotives only to the extent required by the circumstances causing his failure to maintain production and delivery as required by such schedule.

(e) Prohibition of transfer of used locomotives. Except as provided in paragraph (f) hereof, no person shall sell, lease, trade, lend, deliver, ship or transfer any used locomotive, and no person shall accept any such sale, lease, trade, loan, delivery, shipment or transfer of any used locomotive.

(f) Exceptions from prohibition of transfer of used locomotives. Nothing in paragraphs (c), (d) or (e) hereof shall be construed to prevent:

(1) Any sale, lease, trade, loan, delivery, shipment or transfer of any used locomotive which has been specifically authorized by the War Production Board pursuant to an application filed upon Form PD–747; or

(2) Railroads from selling, leasing, trading, loaning, delivering, shipping or transferring used locomotives to other railroads; or

(3) The redelivery (to the owner) of any used locomotive which has been repaired, rebuilt, redesigned or otherwise processed for such owner; or

(4) Any of the following transactions in used locomotives pursuant to established practices:

(i) Customary daily switching operations for which charges are made on either an hourly or a tonnage basis;

(ii) Any delivery, shipment or transfer from one branch, division or section of a single enterprise to another branch, division or section of the same enterprise;

(iii) Leases or loans between persons who are parents or subsidiaries of each other, or who are subsidiaries of the same parent; or

(iv) Leases or loans in cases of emergency: Provided, That each such lease or loan is limited to a period not to exceed thirty days, and that application for confirmation thereof is forwarded to the War Production Board on Form PD–747 by the lessor within 48 hours after delivery of the locomotive.

(5) Any person from transferring title to a locomotive which has been delivered pursuant to the terms of a conditional sale, chattel mortgage sale, bailment lease or similar installment contract entered into prior to January 1, 1943, or from retaking, repossessing or obtaining redelivery of any such locomotive upon default, breach or other contingency under the terms of a conditional sale, chattel mortgage sale, bailment lease or similar installment contract entered into prior to such date.

(g) Restriction on dismantling or scrapping. Except upon specific authorization of the War Production Board, application for which may be filed upon Form PD–747, no person shall dismantle or scrap any locomotive.

(h) Records. All persons affected by this order shall keep and preserve for not less than two years accurate and complete records concerning inventories, production, sale or disposal of locomotives, which records shall be available for audit and inspection by duly authorized representatives of the War Production Board.

(i) Reports. All persons affected by this order shall execute and file with the War Production Board such reports and questionnaires as said Board shall from time to time require.

(j) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(k) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(l) Communications. All communications concerning this order should be addressed to War Production Board, Transportation Equipment Division, Washington, D. C., Ref.: L–97.

Issued this 17th day of July 1943.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

INTERPRETATION 1

As used in paragraph (g) and authorizations issued thereunder.

1. The term "dismantle" means to remove or strip all usable parts from a locomotive for re-use on other locomotives and to reduce the remainder to scrap material;

2. The term "scrap" means to reduce the entire locomotive to scrap material without removing any parts for re-use. (Issued Feb. 15, 1943.)

INTERPRETATION 2

The question has arisen to what extent a production and delivery schedule for a given number of locomotives, prescribed for a producer by the War Production Board pursuant to paragraph (d) (1) of Order L–97, takes precedence over any preference ratings which may be applied or extended to him, either for the locomotives themselves or for parts thereof.

A production and delivery schedule so established is protected by paragraph (d) (2), which provides that it "shall be maintained without regard to any preference ratings already assigned or hereafter assigned . . .". This protection of the schedule under Order L–97 extends not only to locomotives in completed form, but also to any locomotive parts manufactured by the producer which enter into the scheduled locomotives, to the extent that the diversion of such parts to fill rated orders would interfere with fulfillment of the prescribed schedule. (Issued April 12, 1943.)

PART 1261—LABORATORY EQUIPMENT

[Interpretation 1 of General Limitation Order L–144, as Amended]

The following Interpretation is issued to General Limitation Order L–144, as amended:

The word "distributor", wherever it appears in Order L–144 [§ 1261.1] includes only distributors located in the United States, its territories or possessions. The order permits delivery to "distributors" without requiring specific authorization on Form WPB–1414 (formerly PD–620). The purpose of this provision is to eliminate the necessity of double authorizations on the sale of equipment from producer to distributor followed by resale from distributor to user. It was contemplated, however, that the distributors would be reselling either to the Army or Navy or serial-numbered laboratories, or to other persons who had received specific authorization on Form WPB–1414; and therefore the War Production Board would have control over the ultimate disposition of the equipment. In the case of sales to distributors in foreign countries, the War Production Board has no control over sales by the distributor to the ultimate user. For this reason distributors in foreign countries must receive specific authorization on Form WPB–1414, just as in the case of any other foreign purchaser.

Issued this 17th day of July 1943.

(2) "Producer" means any person engaged in the manufacture of files.

(3) "File" means any file or rasp including American Pattern, Swiss pattern and straight and curved-tooth milled files and rasps, but excluding rotary files, finning burs and small burs as defined in Schedule IV of this order, and excluding ampoule scorers, surgical rasps, dental files and veterinarian rasps and files.

(4) "Total quarterly production" means the total number of units of all types and sizes of files manufactured by a producer in any given quarter.

(b) Limitations on manufacture and sale. On and after July 17, 1943, no person shall manufacture or sell any file of size and type other than the sizes and types listed in the appendix hereto attached, subject to the following provisions:

(1) Any producer may apply to the War Production Board for permission to manufacture and sell files for special or precision work which do not conform to the dimensional specifications contained in the attached appendix: Provided, however, That the total quantity of such special files to be manufactured by such producer during any quarter shall not exceed six per cent of such producer's average total quarterly production for the year 1942.

(2) The limitations contained in this paragraph (b) shall not be deemed to prohibit the completion and sale of any files for which the producer has material on hand on July 17, 1943, nor to prohibit the sale of any files from inventories on hand as of July 17, 1943.

(c) Tolerance permitted for file dimensions. The following tolerances are permitted in the width and thickness dimensions for finished files shown in the attached appendix:

(1) American pattern files and rasps. (i) Warding files plus or minus 1/32" in both width and thickness.

(ii) Other American pattern files up to and including 6" in length plus or minus 1/16" in width and 1/32" in thickness.

(iii) Other American pattern files over 6" in length—plus or minus 1/16" in both width and thickness.

(ii) Other Swiss pattern files up to and including 6" in length—plus or minus 1/32" in width and 1/64" in thickness.

(iii) Other Swiss pattern files over 6" in length—plus or minus 1/32" in both width and thickness.

(d) Limitation on steel sizes. On and after July 17, 1943, no producer shall purchase any steel for incorporation into a type and size of file with respect to which the attached appendix indicates that a specified steel size is to be used in such manufacture, other than the size of steel permitted in the appendix for such type and size of file, subject to standard mill tolerances.

(e) Necessity for preference ratings. (1) No producer shall sell or deliver any metal cutting file except in accordance with the provisions of General Preference Order E–6, as amended from time to time.

(2) No producer shall sell or deliver any file other than a metal cutting file pursuant to any purchase order placed prior to July 17, 1943 unless such order bears a preference rating of A–9 or higher, or pursuant to any purchase order placed subsequent to July 17, 1943 unless such order bears a preference rating of AA–5 or higher, or except pursuant to specific permission of the War Production Board.

Issued this 17th of July 1943.

PART 3175—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

[CMP Reg. 4, as Amended July 17, 1943]

SALES OF CONTROLLED MATERIALS BY WAREHOUSES AND DISTRIBUTORS

§ 3175.4 CMP Regulation 4—(a) Purpose and scope. This regulation describes the procedure to be followed by warehouses and distributors in delivering controlled materials from stock (including consigned stock) except that in the case of steel, deliveries from one distributor to another are governed by Orders M-21-b-1 and M-21-b-2.

Steel

(b) Definitions with respect to steel. The following definitions shall apply for the purpose of this regulation and for the purpose of any other CMP regulation unless otherwise indicated:

(1) "Steel" means carbon steel, alloy steel, and wrought iron, in the forms and shapes listed in Schedule I of CMP Regulation No. 1.

(2) "Distributor" means any person (including a warehouse, jobber, dealer or retailer) who is engaged in the business of receiving steel for sale or resale in the form received or after performing such operations as cutting to length, shearing to size, torch cutting or burning to shape, sorting and grading, pipe threading, or corrugating or otherwise forming sheets for roofing and siding; but a person who, in connection with any sale, bends, punches or performs any fabricating operation designed to prepare steel for final use or assembly shall not be deemed a distributor with respect to such sale.

(c) Rejection of orders. (1) A distributor must reject all orders except those which he is required or permitted to fill under paragraph (d).

(2) A distributor must reject any order calling for delivery to any one person, at any one destination, at any one time or at the convenience of the distributor, of 56,000 pounds or more of rails or of 40,000 pounds or more of all other steel products except:

(i) Where acceptance of the order is specifically authorized by the War Production Board at the request of the buyer or seller, or

(ii) Where the order covers only oil country tubing, oil country casing, or oil country drill pipe, or

(iii) Where the order includes 10 or more individual items and each item differs from each other item in specified quality or cross section and no item weighs more than 8,000 pounds.

No person shall subdivide an order for the purpose of avoiding any of the requirements of this paragraph (c) (2).

(3) A distributor must not deliver any steel on an authorized controlled material order bearing a specific allotment number except in the period for which the allotment was made or within 15 days before or 30 days after such period. For example, a distributor receiving an order bearing the allotment number N-1-4Q43 may fill the order at any time during the period September 15, 1943, through January 31, 1944. Orders bearing symbols such as MRO which do not have to bear any quarterly identification are not subject to this provision.

(4) A distributor may reject any order for steel on which the customer does not specify immediate delivery. Even if he elects to accept an authorized controlled material order calling for future delivery, he is not allowed to set aside the steel covered by such order. He must deliver it on any order calling for immediate delivery that he is required to fill under paragraphs (d) (1), (2) or (3), and may deliver it on any order calling for immediate delivery that he is permitted to fill under paragraph (d) (4).

(5) A distributor may reject any order calling for the delivery of steel which he does not have in stock or which he does not know is in transit to his stock.

(6) A distributor may reject all or any part of an order which the War Production Board specifically authorizes him to reject. If a delivery would deplete his stock to a point where his function in the distribution of steel would be seriously impaired, he may apply to the War Production Board for authority to reject the order and may delay filling the order until his application is acted upon.

(d) Orders which must be filled. A distributor must fill the following kinds of orders unless he is required or permitted to reject them under paragraph (c):

(1) A distributor must fill all authorized controlled material orders.

(2) A distributor must fill orders for delivery to farmers as required by Priorities Regulation No. 19.

(3) A distributor must fill orders bearing preference ratings of AAA.

The undersigned hereby certifies to the distributor with whom this order is placed and to the War Production Board, subject to the criminal penalties provided in Section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, that receipt of the steel covered by this order, together with all other steel received by, or on order for delivery to, the undersigned, from all sources, during the same quarter, will not exceed the limits specified in paragraph (d) (4) of CMP Regulation No. 4.

A distributor shall be entitled to rely on such certificate unless he knows or has reason to believe it to be false.

The purpose of this paragraph (d) (4) (ii) is to permit persons using small quantities of steel to obtain their requirements without the use of allotments; it is not to allow users of large quantities to obtain steel in addition to their purchases on authorized controlled material orders. Therefore, a person who buys any steel under this paragraph (d) (4) (ii) cannot receive steel in any quarter in excess of the amounts shown in the above table, whether the steel comes from producers, distributors, or other sources and whether it is received on authorized controlled material orders or otherwise.

Copper

(e) Definitions with respect to copper. The following definitions shall apply for the purpose of this regulation and for the purpose of any other CMP regulation unless otherwise indicated:

(1) "Brass mill product" means sheet, wire, rod or tube made from copper or copper base alloy.

(2) "Wire mill product" means bare or insulated wire or cable for electrical conduction made from copper or copper base alloy.

(3) "Warehouse" means any industrial supplier, mill supplier, plumbing supply house, electrical wholesaler or other person engaged in the business of distributing brass mill products or wire mill products to industry or trade otherwise than as a controlled materials producer and includes warehouses owned by mills.

(4) "Item of brass mill product" means sheet, wire, rod or tube made from copper or copper base alloy, which is different from all other items of that form, by reason of one or more differences of its specifications, such as size, shape, gauge, thickness or alloy. Differences in temper or length do not differentiate items.

(5) "Item of wire mill product" means any wire or cable made from copper or copper base alloy for electrical conduction which is different from all other items of that form by reason of one or more differences of its specifications, such as size, alloy or insulation. Differences in temper or length do not differentiate items.

(6) "Warehouse stock" means brass mill or wire mill products physically located in warehouse inventories, whether owned or held on consignment by the warehouse.

(f) Delivery of brass mill or wire mill products—(1) Delivery from warehouse stock. (i) A warehouse shall fill authorized controlled material orders for brass mill or wire mill products, in accordance with this regulation, if it can fill the orders from its stock. In addition, until October 1, 1943, a warehouse shall fill from its stock orders for brass mill or wire mill products bearing preference ratings of AA-5 or higher, in accordance with this regulation, except that the total quantity of brass mill and wire mill products shipped on rated orders during the period commencing July 1, 1943, and ending September 30, 1943, must not exceed 2 percent of the total quantity of brass mill or wire mill products, respectively, shipped by the warehouse during the period commencing April 1, 1943, and ending June 30, 1943. In no case, however, may a warehouse fill an order for brass mill or wire mill products unless the purchaser has the right to accept delivery under paragraphs (f) (1) (ii) and (f) (1) (iii), which limit the amount of brass mill and wire mill products which a purchaser may get from a warehouse. A warehouse is entitled to rely on a certificate furnished by any of its customers under paragraph (f) (1) (iv) unless it knows or has reason to believe it to be false. A warehouse shall not fill any order for brass mill or wire mill products except those which it is required to fill by this paragraph (f) (1) (i).

(ii) No person shall order from warehouse stocks any item of brass mill product for delivery to any one destination, on any one day, which aggregates more than 500 pounds gross weight, or for delivery during any one calendar month, which aggregates more than 2,000 pounds gross weight, and no person shall accept any such delivery. However, the 500 pound limitation does not apply to a single straight length of rod, tube, pipe, sheet, or strip and neither the 500 pound nor the 2,000 pound limitation applies to condenser tubes.

(iii) No person shall order from warehouse stock any item of wire mill product for delivery to any one destination, during any one calendar month, which aggregates more than 3,000 pounds copper content and no person shall accept any such delivery.

(iv) No person shall place an order under this paragraph and no warehouse shall accept an order unless it is accompanied by, or endorsed with, a certificate in the form provided in CMP Regulation No. 7, signed manually or as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 7.

(2) Other deliveries. A warehouse receiving an authorized controlled material order from a customer and wishing to arrange for direct shipment to such customer by the producer or other supplier thereof, shall, in placing such order, specify direct delivery and shall show on its own purchase order the name of the customer and the allotment number or symbol appearing on the customer's order. A purchase order specifying direct delivery and giving such information shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order. A warehouse placing such an order shall not consider the delivery as made from its stock, and it may not request replacement.

(3) Delivery after September 30, 1943. No warehouse shall make a delivery after September 30, 1943, of any brass mill or wire mill product except to fill an authorized controlled material order.

Aluminum

(g) Definitions with respect to aluminum. The following definitions shall apply for the purpose of this regulation and for the purpose of any other CMP Regulation unless otherwise indicated:

(1) "Aluminum" means aluminum in any of the forms and shapes constituting controlled material as defined in CMP Regulation No. 1.

(2) "Distributor" means any person who is specifically authorized by the War Production Board to engage in the business of receiving aluminum for sale or resale.

(h) Deliveries of aluminum by distributors on authorized controlled material orders. (1) Each distributor shall, to the extent of his available stocks, fill authorized controlled material orders, except that a distributor shall reject any authorized controlled material order calling for delivery at any one time, to any one person, at any one destination, of more than 500 pounds of any gage, alloy and size of aluminum sheet, or more than 300 pounds of any alloy, shape and size of aluminum wire, rod or bar, or more than 200 pounds of any alloy, size and shape of aluminum tubing, extrusions or structural shapes: Provided, however, That any distributor shall be entitled to fill an authorized controlled material order calling for delivery at any one time, to any one person, at any one destination, of 2,000 pounds or less of any gage, alloy and size of aluminum sheet, 1,000 pounds or less of any gage, alloy and size of aluminum wire, rod or bar, or 500 pounds or less of any alloy, size and shape of aluminum tubing, extrusions or structural shapes, if such distributor shall first have requested the mill supplying him to fill such order and such mill shall have advised such distributor to fill the same from his stock. Such request and advice may be made verbally but shall be confirmed in writing.

(2) No distributor shall deliver any aluminum except to fill an authorized controlled material order or pursuant to a specific direction of the War Production Board.

General Provisions Applicable to Steel, Brass Mill Products, Wire Mill Products and Aluminum

(i) Directions to distributors and warehouses. Each distributor and warehouse shall comply with such directions as may be issued from time to time by the War Production Board with respect to making or withholding deliveries of steel, brass mill products, wire mill products or aluminum, and with respect to the earmarking of stocks of such material.

(j) Placement of authorized controlled material orders. A delivery order for steel, brass mill products, wire mill products or aluminum, shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order, if but only if,

(1) It is specifically designated as an authorized controlled material order by any regulation or order of the War Production Board; or

(2) It is endorsed with the appropriate allotment number as required by paragraph (s) (3) of CMP Regulation No. 1.

(k) Verbal delivery orders. Any delivery order requiring shipment within seven days may be placed verbally or by telephone by stating to the distributor or warehouse the substance of the information required by this regulation, Provided, That the person placing the order furnishes to the distributor or warehouse, within seven days after placing the same, written confirmation of the order complying with the requirements of this regulation. In case of failure to receive written confirmation within seven days, the distributor or warehouse shall not accept any other order from, or deliver any additional material of any kind to, the purchaser until such written confirmation is furnished. On or before the 15th day of each month any distributor or warehouse who has received in the prior month a delivery order by telephone, shall notify the appropriate Regional Compliance Office of the War Production Board, of any case in which a purchaser has failed to furnish to him the written confirmation when due.

(l) Special provisions with respect to AAA orders. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this regulation, an authorized controlled material order placed with a distributor or warehouse bearing a rating of AAA shall be filled in preference to any other authorized controlled material orders regardless of time of receipt.

(m) Communications. All communications concerning this regulation should be addressed to the War Production Board, Washington, D. C., Ref: CMP Regulation No. 4 (specify whether steel, copper or aluminum).

(d) Simplification and standardization. (1) On and after June 30, 1943, no manufacturer of dairy, egg, or poultry processing machinery or equipment shall fabricate or assemble any machinery or equipment of the kinds listed in Schedule C except in the size, style, or model therein prescribed.

(2) On and after June 30, 1943, no manufacturer of canning machinery or equipment shall fabricate or assemble any type or kind of machinery or equipment in more than one model for any one operation on any food or food product; except that a second model may be fabricated and assembled if it will provide at least 50% greater food processing capacity than that of the smaller model produced by the same manufacturer and performing the same operation on the same food or food product. In any event no manufacturer shall fabricate or assemble more than two models of any type or kind of machine. The provisions of this subparagraph shall not be construed to limit or restrict the number of sizes in any model which may be produced.

(3) Prior to June 30, 1943, each manufacturer of canning machinery and equipment shall file with the War Production Board on Form WPB–1902, formerly PD–754, a list of the models, and of the sizes thereof, which he proposes to manufacture in accordance with the restrictions of subparagraph (d) (2); and thereafter, unless otherwise directed by the War Production Board such manufacturer shall be permitted to produce only the models so reported.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision of this paragraph (d) no manufacturer shall be prohibited from completing any machine or piece of equipment for which parts weighing in the aggregate not less than 75% of the weight of the finished machine were fabricated prior to June 5, 1943, to the extent that they could not be used either as maintenance or repair parts for other kinds of food processing machinery or in the assembly of food processing machinery in compliance with the restrictions of this paragraph (d).

(e) Conservation of critical materials. On and after June 30, 1943, no manufacturer shall fabricate or assemble any food processing machinery or equipment of the kinds listed in Schedule D hereto otherwise than in accordance with the restrictions on the use of materials contained in such schedule: Provided, however, That the provisions of this paragraph shall not prohibit the assembly of any such machinery or equipment from parts fabricated prior to June 5, 1943.

(f) Exemptions. (1) The limitations and restrictions of subparagraph (b) (1) shall not apply to:

(i) Orders from or deliveries to a manufacturer or dealer to enable him to fill approved orders which he has actually received, or to replace machinery delivered by him to fill approved orders;

(ii) The seizure or transfer of food processing machinery upon distraint or levy, or upon default in the terms of a conditional sales agreement, chattel mortgage, pledge, or other security agreement;

(iii) The transfer of food processing machinery at judicial or sheriff's auction or sale, tax sale, or other similar transaction conducted by a judicial or other legal officer;

(iv) The transfer of food processing machinery by will or intestacy, or by operation of law to a trustee, receiver, or assignee for the benefit of creditors, in bankruptcy, insolvency, or receivership, proceedings or pursuant to any assignment for the benefit of creditors;

(v) The transfer of food processing machinery as part of a merger, consolidation, sale and purchase of assets, sale and purchase of stock, or lease of plant, involving all or substantially all the assets of a business, where no liquidation or dismemberment of assets is involved or contemplated;

(vi) The transfer of food processing machinery within a plant or from one plant or branch to another under common control, but not the transfer from a plant manufacturing the machinery to a plant which will use it;

(vii) The transfer of food processing machinery as a trade-in for other food processing machinery where the latter is delivered pursuant to an approved order;

(viii) The transfer of food processing machinery to be scrapped for its material content;

(ix) The transfer of any interest in a written instrument evidencing a lien upon or claim against food processing machinery: Provided however, That nothing in this subdivision (ix) shall be construed to permit the physical delivery of the food processing machinery involved;

(x) The return of any leased food processing machinery by the lessee to the lessor upon the expiration, termination or cancellation of the lease; or to

(xi) An order for or delivery of food processing machinery to be used directly by the Army, or Navy, Maritime Commission, or War Shipping Administration.

(2) The limitations and restrictions of paragraphs (c) and (d) shall not apply prior to September 3, 1943, to any order for or delivery of food processing machinery to be used directly by the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration.

(g) Production quotas. (1) The War Production Board may at any time, by amendment to this order, adopt schedules prescribing the number of units of food processing machinery of any kind which may be fabricated and assembled by any manufacturer. On and after the date of issuance of any such schedules (or such other date as shall be specified in the schedule), no manufacturer shall fabricate or assemble more units of any kind of food processing machinery than the number thereof specified in such schedule.

(2) Unless and until the War Production Board shall otherwise provide by schedules adopted in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (g) (1) above:

(i) During the period from January 1, 1943 to September 30, 1943, no manufacturer shall fabricate or assemble any kind of food processing machinery in excess of the number of units of such kind fabricated and assembled by him during the similar period in 1942; except that in any case where the restrictions of this subparagraph prevent a manufacturer from filling an order which he has heretofore received rated AA–3 or higher he may fabricate and assemble the necessary number of additional units to enable him to fill such order.

(ii) During the fiscal year beginning October 1, 1943 and ending September 30, 1944, no manufacturer shall fabricate or assemble any kind of food processing machinery in excess of 50% of the annual average number of units of such kind of machinery which he fabricated and assembled during the calendar years 1939, 1940, and 1941.

(3) The War Production Board may at any time prescribe a production schedule for any manufacturer in respect to any kinds or styles of food processing machinery, regulating the time in which such items shall be produced and the number of units of a model to be produced in any one size. From and after the receipt of any such schedule, the manufacturer may carry on production only in accordance with the schedule. The provisions of this subparagraph shall not be construed to affect the other provisions of this order regulating the aggregate number and kinds of machines or pieces of equipment which may be produced by any manufacturer.

(h) Miscellaneous provisions.—(1) Reports. On or before the 20th day of June and of each succeeding calendar month, each manufacturer shall file a report on Form WPB–2721.

(2) Other limitation orders. Nothing in this order shall be construed to permit any person to sell, deliver, or otherwise transfer, or any manufacturer to purchase, receive delivery of or otherwise acquire any raw materials, semi-processed parts, or finished products in contravention of the terms of any L or M order, or amendments or supplements thereto, or other regulation of the War Production Board effective at the date of any such sale, delivery, or other transfer. Where the limitations imposed by any other L or M order are applicable to the subject matter of this order, the most restrictive limitation shall apply, unless otherwise specifically provided herein.

(3) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or who willfully furnishes false information to the War Production Board in connection with this order is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance by the War Production Board.

(4) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(5) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, General Industrial Equipment Division, Washington, D. C. Ref.: L–292.

Issued this 17th day of July 1943.

(4) "Blackplate" means any sheet steel 29-gauge or lighter, other than tinplate or terneplate. The term includes "blackplate rejects" and "electrolytic waste-waste", and all other forms of blackplate except waste.

(5) "Waste" means scrap tinplate, terneplate, and blackplate, produced in the ordinary course of manufacturing cans.

(6) "Pack", unless particularly specified, means the quantity, by area measurement of tinplate, terneplate, and blackplate required for the manufacture of all sized cans used by a person for packing a particular product during the base period specified.

(b) Restrictions upon manufacture, sale, and delivery of cans. (1) No person shall sell or deliver any can except under a purchase order or contract validated by a delivery to such person of a purchaser's certificate, manually signed by the purchaser or an authorized official of the purchaser, in substantially the form attached hereto as Exhibit A. No person shall manufacture, sell, or deliver any can which he knows or has reason to believe will be used in violation of any provision of this order.

(2) No person shall manufacture any cans smaller than five gallons with ears, bails, or handles, or any metal keys for opening cans, except that the restrictions of this paragraph (b) (2) shall not apply to cans or keys to be delivered to (1) the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration of the United States (including persons operating vessels for such Commission or Administration for use thereon), pursuant to a letter of intent approved by or a purchase order or contract negotiated for or with any of these agencies, or (2) to other persons pursuant to authorization by the Maritime Commission under Form PD-300.

(c) Restrictions upon purchase, acceptance of delivery, and use of cans. (1) No person shall, during the calendar year 1943 (or the seasonal year 1942–1943, when specified), purchase, accept delivery of, or use for packing a product any can except to the extent permitted in Schedules I, II, and III, attached to this order: Provided, however, That a jobber or retail store may obtain and sell cans in conformity with the provisions of this order.

(2) The schedules attached to this order list the only products permitted to be packed in cans, packing quotas, sizes of cans, and the kinds of plate permitted for the manufacture of cans.

The calendar year basis shall obtain except for products for which a seasonal year is specified. A seasonal year for a particular product represents a twelve months' period beginning in one calendar year and ending in the next.

The sizes of the can specified for a particular product indicate the only sized cans which may be used for packing that product, except that such product may, subject to all other restrictions imposed by this order, be packed in cans larger than the largest size specified therefor.

When tinplate is specified for the manufacture of cans for packing a particular product, the coating indicated represents the maximum weight of tin coating per single base box. The term "0.50 tinplate" or "0.75 tinplate" wherever used in this order, includes "menders" arising in the production of such tinplate which have been hot dipped with a maximum tin coating of 1.25 pounds per base box. When SCMT is specified, Special Coated Manufacturers' Terneplate is referred to. When blackplate is specified, the specification includes chemically treated blackplate (CTB).

(3) No product packed in a can shall be repacked for sale in a can or any other container by the same or a different person in the same or a different form except to the extent specifically permitted in the schedules attached to this order or pursuant to Conservation Order M-104.

(4) No dried or frozen fruit or vegetable shall be packed in a can, except to the extent specifically permitted in the schedules attached to this order.

(d) Exceptions. (1) The restrictions imposed by this order shall not apply to the purchase, acceptance of delivery, or use of the following cans:

(i) Cans (other than for samples distributed for the purpose of advertising or promoting the sale of a product), for packing any product which is not to be sold in the same or different form.

(ii) Fiber or paper bodied cans with ends made of waste for packing the following products: any food product for human consumption, antiseptic or medicinal powders, dental plastics, dentifrice powders, insect and rodent poisons, seed disinfectants and seed inoculants, caulking compound, cements, and photographic chemicals.

(iii) Open-top sanitary tinplate cans for packing any products listed in Schedules I and II attached to this order: Provided, (a) The packer has packed and set aside the full amount of any such product which he is required to set aside pursuant to Food Distribution Order No. 22 and orders supplementary thereto; (b) the cans are not of any of the specific sizes listed for open-top sanitary cans in Schedules I or II; and (c) the cans either were manufactured on or before December 9, 1942, or were or are manufactured from parts lithographed, cut to individual size, or partially assembled on or before December 9, 1942, and/or from parts produced from tinplate which, on or before December 9, 1942, was so processed or was of such size, gauge or grade that it is not suitable for the manufacture of tinplate cans of the types and sizes permitted by this order (exclusive of cans for which "frozen tinplate" is specified).

(iv) Cans (other than open-top sanitary tinplate cans) for packing, subject to quota restrictions, any product listed in Schedules I, II, and III or, if the cans are not suitable for any such product, for packing any product not so listed: Provided, That, in either event, the cans (a) are not of the specific sizes listed, in the schedules attached to this order, for the products for which the cans were originally designed and (b) either were completely manufactured on or before December 9, 1942, or were or are manufactured from parts cut to individual size for such cans on or before December 9, 1942.

(v) Cans for packing any products not listed in Schedules I and II attached to this order when such cans are to be delivered either (a) packed or empty to the Army, Navy Marine Corps, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration of the United States (including persons operating vessels for such commission or Administration for use thereon), pursuant to a letter of intent approved by or a purchase order or contract negotiated for or with any of these agencies, or (b) to other persons pursuant to authorization by the Maritime Commission under Form PD-300.

(2) [Revoked April 27, 1943]

(3) No certificate shall be required for the sale or delivery of cans to any purchaser who has already filed a certificate with his seller under Conservation Order M-81.

(2) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of appeal.

(3) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: Containers Division, War Production Board, Washington, D. C. Ref.: M-81.

Section 35A of the U. S. Criminal Code (18 U. S. C. 80) makes it a criminal offense to make a false statement or representation to any department or agency of the United States as to any matter within its jurisdiction.

SCHEDULE I—FOOD CANS

NOTE: Paragraph (2), items 1 through 10, 13, 21, 22, 29, 34, 35, 57, 65, and note following item 42 amended; columns (6) and (7), and items 10a, 29a, 33a, 34a added; note following item 66, and item 67 revoked July 17, 1943.

(1) Packing quotas specified in this Schedule I indicate total packs of the respective products listed, for all purposes including cans required by any order of the War Production Board, the Department of Agriculture, or the Director of Food Distribution, to be set aside for purchase by a government agency. The designation FDO-22 indicates that cans may be used for packing only the quantity of product required to be set aside by Food Distribution Order No. 22 and orders supplementary thereto, as same may be amended from time to time. Such quantity is hereinafter sometimes referred to as "set aside quotas."

(2) (a) Until September 30, 1943, all persons manufacturing cans shall, to the greatest extent available, use 0.50 tinplate wherever the single asterisk appears in Columns (4) or (5), and chemically treated blackplate wherever the double asterisk appears. All persons using cans marked with the asterisk are hereby required to accept from the manufacturer making delivery, to the greatest extent available, cans made as specified of 0.50 tinplate wherever the single asterisk appears, and cans made as specified of chemically treated blackplate wherever the double asterisk appears. Wherever the double asterisk appears, to the extent that chemically treated blackplate is not available, 0.50 tinplate is to be used by manufacturers, and cans made therefrom accepted by users, to the greatest extent available, in preference to 1.25 tinplate.

On and after September 30, 1943, all persons manufacturing cans and all persons using cans for packing any products listed in this schedule, bearing the single asterisk in Columns (6) or (7), shall use 0.50 tinplate to the extent of not less than 50 percent of the pack of each product packed after that date.

(b) On and after September 30, 1943, no person shall manufacture and no person shall use, for packing any products listed in this schedule, any cans made of materials except as specified in Columns (6) and (7). However, the provisions of this paragraph (b) shall not apply to cans which were or are made, from 1.25 tinplate, when the tinplate was either in process at the tin mill, in the inventory of the tin mill for the account of the can manufacturer, or in the inventory of the can manufacturer:

(i) On or before August 15, 1943 and the cans were produced specifically for items bearing either the single or double asterisk in Columns (4) or (5).

(ii) On or before September 30, 1943 and the cans were produced specifically for items which in Columns (6) or (7) bear the single asterisk or specify 0.75 tinplate.

(3) Wherever the triple asterisk appears in Column (3) for any product, every canner who possesses No. 10-size can equipment shall pack at least two-thirds of his entire set-aside quota in No. 10 cans, if the fullest practicable use of that equipment provides sufficient capacity. If such use does not provide sufficient capacity, he shall pack as much of the set-aside quota in No. 10-size cans as such capacity does permit, and shall pack the balance of that quota in the other sizes of cans permitted for the particular product. The provisions of this paragraph (3) shall not in any way affect packing in glass, but only the packing of set-aside quotas in No. 10-size cans in preference to other can sizes.

SCHEDULE II—FOOD CANS

NOTE: Paragraph (2), and items 1, 7, 16 through 27 amended; columns (6) and (7) added July 17, 1943.

(1) Packing quotas specified in this Schedule II indicate permitted packs of the respective products listed, for all purposes except for the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration of the United States (including persons operating vessels for such Commission or Administration for use thereon), or for any agency of the United States purchasing for a foreign country pursuant to the Act of March 11, 1941, entitled "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States" (Lend Lease Act). While restrictions pertaining to can sizes and can materials are applicable to such cans, cans used for packing the respective products listed shall be, in addition to the specified quotas, when delivered either (a) pursuant to a letter of intent approved by, or a contract or purchase order negotiated with or for, any of the foregoing agencies, or (b) to other persons pursuant to authorization by the Maritime Commission under Form PD 300. The word "none" indicates that no cans shall be used for packing the applicable product except for the above-mentioned agencies. When determining a quota for packing a product listed in this Schedule II, cans packed during the base period (1942) for the above-mentioned agencies shall be excluded.

(2) (a) Until September 30, 1943, all persons manufacturing cans shall, to the greatest extent available, use 0.50 tinplate wherever the single asterisk appears in Columns (4) or (5), and chemically treated blackplate wherever the double asterisk appears. All persons using cans marked with the asterisk are hereby required to accept from the manufacturer making delivery, to the greatest extent available, cans made as specified of 0.50 tinplate wherever the single asterisk appears, and cans made as specified of chemically treated blackplate wherever the double asterisk appears. Wherever the double asterisk appears, to the extent that chemically treated blackplate is not available, 0.50 tinplate is to be used by manufacturers, and cans made therefrom accepted by users, to the greatest extent available, in preference to 1.25 tinplate.

On and after September 30, 1943, all persons manufacturing cans and all persons using cans for packing any products listed in this schedule, bearing the single asterisk in Columns (6) or (7), shall use 0.50 tinplate to the extent of not less than 50 percent of the pack of each product packed after that date.

(b) On and after September 30, 1943, no person shall manufacture and no person shall use, for packing any products listed in this schedule, any cans made of materials except as specified in Columns (6) and (7). However, the provisions of this paragraph (b) shall not apply to cans which were or are made, from 1.25 tinplate, when the tinplate was either in process at the tin mill, in the inventory of the tin mill for the account of the can manufacturer, or in the inventory of the can manufacturer:

(i) On or before August 15, 1943 and the cans were produced specifically for items bearing either the single or double asterisk in Columns (4) or (5).

(ii) On or before September 30, 1943 and the cans were produced specifically for items which in Columns (6) or (7) bear the single asterisk or specify 0.75 tinplate.

(6) "User" means any person who acquired 500 or more empty new or used textile bags for use in his business during 1942 or who acquires such amount during any subsequent calendar year.

(7) A person shall be deemed a "commercial emptier" at such times when in any of the three immediately preceding calendar months he acquired in his business and emptied 400 filled textile bags.

(8) "Export" means any shipment from the continental United States (the 48 states and the District of Columbia).

General Restrictions for All Persons

(b) Joint responsibility. No person shall deliver textile bags to any other person if he has reason to believe that the other person is not entitled to accept them under the provisions of this order or that they will be used for any purpose prohibited by this order.

(c) Sampling bag-contents. No person shall sample the contents of any new or used textile bag except by opening the closure or by inserting a probe or trier without damage to the fabric.

(d) Sand bags. No person shall purchase or accept delivery of any new or used textile bag to be used for protection against air raids or other war hazards.

(e) Size-changing. No dealer, user, or commercial emptier shall change the size of any burlap textile bag while it has a commercial use as a bag, with or without mending.

(f) Processing of used bags for sale. No dealer, user, or commercial emptier shall sell or deliver any used textile bag to any person for his own use unless the bag has been processed and repaired and all holes, including trier or probe holes, properly mended or patched. Nothing in this paragraph shall prevent the delivery of any bag for the purpose of repair or delivery to the owner. For the purposes of this provision, "process" means to clean a used textile bag by washing, vacuuming, or any other method sufficient to prepare the bag for further re-use.

(g) Sale of used raw sugar bags. No dealer, user, or commercial emptier shall sell or deliver any textile bag which has been used for packing raw sugar, and which is capable of carrying raw sugar, to any person for any use other than packing raw sugar.

(h) Export of empty bags. Unless specifically authorized by the War Production Board, no person shall export any empty new or used burlap textile bag. The requirement for such authorization is in addition to, and not in place of, any applicable export licensing requirements of the Board of Economic Warfare. Application for authorization for such export shall be made by letter or telegram to the War Production Board stating the pertinent facts, including (1) the destination of the bags, and (2) the source from which the bags have been or are to be acquired. Such applications concerning exports which also require licensing by the Board of Economic Warfare should be submitted through that agency to the War Production Board. The restriction of this paragraph shall not apply to:

(1) Foreign re-users. The export of empty used bags which previously contained any of the following products and which, in accordance with established practice of the industry involved, are being exported in the expectation that they will be re-used by foreign suppliers of the same product for further packing of that product: sugar, asbestos, or any other product designated by the War Production Board because it so impregnates the bag material as to make the bag unsuitable for packing any other commodity without excessive cleaning.

(2) Transshipment. Completing the transshipment of textile bags which are in transit from a point outside the continental United States to another such point and which have been landed in the continental United States (in a free zone or free port or in bond) pending such transshipment.

(3) Exports to Canada. The export of empty new or used burlap textile bags to Canada.

Additional Restrictions for Bag Makers

(i) Overstitching. No bag maker shall overstitch the raw edge or selvage edge of any new textile bag.

(j) Eyelets, grommets. No bag maker shall manufacture any new textile bags with metal eyelets or metal grommets.

(k) Bag sizes for certain commodities—(1) Sizes permitted. No bag maker shall manufacture any new textile bag designed for packing any commodity listed below, except in any size of more than 100 lbs. or in any of the sizes specified below for that commodity:

Bag designed for packing commodity specified	Bag size (net weight capacity unless otherwise specified)
(1)	(2)

Starch (corn)	2–5–10–25–50–100 lbs.
Sugar (refined cane beet)	2–5–10–25–50–100 lbs.

[1] "Flour (milled wheat)" means any flour product produced by milling wheat, including blends of wheat flours and bleached, bromated, enriched, phosphated, and self-rising flours, but excluding durum wheat products (semolina), farina, pancake flour, and cake flour.

(2) Exception for export by bag maker. The size restrictions of subparagraph (k) (1) above shall not apply to the manufacture of bags to be exported, empty, by the bag maker. However, the export-authorization requirement of paragraph (h) above shall apply if the bags are made of burlap.

(3) Exception for export by user. The size restrictions of paragraph (k) (1) above shall not apply to the manufacture of bags ordered by any person for packaging any listed commodity to be exported by him, provided the bag maker receives from such person a written certification as provided for in Exhibit A attached to this order. However, the export-authorization requirement of paragraph (h) above shall apply if the bags are made of burlap.

Additional Restrictions for Commercial Emptiers

(l) Emptying bags. No commercial emptier shall remove the contents of any textile bag except by opening the closure, unless the contents have become so caked or solidified that salvage of the bag is not practicable.

(m) Time-limit on holding empty bags. Within 60 days after emptying any number of textile bags, a commercial emptier shall use, or transfer to dealers or users, an equal number of empty used textile bags from his inventory. Such disposition may be deferred beyond the 60-day period in the following cases:

(1) Seasonal re-users. If the commercial emptier needs the bags for packing a seasonal product (whether or not produced by him), he may retain them until the product becomes available for packing, subject, however, to the inventory restriction of paragraph (n) below.

(2) Carload accumulation. If, in accordance with his past practice, the commercial emptier wishes to accumulate a carload quantity of such bags for return to users for further packing of the kind of product last packed in them, he may retain such bags until he has accumulated a carload quantity.

Additional Restrictions for Users

(n) Inventory restriction. No user shall accept delivery of any empty new or used textile bags at a time when, or when by virtue of the delivery, his inventory of new or used empty textile bags is or will be in excess of a practical minimum working inventory for the uses which are not prohibited by this order. Except in the case of bags required by a user for packing a seasonal product (whether or not produced by him), such inventory shall not exceed the aggregate number of new or used empty textile bags which will be required to carry on his business during the next 60 days.

(o) Quota restriction on acceptances of burlap bags. During any calendar year, no user shall accept delivery of more than his quota of new burlap textile bags for packing the products below. His quota shall be the larger of the following amounts: (1) 500 such bags for all the products or (2), for each class of product listed below, the specified percentage of the number of such bags he accepted during the calendar year 1941 for packing that class:

Petroleum Waxes	50%
Flour	100%
Potatoes	100%
Processed feed	100%
Seed and grain	70%
All other products permitted by paragraph (p) below (except mohair, wool, wool products)	50%

The above restriction does not apply to bags made of "scrim" (burlap weighing less than 7 ounces per yard—40" width) nor to bags for packing mohair, wool, or wool products. The number of any such bags accepted by any user during 1941 shall not be included in computing any quota above.

(p) Products permitted for burlap bags. No user shall use any new textile bag made of burlap for packing any products other than the following:

Mohair; wool; wool products; petroleum waxes; stearic acid (cakes or slabs); agricultural products (except refined sugar, salt, tankage, or fertilizer).

(q) Products permitted for cotton bags. No user shall use any new textile bags made of cotton for packing any products other than the following:

Agricultural products; cement; chemicals; core sand; currency, coin, or securities; fertilizer; glues; gypsum; malt; meats; metal abrasives; metal parts; pastes; plaster; sand; shellfish; tire chains; or such other products as may be authorized by the War Production Board, pursuant to application on Form WPB–1319 (PD–556).

"Agricultural products" includes, but is not limited to, beans; coffee; cotton; feed; flour; fruits; grain; meal; nuts; potatoes; poultry grits; rice; salt; seeds; starch; sugar; tobacco; vegetables.

(r) Mohair bags. No user shall use any new or used textile bag for packing mohair unless the word "Mohair" appears in legible type on both sides of the bag.

(s) Use of wool bags. No user shall use any wool bag except as provided below. A "wool bag" is any new or used textile bag, made of burlap, between 5½ and 7½ feet in length, ordinarily used to package wool. Such bag shall not be considered a wool bag when no longer capable of carrying any of the following: grease wools, scoured wools, noils, wool wastes or mohair.

(1) General. Wool bags shall be used only for packing or wrapping wool or wool products and only in accordance with the further restrictions of paragraphs (s) (2), (3), and (4) below.

(2) Heavy #1 wool bags. A "heavy #1 wool bag" is a new or used wool bag made of 12-ounce or heavier burlap and capable of being packed or repacked to its intended capacity with any of the types of wool listed below in this subparagraph. Such assignment shall be accomplished by returning to the applicant an approved copy of said Form PD 802.

(3) Except where specifically stated to the contrary, the preference ratings assigned hereunder shall be available for the uses authorized, irrespective of whether or not the materials to be placed in the shipping containers have any inner wrappings or containers.

(c) Application and extension of preference ratings. (1) The preference ratings assigned pursuant to paragraphs (b) (1) and (2) above may be applied by any user in the manner provided in Priorities Regulation 3, for the purpose of obtaining shipping containers or parts for the uses indicated.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of any other preference rating order, preference rating certificate, or Regulation of the War Production Board, on and after February 24, 1943, no person receiving a rated order for the delivery of shipping containers or parts shall extend such rating to obtain any materials (other than parts as herein defined) for use in the manufacture of such shipping containers or parts; but if the person receiving such rated order acquires shipping containers or parts for redelivery without fabrication by him, other than the assembly of parts, he may extend such rating (as provided in Priorities Regulation 3) to such purchases.

(e) Restrictions on application, extension and acceptance of other ratings. (1) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (f) of this order, but notwithstanding any contrary provisions of any other preference rating order, preference rating certificate or regulation of the War Production Board, no person shall apply or extend any preference rating, for the delivery of shipping containers or parts except as specified in and in accordance with this order.

(2) No person receiving an order for shipping containers or parts shall give effect to any preference rating applied or extended thereto on and after February 24, 1943, if he knows or has reason to believe that said rating has not been applied or extended in accordance with the provisions of this order.

(3) Records. In addition to the records required to be kept under Priorities Regulation No. 1, a user and each other person placing or receiving any purchase order or contract rated pursuant to this order shall retain for a period of two years for inspection by representatives of the War Production Board endorsed copies of all such orders or contracts, whether accepted or rejected, segregated from all other purchase orders or contracts or filed in such a manner that they can be readily segregated for such inspection.

(4) Reports. Each person who applies a preference rating assigned by or pursuant to this order shall file such reports as may be required from time to time.

(5) Communications to the War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Containers Division, Washington, D. C. Ref.: P–140.

(6) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. Chapter XI—Office of Price Administration

PART 1336—RADIO, X-RAY AND COMMUNICATION APPARATUS

[MPR 430]

ASSEMBLED RADIOS AND PHONOGRAPHS

By Limitation Orders L-44A and L-183, the War Production Board stopped general production of radio receiving sets and phonographs. However, these orders did not prevent either the completing of radio receiving sets or phonographs which were put into production prior to April 1942 or completion of the assembly of radio receiving sets or phonographs from a fully fabricated chassis and other parts where the assembly operation was commenced prior to April 1942. A substantial quantity of these sets have been assembled by retailers and distributors. Demand for this equipment is great, but the supply is limited. The General Maximum Price Regulation[1] and Revised Price Schedule No. 83[2] are not adequate for their pricing because sets of the type now being assembled were not sold or offered for sale in March 1942.

In the judgment of the Administrator, the maximum prices established by this regulation are necessary to check inflation and to effectuate the purpose of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

§ 1336.201 Maximum prices for assembled radio receiving sets and phonographs. Under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders Nos. 9250 and 9328, Maximum Price Regulation No. 430 (Assembled Radios and Phonographs), which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof, is hereby issued.

AUTHORITY: § 1336.201 issued under Pub. Laws 421 and 729, 77th Cong., E.O. 9250, 7 F.R. 7671; E.O. 9328, 8 F.R. 4681.

Article I—Prohibitions and scope of Regulation

SECTION 1. Prohibition against dealing in assembled radio receiving sets or phonographs above maximum prices. (a) Regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person in the course of trade or business shall buy, sell or deliver a radio receiving set or phonograph at a price higher than the maximum price established by this regulation nor shall any person sell or deliver such radio receiving set or phonograph unless the tag and label as required by section 11 (b) and (c) of this regulation are attached thereto and no person shall offer, solicit, attempt or agree to do any of the foregoing.

(b) Prices lower than the maximum prices may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

SEC. 2. Scope of this regulation. Maximum prices for manufacturers' sales of radio receiving sets and phonographs were set by Revised Price Schedule No. 83. Any models manufactured by a person who was manufacturing radio receiving sets or phonographs on or prior to February 9, 1942, shall continue to be priced under that schedule at the manufacturing level and under the General Maximum Price Regulation at the wholesale and retail levels. This regulation does not apply to sets produced by those manufacturers.

This regulation applies to radio receiving sets, electrical phonographs or combinations (except those specially designed for commercial, police, or military use) assembled by persons who were not engaged in manufacturing radio receiving sets or phonographs on or prior to February 9, 1942. Some models produced by such assemblers, however, have already been priced by orders under § 1499.3 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation. This regulation does not apply to sales of those models and the established maximum prices remain in effect. Some models have been priced by such assemblers under § 1499.2 of the General Maximum Price Regulation. Before making further deliveries, the assembler must reprice such a model under this regulation. Sets delivered by the assembler prior to July 26, 1943, to a purchaser or to a common carrier not owned or controlled by the assembler for shipment to the purchaser, are not to be repriced under this regulation; resales of such sets must be priced under the General Maximum Price Regulation.

Article II—Maximum prices and terms of sale

SEC. 3. Maximum prices for radio receiving sets and phonographs assembled by a distributor-assembler. When used in this regulation, the term "distributor-assembler" means an assembler who customarily sells radio receiving sets and phonographs to retailers for resale.

(a) Method for determining distributor-assembler's costs. The distributor-assembler shall first determine the unit direct labor and material cost of the model on the basis of the following:

(1) Chassis. The distributor-assembler shall take as his cost of the chassis the lower of (i) his actual net cost of the chassis, exclusive of federal excise tax, plus freight, less the realizable salvage value of any discarded parts, or (ii) the maximum allowable cost of the chassis determined in accordance with the following paragraph, exclusive of federal excise tax, plus direct freight charges involved in transporting the chassis from the factory to the assembler, less the realizable salvage value of any discarded parts.

The distributor-assembler's maximum allowable cost of the chassis shall be the original manufacturer's maximum price under Revised Price Schedule No. 84[3] for sales of the chassis to a distributor or jobber. If the original manufacturer's maximum price for such sales of the chassis has not been established or cannot be ascertained, the maximum allowable cost shall be a price in line with the level of maximum prices established by Revised Price Schedules Nos. 83 and 84 for sales by manufacturers to distributors or jobbers. If the assembler is unable to ascertain the original manufacturer's maximum price, he shall so state in the report required by Section 6 and shall propose a price for the chassis in line with the level of manufacturers' maximum prices established by Revised Price Schedules Nos. 83 and 84. The proposed price shall be accompanied by a detailed explanation of the method by which it was calculated and a statement of the reasons why the assembler believes the proposed price to be in line with the level of manufacturers' maximum prices established by Revised Price Schedules Nos. 83 and 84.

(2) Cabinet. The distributor-assembler shall ascertain the original manufacturer's maximum price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188[4] for sales of the cabinet to a purchaser of a class in which the assembler belongs, plus direct freight charges involved in transporting the cabinet from the factory to the distributor-assembler. He shall also ascertain his net invoice cost of the cabinet, plus freight. The distributor-assembler shall take the lower of the two figures so ascertained as his cost of the cabinet.

*Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

(3) Parts other than chassis and cabinet. The distributor-assembler shall ascertain an established parts jobber's maximum prices of each of the parts other than the chassis and cabinet for sales to a class of purchaser to which the assembler belongs. He shall also ascertain his net invoice cost of the parts other than the chassis and cabinet. The distributor-assembler shall take the lower of the two figures so ascertained, and add freight actually paid to determine his cost of the parts other than the chassis and cabinet.

(4) Wage rates. Direct labor costs shall be based on wage rates in effect on October 3, 1942, or currently in effect if they have been adjusted and approved by the War Labor Board.

(b) Method for determining distributor-assembler's maximum selling prices. The distributor-assembler shall add to the unit direct cost 122% thereof. From the resulting figure, the distributor-assembler shall subtract 40% thereof to determine his delivered maximum selling price of the model to retailers. The federal excise tax may be collected in addition to the delivered maximum selling price of the model as determined by this section, if the tax is separately stated.

For sales by a distributor-assembler to ultimate consumers, the maximum price shall be determined by adding to the unit direct cost 82%. The federal excise tax must then be added and the price so determined, adjusted to the nearest quarter of a dollar.

(c) Method for determining retailers' selling prices for models assembled by a distributor-assembler. The maximum price at retail for a model assembled by a distributor-assembler must be computed by the distributor-assembler by adding 122% to the unit direct cost. The federal excise tax must then be added, and the price so determined, adjusted to the nearest quarter of a dollar. Retailers will be able to ascertain their maximum prices from the tag required by section 11 (b).

SEC. 4. Maximum prices for radio receiving sets and phonographs assembled by a retailer-assembler. When used in this regulation, the term "retailer-assembler" means any assembler who sells radio receiving sets or phonographs only to the ultimate consumer.

(a) Method for determining retailer-assembler's costs. The retailer-assembler shall first determine the unit direct labor and material cost of the model on the basis of the following:

(1) Chassis. The retailer-assembler shall calculate the amount he shall use as his cost of the chassis as follows: He shall take the lower of (i) his actual net cost of the chassis, exclusive of federal excise tax, or (ii) the maximum allowable cost of the chassis determined in accordance with the following paragraph. He shall deduct the realizable salvage value of any discarded parts of the chassis and shall add freight actually paid.

The retailer-assembler's maximum allowable cost of the chassis shall be an established parts jobber's or distributor's maximum price, exclusive of federal excise tax, for sales of the chassis to purchasers of the class to which the retailer-assembler belongs. If such a maximum price did not exist or cannot be ascertained, the maximum allowable cost shall be a price in line with the level of maximum prices established by the General Maximum Price Regulation for sales of radio and phonograph sets and chassis to purchasers of the class to which the retailer-assembler belongs, exclusive of federal excise tax, to the class of purchaser to which the retailer-assembler belongs. If the assembler is unable to ascertain an established parts jobber's or distributor's maximum price for the chassis, he shall so state in the report required by section 6 and shall propose a price for the chassis in line with the level of maximum prices established by the General Maximum Price Regulation for sales of radio and phonograph sets and chassis to purchasers of the class to which he belongs. The proposed price shall be accompanied by a detailed explanation of the method by which it was calculated and a statement of the reasons why the assembler believes the proposed price to be an in-line price.

(2) Cabinet. The retailer-assembler shall ascertain the original manufacturer's maximum price under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 for sales of the cabinet to a purchaser of a class in which the retailer-assembler belongs, plus direct freight charges involved in transporting the cabinet from the factory to the retailer-assembler. He shall also ascertain his net invoice cost of the cabinet, plus freight. The retailer-assembler shall take the lower of the two figures so ascertained as his cost of the cabinet.

(3) Parts other than chassis and cabinet. The retailer-assembler shall ascertain for each of the parts used other than the chassis and cabinet, an established parts jobber's or distributor's maximum price, exclusive of federal excise tax, to the class of purchaser to which the retailer-assembler belongs. He shall also ascertain his net invoice cost of each part, exclusive of federal excise tax. The retailer-assembler shall take the lower of the two figures so ascertained and add freight actually paid to determine his costs for each part.

(4) Wage rates. Direct labor costs shall be based on wage rates in effect on October 3, 1942, or currently in effect if they have been adjusted and approved by the War Labor Board.

(b) Method for determining retailer-assembler's maximum selling prices. The retailer-assembler shall add 82% to the unit direct cost. He shall also add the federal excise tax. The resulting figure adjusted to the nearest quarter of a dollar shall be the maximum price, inclusive of federal excise tax, for a sale at retail by any person.

SEC. 5. Maximum prices for sales of any model containing a chassis dismounted after July 25, 1943, from a table or portable radio receiving set or phonograph. This regulation does not permit an assembler to dismount a chassis from a table or portable model, remount it into a different cabinet, and sell the new set at a price higher than his maximum price for the original table or portable model determined in accordance with the General Maximum Price Regulation. For a set assembled from a chassis dismounted after July 25, 1943, the assembler shall determine his maximum price as follows: He shall first determine his maximum price under the General Maximum Price Regulation for sales of the table or portable model from which the chassis was dismounted. He shall then calculate what his maximum price for the new set would be if it were priced under section 3 or 4 of this regulation, whichever is applicable. The lower of the two prices shall be his maximum price for the set so assembled.

SEC. 6. Reports of maximum prices. Every assembler setting a maximum price for an assembled radio receiving set or phonograph pursuant to section 3, 4, or 5 of this regulation must submit to the nearest regional office of the Office of Price Administration the information required in OPA Form 6813–404:1 set forth in section 20, Appendix A of this regulation, prior to first offering the radio receiving set or phonograph for sale. Fifteen (15) days after the mailing of the report, in the absence of a contrary direction from the Office of Price Administration, the distributor-assembler or retailer-assembler may offer for sale the set at the price reported. Any maximum price established under this regulation shall be subject to adjustment by the Office of Price Administration at any time.

Any regional office of the Office of Price Administration may approve, disapprove, and make adjustments in prices reported under this regulation.

SEC. 7. Minor changes. (a) Any assembled radio receiving set or phonograph which differs from a comparable assembled radio receiving set or phonograph priced pursuant to section 3, 4, or 5 of this regulation by reason of minor changes only shall have the same maximum wholesale and retail price as the comparable model. However, no assembled radio receiving set or phonograph may be priced pursuant to this section if changes in material, construction or design reduce the unit direct labor and material cost by more than $1.00 or prevent its offering "fairly equivalent serviceability". "Fairly equivalent serviceability" means a condition of serviceability which exists when the following conditions are fulfilled:

(1) The model being priced and the comparable model have substantially the same physical and electrical characteristics.

(2) The performance specifications of undistorted watt output, selectivity, frequency response, tuning range and image rejection of the two models do not vary by more than normal manufacturing tolerances.

(3) The changes made in the chassis of the model being priced do not alter any of the essential operating characteristics of any part of the circuit of the chassis.

(b) Every assembled radio receiving set or phonograph priced pursuant to this section shall have attached thereto the label and tag required by section 11 (b) and (c) of this regulation. This label and tag shall also contain the assembler's stock number, which shall be the stock number of the comparable model followed by the letters M. C.

SEC. 8. Credit charges. Charges for the extension of credit may be added to the maximum retail prices established by this regulation only to the extent permitted by this section.

(a) Sellers who in March 1942 separately stated and collected an additional charge for the extension of credit on sales of assembled radios or like articles may collect a charge for the extension of credit on sales under this regulation. The charge collected must not exceed the charge in March 1942 on a similar sale to the same class of purchaser. Other sellers may make a charge for the extension of credit only on instalment-plan sales, not on charge-account sales. The charge shall not exceed the additional charge separately stated and collected for the extension of similar credit in March 1942 by the seller's closest competitor who made such a charge.

An instalment-plan sale, as used in the above paragraph, means a sale where the unpaid balance is to be paid in instalments over a period of (1) six weeks or more from the date of sale in the case of weekly instalments or (2) eight weeks or more in the case of other than weekly instalments.

(b) All charges for the extension of credit shall be quoted and billed separately. Any charge which is not quoted and billed separately shall, for the purposes of this regulation, be considered to be part of the price charged for the article sold.

(c) No seller may require as a condition of sale that the purchaser must buy on credit.

SEC. 9. Taxes. Any tax upon or incident to the sale or processing of any assembled radio receiving set or phonograph or any component part thereof imposed by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof except a federal excise tax may be separately stated and collected in addition to the maximum prices determined by this regulation. The tax may not be included in calculating the unit direct cost of any radio receiving set or phonograph. The federal excise tax may be added to the maximum prices as provided in section 3, 4, or 5 of this regulation.

SEC. 10. Guarantee. The maximum prices determined under section 3, 4, or 5 of this regulation may be charged only if the seller furnishes the purchaser with a written guarantee under which, (a) the seller, for a period of 90 days from the date of sale, is required to correct any impairment of satisfactory performance resulting from improper assembly, and to replace without charge for labor or materials any part which proves to be either defective or improper for use in the particular set, and (b) the seller warrants that the set conforms in all essential respects to accepted safety requirements. This guarantee shall be set forth on the tag as required by section 11 (b). If the guarantee is not furnished, the maximum price shall be a price specifically established by the Office of Price Administration upon application as set forth in section 12.

SEC. 11. Stock numbers, retail price tags, and labels. (a) Every assembler shall assign to each assembled radio receiving set or phonograph a stock number. This stock number shall be added to every label and tag as required by paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, and every sales slip as required by section 15 of this regulation.

(b) Before the delivery of an assembled radio receiving set or phonograph for which a maximum price must be determined under section 3, 4, or 5 of this regulation, the assembler must attach securely to each assembled radio receiving set and phonograph, so that it is clearly visible, a durable tag containing in easily readable lettering, the statement in the following form, with the blanks properly filled in:

The retail ceiling price of this set is $_____ Assembler's stock number of set_____

This set has been assembled and priced pursuant to O. P. A. Maximum Price Regulation No. 430.

This tag may not be removed until after delivery to a consumer.

This tag shall also contain a statement that the set is guaranteed as required by section 10. The following form shall be used:

For a period of 90 days, the seller agrees to replace at no charge any part which proves to be either defective or improper for use in this set, and to correct any impairment of satisfactory performance resulting from improper assembly. This set conforms in all essential respects to accepted safety requirements.

(c) Every assembler shall affix on to the inside of every cabinet of an assembled radio receiving set or phonograph a label clearly showing (1) the circuit diagram of the chassis, including the location of the tube sockets properly marked with the corresponding tube number, (2) the original manufacturer's name and model number of the chassis and phonograph (3) the assembler's name and address, and (4) the stock number.

SEC. 12. Pricing by specific authorization by the Office of Price Administration. (a) The maximum price for any assembled radio receiving set or phonograph which is assembled by any person other than a distributor-assembler or retailer-assembler or which is not guaranteed as required by section 10 of this regulation shall be the price specifically authorized by the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.

(b) Reports of maximum prices. Prior to first offering for sale an assembled radio receiving set or phonograph priced under section 12 (a), the assembler shall submit to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., a report applying for specific authorization of a maximum price. The report shall contain a statement of facts indicating why the model cannot be priced under sections 3, 4, and 5, the name of the manufacturer of each major component part used in the assembly, the cost of each part, and the proposed maximum price with a detailed explanation of its computation. The assembler shall submit such other relevant information to supplement his report as the Office of Price Administration may require. Upon receipt of the authorization, the assembler may offer the assembled radio receiving set or phonograph for sale in accordance with the terms of the authorization.

Article III—Miscellaneous

SEC. 13. Relation between Maximum Price Regulation No. 430 and The General Maximum Price Regulation. The provisions of this regulation supersede the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation with respect to sales and deliveries for which maximum prices are established by this regulation.

SEC. 14. Sales for export. The maximum price at which a person may export an assembled radio receiving set or phonograph shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.[1]

SEC. 15. Sales slips and receipts. Regardless of any former practice, after the effective date of this regulation, every person selling an assembled radio receiving set or phonograph in the course of trade or business shall furnish the purchaser of each such radio receiving set or phonograph with a sales slip, receipt, invoice or other similar written evidence of purchase showing assembler's stock number, date of sale, price charged, a statement showing whether the set is guaranteed or not guaranteed, and the name and address of the purchaser. Such sales slip, receipt, invoice or other written evidence of purchase shall be kept by every person who buys a radio receiving set or phonograph for resale, and the carbon copy shall be kept by every seller for inspection by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 16. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking a modification of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SPECIFIC INSTRUCTIONS

3. This section when properly filled in will present a comprehensive description of the set being assembled. A separate report should be filed for each set using different component parts.

4. Before calculating the figures to be entered under the chassis cost (b), distributor-assemblers should read the instructions in section 3 (1) (a) and retailer-assemblers should read section 4 (1) (a) of the regulation. On line (i) the assembler should state the net invoice price he paid for the chassis, exclusive of federal excise tax, and on line (ii) he should state the maximum allowable cost of the chassis, exclusive of federal excise tax. The maximum allowable cost for distributor-assemblers is the manufacturer's ceiling price for sales of the chassis to a distributor or jobber. For retailer-assemblers it is the ceiling price of an established jobber or distributor for sales of the chassis to retailers. If such ceiling price has not been established or if the assembler is unable to ascertain it without undue expense or delay, he should enter as the maximum allowable cost a price which he believes to be in line with the level of established ceiling prices for sets and chassis and should attach to the report an explanation of the method used in calculating the price and the reasons why he believes it to be in line. For example, if a distributor-assembler bought a complete set from the manufacturer, receiving an affirmation that the price did not exceed the supplier's ceiling, and dismounted the chassis prior to July 26, 1943, he could calculate an in-line price for the chassis by allocating the set price between the chassis and the cabinet in proportion to the estimated cost of each.

5. In Column I, lines a, b, c, d, and e, list the name and city of firm from whom the part was purchased. In Column II and III list the name of the part manufacturer and the stock number or identifying title of the part. In Column IV, line a, enter as the chassis cost the lower of the two figures listed under 4 (b) of the report. On the other lines under Column IV list the unit cost of other parts and materials determined in accordance with the directions in either section 3 (1) (b) and (c) of the regulation if you are a distributor-assembler or section 4 (1) (b) and (c) if you are a retailer-assembler. If you are not able to ascertain a proper supplier's maximum price without undue expense or delay, you may enter the net invoice price paid by you and indicate in a footnote that this procedure is used. In Column V unit freight charges should be listed. The entries to be made in Column VI are the sums of the entries made in Columns IV and V. No entries need be made in Columns I, II, and III of line (f).

7. Compute unit direct labor cost for labor expended directly in the assembly of the set. In computing this cost use the highest wage rates you actually paid for each class of labor on October 3, 1942. If a class of labor previously not used by you is to be employed on the radio set, use the highest October 3, 1942 wage rate for that class of labor paid by the nearest employer operating under comparable conditions. If your wage rates or the wage rates of the nearest employer using a class of labor not previously employed by you have been adjusted by the War Labor Board, you may use current wage rates. If necessary for a clear understanding, a breakdown of the total labor cost should be attached to this report. This total must not include supervision, or other indirect labor or factory burden. Allowance for these expenses is included in the margin between direct cost and maximum selling price.

8. If there are any parts of the original chassis which are not used in the set being priced, make an not entry of the dollar salvage value to you of the discarded parts. This dollar salvage value shall be identical with your replacement cost of the part, if it is readily or generally usable for replacement, repair, or resale purposes. If the discarded part is not readily or generally usable or salable, list its realizable salvage value.

10. Give under (a) the amount of federal excise tax paid by the parts manufacturer which was in turn passed on to you, and under (b) the amount of the federal excise tax to be paid by you under section 3404 of the Internal Revenue Code.

11. The retail prices computed on line (b) and (c) should be adjusted to the nearest quarter of a dollar.

12. The retail price computed on line (b) should be adjusted to the nearest quarter of a dollar.

I hereby certify that I am the owner of the company whose name appears on this report, or that I am authorized to make this report on behalf of the company; that I have read this report and that all of the statements and figures contained in this report are correct. I also certify that I have read and am familiar with Maximum Price Regulation No. ——, and that the model priced in this application complies with the provisions and requirements of that Regulation.

PART 1394—RATIONING OF FUEL AND FUEL PRODUCTS

MILEAGE RATIONING: GASOLINE REGULATIONS FOR PUERTO RICO

Preamble: The Office of Price Administration has been directed by the Rubber Director to carry out the recommendations contained in the report of the President's Special Committee to Study the Rubber Situation.

The recommendations of the Committee include:

1. Immediate institution of a tire replacement and recapping program with the allocation of reclaimed rubber for that purpose.

2. Nation-wide gasoline rationing to hold the average annual mileage to 5,000 miles. * * *

3. Prompt and strict enforcement of a Nation-wide speed limit not exceeding thirty-five miles an hour. * * *

4. Compulsory periodic tire inspection.

This Ration Order 5E has been adopted pursuant to the direction of the Rubber Director to complement the mileage rationing: Tire regulations (Ration Order 1B) and also to meet the peculiar circumstances of the Territory of Puerto Rico. In adopting this regulation it has been necessary not only to take into consideration the necessity for saving rubber, but also the fact that all rubber and gasoline must be imported into the Territory of Puerto Rico by water, thus making it necessary to consider the question of transportation as affected by world conditions. Due to transportation difficulties the regulation is geared not only to the available supply of rubber in the continental United States, but to the quantity of tires and gasoline that it is estimated may be imported into the Territory.

The mileage rationing: Gasoline Regulations (Ration Order 5E) control the use and acquisition of gasoline as a means to conserve rubber and gasoline and to maintain the transportation system. To safeguard against violation of the fundamental scheme, control is extended to gasoline generally, whether or not for motor vehicles.

The Office of Price Administration, through its local War Price and Rationing Boards, will regulate the use and allowable mileage of passenger automobiles and commercial vehicles.

Commercial vehicles are required to have a currently valid Certificate of War Necessity, issued by the Office of Defense Transportation. Comercial vehicles receive service rations, of which there are several types according to the type and use of the vehicle involved. Separate types of service rations are issued for taxicabs (publicoa), buses, light trucks, heavy trucks, and government-owned vehicles.

All passenger automobiles, with certain exceptions, will receive a small basic ration, or mileage allowance, in order, primarily, to prevent casting all persons normally using such facilities on to public transportation systems not equipped to handle tremendously increased loads. The private passenger automobile is, in this sense, an integral and indispensable part of the Island's system of transportation.

Above this basic ration, mileage will be allowed for occupational uses of the vehicle. But these supplemental rations are strictly tailored in accordance with need. Moreover, carrying out the program of the Committee that essential driving be given first place, a maximum allowance of 48 miles per week is placed upon the occupational use of passenger automobiles and 140 miles per month for motorcycles. The list of those users who may be allowed preferred mileage above this maximum is limited to those who use their vehicles for purposes essential to the war effort or to the civilian economy.

Certain exceptional, non-occupational, necessary motor vehicle uses, such as the procuring of food and supplies, or medical care are recognized and special rations are allowed for such purposes. Since the desire for conservation of gasoline in Puerto Rico is fully as important as the conservation of rubber, non-highway rations are required for purposes not involving wear of rubber tires.

By these means the vital supplies of tires and gasoline in Puerto Rico will be utilized for purposes most essential to the public welfare, and will be made to last, if possible, beyond the period of critical shortage. There is, of course, no assurance that the rubber supply situation in the future will not require further curtailment and conservation of tire use. To a great extent, this will depend upon whether the driving public will alter and restrict its driving habits, and conserve to the utmost extent the tires now in use. The Committee said:

> Let there be no doubt that only actual needs, not fancied wants, can, or should, be satisfied. To dissipate our stocks of rubber is to destroy one of our chief weapons of war. We have the choice!
> Discomfort or defeat. There is no middle course.

§ 1394.9204 Mileage rationing: gasoline regulations for Puerto Rico. Under the authority vested in the Office of Price Administration and the Price Administrator by Directive No. 1 of the War Production Board, issued January 24, 1942, and by Supplementary Directive No 1-J, issued June 30, 1942, this Ration Order 5E (Mileage Rationing: Gasoline Regulations for Puerto Rico) which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof, is hereby issued.

A separate application shall be made for each vehicle. Application on behalf of an individual may not be signed by an agent.

(b) An applicant shall establish the monthly mileage required for each of the following purposes during the ration period for which such ration is valid:

(1) Driving between home and a fixed place of work in connection with the principal occupation of the applicant or principal use of the vehicle;

If such vehicles are within the jurisdictions of different Boards, each application must be accompanied by duplicate copies of the applications for other vehicles used in such ride-sharing arrangement.

SEC. 2.6 Allowance of occupational mileage. (a) Except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section, occupational mileage shall be allowed by a Board for a purpose specified in paragraph (b) of section 2.5 only if the applicant establishes, in connection with the use of the vehicle for that purpose either:

(2) That no such ride-sharing arrangement could reasonably be made but that the vehicle carries as many persons as could reasonably be expected in the light of the circumstances in which and the purpose for which it is used; that transportation is needed for such purpose; and that no alternative means of transportation are available which would be reasonably adequate for such purpose.

(i) An applicant may establish that four or more persons cannot regularly be carried in the vehicle for which application is made by showing: the limited capacity of the vehicle; the necessity of traveling at unusual or irregular hours; the necessity of traveling over routes not feasible for other persons who might be carried; or such other reasons as the Board may find sufficient.

(ii) An applicant may establish the lack of reasonably adequate alternative means of transportation by showing the unavailability of other public or private means of transportation; or by showing that such alternative means, if available, are inadequate by reason of location, schedules or overcrowded conditions, by reason of physical disability of the person needing transportation, by reason of the nature of the work for which transportation is needed, or for such other reasons as the Board may find sufficient.

(3) In the event application is made for a Supplemental ration in order to permit the use of the vehicle for which application is made in the pursuit of an occupation other than a gainful occupation, the application must be certified, as indicated thereon, by a responsible official of the organization, if any, for or under the direction of which the work is performed.

(b) Upon the basis of the application and such other facts as the Board may require, the Board shall allow mileage for driving for any of the purposes listed in paragraph (b) of section 2.5 for which applicant has applied, with respect to which the applicant has established the facts required by paragraph (a) hereof. The Board shall allow only that portion of the claimed mileage (in the absence of a ride-sharing arrangement) with respect to which the applicant has established the inadequacy of alternative means of transportation (in accordance with paragraph (a) (2) (ii) of this section). The Board shall then determine the total occupational mileage per week required by the applicant, as established in accordance with paragraph (b) of section 2.5, and shall issue a supplemental ration for such mileage requirements sufficient for a twelve week period: Provided, That the Board may not allow more than 48 miles per week for a passenger automobile and 40 miles per month for a motorcycle for any occupational mileage other than preferred mileage as defined in section 2.7: Provided further, That in allowing occupational mileage, the Board shall disregard the basic ration, no part of which shall be required for occupational use.

(c) A Board having jurisdiction over an area adequately served by public transportation systems shall allow mileage claimed with respect to which a ride-sharing arrangement has been made only if the applicant establishes that the use of such public transportation system would not be reasonably adequate for the purpose for which such mileage is claimed.

At the conclusion of his first day's work he shall surrender to a member of the Board assigned to the Sugar Central by which applicant has been engaged all ration books issued to him for the operation of each truck used by him on that date and upon proof by applicant to such member of the Board of the consumption of a specific quantity of gasoline that day, he shall receive a "Zafra" certificate authorizing the acquisition of such quantity of gasoline. The "Zafra" certificate shall be on Form OPA PRR–189, shall be signed by the authorized member of the Board, signed and sealed by the person duly authorized to sign on behalf of the Sugar Central and signed by the applicant or his agent prior to its delivery to the applicant. Thereafter a "Zafra" certificate shall be issued at the completion of each day's work for the quantity of gasoline consumed during that day.

(c) Each "Zafra" certificate shall be valid for transfers of gasoline only on the next succeeding working day into the tanks of trucks specifically listed on the reverse thereof. Upon transfer of a quantity of gasoline into the truck or trucks whose license numbers are listed on the reverse thereof the applicant or his agent shall insert the number of gallons so transferred to each such truck, and sign his name in the columns provided therefor.

(d) Each dealer shall deliver all "Zafra" certificates in his possession in accordance with the provisions of section 7.16 to the Board having jurisdiction not later than noon of the first Monday following the transfer of gasoline thereon and shall receive an exchange certificate (Form OPA R–548) in exchange therefor.

(e) "Zafra" certificates shall be numbered serially. The original or copy on white paper shall be delivered to the applicant. SEC. 2.21 Return of S type ration book. (a) Upon the termination of the use of a truck for the "Zafra" season, the owner or the person entitled to the use thereof and the duly authorized officer or agent of the Sugar Central shall both certify to that fact by executing Form OPA PRR–191. Upon surrender thereof to the Board having jurisdiction over the Sugar Central, the Board shall remove from the ration book for cancellation all expired coupons and a proportionate number of coupons for that portion of the currently valid period which has already passed and shall then return the ration book to the person entitled thereto.

(b) Nothing contained in sections 2.18 to 2.21 shall be construed to limit the right of any person to use any other type of ration authorized pursuant to Ration Order No. 5E.

SPECIAL RATIONS

SEC. 2.22 Application for special ration. (a) The owner or person entitled to the use of a motor vehicle or of a boat or outboard motor who finds that transportation in such vehicle, or boat is necessary for one or more of the purposes specified in paragraph (b) of this section, and who finds that a ration issued for such vehicle or boat is not sufficient to permit its necessary use for such purpose, may apply to a Board on OPA Form PRR–6 for a special ration. Application for a special ration on behalf of an individual may not be signed by an agent. A special ration may be issued for any period not exceeding the current valid period of the appropriate class of ration, and in no event exceeding twelve (12) weeks.

(b) Special rations may be issued in order to permit the acquisition of gasoline for use with a motor vehicle, motor boat or outboard motor boat for one or more of the following purposes:

(6) To operate a motor vehicle or motorboat held by a motor vehicle or boat dealer for sale or resale, for the purpose of demonstrating such vehicle or boat to prospective purchasers: Provided, That no ration in excess of five (5) gallons per month per vehicle or boat shall be granted for such purposes;

(7) To move such vehicle or boat to a place of storage upon repossession, or upon seizure by a government authority;

(10) For any other purposes certified by the Director to be essential to the war effort or the public welfare.

SEC. 2.23 Form and issuance of special rations. (a) The Board may grant a special ration only if it finds:

(1) That such special ration is needed by the applicant for the purpose claimed;

(2) That a ration previously issued for such vehicle, boat or outboard motor is not reasonably adequate or cannot be used for such purposes;

(3) That transportation is necessary to the accomplishment of such purpose; and

(4) That no reasonably adequate alternative means of transportation are available.

(b) If the Board grants the application, it shall determine the quantity of gasoline which is essential to the applicant for accomplishment of the purpose or purposes stated from the date of its decision to the end of the period for which such ration is sought, and shall issue to the applicant a coupon book or books of any appropriate class, except Class A books, containing coupons in sufficient number to allow to the applicant the quantity of gasoline determined by it to be essential on the basis of the current gallonage value of a unit in such book. It shall mark "special" any book which it so issues. It shall remove from the book and cancel any coupons in excess of the number representing the gallonage which it determines should be granted in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph.

(c) No special ration may be issued for the operation of a vehicle if such operation violates any order of the Office of Defense Transportation.

NON-HIGHWAY RATIONS

SEC. 2.24 Persons entitled to non-highway rations. Any person who requires gasoline for a non-highway purpose may obtain a non-highway ration authorizing the acquisition of the amount of gasoline required for such purpose.

R ration books shall contain six (6) pages of eight (8) coupons to a page. Non-highway rations shall be valid for transfers of gasoline to the holder thereof at any time.

(b) The applicant shall state the amount of gasoline needed for a non-highway use during the twelve week period, and the non-highway purpose or purposes for which such gasoline is needed.

SEC. 2.27 Issuance of non-highway rations. (a) The Board shall determine the amount of gasoline required for the twelve week period, and, subject to the provisions of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section shall issue to the applicant one or more R coupons or books, or any combination of them, to enable the applicant to acquire the amount of gasoline so determined to be necessary for such period. Upon issuance of any ration under this paragraph, the Board shall remove from the book any coupons in excess of the number allotted. The Boards shall maintain accountability records of all R ration books, and all coupons issued and not issued.

(b) If the application is made for a non-highway ration for use in an inboard motorboat or outboard motor operated wholly or in part for non-occupational purposes, the Board shall not allow for the non-occupational purpose an amount of gasoline in excess of the number of gallons determined by the following formulae:

(1) In the case of an inboard motorboat, the number of gallons equal to two times the manufacturer's rated horsepower of the motor or motors, but not in excess of sixty (60) gallons for the 12 week period;

(2) In the case of an outboard motor, the number of gallons equal to two and one half times the manufacturer's rated horsepower of such motor, but not in excess of ten (10) gallons for the 12-week period.

(3) For purposes of this paragraph the Board shall issue a separate ration for such non-occupational purpose, containing coupons in sufficient number to allow the quantity of gasoline so determined, and shall note on such book that it is issued for a non-occupational purpose. For purposes of this paragraph non-occupational uses shall include the use of a motor boat or outboard motor for sightseeing, guiding pleasure parties or conducting fishing parties other than to procure fish for sale or processing.

(c) If application is made for a non-highway ration for the operation of a gasoline engine (other than an outboard motor or an engine used to operate an airplane or inboard motorboat) the Board shall not allow more than one-tenth of one gallon of gasoline for each horsepower hour of operation set forth in the application.

(d) Except as provided in paragraph (a) of section 6.3, not more than one non-occupational ration may be issued for an inboard motorboat or an outboard motor during any 12-week period.

No person to whom a supplemental, service, fleet, or non-highway ration has been issued may use or permit the use of such ration for a purpose other than that for which such ration was obtained.

SEC. 3.2 Rations not transferable. (a) No ration may be transferred or assigned. A ration may, however, subject to the provisions of 3.4 be used by anyone entitled to use the vehicle, boat or equipment for which it was issued, if such use is for the purpose for which such ration was obtained and so long as there is no change in ownership of such vehicle, boat or equipment.

(b) No person shall transfer or assign any ration and no person shall accept such transfer or assignment.

(c) No person shall transfer or assign, and no person shall accept a transfer or assignment of any gasoline coupon book or any bulk, inventory or other coupon (whether or not such book was issued as a ration book and whether or not such coupon was issued as a ration or as part of a ration book) or exchange certificate or other evidence, except in accordance with the provisions of Ration Order 5E.

(d) No person shall have in his possession any gasoline coupon book or bulk, inventory or other coupon, whether or not such book was issued as a ration book and whether or not such coupon was issued as a ration or as part of a ration, or exchange certificate, or other evidence, except the person, or the agent of the person, to whom such book, coupon, certificate or other evidence was issued, or by whom it was acquired, in accordance with the provisions of Ration Order 5E.

SEC. 3.3 Change of occupation of holder of Class C ration. (a) The holder of a Class C ration (or of a Class D ration based on allowed mileage in excess of 280 miles per month) shall report to the issuing Board any change in the principal occupation for the pursuit of which such ration was issued. Such report shall be transmitted to the Board within five (5) days after such change and shall describe fully the nature of the new occupation, the exact type of work performed, the business or industry in which such work is performed, and the purpose, if any, for which the motor vehicle will be used in such new occupation. If, on the basis of such report, the Board finds that such motor vehicle will no longer be used for a preferred purpose listed in 2.7 it shall notify such holder, in writing, that his right to such ration is to be reexamined. Such notice shall be mailed to such holder at the address shown on his application (or at the address shown on his report), and shall require him to file a new application for a ration within ten (10) days after the mailing date shown on such notice. Such lessee may apply for a ration for use of such vehicle on his own behalf, and his right to such ration shall be determined solely by the nature and extent of his use of the vehicle. Application by such lessee for a ration pursuant to section 2.5 shall be made on Form OPA PRR–4, and the allowed mileage for the vehicle shall be computed in the manner established by section 2.6 for fleet vehicles. Upon termination of the lease, any ration issued to such lessee shall expire and all coupons or coupon books issued to him shall be returned by him to the issuing Board.

Such application shall be made in the same manner as the original application, except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) If there have been no substantial changes since the date of the original application in the applicant's gasoline needs, or in the nature, amount, and conditions of use of the motor vehicle for which the original ration was issued, and if such original application accurately calculated the applicant's requirements, application for a further ration other than a basic ration may be made by executing the renewal certificate on such original application. The applicant shall, in such case, note on such renewal certificate any change in the nature or amount used since the date of the original application.

(c) When issuing a further ration prior to the expiration date of a current ration of the same class, the Board shall note on the application and on the front cover of the coupon book representing such further ration the date on which such further ration shall become valid. (b) The applicant shall append to the application a statement showing:

(1) That the current ration is insufficient to meet his needs for more than ten (10) days from the date of the application;

(2) The reason or reasons why a further ration will be needed for use prior to the expiration date of the current ration;

(c) If the Board determines that, for one or more reasons specified in paragraph (a) of this section, more mileage is needed or, in the case of a non-highway ration, more gasoline is required, than that stated in the application on the basis of which the current ration was issued, it may grant a further ration.

(b) No gasoline ration shall be issued pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section unless the license certificate to be exhibited shall be current and valid at the time of the issuance of such ration.

SEC. 5.2 Notation on license certificate. (a) At the time of issuing a gasoline ration for a licensed motor vehicle other than a fleet vehicle, except in the case of a ration issued pursuant to section 2.22 (b) (6) to (9) inclusive, the person issuing such ration shall make a clear notation in ink, indelible pencil, or by typewriter, on the front of the license certificate presented by the applicant, showing the date of issuance, the class of ration and the serial number of the ration book issued.

SEC. 5.3 Notation on ration books and applications. (a) At the time of issuance of any ration book for a licensed motor vehicle, the person issuing such book shall make a clear notation on the cover thereof in ink, indelible pencil, or by typewriter, of the license number of the vehicle for which it is issued and of the name and address of the licensed owner of such vehicle.

Such period shall also be noted on the application.

SEC. 5.4 Change in motor vehicle license number. (a) The holder of a ration book issued for a licensed motor vehicle, other than a ration book bearing a fleet identification, shall, upon any change in the license number of such vehicle, submit such ration book, together with the license certificate or registration card evidencing the new number, to a Board within five (5) days after such change for the purpose of having the notation thereon changed to correspond to the new license number. The person authorized to make the change for the Board to which such book is presented shall not obliterate the license number appearing thereon, but shall note thereon, in addition, in ink, indelible pencil, or by typewriter, the new license number issued for such vehicle, and countersign or initial the change made on the book. Notation on the new license certificates or registration card shall also be made, as prescribed in section 5.2.

(b) The holder of any book bearing a fleet identification shall, upon any change in the name, identification, or designation of such fleet, submit such book to the Board which issued it for appropriate modification. Upon ascertaining the new name, identification or designation of such fleet, the Board shall change the designation on such book to correspond thereto.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to authorize the continued use of a ration book after a change in ownership of the vehicle for which it was issued.

(d) Any alteration on the face or cover of any ration book, unless made and countersigned by a person authorized to do so under Ration Order No. 5E shall render such book, and the coupons therein, invalid.

Such person may also request the Board to make a notation on any coupon books issued to him indicating that coupons in such books may be used for a bulk transfer of gasoline.

(b) If the applicant establishes the facts required by paragraph (a) hereof, the Board may issue bulk coupons to the extent of the gallonage allowed by it for which bulk coupons are requested: Provided, That, with respect to applications for supplemental rations or for fleet rations for passenger automobiles or motorcycles the Board shall first determine the type, number and expiration date of the coupon books to which the applicant is entitled; it may then issue bulk coupons, to the extent requested by the applicant, having a gallonage value equal to the value in units of the coupons in the coupon books to which the applicant is entitled and in lieu of which such bulk coupons are issued: Provided further, That bulk coupons shall not be issued unless the applicant establishes the necessity for acquiring 100 gallons or more per month by such coupons.

(c) No bulk transfer of 50 gallons or more shall be made to a consumer by any person unless prior written authorization has been granted by the Director.

SEC. 5.7 Signature on coupon book. No coupon book shall be valid until the person to whom such book is issued has signed the certification provided for therein.

Article VI—Expiration and Revocation of Rations

SEC. 6.1 Surrender of expired coupons. (a) No coupon book issued in Puerto Rico shall be valid for the transfer of gasoline to a consumer in Puerto Rico after the expiration thereof, or to any consumer at any time outside of Puerto Rico.

The transferee of such vehicle, boat or equipment may apply for a gasoline ration in accordance with the applicable provisions of Ration Order No. 5E.

(b) Upon cessation of use of a ration, other than a basic ration, for a purpose for which such ration was obtained, such ration shall expire and all unused coupons and books issued therefor shall, within five (5) days after such cessation, be surrendered to the issuing Board by the person to whom such ration was issued.

SEC. 6.4 Denial of gasoline rations. (a) No person whose name has been recorded by a Board, in accordance with the provisions of § 1394.2806 (c) of Ration Order 5B for refusal to surrender a gasoline ration book upon direction of the Board, or for failure or refusal, without good cause shown, to appear before such Board for examination, shall be entitled to obtain a ration of any type under Ration Order No. 5E while his name remains thus recorded.

SEC. 6.5 Coupon books property of Office of Price Administration; revocations. (a) All coupon books, bulk coupons, inventory coupons, other evidences and tire inspection records are and when issued shall remain the property of the Office of Price Administration. The Office of Price Administration may suspend, cancel, revoke or recall any ration and may require the surrender and return of any coupon book, bulk coupon, inventory coupon, other evidences and tire inspection records during suspension or pursuant to revocation or cancellation, whenever it is deemed in the public interest to do so.

(b) Upon certification by the Office of Defense Transportation that any person to whom a gasoline ration has been issued has been found by it to have violated an order of such office, which now is or may hereafter be applicable to Puerto Rico, and upon recommendation by such office that a gasoline ration issued to such person or any part thereof, be revoked, the Director acting through a board or such officers or agents as he may designate shall revoke such ration or such part thereof in accordance with such recommendation.

(c) Any ration issued to a person not entitled thereto on the basis of the facts stated in the application, may be revoked by the issuing Board and the Board may order that any coupons or coupon books issued therefor be surrendered. If the Board finds that the holder is entitled to a ration of a different class or quantity than that issued, it shall issue such ration in lieu of the ration revoked.

(d) Within forty-eight hours of receiving notice of an order requiring the surrender of coupons or coupon books made pursuant to the provisions of this section, the person holding such coupons or coupon books shall surrender them to the Board or the representative of the Office of Price Administration that issued such order.

SEC. 6.6 Revocation, suspension, and denial of consumer's ration after hearing. (a) A Board, after hearing, may revoke, cancel or suspend the ration, or rations of a person in whole or in part, and in such a case require the surrender to it of coupons, coupon books or other ration evidences to the extent required to make such revocation cancellation or suspension effective, may deny a ration or rations in whole or in part and for such period as the Board may deem appropriate in the public interest where a person has violated any of the provisions of Ration Order 1B or Ration Order 5E. Such order of revocation and declaration of ineligibility shall be made pursuant to the following procedure:

A copy thereof shall be sent to the Territorial office at San Juan. If the respondent admits the charge or fails to appear at the hearing, or if the Board determines after hearing that the respondent has committed any of the acts or violations with which he is charged, the Board may by order revoke, cancel and suspend for a period which shall be stated therein, the rations issued to him in whole or in part and direct him to surrender to it the coupons, coupon books or other ration evidences issued to him to the extent required to make such revocation effective, and the Board may by order deny him a ration or rations in whole or in part for such period as the Board may deem appropriate in the public interest.

(2) If a respondent against whom an order has been issued for failure to appear at the hearing shows, within a reasonable time not to exceed thirty days from the effective date of such order, good cause to the Board for such failure, the Board may cancel or order the stay of such order and shall grant the respondent a full hearing on the charges made.

(3) A copy of the order shall be served promptly on the respondent personally or by registered mail, return receipt requested, directed to his last known address, and copies thereof shall be sent to the Territorial Office at San Juan. The Board, in its discretion, shall fix the effective date of such order except that if the Board fails to fix such effective date such order shall, if personally served, become effective at the time of such service, and if served by registered mail, on the date of delivery shown on the return receipt.

(4) The Board may designate one or more of its members to perform the functions prescribed in this paragraph. The Board may appoint volunteer hearing officers approved by the Director to conduct hearings pursuant to this section. In matters in which a hearing officer has been appointed, he shall preside at the hearing, and make an oral or written report of his findings to the Board, which shall decide the matter.

(b) Any person against whom an order has been issued pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, may, within fifteen (15) days after the effective date thereof, appeal from such order by filing a statement of objections to the order with the Board which issued it. Within three (3) days after receipt of the statement the Board shall forward it, together with a copy of the notice instituting such proceedings, a copy of the record, if any, and a copy of the Board's order to the Hearing Commissioner for the Territory of Puerto Rico at San Juan. Within five (5) days after the receipt of the statement the Hearing Commissioner shall notify the respondent and the Chief Counsel for the Territory of Puerto Rico of the time and place set for the hearing. The hearing shall be heard and determined pursuant to the provisions of § 1300.169 of Procedural Regulation Number 4[3] and amendments thereto.

SEC. 6.8 Presentation of Registration Cards and Tire Inspection Records after revocation of ration or denial of rations for a specified period and notations thereon. Whenever by an order issued pursuant to the provisions of Ration Order No. 5E a ration of a person is revoked, cancelled or suspended in whole or in part, or a person has been denied a ration for a specified period, pursuant to section 6.6 (a) or such an order has been modified or nullified, such person shall, within twenty-four (24) hours after such order becomes effective, present the Tire Inspection Record and the registration card or registration certificate, if any, of any motor vehicle affected by any such order to the Board or representative of the Office of Price Administration that issued or modified such order. Thereupon such officer or the Board shall make a clear notation in ink, indelible pencil or by typewriter on the Tire Inspection Record and the registration card or registration certificate, if any, stating the effect of such order or any modification thereof.

Article VII—Restrictions on Transfer

SEC. 7.1 Restriction on transfer to consumers. (a) Notwithstanding the terms of any contract, agreement, or commitment, regardless of when made, no person other than a dealer, intermediate distributor or oil company shall (except as provided in 2.30, 7.6 and 7.7) transfer or offer to transfer gasoline to a consumer, and no consumer shall accept transfer of such gasoline.

(b) No dealer shall transfer gasoline to a consumer between the hours of 6 p. m. on any day and 8 a. m. on the following day, nor between the hours of 1 p. m. on a Saturday and 8 a. m. on the following Monday.

SEC. 7.2 Transfers to consumers. Notwithstanding the terms of any contract, agreement, or commitment, regardless of when made, a dealer, intermediate distributor, or oil company may transfer gasoline to a consumer in Puerto Rico, and such consumer may accept such transfer of gasoline, only in exchange for valid coupons or other evidences issued in Puerto Rico.

SEC. 7.3 Transfer to consumers in exchange for coupons. (a) A transfer of gasoline may be made in exchange for coupons contained in Class A, B, C, D, S–1, S–2, S–3, S–4 or S–5 books, under the following conditions:

(1) At the time of transfer, the transferor shall require presentation of the coupon book and must detach therefrom coupons having an aggregate gallonage value equal to the amount of gasoline transferred: Provided, That if the transferee is able to accept only a portion of the amount of gasoline represented by the gallonage value of a coupon, the transferor shall nevertheless detach an entire coupon. No transfer may be made pursuant to this paragraph in exchange for a coupon detached prior to the presentation of the coupon book to the transferor. At the time of transfer, the transferor shall write legibly, in ink or indelible pencil, across the face of each coupon accepted in exchange for the transfer, the license number of the vehicle into the fuel tank of which the fuel has been transferred.

(2) Transfer may be made only into the fuel tank of a motor vehicle identified on the coupon book presented: Provided, That if such book bears a notation by a Board indicating that bulk transfer is authorized, a bulk transfer may be made in exchange for coupons in such book: Provided further, That bulk transfer may also be made of an amount of gasoline, not in excess of one unit, to enable a vehicle stranded for lack of fuel to reach a source of supply. In such case the transferor shall retain the ration book presented until the vehicle is brought to the place of transfer for identification.

(3) Transfer may be made only during the valid period of the coupons pursuant to sections 2.2; 2.4; and 2.12.

(b) Bulk transfer may be made in exchange for R coupons under the following conditions:

(1) No transfer in exchange for R coupons may be made into the fuel tank of, or knowingly made for use in, a licensed motor vehicle or a motor vehicle held by a motor vehicle dealer for sale or resale.

(2) The transferor shall require surrender, at or before the time of transfer, of bulk coupons having a value in gallons equal to the number of gallons of gasoline transferred: Provided, That in the case of any delivery made in the absence of the transferor or his agent, by tank car or other carrier, or the absence of the transferee or his agent, coupons need not be surrendered simultaneously with delivery, but must be forwarded by the transferee to the transferor within forty-eight (48) hours after delivery.

SEC. 7.4 Transfers in exchange for acknowledgement of delivery and allotment authorization. (a) Transfer may be made in exchange for an acknowledgement of delivery or an allotment authorization duly executed by an appropriate officer of the armed forces of the United States in accordance with the provisions of section 2.29.

SEC. 7.5 Emergency transfers. (a) Transfer may be made in exchange for an emergency receipt on Form OPA R–555, which may be obtained from any dealer.

(b) Any person requiring gasoline in order to meet an emergency involving serious threat to life, health, or valuable property, may obtain such gasoline by signing an emergency receipt in quadruplicate and stating thereon the emergency purpose for which such gasoline is required and the reason why he is unable to present coupons in exchange for such gasoline. If such gasoline is required for use in a licensed motor vehicle, he shall also state the license number of the vehicle in which such gasoline is to be used.

(c) Any dealer, intermediate distributor, or oil company who has transferred gasoline in exchange for an emergency receipt, shall retain one copy at the establishment, where the transfer occurred, and shall transmit triplicate copies of such emergency receipt to the Board having jurisdiction over the area in which his place of business is located. The Board, if it is satisfied that the transferor made a transfer, in good faith, of the amount of gasoline specified in such emergency receipt, shall issue to him, in exchange therefor, inventory coupons equal in gallonage value to the amount of gasoline so transferred. The Board shall retain one copy of such receipt in its own files, shall transmit the second copy to the Board having jurisdiction over the area in which the transferee resides, as stated on the receipt, and shall send the third copy to the Director of the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico.

SEC. 7.6 Transfer of vehicle, boat or equipment. (a) Nothing in Ration Order No. 5E shall be deemed to forbid the transfer of gasoline actually in the fuel supply tank of a vehicle, boat or equipment, in conjunction with a bona fide transfer of such vehicle, boat or equipment itself; or the consumption by the transferee in such vehicle, boat, or equipment of gasoline actually in the fuel supply tank thereof at the time of transfer.

SEC. 7.7 Transfer of consumer establishments. (a) Nothing in Ration Order No. 5E shall be deemed to forbid the transfer of gasoline actually in a storage tank or other container maintained by a consumer as part of an enterprise or establishment in conjunction with a bona fide transfer of such enterprise or establishment itself, or a transfer of gasoline by legal process or operation of law.

(b) Any person to whom a transfer of the character described in paragraph (a) of this section is made shall forthwith report such transfer and the amount of gasoline involved to the Board having jurisdiction over the area in which such gasoline is located. Such person, if a dealer or intermediate distributor, shall surrender to the Board, together with such report, coupons or other evidences having a value equal to the number of gallons of gasoline transferred. Such person, if not a dealer or intermediate distributor, may either:

(1) Transfer all or any part of such gasoline in exchange for coupons or other evidences having a value equal to the number of gallons of gasoline so transferred: Provided, That such coupons or other evidences shall forthwith be surrendered by him to the Board for cancellation; or

(2) Consume such gasoline to the extent of any gasoline ration issued to him: Provided, That he may consume such gasoline only for the purpose for which such ration may be issued and shall surrender to the Board, for cancellation, coupons equal in value to the amount of gasoline consumed or to be consumed.

SEC. 7.8 Transfers from fuel tank to fuel tank of vehicles and boats forbidden. (a) No gasoline contained in the fuel tank of any licensed motor vehicle, inboard motorboat, outboard motor, or non-highway equipment shall be transferred therefrom to the fuel tank of any licensed motor vehicle, or of any inboard motorboat or outboard motor operated in Puerto Rico.

SEC. 7.9 Discrimination by dealers and intermediate distributors. (a) No dealer or intermediate distributor shall discriminate in the transfer of gasoline among any consumers lawfully entitled to acquire gasoline under the provisions of Ration Order No. 5E by selling only to favored consumers or classes of consumers, or only to regular customers, and refusing to sell to others who are entitled to acquire gasoline under the provisions of Ration Order No. 5E. Nothing in this section, however, shall be construed to prohibit a dealer or intermediate distributor from adopting restrictions which apply to all consumers or from holding reserve stocks for delivery to persons presenting acknowledgments of delivery or allotment authorizations duly executed by the authorized officer of the armed forces of the United States.

SEC. 7.10 Restriction on transfers between dealers and distributors. (a) Except as provided in section 7.11, no dealer, intermediate distributor, or oil company shall transfer or offer to transfer to or shall receive a transfer of gasoline from any other dealer, intermediate distributor or oil company, except in exchange for a quantity of valid Exchange Certificates on Form OPA R–548, issued by Local Boards, at or before the time of actual delivery of the gasoline, equal in gallonage value to the amount of gasoline so transferred.

SEC. 7.11 Odd-lot deliveries. (a) If an oil company or intermediate distributor elects to make delivery of gasoline to a dealer in an amount less than the total gallonage represented by an exchange certificate or certificates then in the possession of the dealer, he may do so, provided that the number of gallons delivered and the date are endorsed upon the certificates together with the balance in gallonage remaining to the credit of the dealer, and the endorsement is initialed by both the dealer (or his agent) and the distributor (or his agent).

(b) The distributor shall indicate upon the invoice of the sale, which is left with the dealer pursuant to section 8.1, the total gallonage value of the exchange certificate covering the sale.

SEC. 7.12 Upstream transfers. (a) Any oil company or intermediate distributor who receives a transfer or return of gasoline from a dealer or intermediate distributor in Puerto Rico other than in connection with a transfer of the place of business of such dealer or intermediate distributor, shall deliver to such dealer or intermediate distributor a quantity of accumulated Exchange Certificates on Form OPA R–548 equal in gallonage value to the amount of gasoline so transferred or returned.

(b) Any dealer who receives a transfer or return of gasoline from a consumer, other than in connection with a transfer to him of the place of business of such consumer, shall deliver to the Board having jurisdiction over the area in which the place of business of such dealer is located a quantity of coupons or other evidences equal in gallonage value to the quantity of gasoline so transferred or returned, together with a signed statement setting forth the name and address of the consumer from whom the gasoline was acquired, the quantity of gasoline so acquired, and the date thereof.

SEC. 7.13 Preservation of coupons: coupon sheets. (a) Each dealer shall affix the coupons received by him directly from consumers to a Coupon Sheet (Form OPA R–542) in the manner indicated thereon. Only coupons of one class shall be attached to any one sheet.

SEC. 7.14 Preservation of acknowledgments. (a) Each dealer and intermediate distributor shall attach the Acknowledgments and Allotment Authorizations delivered to him by authorized purchasers to a Summary of Acknowledgments (Form OPA R–541) on which he shall enter for each such Acknowledgment and Allotment Authorization in order the date of purchase, name of purchaser, and number of gallons sold.

SEC. 7.15 Summary of coupons. (a) Each dealer shall, prior to every delivery by him of coupons and all other evidences to the Boards, in accordance with section 7.16, prepare, in duplicate on Form OPA R–541, a Summary of Coupons and the Acknowledgments, in the manner directed thereon, certifying the number of each type of coupon and the number of evidences to be delivered. The original of this summary shall be delivered to the Local Board by him, attached to the coupons and other evidences. The copy shall be retained by him at his place of business for a period of not less than one year.

SEC. 7.16 Exchange of coupons for exchange certificates. (a) Each dealer shall, from time to time, deliver to any Board all coupons or other evidences in his possession, together with a summary thereof on Form OPA R–541, as set forth in section 7.15, and shall receive in place thereof an Exchange Certificate (Form OPA R–548), of which a duplicate shall be retained by the Board for its files, which shall specify the total gallonage value of the coupons or other evidences and the total number of each class of coupons or other evidences: Provided, That no exchange certificate shall be issued by the Board unless the dealer has complied with the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Each dealer shall in accordance with paragraph (a) hereof, turn in all coupons or other evidences of any class or type, by not later than 4.00 p. m. Saturday of the week during which such coupons or other evidences were valid, and shall deliver to the Board on every such Saturday, from 1:00 to 4:00 p. m., on Form OPA–PRR–186 (Revised), a report showing the gasoline movement of the dealer during said week.

(c) No Exchange Certificate shall be transferred at any time without an endorsement on the back thereof showing the date of the transfer, the names of the transferor and transferee, and the reason for the transfer.

SEC. 7.17 Certification of shortage. (a) Dealers and intermediate distributors shall be permitted, not later than the fifth day of any month, to apply on Form OPA–R–549 for compensation for losses, in the preceding month of gasoline through evaporation, handling, accident, or other extraordinary circumstances; and dealers, intermediate distributors and oil companies shall be permitted so to account for unavoidable loss of coupons. The certification of shortage shall be submitted to the Board having jurisdiction of the area in which such dealer or intermediate distributor has the place of business to which the shortage is to be attributed, and shall show the nature and quantity of such shortage with a full explanation therefor. The Board shall forward the application with its recommendation to the Director, and upon his written approval, may issue to the applicant a quantity of inventory coupons equal to the amount of the proven loss: Provided, That the Board may issue without the approval of the Director, as compensation for a shortage resulting from shrinkage or evaporation, certificates having a gallonage value not in excess of 1% of the gallonage delivered each month.

SEC. 8.3 Reports by Collector of Customs. (a) As soon after the first of each month as is practicable, the United States Collector of Customs for the Island of Puerto Rico shall prepare and send to the Director a written report for the previous calendar month containing the following information:

(3) The total gasoline inventory of the oil companies, and the inventory of each individual oil company, at the close of business on the last day of the month for which the report is made.

SEC. 8.4 Explanation by oil companies. (a) The Director may, at any time, require any oil company to explain a discrepancy existing between the figures supplied in its monthly report and the number of evidences turned in by it to the Office of Price Administration for Puerto Rico and the monthly report made by the Collector of Customs.

(b) The Director may at any time require any dealer to explain the discrepancy existing between the total of his inventory of gasoline on hand plus the number of evidences received by him in connection with the sale of gasoline and the total amount of gasoline plus the number of evidences which he should have on hand.

SEC. 8.5 Accountability and records of dealers and intermediate distributors. (a) Every dealer and intermediate distributor shall be accountable for all gasoline, coupons, ration credits and other evidences received by him and shall at all times have in his possession or control coupons, ration credits or other evidences having an aggregate gallonage value which, when added to the number of gallons of gasoline on hand, is equivalent in gallonage to his total gasoline storage capacity as stated in his registration filed with the Board pursuant to section 9.1 of Ration Order 5E or sections 9.8 and 9.9 of Ration Order 5E (except for such gasoline as may be accounted for by evaporation, handling, accident or other extraordinary circumstances, and except for such coupons or other evidences as may be accounted for by theft or unavoidable loss or by failure to receive all inventory coupons to which he was entitled upon registration).

(2) His total gasoline storage capacity.

(3) His name, firm name, business address, and type of business.

(4) A certification as to the correctness of each of the foregoing items of information.

(b) Separate registration shall be made by such dealer or intermediate distributor for each place of business in Puerto Rico where gasoline is transferred.

SEC. 9.2 What constitutes gasoline on hand. (a) The registrant shall register all gasoline on hand, whether in storage tanks, tank trucks, tank cars delivered to railroad sidings, drums, or other containers, except gasoline in the fuel tank of a motor vehicle. The registrant shall not register gasoline in transit which did not arrive at his place of business prior to the date of registration. Gasoline shipped to a dealer or intermediate distributor on or prior to the date of registration, but received by him at any time after the date of registration shall be deemed to be gasoline transferred to him subsequent to the date of registration, and shall require an exchange therefor of coupons or other evidences in the manner provided in sections 7.10 and 7.12.

SEC. 9.3 What constitutes storage capacity. (a) The registrant shall register the total capacity of all immobile gasoline storage facilities, but not the capacity of tank trucks, tank wagons, drums, or other movable containers: Provided, however, That a registrant who maintains no stationary gasoline storage tanks shall register the total capacity of all his delivery facilities.

SEC. 9.4 Issuance of registration certificates. (a) The Director, on determining that the information and certification submitted by the registrant are in good order, shall by his signature approve the same, in duplicate, forward duplicate to local Board having jurisdiction, and return the original to the registrant, who shall retain it as a certificate of registration at the place of business to which it applies and shall present it as an identification at the time of transacting business with any Board.

SEC. 9.5 Issuance of inventory coupons. (a) The Board shall, at the time of receiving an approved registration certificate, issue to the registrant inventory coupons in the amount of the difference between the total gasoline storage capacity for each place of business and the total inventory of gasoline on hand as certified by the registrant. A one-hundred gallon inventory coupon or a quantity of class A coupons may at any time subsequent to registration be exchanged at any Board in Puerto Rico by a dealer or intermediate distributor for an equivalent amount of one-gallon inventory coupons.

SEC. 9.6 Restriction on use of inventory coupons. (a) Every dealer and intermediate distributor shall retain all inventory coupons issued to him at the place of business for which they were issued, and shall exchange his inventory coupons only when a delivery to him exceeds the number of consumer coupons or other evidences available for exchange: Provided, however, That one-gallon inventory coupons may be used at any time to make up the difference between the number of gallons in any delivery and the nearest number of gallons which can be represented by the use of consumer coupons or other evidences.

SEC. 9.7 Cessation of business. (a) Any dealer or intermediate distributor who ceases to operate as such, disposes of his stocks of gasoline, and closes his place of business without transferring it to another for continued operation, shall, at the time of final closing, deliver to the Board having jurisdiction of the area in which his place of business is located the original certificate of registration of such place of business and a quantity of coupons or other evidences equal in gallonage value to the total capacity of the gasoline storage facilities of such place of business.

SEC. 9.8 Sale of place of business. (a) Any person acquiring from a dealer or intermediate distributor a place of business already registered in accordance with the provisions of § 1394.2901 of Ration Order 5B shall, prior to receipt or transfer of any gasoline, register such place of business, and shall be issued inventory coupons equal in gallonage value to the total capacity of the entire gasoline storage facilities of such place of business, as prescribed in sections 9.1 to 9.5, inclusive. He shall then deliver to the transferor of such place of business a quantity of inventory coupons equal in gallonage value to the total amount of gasoline on hand as of the time of transfer. SEC. 5. Records and reports. (a) Every person making a purchase or sale of pulpwood, for which a maximum price is established by this regulation, shall make and shall preserve, for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall be in effect, the same records of such purchases and sales as such person customarily made prior to the effective date of this regulation.

(b) Every person required to keep records by paragraph (a) of this section shall submit such reports as the Office of Price Administration, with the approval of the Bureau of the Budget, may from time to time require.

PART 1361—FARM EQUIPMENT

MANUFACTURERS' AND WHOLESALE PRICES FOR FARM EQUIPMENT

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 1361.55a is added to read as follows:

§ 1361.55a Emergency service charges—(a) Additional charge. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this regulation, a manufacturer of farm equipment parts may add an emergency service charge to the maximum price of any farm equipment part which is sold to a manufacturer who physically incorporates the part into a completed item of farm equipment or a farm equipment part produced by him. Such an emergency service charge must be billed or invoiced separately, and must be specifically authorized by the Office of Price Administration as set forth in (c) below.

(b) Definition of emergency service charge. When used in this section the term "emergency service charge" means the extra costs incurred in order to make delivery at the request of the purchaser on a date which would not have been possible without incurring the extra costs. These extra costs may result either from the necessity of obtaining the same material from a more expensive source than the usual source, or from the necessity of using a substitute material or a material of different specifications from that normally used by the manufacturer.

(c) Approval of addition of emergency service charge. The addition of the emergency service charge permitted by (a) above to the maximum price established by this regulation is conditioned upon the approval thereof by the Office of Price Administration. A manufacturer may add this charge, without prior consent of or application to the Office of Price Administration: Provided, That if the charge is added to the maximum price, the manufacturer shall, within seven days after delivery, file a statement with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., setting forth:

(1) The name and address of the purchaser.

(2) The quantity of each part or parts sold.

(3) The price received.

(4) The dollar amount of the emergency service charge added to each maximum price.

(5) The reasons why the addition of the emergency service charge was necessary.

(6) The method by which the amount of the emergency service charge was computed.

(7) A statement signed by the purchaser to the effect that he will not in turn increase his price or request an adjustment in the price of any item of farm equipment or any farm equipment part if the emergency service charge is permitted to be added.

(8) A statement of the reasons why the purchaser could not obtain delivery of the part or parts on the desired date in the normal course of business and the reasons why the purchaser must obtain delivery of the part or parts on that date. This statement shall be signed by the purchaser.

Unless disapproved within thirty days after receipt of this report by the Office of Price Administration, the addition of the emergency service charge will be considered as approved. If the Office of Price Administration disapproves the addition of all or some of the amount of the emergency service charge, it will require that refunds be made by the manufacturer to the purchaser.

This amendment shall become effective July 23, 1943.

NOTE: All report and record-keeping provisions of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance

Free of Heart; in 2" and 3" thicknesses—add $8.00 to maximum price for same thickness, width and length in above schedule.

Prices for Specific Sizes not in Schedule

The maximum price for material of a length not included in this schedule shall be determined by adding to the maximum price for the next shorter length the proportionate amount of the difference between the maximum price of such next shorter length and the maximum price of the next longer length.

In the case of any item for which the thickness or the width is not included in the schedule, the maximum price shall be the maximum price for the material of the next greater thickness or width.

The maximum prices set forth above supersede the maximum prices for like material authorized for individual sellers under the special pricing provisions of this Regulation.

3. In § 1382.11 paragraphs (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), (i), and (j) are redesignated (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), (i), (j), and (k); a new paragraph (c) is added; and redesignated paragraph (d) is amended, all to read as set forth below:

(c) Maximum prices for dunnage. (1) The maximum rail-delivered price for 1,000 feet of dunnage lumber shall be as follows:

Delivered at:	Maximum delivered price
Baltimore, Maryland	$26.00
Beaumont, Texas	16.00
Boston, Massachusetts	30.00
Charleston, South Carolina	17.00
Corpus Christi, Texas	17.00
Galveston, Texas	17.00
Gulfport, Mississippi	16.00
Houston, Texas	17.00
Jacksonville, Florida	17.00
Lake Charles, Louisiana	16.00
Mobile, Alabama	16.00
Morgan City, Louisiana	16.00
Newark, New Jersey	28.00
New Orleans, Louisiana	16.00
New York, New York	28.00
Pensacola, Florida	17.00
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania	27.00
Port Arthur, Texas	17.00
Portsmouth, Virginia	20.00
Savannah, Georgia	17.00
Tampa, Florida	19.00

(2) The maximum price for dunnage delivered at the above ports by water shall be the rail-delivered price as above set forth less the difference between the rail transportation charge from the point of shipment to the particular port, computed by multiplying the applicable rail rate by the weight of the lumber based on 3500 pounds for M'BM, and the actual water transportation charge from the point of shipment to the particular port.

(3) The term "dunnage" as used above means lumber of any hardwood species, of standard widths and lengths, but poorer in quality than the lowest standard grade in the particular species.

(d) Deduction for green. For lumber shipped in a "green" condition, deduct from the maximum prices for air-dried lumber established in this Appendix A, 10% of the maximum price for rough, air-dried material in the same specifications. This deduction, however, shall not apply to the prices for material contained in subparagraphs (22) and (23) of paragraph (b) above.

For the purposes of this paragraph, hardwood lumber shall be considered to be "green" unless it has been stacked on the yard for air-drying.

A purchaser may waive any requirement as to moisture content, in which case, if the lumber has been stacked on the yard, the air-dried price shall be applicable, regardless of the moisture content, but if the lumber has not been stacked on the yard for air-drying the "green" price shall be applicable.

4. In § 1382.12 (a) (1), a new subdivision (iii) is added to read as follows:

(iii) The provisions of this section shall not apply to applications filed on and after July 23, 1943. After that date, all

*Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

That maximum prices for "recurring special" grades or items previously established for individual mills under the provisions of this Appendix B, shall remain in full force and effect, except as to items now covered by Appendix C, § 1382.13.

5. Section 1382.13 is revoked, and a new § 1382.13 is added to read as follows:

§ 1382.13 Appendix C: Maximum prices for Appalachian hardwood lumber in "standard special" grades or items—(a) Standard special widths and lengths. The f. o. b. mill price for 1,000 feet of Appalachian hardwood lumber in the species and the "standard special" lengths and widths listed below shall be as follows:

(b) Maximum prices for grades, specifications and extras not specifically priced. (1) The maximum price for Appalachian hardwood lumber in grades, specifications and extras not specifically priced in Appendices A and C, shall be a price which bears the October 1941 relation to the most comparable standard item. The seller should find his price difference between the special item and this most comparable standard item in October 1941 or the first month before that in which he had sales of both items, or if this is impossible, the price differential he would have used. This difference is then added to or subtracted from the maximum price of the comparable standard grade, and the result is the maximum price for the special grade. This price must be reported to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., on OPA Form 246; 1 Rev. given in paragraph (3) below. It may be ordered reduced, if it is found excessive. But if the price is not disapproved within 30 days of the receipt of the report, it is approved.

(2) A seller using this pricing section can go ahead with delivery of the lumber and collection of the price he has computed or requested. But he must tell the buyer that the price is subject to revision within the thirty-day period, and, if the price is ordered reduced, must refund any excess over the final approved price.

PART 1448—EATING AND DRINKING ESTABLISHMENTS

FOOD AND DRINK SOLD FOR IMMEDIATE CONSUMPTION, DESIGNATED COUNTIES IN OHIO

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this Amendment No. 1 to Restaurant Maximum Price Regulation No. 3-5 has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Restaurant Maximum Price Regulation No. 3-5 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 4 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 4. No ceiling price to be higher than the highest price in the base period. Under no circumstances are you permitted to charge a higher price for a food item or meal which you did not offer in the seven-day period than the highest price at which you offered a food item or meal under the same class during the seven-day period, except that, if, during the thirty-day period immediately prior to April 4, 1943, you served a food item or meal at a price higher than the highest price charged for food items or meals in the same class during the aforesaid seven-day base period, then you may continue to sell that same food item or meal at the higher price. In any such case, your records, as set forth in section 9 (b) herein, must include the menu or information showing the previous offering of such food item or meal at the higher price.

Example 1. If you figured an "in line" price for a week day at $1.25, and your highest price in the week day dinner class is $1.00, your ceiling price for the new dinner is $1.00.

Example 2. If during the seven-day period your highest price for soup was 15 cents, you may not offer any soup at a price higher than 15 cents.

Example 3. If during the seven-day period your highest price for a week day dinner was $1.25, in general that is the highest price you may charge for any week day dinner. If, however, you served a chicken dinner at $1.50 on any week day within 30 days prior to April 4, 1943, then you may continue to serve the same chicken at $1.50 even though that is a higher price than any price charged for the same class dinner during the seven day period. But you may not add a new meal not served during the 30 day period, at a price in excess of $1.25. Observe the requirement that a supporting menu (or price list) be made available to justify such exception.

2. Section 17 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 17. Provision for amendments and adjustments — (a) Amendments. The provisions of this regulation to the contrary notwithstanding, the Office of Price Administration may from time to time issue special orders providing for the reduction of the maximum price of any food item or items or meal or meals sold or offered for sale by any seller or sellers when, in the judgment of the Administrator, such action is necessary or desirable to prevent excessive charges, to prevent inflation, to stabilize prices affecting the cost of living, or to carry out the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders 9250 and 9328.

(b) Adjustments. The Office of Price Administration may adjust the maximum prices for any eating or drinking establishment under the following circumstances:

(1) The establishment will be forced to discontinue operations unless it is granted an adjustment of the maximum prices established by this regulation.

*Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

[1] 8 F.R. 9122.

(2) Such discontinuance will result in serious inconvenience to consumers in that they will either be deprived of all restaurant service or will have to turn to other establishments that present substantial difficulties as to distance, hours of service, selection of meals or food items offered, capacity, or transportation.

(3) By reason of such discontinuance, the same meals or food items will cost the customers of the eating establishment as much or more than the proposed adjusted prices.

If you are the proprietor of an eating establishment which satisfies the requirements specified above, you may apply for an adjustment of your maximum prices by submitting to your Office of Price Administration District Office an application in duplicate. The application should contain the following information:

(1) Your name and address.

(2) A description of your eating establishment, including the type of service rendered, such as cafeteria, table service, etc.; classes of meals offered, such as breakfast, lunch and dinner; number of persons served per day during the most recent thirty-day period. (In counting the number of persons served, anyone who was served more than once is to be counted separately for each occasion he was served); and such other information that may be useful in classifying your establishment.

(3) The reasons why your customers will be seriously inconvenienced if you discontinue operations.

(4) The names and addresses of the three nearest eating places of the same type as yours.

(5) A list showing your present maximum prices and requested adjusted prices.

(6) A profit and loss statement for your restaurant business for the most recent three-month accounting period, and a copy of your last income tax return if one was filed separately for your restaurant business.

Applications for adjustment under this section may be acted upon by the Regional Administrator or by any District Director who has been authorized to do so by order of the Regional Administrator.

This amendment shall become effective July 1, 1943.

PART 1305—ADMINISTRATION

[Gen. RO 5,[1] Incl. Amdt. 31]

FOOD RATIONING FOR INSTITUTIONAL USERS

Section 28.8 (e) is amended by Amendment 31, effective July 23, 1943, so that General Ration Order No. 5 shall read as follows:

Why restaurants and other institutional users must be rationed. Food is consumed not only in private homes, but also in other types of eating places, such as restaurants, boarding houses and public and private institutions. For people who do all their eating at home, the ordinary individual rationing controls, through food ration stamps, provide fair and equitable distribution of scarce foods. However, these controls do not cover the problem of the many people who take some or all of their meals in public eating places, or in institutions.

It would not be reasonable to restrict home consumption and, at the same time, to permit restaurant use of food to remain uncontrolled. On the other hand, it is clear that adequate provision must be made for those who are not home consumers. Their needs must be satisfied and, to the extent possible, they should be placed in the same position as those who eat at home.

This was recognized when the sugar rationing program was started. Restaurants, boarding houses and other eating establishments were registered as "institutional users", and a method was provided for giving them "allotments" of sugar. When coffee rationing began, institutional users were again registered and given allotments of coffee. Under both programs, the aim was to give eating establishments allotments which would put their patrons in much the same position as home consumers. That aim—to give restaurant consumers their fair share of scarce foods, and no more—is common to all food rationing programs.

Need for a general institutional user program. With the launching of a program for rationing processed foods and with the prospective extension of rationing to meat and other foods, it becomes necessary to eliminate the complications which would result from handling eating establishments on a program by program basis. In order to avoid confusion, a general method for getting all rationed foods should be made available to eating establishments.

The purpose of this order is to bring together all rules which institutional users follow in getting supplies of rationed foods—those now being rationed and those to be rationed in the future. At the same time, this order is prepared in the light of the problems and experience of institutional users under earlier food programs. Where experience has shown that earlier programs did not give full recognition to certain differences in their operations and functions, this order recognizes those differences. Where experience has shown that greater flexibility is needed, this order provides it.

The program is timed to begin on the same date as processed foods rationing—and the date coincides with the beginning of sugar and coffee allotment periods. In that way, institutional users simply register under this order—instead of registering under the processed foods order and, at the same time, apply for sugar and coffee allotments. The information they furnish at registration will be used to determine not only their allotments of processed foods, but also of sugar and coffee—and, to the extent possible, of meats and other foods, when they are rationed.

How institutional users are rationed. Food eaten in private homes is rationed by issuing books to the individual members of the household. This method is not, at the present time, readily adaptable to food eaten in public eating places. It would require complicated machinery for the issuance of stamps for meals, or for very small quantities of each rationed food—a stamp good for the two spoonfuls of sugar used at a meal, a stamp for a cup of coffee, a stamp for a helping of canned vegetables. The complexity of these methods and of others which were considered, as well as the burdens which would be involved in administering them, indicated that it would be better, under present conditions, to ration foods for eating establishments on a broader basis—by giving each establishment an allotment of rationed foods, which it can use for serving meals.

The problem then arises as to how the allotment should be figured. The amount of patronage in each restaurant may change greatly over a short period of time. There are many differences among restaurants—some serve large portions, while some serve small ones—some specialize in one food, while some specialize in another. Moreover, the size of the meals eaten by customers varies widely. One customer makes a meal out of a sandwich and a cup of coffee. Another eats five or six courses. To make fair allotments of rationed foods involves the consideration of several items of information. It also involves computations which are time-consuming. However, this cannot be avoided if the public interest is to be protected, and if institutional users are to be treated fairly.

There are, however, two types of institutional users whose problems and operations can be covered very simply and easily. These are small boarding houses, which are called Group I institutional users, and institutions of involuntary confinement (such as jails, prisons, asylums and homes for delinquents), which are called Group II institutional users. Other eating establishments—such as restaurants, cafeterias, hotels, refreshment stands, canteens, charity establishments and the like (called Group III institutional users) have problems which are somewhat more complex. Group III users get their allotments on the basis of more detailed information and computations made by the ration Boards.

The Group I plan for boarding houses and similar establishments. Boarding houses, particularly the small ones, are very much like enlarged family households. They are therefore treated in much the same way as households. They get their supplies of rationed foods by using the ration books of their boarders and of the other people who eat there. They thus operate on what is known as the "pooled book" plan. (There are certain very small users who are not covered by the program at all. Those who serve fewer than seven people a day are not even required to register, since they can be regarded as ordinary households.)

This plan is compulsory for eating places (other than institutions of involuntary confinement, and certain other specified users), where less than fifty (50) people reside and where eighty (80) percent of the food service is to people living on the premises and eating eight (8) or more meals a week there. Any institutional user establishment whatsoever—a large boarding house, a hotel or a restaurant, or even a jail—may adopt this plan if it so desires. But any establishment which operates under this plan cannot acquire rationed foods in any other manner.

The idea behind this plan is that a small boarding house, where almost all the meals are served to regular boarders, does not need and should not get an allotment. It can get rationed foods, just like a family household, through the pooled ration books of its boarders. A person who takes eight or more meals at a place where he lives presumably does not have to use his ration book anywhere else. If he does, he can make appropriate arrangements with the boarding house keeper. The occasional meals served to outside guests should create no hardship. If necessary, the guests can arrange to let the owner get food for them by using their books, just like guests in an ordinary family household.

The pooled book plan may be too burdensome for very large boarding establishments, and impracticable for restaurants without steady customers. For that reason, they are not required to operate under that plan. Yet there are individual cases where such establishments may find it worthwhile to make arrangements with their customers for the use of their ration books to get food for them, and may regard the pooled book plan as less troublesome than applying for allotments. Such places are therefore allowed to operate on the pooled book plan if they wish to do so.

The Group II plan for institutions of involuntary confinement. In the case of institutions of involuntary confinement, the problem of controlling the supply of rationed foods is simplified by the circumstance that they have a relatively stable population, and even more by the fact that they generally operate on a food budget per person. The obvious solution is to give them an allowance per person for each rationed food, which approximates the private consumer's ration. That allowance is the maximum which they can get.

Institutions of this type cannot be compelled to operate on a pooled book basis since many of their inmates will not have or will not be entitled to ration books.

At the time of registration, applicants in this group declare the number of persons served during the month of December 1942. (December 1942 is the base month which generally serves as the standard in institutional user calculations.) The Board multiplies this figure by the allowance per person. It then multiplies the result by two and the figure obtained is the first allotment, for the two month period beginning March 1, 1943. The same allotment is granted for the second period.

The allotments for all periods after the first two will be based on the number of persons served during the two calendar months preceding the date on which applications for new allotments can be made.

Institutions may apply for a supplemental allotment (calculated on a per person basis) under certain circumstances to take care of an increase in the number of persons served.

The Group III plan for restaurants and similar eating places. In solving the allotment problems for the largest class of eating places, the Group III institutional user establishments, it was necessary to work out fair methods for measuring two things—the basis for computing allotments when a rationing program goes into effect, and the changes in allotments that should be made to take care of changes in the volume of business that are bound to arise in the course of the program.

How the allotment basis is fixed. To fix the allotment basis, the month of December 1942 was selected as the standard. This month was chosen because it represents conditions prior to the start of processed foods rationing and of other rationing programs that may follow. The amount of food a restaurant or other eating establishment used in December will show, by and large, the amount of the consumer demand which it normally satisfies. (If an establishment was not operated in December 1942, the order makes provision for using figures for a different month to fix the allotment basis).

While the actual use of a food during December can be taken as a basis for fixing the allotment, it would not be proper to give an allotment equal to the full December use. The average home consumer gets, under rationing, less than his normal supply of a rationed food. Restaurants and restaurant consumers should bear a reduction comparable to that borne by home consumers. To accomplish this, the December use is multiplied by a percentage (called a "factor") that is set by the Office of Price Administration for each rationed food. That percentage corresponds to the reduction that the home consumer bears. However, sugar and coffee were rationed in December and their December use was already curtailed by rationing. Therefore there is, at least for the first period, no reduction for sugar and coffee.

December use is, however, not the only fact which must be taken into account in fixing an allotment basis. Certain restaurants feature, and serve unusually large portions of, a particular food, such as meat. When that food is rationed such restaurants would have an advantage over other restaurants that did not feature it, if the allotments to all restaurants were based only on December use. Under rationing, the amount of rationed food which a restaurant and a restaurant consumer can get should not be increased merely because unusually large portions of that food were served in the past. Rationed foods are too scarce for that.

In order to prevent unfairness, a second test is also applied in fixing the allotment basis. The number of customers served during December is multiplied by an allowance per person for the particular rationed food, which approximates the private consumer's ration. The figure reached this way is compared with the figure reached on the basis of December use. Whichever figure is smaller is taken as the allotment basis. In this way, the basis takes into account the type of operation and the volume of business and, through the "per person" allowance, aims to make certain that no institutional user can get more than a fair share of a scarce food.

The allotment for the first two periods is then fixed at two times this allotment basis—since the allotment is for a two month period, while the basis covers only one month of operation (December 1942).

How increased allotments are given. The second major problem affecting Group III users arises from changes in the volume of their business. Allotments for later periods should, of course, be based on the experience and the need of the applicant and his patrons. There are two customary ways of measuring changes in the volume of business—change in the number of persons served, and change in dollar revenue. Of these, the more important, from the point of view of rationing, is the number of persons served, since that shows how much food is needed. However, that figure—the number of persons served—is not altogether reliable for all purposes. It may include a larger number of milk-and-pie sales rather than complete meals. Or a restaurant may reduce its prices and serve more people, but if it serves less to each person it would not need more food. In order to check whether an increase in number of persons served really shows an increased service of food, dollar revenue must be examined. A restaurant which reduced both its portions and its prices does not need, and would not get, larger allotments merely because it served more people.

Therefore, in determining allotments for later periods, every applicant in Group III is required to show (1) his revenue for the first two of the three calendar months before the new allotment period, and (2) the number of persons he served during those two months. These figures are compared with his December figures. If they show that the average number of persons he served and his average dollar revenue both increased, as compared with December, his allotment is increased. However, since his dollar revenue is used as a check, for the reasons stated above, only the smaller increase is counted—so that if dollar revenue increased less than persons served, his allotment is increased only in proportion to the growth in his dollar revenue. If, on the other hand, the average number of persons he served shows a decrease, as compared with December, his allotment is decreased proportionately, regardless of his dollar revenue. (This is done so that a restaurant cannot get a larger allotment just by increasing the price of its meals.) In all other cases, the allotment remains the same. For example, if the number of persons served increased, while dollar revenue decreased, the allotment is unchanged—because dollar revenue is used as a check against increases, as explained before.

In the case of establishments that do not charge for meals, no increases in allotments are given. The reason for this is that increases are primarily intended for places which serve the public at large and which meet an increased public need. Generally speaking, the fact that an establishment charges for food is a fair indication that it serves the public at large. There are, of course, certain exceptions, but that is the fairest and simplest general rule. In order to take care of cases of undue hardship, provision is made for adjustments—and establishments of other types that do not charge for food are given an opportunity to petition for an adjustment when a situation which warrants relief exists.

Treatment of individuals who live in Group II and Group III establishments. A person who lives in a hotel and takes his meals there regularly, does not need his war ration books while he is there. Since he gets meals without using his books he does not need them to buy food. The same is true of a person who is confined in an institution where he is fed.

For these reasons, the order provides that a person who lives in a Group II or Group III establishment for seven days or more, and who takes eight or more meals a week there, must turn over his war ration books to the owner of the establishment. The owner must tear out stamps covering the period of his stay, and must send them to the board for cancellation. The owner of the establishment is, of course, not allowed to use the stamps. When a person ends his stay at the establishment, his books must be returned.

The purpose of this rule is to make sure that ration stamps are not used in cases where they are obviously not needed. The rule applies only to cases where a person regularly eats at an institutional user establishment in Group II or III, and also lives there. In cases of that sort, it is reasonable to assume that he does not need the stamps in his books, since he gets food where he lives, without using the books to get it.

If a person lives in a Group I establishment, however, he needs his books to get food because the establishment operates on a pooled-book basis. Therefore, he does not have to give up stamps for cancellation—and he may let the boarding house keeper use his books to get rationed food for service to him.

Adjustments. To take care of special situations which may arise, and of cases of serious hardship, the order contains provisions for granting many types of adjustments. Hospitals may, for example, obtain additional allotments to meet the dietary needs of patients. An institutional user whose operations increase substantially during an allotment period, and whose allotment is not large enough to cover the increase, may get a supplemental allotment. Provision is made for emergency allotments, in cases of public disasters such as fires, floods and similar emergencies, when sufferers must be fed.

The order thus aims to achieve maximum flexibility and to take care, as far as possible, of all cases of legitimate need. However, the need must, of course, be of a type which can properly be recognized in the light of the scarcity of rationed foods and the necessity of fair control over their distribution and use.

Article I—Users and Establishments Covered by Order

SECTION 1.1 What is an institutional use? (a) Any use by a "person" of a "rationed food" in the preparation of food which he serves to consumers, or in the service of food to consumers, is an "institutional use." However, such use of rationed food in a household or farm is not an institutional use unless an average of seven or more people a day are served there, not counting those who maintain the household or farm, the members of their family, and their employees and servants.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 23, 8 F.R. 7105, effective 5–31–43]

(b) Any use of a rationed food for producing an article which is not a rationed food and which is not to be served by the person who uses it, is an industrial and not an institutional use. (For example, if processed foods and sugar are used at a bakery to bake pies which it sells to consumers, such use is an industrial use since the bakery does not "serve" the pies. If at the same place, pie is served to consumers who eat there, the use of rationed foods to make such pie is an institutional use.)

(c) On and after May 1, 1943 any use of a rationed food for experimental, educational, testing or demonstration purposes is an industrial and not an institutional use.

[Paragraph (c) added by Amendment 18, 8 F.R. 5485, effective 4–30–43]

SEC. 1.2 What is an institutional user establishment? (a) Any place where there is an institutional use of rationed foods is an "institutional user establishment."

(b) If the person who prepares the food does not serve it at a fixed location, the term "institutional user establishment" refers to his institutional use of food, and not to the place at which he happens to be serving it at any given time. (For example, a caterer, or a person who prepares food and serves it from a mobile canteen or from a railroad dining car may have no fixed location at which he serves the food. In that case, this operation is regarded as his institutional user establishment.)

(c) If a person prepares food at one place and serves it at another fixed place, any rationed food used in its preparation is considered used in the establishment where he serves it.

(d) If a person prepares food at a place where no food is served, and then serves that food somewhere else, the place where it is prepared is not an institutional user establishment. (For example, if a person prepares food at a central kitchen where no food is served, and then sends it to his restaurant for service there, the kitchen is not an institutional user establishment, but the restaurant is.)

(e) The same place may be both an industrial user establishment and an institutional user establishment. (For example, if a bakery uses sugar to bake pies which it does not serve to consumers, and also to bake pies which are served to consumers who eat there, the bakery is both an industrial user establishment and an institutional user establishment.)

SEC. 1.3 Who is an institutional user? (a) Any person who makes an institutional use of a rationed food is called an "institutional user."

SEC. 1.4 Persons who registered farms as institutional users. (a) A person who is not an institutional user with respect to his establishment under section 1.3 (a) as amended, but who registered as such (for example, because he fed his farm employees in a bunkhouse rather than in his household) may not apply for or obtain allotments for that establishment on or after June 15, 1943. His registration of the establishment shall be cancelled at the end of the second allotment period, and he shall then be deemed to be closing that "establishment", for the purposes of this order.

[Sec. 1.4 added by Amendment 23, 8 F.R. 7105, effective 5-31-43]

Article II—Groups of Institutional User Establishments

SEC. 2.1 Institutional user establishments are divided into three groups. (a) Institutional user establishments are divided into three groups:

(1) A "pooled book" group, called Group I;

(2) An "involuntary confinement" group, called Group II;

(3) A "general" group, called Group III.

(b) Establishments in Group I do not receive allotments of rationed foods, but may obtain those foods for preparation and service through the use of the "war ration books" of the persons eating there. Establishments in the other groups are given allotments of rationed foods.

SEC. 2.2 Group I establishments and users. (a) An institutional user establishment is in Group I if:

(1) Food is served in that establishment to persons who live there or who live in premises maintained by the institutional user in connection with it; and

(2) Fewer than fifty (50) persons, on the average, lived in the establishment (or in the premises maintained in connection with it), during December 1942; and

(3) Eighty percent (80%) or more of the food services in the establishment during December 1942, were to persons who lived there (or in the premises maintained in connection with it) for seven consecutive days or more and who had eight or more meals a week there. In making the above determinations, members of the family, employees and servants must be included.

(b) Institutions of involuntary confinement (such as prisons, insane asylums and homes for delinquents) and also lake steamers, fishing vessels, tugs, barges, and other ships, are not in Group I even if they meet the above tests.

(c) If an institutional user establishment was not in operation during December 1942, its figures during its last full calendar month of operation after January 1, 1942, are used for determining whether it is a Group I establishment. Its figures for that month are to be treated, for this purpose, just as if they were for December 1942.

(d) An institutional user may, if he desires, register and operate any of his institutional user establishments as a Group I establishment. (However, if he does so, he must operate it on a "pooled book" basis and he cannot get an allotment for that establishment.)

(e) Any institutional user who has an establishment in Group I is called a Group I institutional user with respect to that establishment.

SEC. 2.3 Group II establishments and users. (a) An institutional user establishment is in Group II if it is operated as a prison, jail, insane asylum, home for delinquents or other institution of involuntary confinement.

(b) Any institutional user who has an establishment in Group II is called a Group II institutional user with respect to that establishment.

SEC. 2.4 Group III establishments and users. (a) All institutional user establishments not covered by sections 2.2 or 2.3 are in Group III. In addition, any lake steamer, fishing vessel, tug, barge, or other ship, is in Group III.

(b) Any institutional user who has an establishment in Group III is called a Group III institutional user with respect to that establishment.

SEC. 2.5 Institutional users who have establishments in more than one group. (a) An institutional user who has establishments in more than one group is treated separately for each group. For the purposes of this order, he is treated as a separate person for each group (except for certain purposes in connection with registration and application for allotments).

Article III—Registration and Opening Inventory of Institutional Users

SEC. 3.1 Institutional users must register at board. (a) Every institutional user must register with the Office of Price Administration, on OPA Form R-1307, at any time from March 1 to March 10, 1943, inclusive, or at such other time or times as may be designated by the Deputy Administrator in Charge of Rationing. (Seasonal users see section 10.1.)

(b) Two copies of the registration form must be completed and signed by the institutional user or his authorized agent, and must be filed with the board for the place where his principal business office is located. He must give all information called for by the form. He must retain a third copy at all times at his principal business office.

(c) If an institutional user has establishments in more than one group, he must give the information called for by the form separately for each group.

(d) An institutional user who has more than one institutional user establishment must either combine all his establishments in a single registration, or must file a separate registration form for each of them. He may not combine some and register others separately. If he registers his establishments separately, the registration form for each establishment must be filed with the board for the place where that establishment is located, and the third copy must be retained at all times at that establishment. If he combines all his establishments in a single registration, he must attach to the form a list of his establishments, showing the name and address of each and the group to which it belongs. However, if he operates mobile conveyances (such as ships, airplanes, dining cars or mobile canteens), he need not list them but he must describe on the form the types he operates.

(e) If an institutional user who has more than one institutional user establishment registers them separately, each establishment is to be treated separately, for all the purposes of this and any other food ration order, just as if it were operated by a different person. This rule applies to all operations under this order, except where specific provision to the contrary is made for establishments which are separately registered.

SEC. 3.2 Institutional users must report their opening inventory of processed foods. (a) As part of his registration on OPA Form R-1307, every institutional user must report the point value of his inventory of "processed foods" at the close of business on February 28, 1943. (This inventory is called his "opening inventory" of processed foods.) If he files a combined registration for institutional user establishments in more than one group, he must report separately the total inventory of his establishments in each group.

(b) An institutional user's opening inventory of processed foods consists of all processed foods in the inventory of his institutional user establishment. The inventory of an establishment includes all processed foods physically located at or in transit to it, except:

(1) Processed foods stored there for another person, or held there as security for a loan or similar transaction, or in transit to it for either of those purposes; and

(2) Processed foods included in the inventory of any other establishment under Ration Order No. 13 (processed foods ration order).

(c) An institutional user's opening inventory of processed foods also includes all processed foods which he holds at or which are in transit to any place other than his institutional user establishment, for his institutional use. However, processed foods included in the inventory of any other establishment, under Ration Order No. 13, must not be reported as part of his opening inventory.

(d) If an institutional user has more than one establishment, or if he has establishments in more than one group, processed foods which are physically located at or in transit to an establishment must be included in the inventory of that establishment or, if he has registered his establishments together, of the group to which it belongs. However, any other processed foods in his inventory may be divided among his establishments as he chooses.

(e) An institutional user's opening inventory of processed foods does not include any held for personal or family use. (These must, however, be declared, to the extent required, in an application for War Ration Book Two.)

(f) The point value of an institutional user's inventory of processed foods at the close of business on February 28, 1943, is to be computed in the following way:

(1) The amount in pounds in each of the following classes is determined:

(i) Canned and bottled; dry peas, beans and lentils;

(ii) Frozen;

(iii) Dried and dehydrated fruits, soups and soup mixtures.

[Paragraph (1) as amended by Amendment 2, 8 F.R. 2598, effective 3-1-43]

(2) The amount in each class is multiplied by a factor fixed by the Office of Price Administration (in a supplement to this order) to represent the average point value of processed foods in that class.

(3) The resulting figures are added, and the total is the point value of his processed foods inventory.

SEC. 3.3 Opening inventory of sugar and coffee. (a) At the time of an institutional user's registration, the amounts of sugar and coffee, as of February 28, 1943, which the board or boards with which he has registered for sugar and coffee would have been required to deduct from certificates issued for his future institutional user allotments or allowances under Ration Orders No. 3 and 12 (sugar and coffee rationing regulations) shall be his "opening inventory" of sugar and coffee. If the institutional user was registered at a board or boards other than the one with which he is now registering, he shall notify the latter board of the address of the board or boards with which he was registered and of his opening inventories of sugar and coffee at each of those boards.

(b) If an institutional user has establishments in more than one group, his opening inventory of sugar and coffee may be divided between the groups as he chooses. If he has more than one establishment in a group, and registers them separately, his opening inventory of sugar and coffee may be divided among them, as he chooses.

(c) An institutional user who registered on OPA Form R-310, as both an industrial and an institutional user of sugar, may divide his opening inventory of sugar between these uses in proportion to his use of sugar in each.

SEC. 3.4 Late registration. The board may, in its discretion, permit an institutional user to register after March 10, 1943. In such case, except for good cause shown, the allotment shall be reduced by an amount corresponding to the part of the period which has elapsed at the time of registration and no allotment shall be granted for any allotment periods which have expired prior to registration.

SEC. 3.5 Special procedure where board does not have Form R-1307. (a) If a board does not have a sufficient quantity of OPA Forms R-1307, the Regional Administrator may authorize it to grant allotments of rationed foods to Group II or III institutional users who have been unable to register under this order because of the lack of such forms.

(b) Application must be made to the board on OPA Form R-315. The applicant must state:

(1) The number of persons he served during December 1942 (computed in the way provided in Secs. 6.1 (a) and 7.1 (b) and (c)).

(2) His inventory (in pounds) of processed foods at the close of business on February 28, 1943, stated separately for each of the classes described in Sec. 3.2 (f) (1), as amended.

(3) In the case of a Group III user, the amount in pounds, of sugar and coffee used by him during December, 1942, and the amount, in pounds, of processed foods used by him in December, 1942, stated separately for each of the classes described in Sec. 3.2 (f) (1), as amended. (Each shall be computed in accordance with Sec. 7.1 (c)).

(c) Upon the filing of such application, the Board shall grant to the applicant allotments of rationed foods for the first allotment period, computed in the way provided in Articles VI and VII, and shall issue certificates therefor subject to the provisions of Article IX.

(d) Any institutional user who receives an allotment pursuant to this section must nevertheless register with the board prior to April 15th, 1943, on OPA Form R-1307, and must furnish all of the information required by that form.

[Sec. 3.5 added by Amendment 7, 8 F.R. 3255, effective 3-15-43]

SEC. 3.6 Inventory of foods covered by Ration Order No. 16. (a) As part of his application for his first allotment of "foods covered by Ration Order No. 16", an institutional user must report in pounds his inventory of each class of those foods at the close of business on March 28, 1943 in accordance with the rules stated in paragraphs (a) to (e) of section 3.2 with respect to processed foods. However, for the purpose of this section, all references to Ration Order No. 13 shall be read as Ration Order No. 16.

[Section heading as amended by Amendment 25, 8 F.R. 7453, effective 6-2-43]

(b) The point value of an institutional user's inventory of food covered by Ration Order No. 16 at the close of business on March 28, 1943 is to be computed in the following way:

(1) The amount in pounds in each of the following classes is determined:

(i) Meat (except poultry but including canned fish)

(ii) Rationed cheeses

(iii) Butter (as defined in Ration Order No. 16)

(iv) Margarine (as defined in Ration Order No. 16)

(v) Shortening (as defined in Ration Order No. 16)

(vi) Cooking or salad oils (as defined in Ration Order 16)

(2) The amount in pounds in each of the above classes are added together;

(3) The resulting sum is multiplied by a factor fixed for that purpose by the Office of Price Administration (in a supplement to this order). The result is treated as the point value of his inventory.

[Sec. 3.6 added by Amendment 8, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3-29-43]

(c) As part of his application for his allotment of foods covered by Ration Order No. 16 for the third allotment period, an institutional user must report in pounds his inventory of "canned milk" at the close of business on June 1, 1943 in accordance with the rules stated in paragraphs (a) to (e) of section 3.2 with respect to processed foods. However, for the purpose of this paragraph, all references to Ration Order No. 13 shall be read as Ration Order No. 16. Such inventory shall be treated as excess inventory.

(d) The point value of an institutional user's inventory of canned milk at the close of business on June 1, 1943 is computed by multiplying the total weight in pounds by one (1) point per pound.

[Paragraphs (c) and (d) added by Amendment 25, 8 F.R. 7453, effective 6-2-43]

SEC. 3.7 Correction of registration. (a) A person who uses rationed food for experimental, educational, testing or demonstration purposes and who has included such use in his registration as an institutional user shall correct his registration to exclude such use.

[Sec. 3.7 added by Amendment 18, 8 F.R. 5485, effective 4-30-43]

SEC. 3.8 Opening inventory of frozen fruits and vegetables in containers over ten (10) pounds. (a) As part of his application for an allotment of processed foods for the third allotment period or when he applies for an allotment pursuant to section 7.6 (b), whichever is earlier, an institutional user must report in pounds his inventory of frozen fruits and vegetables in containers over ten (10) pounds at the close of business on June 5, 1943 in accordance with the rules stated in paragraphs (a) to (e) of section 3.2. Such inventory shall be treated as excess inventory.

(b) The point value of an institutional user's inventory of frozen fruits and vegetables in containers over ten (10) pounds at the close of business on June 5, 1943 is to be computed by multiplying the total weight in pounds by a factor fixed for that purpose by the Office of Price Administration (in a supplement to this order).

[Sec. 3.8 added by Amendment 26, 8 F.R. 7600, effective 6-5-43]

Article IV—Group I Institutional Users

SEC. 4.1 Group I institutional users get rationed foods by using "pooled" war ration books. (a) Institutional users are not entitled to allotments of rationed foods for establishments in Group I. They may, however, get rationed foods for the preparation or services of food in Group I establishments through the use of the war ration books of the individuals eating there. The books of these individuals may be "pooled" with the institutional user, who may act as their agent in acquiring rationed foods for service to them. Individuals eating in a Group I establishment may make such arrangement for the use of their war ration books by the person operating the establishment as may be mutually satisfactory. (However, they are not required to give up their books to him.)

SEC. 4.2 Group I user must account for opening inventory. (a) An institutional user who had an opening inventory of a rationed food for his Group I establishment must not buy or acquire any more of that rationed food until he gives up to the board currently valid stamps or certificates received by him, equal to that opening inventory. Only stamps taken from the war ration books of individuals eating in his establishment and only certificates received from those individuals may be given up by him.

(b) However, upon application on OPA Form R-315, showing that the applicant's opening inventory of processed foods and the stamps and certificates which he would have after giving up stamps or certificates equal to his opening inventory will not provide him with a reasonable quantity of particular types of processed foods needed in the operation of his establishment, the board may authorize him to retain stamps or certificates to enable him to acquire a reasonable quantity of those types of processed foods, and to surrender stamps or certificates of an equal point value at such future dates as may be fixed by the board. (For example: An applicant may have an opening inventory of 1,000 points consisting entirely of canned soups. The total point value of currently valid stamps and certificates of individuals eating in his establishment, which he can surrender to the board, may be 1,000 points. If he surrendered those certificates and stamps he would be unable to acquire canned vegetables. In such case the board may permit him to retain 200 points for the purchase of canned vegetables, if he needs them in the operation of his establishment. The board can require the surrender of those 200 points at the beginning of subsequent periods of validity of stamps.)

[Paragraph (b) as amended by Amendment 25, 8 F.R. 7453, effective 6-2-43]

Article V—Allotments for Group II and III Users

SEC. 5.1 Group II and III users are entitled to allotments. (a) Institutional users are entitled to allotments of rationed foods for establishments in Group II and III. (An institutional user who is a roaster of green coffee under Ration Order No. 12 may be entitled not only to an allotment under this order but also to an allowable inventory as a roaster under Ration Order No. 12. As a roaster, he is also required to comply with the provisions of Ration Order No. 12 applicable to roasters.)

SEC. 5.2 Allotments are given for two month periods. (a) Allotments for Group II and III institutional users are given for two month periods. The first allotment period is from March 1, 1943 to April 30, 1943, inclusive. However, in the case of foods covered by Ration Order No. 16, the first allotment period is from March 29, 1943 to April 30, 1943. Each consecutive two month period which follows is an allotment period.

[Sec. 5.2 as amended by Amendment 8, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3-29-43]

SEC. 5.3 Group II and III users must apply for allotments. (a) An institutional user in Group II or III must apply for an allotment for each period for which he needs one. (An institutional user in these groups may use rationed foods only up to the amounts of the allotments he gets. His allotment establishes his right to use rationed foods—it is not just a method by which he gets those foods. Therefore, he may need an allotment even if his stocks on hand are adequate.)

(b) An institutional user's registration on OPA Form R-1307 is treated as an application for allotments for the first allotment period. (However, an institutional user who has registered under this order may apply for an allotment of foods covered by Ration Order No. 16 for the first allotment period by making a written request therefor to the board at any time between March 29, 1943 and April 7, 1943.) Application for allotments for the second allotment period shall be made to the board in writing, but need not be made on any particular form. All applications for subsequent allotment periods must be made to the board on OPA Form R-1309. Application for the second and subsequent allotment periods may be made in person or by mail and must be filed not more than fifteen (15) days before, nor more than five (5) days after, the beginning of the period.

[Paragraph (b) as amended by Amendment 11, 8 F.R. 4784, effective 4-16-43]

(c) The board may, in its discretion, permit an application for an allotment to be made later than the time fixed in the last paragraph. In such case, it shall reduce the allotment by an amount corresponding to the part of the allotment period which has elapsed at the time of application.

SEC. 5.4 Future allotments for certain Group II or III institutional users. (a) Because of transportation difficulties or unusually long distances from markets, some Group II or III institutional users must obtain rationed foods to last for more than one allotment period. When such institutional users apply for allotments pursuant to section 5.3 (b), they may also apply in writing, for allotments to be used in later allotment periods. (An allotment to be used in a later allotment period is called a future allotment.) The board may, for good cause, permit an application for a future allotment to be made at any other time.

(b) If the board finds that the applicant meets the tests set out in paragraph (a), it may grant the future allotments required by him.

(c) Each future allotment of a rationed food shall be equal in amount to the last allotment granted on application made pursuant to section 5.3(b). (For example on May 1, 1943, an applicant applies pursuant to section 5.3(b) for an allotment of sugar for May and June, and a future allotment for July and August. If his allotment for May and June is 500 pounds, the board may grant an allotment of an additional 500 pounds for July and August.)

(d) When an applicant who has received a future allotment next applies for allotments pursuant to section 5.3(b), the board shall compute the allotment which he would have received pursuant to that section for the allotment period covered by the future allotment. If the amount of a future allotment exceeds the amount of the allotment he would have been entitled to receive for that period pursuant to section 5.3(b), the difference shall be deducted from the allotment for which he is applying. If the amount of the future allotment is less than the amount which he would have been entitled to receive, the difference shall be added to the allotment for which he is applying.

Article VI—Computation of Allotment for Group II Users

SEC. 6.1 Allotment is computed on basis of number of persons served. (a) An institutional user's allotment for establishments in Group II is based on the number of persons to whom he served food there. In counting the number of persons served, anyone who was served more than once is to be counted separately for each occasion he was served. (For example, a person who was served on 30 separate occasions is to be counted as if he were 30 persons.)

SEC. 6.2 Amount of allotments for each of the first two allotment periods. (a) The allotment of sugar, coffee and processed foods for each of the first two allotment periods and of foods covered by Ration Order No. 16 for the second allotment period is computed in the following way:

(1) The number of persons served during December 1942 is multiplied by the "allowance per person" fixed for that food by the Office of Price Administration, as set forth in the supplement to this order;

(2) The result is multiplied by two (since the allotment is for two months);

(3) The figure obtained is the allotment.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 8, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3-29-43]

(b) The allotment of foods covered by Ration Order No. 16 for the first allotment period is computed in the following way:

(1) The number of persons served during December 1942 is multiplied by the "allowance per person" fixed for those foods by the Office of Price Administration as set forth in a supplement to this Order.

(2) The result is multiplied by one and one-tenth (1.1) (since the allotment is for one and one-tenth months);

(3) The figure obtained is the allotment.

[Paragraph (b) added by Amendment 8, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3-29-43]

SEC. 6.3 Amount of subsequent allotments. (a) The allotment of each rationed food for each subsequent allotment period (after the second period) is computed in the following way:

(1) The number of persons served during the first two of the three calendar months preceding the allotment period is determined;

(2) That number is multiplied by the allowance per person fixed for that food;

(3) The figure obtained is the allotment.

Article VII—Computation of Allotment for Group III Users

SEC. 7.1 Group III users have a "base" for each rationed food. (a) An institutional user has a "base" for each rationed food, for his establishments in Group III. That "base" is determined in the following way:

(1) The amount of rationed food he used there during December 1942 is multiplied by the "December use factor" fixed for that food by the Office of Price Administration, as set forth in the supplement to this order (for the purpose of determining the base, canned milk shall be excluded from and all cheeses except cottage, pot and bakers', shall be included in foods covered by Ration Order No. 16);

[Paragraph (1) as amended by Amendment 8, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3-29-43 and Amendment 25, 8 F.R. 7453, effective 6-2-43]

(2) The total number of persons he served there during December 1942, is multiplied by the "allowance per person" fixed for that food by the Office of Price Administration, as set forth in the supplement to this order;

(3) The smaller of the two figures obtained under (1) and (2) above is his "base" for that rationed food.

(b) In counting the number of persons served, anyone who was served more than once is to be counted separately for each occasion he was served. (For example, a person who was served on 30 separate occasions is to be counted as if he were 30 persons.)

(c) In counting the number of persons served and in determining the amount of rationed food used during December 1942, food service to Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard personnel messed under the command of a commissioned or non-commissioned officer, pursuant to written contract with an agency of the United States, is not to be included.

(d) The amount of sugar and coffee used is figured in pounds. The amount of processed foods and foods covered by Ration Order No. 16 used is figured in points and their point value is to be computed in the same way as the point value of the opening inventory of processed foods and foods covered by Ration Order No. 16. (This computation is covered by sections 3.2 (f) and 3.6 (b)). In determining December use of coffee, the weight of any substances or substitutes, such as, but not limited to, chicory, cereal, peas, or beans, which the institutional user mixed, blended or compounded with the coffee used by him, is not to be included.

[Paragraph (d) as amended by Amendment 8, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3-29-43]

(e) Whenever the "December use factor" or the "allowance per person" for a rationed food is changed, the base for that food of any institutional user affected by the change shall be recomputed when he applies for his allotment. The recomputed base shall be treated as his base for all purposes.

[Paragraph (e) added by Amendment 13, 8 F.R. 4839, effective 4-12-43]

SEC. 7.2 The allotment for each of the first two periods is twice the base. (a) An institutional user's allotment of each rationed food for each of the first two allotment periods, for his establishments in Group III, is twice his base for that food. (It is twice the base because the allotment period is two months, while the base was determined by his figures for only one month of operation. However, his allotment of foods covered by Ration Order No. 16 for the first allotment period, for his establishments in Group III is one and one-tenth (1.1) times his base for those foods.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 8, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3-29-43]

SEC. 7.3 Computation of allotments for subsequent periods for institutional users who charge for food services. (a) If an institutional user charges for food service, and did charge during the month used in determining his base, his allotment of each rationed food for any subsequent allotment period (after the second period) for his establishments in Group III, is determined by comparing his volume of business during December 1942 with his volume during the first two of the three calendar months preceding the allotment period.

(b) If the number of persons he served during the first two of the three calendar months preceding the allotment period is less than two times the number he served in December 1942, his allotment of a rationed food is computed in the following way:

(1) The number of persons he served during those first two months is divided by the number he served during December 1942;

(2) The figure so obtained is multiplied by his base for that food;

(3) The result is his allotment.

(c) If the number of persons he served and his dollar revenue during the first two of the three calendar months preceding the allotment period are both more than two times his corresponding figures for December 1942, his allotment of a rationed food is computed in the following way:

(1) The number of persons he served during those first two months is divided by the number he served in December 1942;

(2) His dollar revenue for those first two months is divided by his dollar revenue for December 1942;

(3) The smaller of the two figures obtained under (1) and (2) above is multiplied by his base for that food;

(4) The result is his allotment.

(d) In all other cases, his allotment of a rationed food is two times his base for that food.

(e) In counting the number of persons served and in determining his dollar revenue, food service to Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard personnel messed under the command of a commissioned or non-commissioned officer pursuant to written contract with an agency of the United States is not to be included.

[Paragraph (e) as amended by Amendment 15, 8 F.R. 5265, effective 4-19-43]

(f) Where an institutional user makes a combined charge for food and lodging or for food and other services, his dollar revenue is computed by determining how much of the total charge reasonably covers the service of food and non-alcoholic beverages. (However, if the combined charge covers entertainment, that part of the charge is included in dollar revenue.) If a determination has been made under any maximum rent regulations of the Office of Price Administration, of the part of the total charge which is for rent, that determination shall be used for the purposes of this paragraph.

SEC. 7.4 Computation of allotments for subsequent periods for institutional users who do not charge for food services. (a) If a Group III institutional user does not charge for food service, or did not charge during the month used in determining his base, his allotment of each rationed food for any subsequent allotment period (after the second period), for his establishments in Group III, is twice his base for that food. However, if the number of persons he served during the first two of the three calendar months preceding the allotment period is less than twice the number he served in December 1942, the allotment is computed in the following way:

(1) The number of persons he served during those first two months is divided by the number he served in December 1942.

(2) The figure so obtained is multiplied by his base for that food;

(3) The result is his allotment.

NOTE: A Group III institutional user may not, under this section, obtain an increased allotment for a Group III establishment which made no charge for food services.

SEC. 7.5 Change of registration to include certain military and naval personnel. (a) An institutional user who, when he registered under this order, excluded from his report of dollar revenue, December use, or number of persons served, food service to Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard personnel or selectees, for which government meal tickets were received, shall change his registration to include such service. His base for each rationed food shall be recomputed on the basis of the changed registration and his allotments for the second and subsequent allotment periods shall be calculated on the recomputed base.

(b) The board shall add to his allotments for the second allotment period, the difference between the allotments he would have received for the first period if the recomputed base had been used and the allotments he actually received for that period. However, from this sum there shall be deducted the amount of any ration checks or certificates received by him for food served to military or naval personnel from March 1, 1943 to April 30, 1943, inclusive, other than those received for service to military or naval personnel during that period pursuant to a written contract with a government agency, where government meal tickets were not used.

(c) Ration checks or emergency acknowledgments may not be issued by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard or accepted by an institutional user, for service on government meal tickets.

[Sec. 7.5 added by Amendment 15, 8 F.R. 5265, effective 4-19-43]

SEC. 7.6 Change of registration to include frozen fruits and vegetables in containers over ten (10) pounds. (a) An institutional user shall change his registration to include in his December 1942 use of processed foods the amount of frozen fruits and vegetables in containers over ten (10) pounds he used in that month. His base for processed foods shall be recomputed on the basis of the changed registration and his allotments of processed foods for the third and subsequent allotment periods shall be calculated on the recomputed base.

(b) On or after June 6, 1943, the Board shall, upon application, grant to an institutional user whose base for processed foods is increased when frozen fruits and vegetables in containers over ten (10) pounds are included pursuant to paragraph (a), an additional allotment of processed foods for the second allotment period computed as follows:

(1) Subtract the allotments he actually received for the second allotment period from the allotments he would have received for that period if the recomputed base had been used;

(2) Multiply the remainder by .41;

(3) The result is the amount of the additional allotment to be granted to the institutional user.

[Sec. 7.6 added by Amendment 26, 8 F.R. 7600, effective 6-5-43]

Article VIII—Institutional Users Who Did Not Operate During All or Part of December 1942

SEC. 8.1 Institutional users who operated during only part of December 1942. (a) If a Group II or III institutional user operated his establishment for only part of December 1942 the figures which determine his base and his allotments are to be converted to a full December basis, in the following way:

(1) The number of persons served and, in the case of a Group III user, the amount of rationed food used and his dollar revenue, during December 1942, are divided by the number of days he operated or was open for business during that month;

(2) The results are multiplied by the number of days he would have operated or would have been open for business during December 1942 if it had been a normal month of operations;

(3) The figures so obtained are treated as his figures for December 1942, for all the purposes of this order, just as if those were his actual figures.

SEC. 8.2 Institutional user who did not operate in December 1942. (a) If a Group II or III institutional user did not operate his establishment during any part of December 1942, but did do so at any time between January 1, 1942 and February 28, 1943, the figures which determine his base and his allotments are taken from his most recent period of operations, instead of December 1942.

(b) His base and his allotments are to be based on the number of persons he served and, in the case of a Group III user, the amount of rationed food used and his dollar revenue, during his last full calendar month of operation between January 1, 1942 and February 28, 1943. If he did not operate for a full calendar month, his allotments are to be based on his actual figures for the last calendar month in which he operated. However, if the last calendar month was February 1943, his actual figures shall be converted to a full month basis in the way provided in section 8.1 for institutional users who operated during only part of December.

(c) The figures referred to in paragraph (b) are used, instead of his December figures, for all the purposes of this Order. His base and his allotments are determined on the basis of those figures, just as if they were for the full month of December 1942.

Article IX—Issuance of Certificate

SEC. 9.1 Institutional users may get certificates for their allotments. (a) An institutional user who is given an allotment of a rationed food is entitled to a certificate for the amount of his allotment (except as provided in section 9.2).

(b) If his opening inventory of a rationed food is less than his allotment of that food for the first allotment period, he is entitled to receive a certificate for the difference. He will then be entitled, for each subsequent allotment period, to a certificate for the amount of his allotment for that period.

(c) Not more than six (6) certificates are to be issued, regardless of the size of the allotment. Certificates for pounds shall not be issued in fractions of pounds, but shall be issued to the nearest pound; however, on and after June 15, 1943, where the fraction is one-half, the certificates shall be issued to the next higher pound.

[Paragraph (c) as amended by Amendment 10, 8 F.R. 4131, effective 3-30-43 and Amendment 21, 8 F.R. 6439, effective 5-21-43]

(d) If an institutional user has establishments in more than one group, his opening inventory and his allotments are determined separately for each group and he is to receive separate certificates for each group. If he has registered his establishments separately, his opening inventory and his allotments are determined separately for each establishment and he is to receive separate certificates for each.

[Paragraph (d) as amended by Amendment 10]

(e) An institutional user who will not need his full allotment should apply for a certificate only in the amount which he will actually need.

SEC. 9.2 No certificate may be issued to an institutional user who has excess inventory. (a) If an institutional user's opening inventory of a rationed food is larger than his allotment of that food for the first allotment period, the difference is "excess inventory". He is not entitled to a certificate for the first allotment period. He may not be given a certificate until the total of his subsequent allotments exceeds his excess inventory, at which time he may get a certificate for the difference.

SEC. 9.3 Certificate may be issued in certain cases to institutional users who have unbalanced stocks. (a) Upon application on OPA Form R-315 by a Group II or III institutional user whose remaining excess inventory of processed foods or of foods covered by Ration Order 16 is more than half of his allotment for the period for which application is made and whose inventory (together with the certificates, if any, issued to him for that period) will not provide him with a reasonable quantity of particular types of those foods needed in the operation of his establishment or establishments, the board may issue certificates to him to enable him to acquire a reasonable quantity of such foods. The amount of such certificates (together with any other certificates issued for that period) shall not exceed fifty (50) percent of his allotment for that period. Issuance of such certificates shall not be deemed to be an increase in the allotment, but the amount of the certificates is added to the applicant's excess inventory (or, if he has no excess inventory shall be treated as excess inventory).

[Sec. 9.3 as amended by Amendment 19, 8 F.R. 5843, effective 5-10-43]

SEC. 9.4 Emergency certificates for foods covered by Ration Order No. 16. (a) A Group II or III institutional user who has registered under this order and who needs foods covered by Ration Order No. 16 before his application for an allotment of those foods can be passed upon, may apply, in any convenient manner, for an emergency certificate for those foods. Only one application may be made under this section.

(b) The Board may issue a certificate in an amount computed in the following way:

(1) The number of persons served in December 1942 shall be multiplied by 0.93;

(2) The result shall be divided by 2;

(3) The quotient is the maximum amount (in points) of the certificate which may be issued.

(c) The amount of the emergency certificate issued shall be added to the opening inventory of the applicant and the sum shall be considered his opening inventory for the purposes of sections 9.1 and 9.2. The certificate shall not be considered to increase his allotment.

[Sec. 9.4 added by Amendment 8, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3-27-43]

Article X—Seasonal Users

SEC. 10.1 Group II and III seasonal users. (a) A Group II or III institutional user is a seasonal user with respect to an establishment which is not in operation during every month in the year. However, if he has more than one establishment in Group II or III and his establishments are registered together, he is a seasonal user with respect to establishments in either group only if there is some month in the year in which he operates no establishment in that group.

[Section heading as amended by Amendment 16, 8 F.R. 5476, effective 4-20-43]

(b) A seasonal user who is not in operation between March 1 and March 10, 1943 inclusive, may register either between those dates, or at any time prior to resuming operations. His registration constitutes an application for an allotment for the first allotment period in which he will operate. If he registers between March 1 and March 10, 1943, the board may, at his request, issue a certificate to him when he resumes operations, instead of at the time of registration.

(c) His application for an allotment for any subsequent allotment period in which he will operate must be filed not more than fifteen (15) days before, nor more than five (5) days after, the beginning of the period. However, when he suspends operations he may apply for an allotment for the allotment period following the date on which he suspends operations, even though he will not be in operation during that period. The allotment to which he would be entitled for that period is to be used as his allotment for the period in which he resumes operations. The board may, at his request, issue a certificate to him when he resumes operations, instead of at the time of the application.

(d) Until a seasonal user has operated in at least three calendar months after February 28, 1943, his allotment for each rationed food shall be twice his base for that food, except that:

(1) If his base was determined on a full calendar month of operation (or by conversion to a full calendar month basis of his figures for part of December 1942 or February 1943) and he will not be in operation during the entire allotment period, he shall notify the board of the number of days he will not be in operation during that allotment period. His allotment shall be equal to twice his base reduced by an amount corresponding to the part of the period during which he will not be in operation; and

(2) If his base was determined on his actual figures for part of a month only (not converted to a full calendar month basis) and he will operate in any allotment period less than twice the number of days he operated during the month used to determine his base, he shall notify the board of the number of days he was in operation during the month used in determining his base and of the number of days he will be in operation during the allotment period. His allotment shall be computed by multiplying his base by the number of days that he will be in operation during the allotment period and then dividing the result by the number of days he was in operation during the month used in determining his base.

(e) After a seasonal user has been in operation in three calendar months after March 1, 1943, his allotments shall be determined in accordance with section 6.3, 7.3, or 7.4, whichever is applicable. In computing his allotments, the calendar months in which he was not in operation shall be disregarded and the months in which he was in operation shall be treated as if he operated continuously. For example, a seasonal user may operate only from August 15 to September 15 and from December 15 to February 28. His January-February allotment will be based on his actual operations in August and September. (That is, from August 15 to September 15—the first two of the three calendar months preceding the allotment period.)

SEC. 10.2 Seasonal liquidation of inventory. (a) Notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any ration order, an institutional user in Group II or III who operates on a seasonal basis may, when he completes his season, transfer his remaining inventory of rationed foods to a retailer or wholesaler in exchange for stamps, certificates or ration checks.

(b) He shall turn in to the board for cancellation the stamps, certificates or ration checks received by him and notify the board of the name and address of the transferee. However, if he has an account for a rationed food, he shall deposit such stamps, certificates and ration checks received for that food and he shall issue to the board a certified check in the amount of the stamps, certificates and ration checks so deposited. When he next resumes operations, the board shall issue to him, if he so requests, a certificate for each rationed food in the amount for which he surrendered stamps, certificates or ration checks for that food.

SEC. 10.3 A Group I seasonal user may obtain a certificate in certain cases. (a) A Group I institutional user is a seasonal user with respect to an establishment which is not in operation during every month in the year.

(b) A Group I seasonal user who must get rationed foods before the persons who will eat at his establishment arrive may apply for certificates for rationed foods to be used until he can obtain such foods with the ration books of those persons. If, because of transportation difficulties or unusually long distances from markets, the applicant finds it a hardship to acquire supplies of rationed foods as each successive stamp or series of stamps in war ration books become valid, he may include in his application a request for certificates covering a longer period.

(c) Application must be made to the board in writing and must show:

(1) The name, address and business of the applicant;

(2) The date on which such persons will arrive at his establishment;

(3) The earliest date thereafter on which rationed foods can be obtained with the books of such persons;

(4) The number of persons he expects to serve during the period covered by the application (in estimating the number of persons to be served, an individual is counted separately for each occasion on which he is served but no one individual may be counted more than three (3) times on any one day;

(5) Where the applicant includes in his application a request for certificates covering a longer period, the period of time for which his purchasing must be done.

(d) The board may issue certificates for an amount of a rationed food computed by multiplying the allowance per person for that food by the number of persons which it determines will be served during the period for which such certificates are required.

(e) An institutional user who has received a certificate under this Section must give up, to the board, stamps or certificates equal to the amount of the certificate issued to him. Only stamps taken from the war ration books of the individuals eating in his establishment, or certificates received from them may be given up. He must give them up within 60 days after receiving the certificate. However the board may, for good cause, give him additional time.

(f) An institutional user who obtains an allotment pursuant to section 26.1 of this order may not receive a certificate under this section for the same purpose.

[Sec. 10.3 added by Amendment 16, 8 F.R. 5478, effective 4–29–43]

Article XI—Supplemental Allotments

SEC. 11.1 Group II and III users may get supplemental allotments if operations increase. (a) If an institutional user finds that, because of increased operations, the allotment of any rationed food for his establishments in Group II or III will be exhausted before the end of the current allotment period, he may apply for a supplemental allotment. The application must be made to the board on OPA Form R–315. However, an institutional user is not entitled to a supplemental allotment for establishments in Group III if he does not charge for food, or did not charge during the month used in determining his base.

(b) The application must show the number of persons he served from the beginning of the current allotment period to the date of the application. In the case of a Group III user, it must also show his dollar revenue during that period.

SEC. 11.2 Supplemental allotment for Group II user. (a) In the case of an application by a Group II user for a supplemental allotment of coffee, sugar or processed foods for the first or second allotment period, or for a supplemental allotment of foods covered by Ration Order No. 16 for the second allotment period, the board shall grant the supplemental allotment only if it finds that the number of persons he will serve, during the allotment period in which the application is made, will be more than ten (10) percent larger than twice the number he served during December 1942. The supplemental allotment is to be computed as follows:

(1) The number of persons he served during December 1942 is multiplied by two;

(2) The resulting figure is subtracted from the total number he will serve during the current period;

(3) The difference is multiplied by the allowance per person for the rationed food for which the application is made;

(4) The result is the supplemental allotment to be granted.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 3, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3–29–43 and Amendment 21, 8 F.R. 6439, effective 5–21–43]

(b) In the case of application by a Group II user for a supplemental allotment of foods covered by Ration Order No. 16 for the first allotment period, the Board shall grant the supplemental allotment only if it finds that the number of persons he will serve during that allotment period will be more than ten (10) percent larger than one and one-tenth (1.1) times the number he served during December 1942. The supplemental allotment is computed as follows:

(1) The number of persons he served during December 1942 is multiplied by one and one-tenth (1.1);

(2) The resulting figure is subtracted from the total number he will serve during the current period;

(3) The difference is multiplied by the allowance per person for those foods;

(4) The result is the supplemental allotment to be granted.

[Paragraph (b) added by Amendment 8, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3–29–43 and amended by Amendment 21, 8 F.R. 6439, effective 5–21–43. Former paragraph (b) redesignated (c) by Amendment 8]

(c) In the case of an application by a Group II user for a supplemental allotment for a subsequent allotment period (after the second period), the board shall grant the supplemental allotment only if it finds that the number of persons he will serve during the allotment period in which the application is made, will be more than ten (10) percent larger than the number he served during the first two of the three calendar months preceding that period. The supplemental allotment is to be computed in the following way:

(1) The number of persons he served during those first two months is subtracted from the total number he will serve during the current period;

(2) The difference is multiplied by the allowance per person for the rationed food for which the application is made;

(3) The result is the supplemental allotment to be granted.

[Paragraph (c) as amended by Amendment 29, 8 F.R. 8500, effective 6–23–43]

SEC. 11.3 Supplemental allotment in first two periods for Group III user. (a) If a Group III user applies for a supplemental allotment of coffee, sugar or processed foods for the first or second allotment period or of foods covered by Ration Order No. 16 for the second allotment period, the Board shall grant the supplemental allotment only if it finds that both:

(1) The number of persons he will serve during the allotment period in which the application is made, will be more than ten (10) percent larger than twice the number he served during December 1942; and

(2) His dollar revenue during the allotment period in which application is made will be more than ten (10) percent larger than twice his dollar revenue during December 1942.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 8, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3–29–43 and Amendment 21, 8 F.R. 6439, effective 5–21–43]

(b) His supplemental allotment of a rationed food is to be computed in the following way:

(1) The amount of the estimated increase in the number of persons he will serve is divided by twice the number he served during December 1942;

(2) The amount of the estimated increase in his dollar revenue is divided by twice his dollar revenue for December 1942;

(3) The smaller of the two figures obtained in (1) and (2) above, is multiplied by his allotment of the rationed food for the period in which application is made;

(4) The result is the supplemental allotment to be granted.

(c) If a Group III user applies for a supplemental allotment of foods covered by Ration Order No. 16 for the first allotment period, the Board shall grant the supplemental allotment only if it finds that both:

(1) The number of persons he will serve during that allotment period will be more than twenty (20) percent larger than one and one-tenth (1.1) times the number he served during December 1942; and

(2) His dollar revenue during that allotment period will be more than twenty (20) percent larger than one and one-tenth (1.1) times his dollar revenue during December 1942.

(d) His supplemental allotment of foods covered by Ration Order No. 16 is to be computed in the following way:

(1) The amount of the estimated increase in the number of persons he will serve is divided by one and one-tenth (1.1) times the number he served during December 1942;

(2) The amount of the estimated increase in his dollar revenue is divided by one and one-tenth (1.1) times his dollar revenue for December 1942;

(3) The smaller of the two figures obtained in (1) and (2) above is multiplied by his allotment of those foods for the first allotment period;

(4) The result is the supplemental allotment to be granted.

[Paragraphs (c) and (d) added by Amendment 8, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3–29–43]

SEC. 11.4 Supplemental allotment for subsequent periods, for Group III user. (a) If a Group III user applies for a supplemental allotment for a subsequent allotment period (after the second period) the board shall grant the supplemental allotment only if it finds that both:

(1) The number of persons he will serve during the current allotment period will be more than ten (10) percent larger than the number he served during the first two of the three calendar months preceding that period; and

(2) His dollar revenue during the current period will be more than ten (10) percent larger than his dollar revenue during those first two months.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 21, 8 F.R. 6439, effective 5–21–43]

(b) His supplemental allotment of a rationed food is to be computed in the following way:

(1) The amount of the estimated increase in the number of persons he will serve is divided by the number he served during those first two months.

(2) The amount of the estimated increase in his dollar revenue is divided by his dollar revenue for those first two months;

(3) The smaller of the two figures obtained in (1) and (2) above, is multiplied by his allotment of the rationed food for the current period;

(4) The result is the supplemental allotment to be granted.

SEC. 11.5 Applicant accounts for supplemental allotment when applying for subsequent allotment. (a) An institutional user who has received a supplemental allotment of a rationed food during the first or second allotment period shall, when he applies for the allotments for the fourth allotment period, report the number of persons served and his dollar revenue for the period for which he received the supplemental allotment. The Board shall then compute an allotment in the same way it computes allotments pursuant to section 6.3 or 7.3, whichever is applicable, using the figures for the allotment period in question as if they were the figures for the first two of the three calendar months preceding that period. If the result so obtained is less than the sum of the original and the supplemental allotment received for the period, the difference shall be deducted from the allotment for the fourth period. However, an institutional user who received a supplemental allotment for foods covered by Ration Order 16 for the first allotment period, shall report the number of persons served and his dollar revenue for the period from March 29, 1943 to April 30, 1943, inclusive. In making the computation for foods covered by that order, the Board shall divide the number of persons he served and his dollar revenue during that period by the number of persons served and his dollar revenue in December 1942. The smaller of these two quotients is to be multiplied by his base for foods covered by Ration Order 16. (In the case of Group II users, only the figures of the number of persons served are used.) If the result so obtained is less than the sum of the original and the supplemental allotment he received for that period, the difference shall be deducted from the allotment for the fourth period.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 30, 8 F.R. 8614, effective 6–26–43]

(b) If an institutional user has received a supplemental allotment of a rationed food during an allotment period after the second period it is added to his allotment for that period. If the sum is larger than the allotment to which he is entitled for the next period, the difference must be deducted from that allotment.

(c) The provisions of this section do not apply to supplemental allotments granted under section 11.6.

SEC. 11.6 Supplemental allotments for hospitals. (a) An institutional user who operates a hospital or other establishment engaged in the care and treatment of the sick may apply for a supplemental allotment of a rationed food, if needed to meet the dietary requirements of the persons living and receiving care there. Application must be made to the board on OPA Form R–315. It must contain a statement by the superintendent or other executive officer, or by the physician in charge of the establishment, showing the reason why a supplemental allotment is required and the additional amount of the rationed food needed for that purpose.

[Paragraph (a) as amended, by Amendment 14, 8 F.R. 5341, effective 4–27–43]

(b) The board shall grant a supplemental allotment in the amount which it finds necessary to meet the dietary requirements of the persons living and receiving care in the establishment.

(c) An institutional user who has received a supplemental allotment under this section must report at the end of the allotment period in which it was granted, the amount, if any, which was not used for such purpose during that period. That amount shall be treated as excess inventory.

Article XII—Emergency Allotments and Adjustments

SEC. 12.1 Emergency allotments may be obtained to meet public emergencies. (a) Upon the occurrence or imminence of a public disaster, such as a flood, fire or tornado, any institutional user or other person who feeds or is about to feed people who require assistance because of the disaster, may apply for an emergency allotment of any rationed food needed for that purpose. The application may be made to any board, on OPA Form R–315. The applicant must describe the nature of the public emergency, the number of people he is feeding or will feed during that emergency, and the amount of the allotment he needs.

(b) If the board finds that the applicant needs an allotment of rationed food for the purposes described in paragraph (a) above, it may grant the application and give him an allotment in the amount it finds necessary for those purposes. It shall issue a certificate for the amount of the allotment.

(c) Within thirty (30) days after he has received the allotment, the applicant must report to the Board which issued the certificate the amount of the allotment he used for those purposes, and must return to that board certificates, ration checks, or stamps for any amount not so used. However, if the board finds that the emergency still exists, it may allow him to account at a later date.

SEC. 12.2 Petitions for adjustment or for other relief. (a) Any institutional user or other person desiring to become an institutional user may petition the board, for an adjustment of his base or allotment, or for any other relief. The petition shall state the name and address of the petitioner, the nature of the relief he seeks, the grounds on which the relief is sought, and any other relevant facts. The board may request any additional information it considers pertinent. Within ten (10) days after receiving the petition the board shall send it, together with all evidence and information received, to the district office unless the board has been authorized by the Washington office to act on the petition. The board may attach to the petition its recommendation concerning the action to be taken.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 12, 8 F.R. 4785, effective 4–10–43, and Amendment 21, 8 F.R. 6439, effective 5–21–43]

(b) The district office shall not act upon the petition (unless authorized by the Washington Office to do so) but shall forward it, together with all other material received from the board, to the Washington Office for appropriate action. The petitioner may be requested to furnish further information and to appear personally.

Article XIII—New Institutional Establishments

SEC. 13.1 New Group I establishment. (a) Any person may operate a new Group I establishment if he first registers it by giving written notice to the board of his intention to do so. The notice must give the name and address of the establishment and his inventory of rationed foods, if any, for that establishment. (He shall not include in the inventory any rationed foods previously included in the inventory of any other establishment or any rationed foods acquired by him in exchange for stamps or certificates.) That inventory shall be his opening inventory for that establishment.

SEC. 13.2 New Group II establishments which are registering separately. (a) A person who desires to operate a new Group II establishment and who has no Group II establishment, or who has two or more institutional user establishments which have been registered separately, or who has only one Group II establishment and will register the new establishment separately, must register the new establishment by filing OPA Form R–315. He must state on the form the address of the proposed establishment, the date on which he will commence operations, the number of persons he expects to serve during the allotment period in which he commences operations and his inventory of rationed foods, if any, for that establishment. (He shall not include in the inventory any rationed foods previously included in the inventory of any other establishment or any rationed foods acquired by him in exchange for certificates or ration checks.) That inventory shall be his opening inventory for that establishment.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 29, 8 F.R. 8500, effective 6-23-43]

(b) If the board is satisfied that the new establishment will be a Group II establishment, it shall grant an allotment for each rationed food for the allotment period in which he commences operations. It shall compute the allotment by multiplying the number of persons which it estimates will be served during that allotment period by the allowance per person for the rationed food.

(c) The institutional user shall, at the end of the period during which he commenced operations, report to the Board the number of persons served by him during that period. If the number is less than the number the board estimated he would serve, the difference shall be multiplied by the allowance per person for each rationed food and the result shall be deducted from his next allotments of that food.

(d) Application for allotments for subsequent periods shall be made on OPA Form R-1309 in accordance with section 5.3.

(e) Allotments for the two periods immediately following the one in which the institutional user commenced operations shall be computed in the following way:

(1) The number of persons he served between the date of registration and the date of his application for an allotment is divided by the number of days he operated between those dates;

(2) The figure so obtained is multiplied by 60;

(3) The result is multiplied by the allowance per person for each rationed food. This figure is his allotment of that food.

(f) Thereafter, allotments shall be computed in accordance with section 6.3.

SEC. 13.3 New Group III establishments which are registering separately. (a) A person who desires to operate a new Group III establishment at which a charge will be made for the food served, and who has no Group III establishment, or who has two or more institutional user establishments which have been registered separately, or who has only one Group III establishment and will register the new establishment separately, must apply to the board to be registered pursuant to this section.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 29, 8 F.R. 8500, effective 6-23-43]

(b) Application shall be made on OPA Form R-315, on which the applicant shall state:

(1) The proposed location of the establishment;

(2) The date on which he will commence operations;

(3) The type of operation in which he intends to engage (for example, a table restaurant, cafeteria, drugstore lunch counter, industrial canteen, hamburger or hot dog stand);

(4) The seating capacity of the establishment;

(5) His schedule of prices;

(6) Whether he intends to bake his own pies, cakes, bread, and other pastry;

(7) The number of persons he expects to serve there during the allotment period in which he commences operations (other than Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard personnel which will be messed under the command of a commissioned or non-commissioned officer pursuant to written contract with an agency of the United States); and

[Paragraph (7) as amended by Amendment 15, 8 F.R. 5265, effective 4-19-43]

(8) His inventory of rationed foods, if any, for that establishment. (However, he shall not include any foods which he reported on any previous declaration of inventory or which he acquired in exchange for certificates or ration checks.) That inventory shall be his opening inventory for that establishment.

(c) The board shall send the application to the district office.

(d) If the district office is satisfied that the new establishment will be a Group III establishment, it shall give the applicant allotments of rationed foods for the allotment period in which he commences operations, and issue any certificates to which he may be entitled. The amount of the allotment of each rationed food for that period shall be determined by the district office on the basis of the manner in which the establishment will be operated, the number of persons which it estimates will be served during that time, and of allotments which have been granted to similar or comparable establishments. However, the allotment shall not be more than the amount obtained by multiplying the allowance per person for that food by the estimated number of persons to be served. After acting on the application the district office shall return the file to the board. Thereafter, applications for allotments shall be made to the board.

(e) When he applies for his second allotments, he shall report to the board on OPA Form R-1307, the number of persons served, the dollar revenue, and his use during the last thirty (30) days of the food items set out in Schedule A of that form. If he has not yet operated for thirty (30) days, he shall report the information for the period he did operate and the figures are to be converted to a full month basis in the manner described in section 8.1. The figures for the last thirty (30) days (or converted to a full month basis) shall be used for such establishment whenever this order refers to use, dollar revenue, or number of persons served during December 1942.

(f) The board shall compute a base for each rationed food (to be used in determining the amount of allotments for the periods following the one in which he commenced operation) in the following way:

(1) The allotment of each rationed food given by the district office is divided by the number of persons the district office estimated he would serve and the result is multiplied by the number of persons served during the last 30 days computed in accordance with paragraph (e) of this section.

(2) The figure obtained shall be his base. However, if his use of the rationed food during those 30 days is less than that figure, the amount he used shall be his base for that food.

(g) The allotment for each rationed food for the allotment period following the one in which he commenced operations shall be twice the base for that food. It shall also be twice the base for the next period if, at the time application for the allotment is made, the establishment has not been in operation in three calendar months. The allotments for the following periods shall be computed in accordance with section 7.3.

(h) At the end of the period in which he commenced operations, the institutional user shall report to the board (on OPA Form R-1307), the number of persons served during that period. If the number of persons actually served during the period in which the institutional user commenced operations is less than the number of persons which the district office estimated he would serve, he shall be charged with excess inventory in an amount computed in the following way:

(1) The allotment of each rationed food given by the district office is divided by the number of persons the district office estimated he would serve.

(2) The figure obtained is multiplied by the difference between the number of persons actually served and the number of persons which the district office estimated he would serve.

(3) The result shall be treated as excess inventory.

SEC. 13.4 Combined registration of new Group II and III establishments. (a) A person who desires to operate a new Group II or III establishment to be registered together with one or more institutional establishments of the same group which he already operates must notify the board of his intention to do so and of the address of the proposed establishment. This shall constitute registration of the establishment on the form already filed for his other establishments. No separate allotment will be granted for the new establishment, but a supplemental allotment may be granted by the board pursuant to section 11.2, section 11.3 or section 11.4 whichever is applicable.

[Sec. 13.4 as amended by Amendment 21, 8 F.R. 6439, effective 5-21-43]

SEC. 13.5 Where new establishments are registered. (a) If an institutional user already has two or more establishments which are registered together he shall register a new institutional user establishment together with his other establishments and at the same board. If he already has institutional user establishments registered separately the new establishment shall be registered separately with the board where it will be located. If he has only one other establishment he may elect whether his establishments will be registered together or separately. If he registers them together, registration shall be at the board for the area where his principal office is located. If he registers them separately, registration shall be at the board for the area where the establishment will be located.

Article XIV—Appeals

SEC. 14.1 Appeals. (a) Any person directly affected by any action of a board, district office, State director, or regional administrator, under this order, may appeal, in accordance with the provisions of Procedural Regulation No. 9.[3]

(b) This section shall not apply to any action on a petition made pursuant to section 12.2, except action taken by an official who has been authorized by the Office of Price Administration to grant or deny such petition.

Article XV—Acquisition and Use of Rationed Foods

SEC. 15.1 Acquisition of rationed foods. (a) An institutional user may acquire a rationed food only in the way provided in the order rationing such food and he shall surrender stamps, certificates, or ration checks and shall issue ration checks in connection with such food, only for the purposes permitted and with the effect provided in such order and, if he has an account, in General Ration Order No. 3A.

SEC. 15.2 Use of rationed food. (a) No Group II or III institutional user may use more of any rationed food during an allotment period than his allotments of that rationed food for that period plus any unused part of his allotments for earlier periods and any allotments granted to him for the next period. This restriction does not apply, however, to rationed foods used for food services to Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard personnel messed under the command of a commissioned or non-commissioned officer pursuant to written contract with an agency of the United States.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 15, 8 F.R. 5265, effective 4-19-43]

SEC. 15.3 Restrictions on use of rationed foods and certificates. (a) No institutional user may use for any purpose other than an institutional use any rationed food included in his opening inventory, or any rationed food acquired for institutional use.

(b) An institutional user may not transfer to, or use for, any institutional user establishment rationed foods, war ration books, stamps, certificates, ration checks or "ration credits" acquired for another institutional user establishment, unless both establishments are Group II or III establishments, are in the same group and are registered together.

SEC. 15.4 Institutional users may transfer rationed foods in certain cases. (a) (1) A Group II or III institutional user who desires to sell or transfer any of his excess inventory of a rationed food may apply for permission to do so. The application must be made on OPA Form R-315 to the Board. He must state in his application the amount (in points for foods rationed under the point system and in pounds for other rationed foods) he wishes to sell or transfer, the reason he wishes to sell or transfer it, the manner in which it is to be sold or transferred and any other information the Board requests. The Board shall grant the application if good cause is shown. If the application is granted, the food must be sold or transferred for stamps, certificates or ration checks in the same way that a retailer is permitted to sell or transfer that food. Within five (5) days after the sale or transfer, the transferor must give up to the Board all stamps, certificates and ration checks which he received for the rationed food sold or transferred. The Board shall reduce his excess inventory of that food in an equal amount.

(2) The same rules apply to Group I institutional users who have a remaining opening inventory of a rationed food.

(3) The rules contained in (1) and (2) above do not apply to home processed foods or to processed foods produced in accordance with section 28.8. Transfers of those foods are governed by sections 28.2, 28.4 and 28.8.

(b) An institutional user who operates a railway dining car or railway terminal dining facilities may sell or transfer rationed foods to other such institutional users for use at establishments of that type. Such sale or transfer may be made only in exchange for certificates or ration checks equal in value to the rationed foods sold or transferred. Both the transferor and transferee must keep a record of the transfer, showing the name and address of the transferor and transferee, the date on which the rationed food was sold or transferred, the quantity of rationed foods transferred and the amount of the certificates or ration checks received. The transferor may use any certificates or rationed checks so received.

[Sec. 15.4 added by Amendment 27, 8 F.R. 8064, effective 6-16-43]

SEC. 15.5 Deductions. (a) Any institutional user who acquires a rationed food (after it has been rationed by an order of the Office of Price Administration) without surrendering stamps, certificates or ration checks, and who is not required by the order rationing that food, or by any other provision of this order, to account, or to turn over to the Office of Price Administration stamps, certificates, or ration checks, for the food so acquired, must report to the Board in writing such acquisition and the amount acquired. Group II and III institutional users shall make the report when applying for their next allotments; Group I institutional users shall make the report within ten (10) days after the acquisition. The amount so acquired shall be treated as excess inventory in the case of a Group II or III institutional user, and as opening inventory in the case of a Group I institutional user.

(b) The provisions of paragraph (a) do not apply to:

(1) Home processed foods produced by the Group I institutional user;

(2) Home processed foods with respect to which a Group II or III institutional user was charged with an excess inventory under section 28.3 (b) or (c); and

(3) Processed foods with respect to which a Group II or III institutional user was charged with an excess inventory under section 28.8.

Article XVI—Ration Bank Accounts

SEC. 16.1 What a ration bank account is. (a) A ration bank account is very much like an ordinary checking account. An institutional user who opens a ration bank account deposits in it certificates and ration checks issued to him, and issues ration checks drawn on it to transfer ration credits. The rules governing the opening and use of ration bank accounts are contained in General Ration Order No. 3A.[4]

SEC. 16.2 Who may open accounts. (a) A Group II or III institutional user may open an account for any rationed food. (A Group I user may not.) Only one ration bank account may be opened for the foods covered by Ration Order No. 16. The opening of an account for one rationed food will not require him to open an account for any other rationed food.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 8, 8 F.R. 3851, effective 3-29-43]

(b) If the establishments of a Group II or III institutional user are separately registered, he may open separate accounts for any one or more of his establishments without opening accounts for the others. He may not use the same account for more than one establishment.

(c) Any Group II institutional user who has combined his establishments in one registration, may open one account for all his Group II establishments, or a separate account for each or for any combination of them. Any Group III institutional user whose establishments are registered together has the same privilege for his Group III establishments. No account may be opened for, or serve, establishments in more than one group. If an account is opened pursuant to this paragraph for any establishment in Group II or Group III, all other establishments in the same group must also have an account or accounts.

SEC. 16.3 Use of ration bank accounts. (a) An institutional user who has an account may deposit in it certificates is-

(b) An institutional user may issue checks drawn on his account only for the purposes permitted and with the effect prescribed by the order rationing the food for which he has the account. Ration credits may be transferred by the use of a ration check, without the delivery of rationed foods between accounts of establishments in the same group which are registered together.

(c) An account opened by an institutional user may be used only for his operations as an institutional user. It may not be used for his operations in any other capacity, as for example, an industrial user or wholesaler.

Article XVII—Persons Living in Institutional User Establishments

SEC. 17.1 A person who lives in Group II or III institutional user establishment must give up his war ration books. (a) A person who lives in any Group II or III institutional user establishment (or in premises maintained in connection with it) for seven consecutive days or more, and who takes eight or more meals a week there, must turn over all his war ration books containing stamps designated for the acquisition of any rationed food, to the institutional user who operates the establishment. If he makes arrangements in advance to live there for seven consecutive days or more and to take eight or more meals a week, he must turn over the books before the week begins. Otherwise he must turn them over as soon as he has lived there for seven consecutive days and has eaten, during that period, eight or more meals.

(b) An institutional user who operates a Group III establishment in which fewer than fifty (50) people regularly live must get the war ration books of all persons who live in the establishment (or in premises maintained in connection with it) for seven consecutive days or more and who eat eight or more meals a week there. He must take the books from any person who makes arrangements in advance, as soon as the week begins. Otherwise, he must get the books as soon as the person has lived there for seven consecutive days and has, during that period, eaten eight or more meals. He may not serve food to any person who does not turn over all his war ration books containing stamps designated for rationed foods, when required to do so by this order.

(c) An institutional user who operates a Group II or a Group III establishment in which fifty or more people live, must accept and hold war ration books which are turned over to him by persons who live there.

(d) An institutional user in Group II or III must remove from any War Ration Book One turned over to him, sugar and coffee stamps which expire while he has them. He must also remove from any War Ration Book Two eleven points (as nearly as possible) of currently valid blue stamps and fourteen points (as nearly as possible) of currently valid red stamps for each week during which the person who turned over the book lives in his establishment (or in premises maintained in connection with it) for seven consecutive days and takes eight or more meals there. He must surrender to his board all stamps so removed, at the time of his next application for an allotment and, in any event, not later than five days after the beginning of the next allotment period. He must not use those stamps for any purpose, nor may he deposit them in any ration bank account.

(e) A war ration book shall be returned, temporarily, to the person from whom it was received for use in acquiring any rationed product other than a rationed food product, or for use in obtaining another war ration book.

(f) The war ration books, with stamps detached as required above, must be returned to the person from whom they were received when he leaves the establishment or stops taking eight or more meals a week there.

Article XVIII—Reports and Records

SEC. 18.1 In general. (a) All institutional users shall maintain such records and make such reports as this order requires and as the Office of Price Administration may from time to time require. Such records shall be maintained for a period of not less than two years and shall be available during such period for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, through any authorized representative, at any reasonable time.

SEC. 18.2 Records required. (a) Every Group II and III institutional user shall maintain records showing by calendar months, for each such group of his establishment, (and, if his establishments are separately registered, for each such establishment) the number of persons served and the dollar revenue.

SEC. 18.3 Disclosure of information. (a) Information and documents obtained pursuant to this order will not be disclosed, in response to subpoena or otherwise, to any person other than the person furnishing such information or documents unless the Administrator of the Office of Price Administration (or a representative of the Office of Price Administration designated by him) determines that the requested disclosure is not contrary to law and consents to such disclosure.

Article XIX—Prohibitions

SEC. 19.1 Prohibitions. (a) No person shall use points, stamps, war ration books, certificates or ration checks unless he has received them in a way permitted by this or any other order of the Office of Price Administration.

(b) No person shall offer, solicit, attempt or agree to do or assist in doing any act in violation of this order.

(c) No person shall, in any registration, report, application or other statement or record made pursuant to this order make any untrue statement of fact or omit to state any fact which is required to be stated or which is necessary to make any statement not misleading.

Article XX—Enforcement

SEC. 20.1 Suspension orders. (a) Any person who violates this order may, by administrative suspension order, be prohibited from receiving any transfers or deliveries of, or from selling or using or otherwise disposing of, any rationed foods or other rationed product or facility. Such suspension order shall be issued for such period as in the judgment of the Administrator, or such person as he may designate for such purpose, is necessary or appropriate in the public interest to promote the national security.

Article XXI—To Whom This Order Does Not Apply

SEC. 21.1 To whom this order does not apply. (a) This order does not apply to the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, or War Shipping Administration, of the United States, or to ocean going vessels operating in foreign, coastwise, or intercoastal trade acquiring rationed foods as ships' stores for consumption aboard such vessels. (Those users obtain rationed foods in accordance with the ration orders governing such foods.)

(b) The provisions of this order do not apply to the Maritime Commission, the Panama Canal, the Civil Aeronautics Authority, the National Advisory Commission for Aeronautics, or the Office of Scientific Research and Development, of the United States, with respect to sugar. [Paragraph (b) as amended by Amendment 17, 8 F.R. 5476, effective 4-29-43.]

[Paragraph (b) as amended by Amendment 4, 8 F.R. 2667, effective 3-1-43]

(c) If, during March 1943, post exchanges or ship service departments ashore are unable, for any reason, to use ration checks to acquire rationed foods for institutional use, the person in charge may use an emergency acknowledgment instead of a ration check for that purpose. Such emergency acknowledgment may be in any form but must show the name and address of the person to whom it is issued, the name and address of the post exchange or ship service department ashore, the amount of rationed foods for which it is issued (in points for processed foods and foods covered by Ration Order No. 16, and in pounds for sugar and coffee), and the date of issuance. The person who issues the acknowledgment must sign his name and state his rank or position. The post exchange or ship service department ashore named thereon must exchange the emergency acknowledgment, upon presentation, for a ration check, after ration bank accounts have been opened on which it may draw ration checks.

(1) The Veterans' Administration;

(2) The Coast and Geodetic Survey.

(b) The following government agencies may, at any time, apply to the Washington Office for allotments of rationed foods for institutional use:

(1) The War Relocation Authority and the Department of Justice, in connection with the operation of war relocation centers and enemy alien detention stations and camps.

The Washington Office will issue certificates, the amount of which may be distributed, through the use of ration checks, to the various centers, stations, camps or activities, for which allotments are granted pursuant to this paragraph.

(d) Ration bank accounts may be opened for these centers, stations, camps or activities.

(e) These agencies are not required to register their institutional user establishments with a board.

Article XXV—Obtaining Rationed Foods for Service to Certain Military and Naval Personnel

SEC. 25.1 Obtaining rationed foods for service to military or naval personnel pursuant to written contract. (a) Whenever, pursuant to a written contract made with an agency of the United States, an institutional user needs (or has used) rationed foods for the preparation of food which he will serve (or has served) to Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard personnel messed under the command of a commissioned or non-commissioned officer and for which government meal tickets will not be (or were not) received, an officer authorized by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard may issue ration checks to him or to his supplier, for the amount of rationed foods needed (or used) for such purpose.

(b) If, for any reason, ration checks are not available, an authorized officer may issue an emergency acknowledgment instead of a ration check. The emergency acknowledgment may be in any form, but must show the name and address of the person to whom it is issued, the amount of rationed foods for which it is issued (in points for foods rationed under a point system, and in pounds for other rationed foods) and the date of issuance. The person who issues the acknowledgment must sign his name, state his rank and the name and address of the activity or organization to which he is attached. The emergency acknowledgment must be exchanged for a ration check when ration checks are available, upon presentation to the activity or organization named thereon.

(c) The weight of any substitute or substance, including but not limited to chicory, cereal, peas or beans, mixed, blended or compounded (or to be mixed, blended or compounded) by the institutional user with the roasted coffee used (or to be used) shall not be included in the amount of any ration check or emergency acknowledgment issued for coffee pursuant to this section.

[Sec. 25.1 added by Amendment 15, 8 F.R. 5265, effective 4-19-43. Former Sec. 25.1 revoked]

SEC. 25.2. How organized messes obtain rationed food. (a) The Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard may authorize messes organized pursuant to their respective regulations to draw on exempt ration bank accounts or to open exempt ration bank accounts in accordance with arrangements made with the Office of Price Administration. They may acquire rationed foods only in exchange for ration checks drawn on such accounts in accordance with instructions issued by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard.

[Sec. 25.2 added by Amendment 15, 8 F.R. 5265, effective 4-19-43. Article XXV added by Amendment 3, 8 F.R. 2666, effective 3-1-43]

Article XXVI—Allotment for Certain Employers

SEC. 26.1 Allotments for certain employers. (a) Regardless of any other provision of this Order, any person who in the conduct of his business is about to feed, or, on and after March 1, 1943, has fed, rationed foods (after they have been rationed by an order of the Office of Price Administration), to employees whom he hires (or hired) temporarily for a period of less than thirty (30) days, may apply for allotments of rationed foods for that purpose. However, Group II and III institutional users may not apply for allotments pursuant to this section.

(b) Application must be made on OPA Form R-315 to the Board. Persons who are not institutional users may apply to the Board for the area in which such rationed foods are required. An application to replenish rationed foods already served to such employees, must be made within five (5) days after the end of the thirty (30) day period in which such service was made. The application must show the name, address and business of the applicant, and the number of such employees he will serve (or has served) during the thirty (30) day period. (In estimating the number of employees served, an employee is counted separately for each occasion on which he will be (or was) served. However, no one employee may be counted more than three (3) times on any one day.

(c) If the Board finds that the applicant needs an allotment of rationed food for the purposes described in paragraph (a) above, it shall grant the application and give him an allotment for each rationed food required (or used), computed in the following way: It shall multiply the number of such employees which it estimates or finds he will serve (or has served) during the thirty (30) day period by the allowance per person for the rationed food. If, at the time application is made, the applicant is not under an obligation to surrender stamps or certificates to a Board, the Board shall issue a certificate for the amount of the allotment. If he is under an obligation to surrender stamps or certificates, that obligation shall be cancelled to the amount of the allotment granted under this Section. Where the amount of the allotment is greater than his obligation, the Board shall issue a certificate for the difference.

(d) Where an applicant was granted an allotment prior to feeding his employees, he shall within five (5) days after the end of the thirty (30) day period, report to the Board the number of such employees served by him during that period. If the number is less than the number the Board estimated he would serve, the difference shall be multiplied by the allowance per person for the rationed food and stamps or certificates in an amount equal to the result obtained must be surrendered to the Board in accordance with such arrangement as may be made with the Board.

(e) An employee specified in paragraph (a) who lives in the place where food is served to him (or in premises maintained in connection with that place) for seven consecutive days or more, and who takes eight or more meals a week there, must turn over all his War Ration books to his employer, in the manner described in paragraph (a) of section 17.1 during the period for which his employer has received allotments of rationed foods pursuant to this section. The duties of the employer with respect to the War Ration Books which are turned over to him are the same as those specified for institutional users in paragraphs (c), (d), (e) and (f) of Sec. 17.1.

[Article XXVI added by Amendment 5, 8 F.R. 3178, effective 3-12-43]

Article XXVII—Special Allotments

SEC. 27.1 Certain group III users may get special allotments of Processed Foods. (a) A Group III institutional user may apply for a special allotment of processed foods if he needs additional processed foods to feed his employees, or to feed employees of another person pursuant to a contract, if he cannot get enough fruits or vegetables to meet the minimum nutritional needs of such employees for such foods because:

(1) The place where he feeds such employees is so located, or the employer's business or occupation is of such a nature that a source of supply of fresh fruits and vegetables is not reasonably accessible; and

[Paragraph (1) as amended by Amendment 29, 8 F.R. 8500, effective 6-23-43]

(2) He has no facilities for preserving such foods long enough, and in the quantities required, to meet such needs. (A Group I institutional user may not apply for a special allotment under this Section. Consumers eating in Group I establishments are permitted, under similar circumstances, to apply for additional points under Ration Order No. 13.)

(b) Application shall be made to the Board on OPA Form R-315, in person or by mail. A separate application must be made for each allotment period for which the special allotment is needed. The application must state in detail:

(1) The number of employees, the period of time covered by the application, and the place where such employees will be fed;

[Paragraph (1) as amended by Amendment 16, 8 F.R. 5476, effective 4-29-43]

(2) The nearest source of supply of fresh fruits and vegetables;

(3) A description of the facilities he has for preserving fresh fruits and vegetables;

(4) The amount of processed foods (in pounds) on hand on the date of application;

(5) The number of pounds of fresh fruits and vegetables, excluding potatoes, which the applicant can get and use during the period covered by the application; and

(6) The amount of his allotment (in points) of processed foods for the current allotment period.

(c) The regional administrator may authorize boards, district offices and State offices in his region to rule on applications. If the board has not been given such authority, it shall forward the application, with its recommendation, to the district office (or, where there is none, to the State office). If the district (or State) office has not been authorized to act on such application, it shall transmit the file to the regional office.

(d) If the regional office or an authorized board, district or State office finds that the applicant meets the tests set out in paragraph (a), it shall grant a special allotment in the amount required. In determining the amount of the allotment, consideration shall be given to the amount of fresh fruits and vegetables, excluding potatoes, which will be available to the applicant during the period covered by the application. The Washington office and the regional administrators may issue further instructions governing the granting of special allotments.

(e) Any board which grants an allotment under this section shall keep a record of the number of points issued each month. It shall, within five (5) days after the end of each month, send to the district (or State) office a statement of the total number of points issued each month. The district (or State) office shall forward such statement to the regional office along with a statement of the number of points it has issued, if any. The regional office shall forward such statements to the Washington office along with a statement of the number of points it has issued, if any.

(f) A certificate shall be issued for the amount of the special allotment. However, if the applicant has an excess inventory of processed foods, no certificate shall be issued to him but an amount of the excess inventory equal to the allotment shall be cancelled. If the excess inventory is less than the allotment, a certificate for the difference shall be issued.

SEC. 27.2 Certain Group III users may get special allotments of meat and fats. (a) A Group III institutional user may apply for a special allotment of foods covered by Ration Order 16 if he needs additional amounts of such foods to feed his employees, or to feed employees of another person pursuant to a contract, if he cannot get enough fresh fish, poultry or eggs to meet the nutritional needs of such employees because:

(1) The place where he feeds such employees is so located, or the employer's business or occupation is of such a nature that a source of supply of fresh fish, poultry and eggs is not reasonably accessible, except at infrequent intervals; and

(2) He has no facilities for preserving such foods long enough, and in the quantities required, to meet such needs. (A Group I institutional user may not apply for a special allotment under this section. Consumers eating in Group I establishments are permitted, under similar circumstances, to apply for additional points under Ration Order 16.)

(b) Application shall be made to the Board on OPA Form R-315, in person or by mail. A separate application must be made for each allotment period for which the special allotment is needed. The application must state in detail:

(1) The number of employees, the period of time covered by the application, and the place where such employees will be fed;

(2) The nearest source of supply of fresh fish, poultry and eggs;

(3) A description of the facilities he has for preserving these foods;

(4) The number of pounds of fresh fish and poultry and the number of dozens of eggs which the applicant can get and use during the period covered by the application; and

(5) The amount of his allotment (in points) of foods covered by Ration Order 16 for the current allotment period.

(c) The regional administrator may authorize boards, district offices and State offices in his region to rule on applications. If the board has not been given such authority, it shall forward the application, with its recommendation, to the district office (or, where there is none, to the State office). If the district (or State) office has not been authorized to act on such application, it shall transmit the file to the regional office.

(d) If the regional office or an authorized board, district or State office finds that the applicant meets the tests set out in paragraph (a), it shall grant a special allotment in the amount required. In determining the amount of the allotment, consideration shall be given to the amount of fresh fish, poultry and eggs which will be available to the applicant during the period covered by the application. Boards, district and State offices shall be governed by any further instructions issued by the regional or Washington offices.

(e) Any board which grants an allotment under this section shall keep a record of the number of points issued each month. It shall, within five (5) days after the end of each month, send to the district (or State) office a statement of the total number of points issued each month. The district (or State) office shall forward such statement to the regional office along with a statement of the number of points it has issued, if any. The regional office shall forward such statements to the Washington Office along with a statement of the number of points it has issued, if any.

(f) A certificate shall be issued for the amount of the special allotment. However, if the applicant has an excess inventory of foods covered by Ration Order 16, no certificate shall be issued to him but an amount of the excess inventory equal to the allotment shall be cancelled. If the excess inventory is less than the allotment, a certificate for the difference shall be issued.

[Sec. 27.2 added by Amendment 22, 8 F.R. 6956, effective 5-29-43. Article XXVII added by Amendment 6, 8 F.R. 3216, effective 3-13-43]

Article XXVIII—Home Processing by Institutional Users

SEC. 28.1 Explanation of terms "home processed foods" and "kitchen".—(a) Home processed foods. Processed foods which are produced in a "kitchen" are "home processed foods."

(b) Kitchen. A "kitchen" is a place principally used for the preparation of meals, or for the demonstration of such preparation (such as a kitchen in a school or in a home economics center).

SEC. 28.2 Group I institutional users use and transfer home processed foods in accordance with Ration Order 13. (a) A person who is a Group I institutional user may use and transfer home processed foods he produces, in the manner provided for ordinary consumers by Ration Order 13.

SEC. 28.3 Group II and III institutional users must report amount of home processed foods they produce and are charged with excess inventory.—(a) Group II or III institutional users must report amount they produce. A Group II or III institutional user who produces home processed foods during any month, must report to the board, on or before the tenth day of the following month, the total amount of such foods he produced.

(b) He is charged with an excess inventory of processed foods. The board shall charge him with an excess inventory of processed foods equal to the point value of the home processed foods he produced. (The point value of home processed foods is fixed by Revised Supplement No. 1 to Ration Order 13.) This excess inventory charge may be apportioned, at his request, over a period of time not exceeding one year from the date of such report.

(c) Such excess inventory may be charged to his separately registered Group II and III establishments. If he operates separately registered Group II or III establishments, he may have this excess inventory charged against those establishments in such proportions as he chooses.

(d) Home processed foods he uses are regarded as part of his allotment. For the purposes of section 15.2 of this Order, home processed foods used by a Group II or III institutional user are to be included, (at their point value), in determining the amount of processed foods he used during an allotment period.

SEC. 28.4 A Group II or III institutional user may transfer home processed foods he produces—(a) He may transfer them only for points. A Group II or III institutional user may sell or transfer home processed foods produced by him only if he gets from the transferee points equal to the point value of the foods he transfers. He need not give up points for a movement of such foods to his Group II or III establishment which was charged with an excess inventory under section 28.3 (b) or (c) for the production of such foods, or to any of his other establishments which are in the same group and registered together with such establishment. A movement of such foods to another of his Group II or III establishments which is registered separately is to be treated as a transfer to another person.

(b) He must keep records and surrender points to the board. For this purpose, he need not register as a processor or make reports, but must keep a record of any transfer he makes, showing the amount and date of the transfer, and the name and address of the person to whom the transfer is made. If he makes any transfers of home processed foods for points during any month, he must give up the points to the board, on or before the tenth day of the next month.

(c) The excess inventory charges against him shall be credited with the points surrendered. The excess inventory charged against him under section 28.3 (b) or (c) shall be credited with the number of points he surrenders to the board pursuant to the last paragraph.

SEC. 28.5 Institutional users producing processed foods in place other than a "kitchen" may get permission to treat them as home processed foods. (a) In some cases, an institutional user may produce processed foods in a place not used principally for the preparation of meals or for the demonstration of such preparation (and hence not a kitchen as defined in section 28.1). Yet the facilities he uses may not differ substantially from the facilities ordinarily found in a "kitchen" and may clearly not be commercial-scale processing facilities. For example, a state prison may have on its premises, in addition to its "kitchen", a separate place containing facilities used for processing foods, which are of a type similar to those normally used by such institutions in kitchens. An institutional user who has such a place and facilities may apply to the board in writing for permission to treat the processed foods produced there as "home processed foods". He shall describe the facilities he intends to use, the purposes for which those facilities are ordinarily used, the total amount of processed foods he expects to produce there, and the disposition to be made of such processed foods.

(b) If the board finds that the facilities used are clearly not commercial-scale processing facilities, and do not differ substantially from those normally used by such institutional users in kitchens, it shall notify the applicant that the foods so produced may be treated as home processed foods. The applicant may then use and transfer them as permitted by sections 28.2, 28.3 and 28.4 of this order.

SEC. 28.6 A Group I institutional user obtains sugar for producing home processed foods in accordance with sugar regulations. (a) A person who is a Group I institutional user who wishes to get a sugar allowance for the purpose of acquiring sugar with which to produce home processed foods from fresh fruits, and for making jams, jellies, preserves or fruit butters applies in the same manner as any other person who is registered as a consumer, pursuant to §§ 1407.71 and 1407.71a of Rationing Order No. 3. For this purpose, the War Ration Books One of persons eating at his establishment may be pooled.

SEC. 28.7 A Group II or III institutional user may obtain a sugar allotment for producing home processed foods from fresh fruits—(a) He must apply to the board on OPA Form R–315. A Group II or III institutional user may obtain an allotment of sugar to be used in producing home processed foods from fresh fruits, for use or transfer pursuant to sections 28.3 and 28.4 of this order. He must make application for such allotment to the board on OPA Form R–315, stating the name and address of the place at which the home processed foods are to be produced, the amount of sugar needed, the amounts of home processed foods to be produced with such sugar, the type of facilities to be used in producing such foods, and the disposition to be made of such foods.

(b) He may get an allotment of sugar. The board may grant an allotment of sugar in an amount not exceeding one (1) pound of sugar for each four (4) quarts of home processed foods to be produced from fresh fruits. It shall issue a certificate for the amount of the allotment. However, if the applicant has an excess inventory of sugar, the amount thereof shall be deducted from the amount for which the certificate is to be issued. Any excess inventory so deducted shall be cancelled.

SEC. 28.8 Special provisions for processed foods produced by government agency in commercial-scale processing facilities—(a) It must report amount produced. In some cases, a government or government agency which operates one or more Group II establishments or eleemosynary Group III establishments, may produce processed foods in commercial-scale processing facilities, primarily for use in the preparation and service of food in such establishments. A government or agency which so produces processed foods in any month, must report to the board, on or before the tenth day of the following month, the total amount of such processed foods it produced.

(b) It is charged with an excess inventory of processed foods. The government or government agency shall be charged with an excess inventory of processed foods at a rate of four (4) points for each pound of such processed foods so produced. This excess inventory charge may be apportioned, at its request, over a period of time not exceeding one year from the date of the report required by paragraph (a) of this section. If it operates separately registered Group II or eleemosynary Group III establishments, it may have this excess inventory charged against those establishments in such proportions as it choses.

(c) It may obtain sugar allotment to produce such processed foods. The government agency may obtain an allotment of not more than one (1) pound of sugar for each eight (8) pounds of such processed foods to be so produced from fresh fruits. Application for the allotment must be made on OPA Form R–315. The application must show:

(1) The name and address of the applicant;

(2) The location of the facilities to be used;

(3) The amount of sugar requested;

(4) The number of pounds of processed foods to be produced with such sugar; and

(5) The disposition to be made of such processed foods.

(d) It uses such processed foods as part of its allotment. For the purposes of section 15.2 of this Order, the point value of such processed foods used by such government or government agency at its Group II and eleemosynary Group III establishments is to be included at the rate of four (4) points per pound, in determining the amount of processed foods used during an allotment period.

(e) It may transfer such foods to similar establishments at reduced point value. It may sell or transfer such processed foods to other Group II or eleemosynary Group III institutional user establishments operated by a government or government agency, or to the Lend-Lease Administration, or to the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard at the rate of four (4) points per pound. A transfer to a separately registered establishment operated by it, which was not charged with an excess inventory of processed foods pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section for the production of the foods transferred, is treated just as if it were a transfer to another establishment of the same type operated by a different person, and may be made only for points. (However, no points need be given up for a movement of such foods to a Group II or eleemosynary Group III establishment operated by it, which was charged with an excess inventory, pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, for the production of the foods transferred, or which is in the same group and registered together with such an establishment.)

[Paragraph (e) as amended by Amendment 31, effective 7-23-43]

(f) It must keep records and surrender points to the board. For this purpose, it need not register as a processor or make reports, but it must keep records of the amounts of such foods transferred and the names and addresses of the persons to whom transfers are made. It must surrender to the board, on or before the tenth day of each month, all points received for such transfers during the preceding month. The excess inventory of processed foods charged pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, shall be credited with the number of points surrendered pursuant to this paragraph.

(g) Any other transfers must be at full point value. Transfers to any person or establishment other than those mentioned in paragraph (e) may be made only at the regular point value of such processed foods, as fixed by Revised Supplement No. 1 to Ration Order 13. If the government or government agency makes such transfers, it must register as a processor as to all its transfers, and must file reports as required by section 3.2 of that order.

[Article XXVIII added by Amendment 20, 8 F.R. 6118, effective 5-15-43]

Article XXIX—Sale or Transfer of Institutional User Establishments

SEC. 29.1 Sale or transfer of a Group I establishment. (a) When an institutional user sells or transfers to any other person the business and inventory of his Group I establishment, for continued operation, he may transfer his stocks of rationed foods to the transferee of the establishment without the surrender of stamps, certificates or ration checks. Both the transferor and the transferee must notify the board with which the establishment is registered. The notice must be given in writing, within five (5) days after the sale or transfer, and must state:

(1) The name and address of the establishment and of the persons transferring and acquiring it;

(2) The inventory of rationed foods transferred to the transferee (in points for foods rationed under the point system and in pounds for other rationed foods), showing separately the amount which represents remaining opening inventory of the transferor (that is, the part of his opening inventory for which he has not yet accounted to the Board in accordance with section 4.2).

(b) The notice required by paragraph (a) shall constitute a cancellation of the transferor's registration for the establishment.

(c) The amount of the transferor's remaining opening inventory of a rationed food, or the amount of that food transferred to the transferee pursuant to paragraph (a), whichever is greater, shall be treated as the transferee's opening inventory of that food.

SEC. 29.2. Sale or transfer of other institutional user establishments—(a) General. (1) When an institutional user sells or transfers to any other person the business and inventory of his institutional user establishment (other than a Group I establishment), for continued operation, he may transfer his stocks of rationed foods to the transferee of the establishment without the surrender of stamps, certificates or ration checks. Both the transferor and the transferee must notify the Board at which the establishment is registered. The notice must be given in writing, within five (5) days after the sale or transfer, and must state:

(i) The name and business address of the establishment and of the persons transferring and acquiring it;

(ii) The inventory of rationed foods transferred (in points for foods rationed under the point system and in pounds for other rationed foods);

(iii) The balances, if any, in the establishment's ration bank accounts, and the amount of any stamps, certificates or ration checks on hand, including any in the hands of a supplier for rationed foods not yet shipped;

(iv) The number of persons served in, and the dollar revenue of, the establishment transferred for the month in which the transfer takes place and for the two preceding months; and

(v) The amount of any rationed foods, other than those already included in the inventory of an establishment, which the transferee has for use in the transferred establishment.

(2) If the transferor has a ration bank account for the establishment, he must notify the district office, in the way required by General Ration Order 3A.

(b) Transferor must give up unused stamps, certificates and ration checks. The seller or transferor must give up to the board all unused stamps, certificates and ration checks he has for the establishment. If the establishment has ration bank accounts, he must give up to the board certified ration checks payable to the Office of Price Administration for the balances in such accounts. The notice described in paragraph (a) of this section, and the surrender of the stamps, certificates and ration checks, will be treated as a cancellation of the transferor's registration and allotments.

(c) Application for allotments by transferee. The transferee may use the stocks of foods transferred only up to the amount of the allotments he gets for the establishment. The application for allotments must be made on OPA Form R–315, to the board for the place where the establishment was registered and must state facts showing whether the transferee will continue to operate the establishment in substantially the same manner as it was operated by the transferor. (Thus, if a restaurant which specialized in meat dishes will be operated by the transferee as a vegetarian restaurant, the transferee will not be operating it in substantially the same manner as before the transfer.) The board shall send the application, the notices sent to it by both parties and the transferor's registration to the district office.

(d) Granting allotments and assigning bases. If the district office finds that the establishment will continue to be operated in substantially the same manner as before the transfer, it shall assign to the transferee the transferor's allotments for that establishment, and, in the case of a Group III establishment, the transferor's bases. It shall also give him certificates equal in value to the stamps, certificates and ration checks that the transferor surrendered to the board, or, if the amount of a rationed food transferred to the transferee with the establishment is larger than the unused part of the allotment of that food for the current allotment period plus any unused part of the transferor's earlier allotments, the difference shall be treated as excess inventory. The transferee may not use any part of the allotments already used by the transferor, but he may use any unused part of any prior allotment the transferor received for that establishment. (The district office shall also treat as excess inventory any amounts of rationed foods, other than those already included in the inventory of an establishment, which the transferee has for use in the transferred establishment.)

SEC. 29.3 Transfers of chain establishments—(a) Same rules apply to sale of entire chain. The rules set forth in sections 29.1 and 29.2 apply where a person who has more than one institutional user establishment sells or transfers all of them for continued operation, whether or not they were registered separately.

(b) Sale of part of a chain. (1) When the seller or transferor has more than one institutional user establishment which he registered separately, and sells or transfers one or more, but not all of them, the procedure described in section 29.1 or 29.2, whichever is applicable, must be followed separately, as to each of the establishments transferred.

(2) When the seller or transferor has more than one institutional user establishment which he registered together, and sells or transfers one or more, but not all of them, the procedure described in section 29.1, or in paragraphs (a) and (c) of section 29.2, whichever is applicable, must be followed, except that:

(i) If Group I establishments are being transferred, the remaining opening inventory may be divided between the establishments which were transferred and those which were not transferred in any way that the transferee chooses; and

(ii) If Group II or III establishments are being transferred, the transferor must also apply to the Board with which he is registered for a redetermination of his allotments and, in the case of Group III establishments, of his bases.

In the case of a transfer of Group III establishments, the transferor must also report the December 1942 use of rationed foods, the number of persons served and the December 1942 dollar revenue for the establishment or establishments transferred. The board shall send the application and notices of both parties, and the transferor's registration, to the district office. If the transferred establishments are in Group II or III and if the district office finds that they will continue to be operated in substantially the same manner as before the transfer, it shall grant allotments to the transferee and, in the case of Group III establishments, shall assign bases to him. It shall first determine the amount of the transferor's allotments and, in the case of Group III establishments, of the transferor's bases allocable to the transferred establishment or establishments. Those bases shall be assigned to the transferee. The transferee's allotments shall be the part of the transferor's allotments corresponding to the unexpired part of the allotment period. The bases and allotments assigned to the transferee shall be deducted from the bases and current allotments of the transferor. The district office shall issue certificates to the transferee (or determine his excess inventory) on the basis of the allotments granted to him, the amount of the inventory he acquired from the transferor and the amount of rationed food not already included in the inventory of an establishment which the transferee has for use in the transferred establishment. If the amount of a rationed food which is transferred with the establishment is less than the allotment of that food assigned to the transferee, the transferor must give up to the board certificates or ration checks for the difference. If he does not give up certificates or ration checks, the difference shall be treated as excess inventory.

SEC. 29.4 Where and how the transferee registers the establishments acquired by him. (a) A person who buys or otherwise acquires an institutional user establishment and who already has two or more establishments in the same group as the one acquired by him, which are registered together, must register the new establishment together with his other establishments and at the same board. The remaining opening inventory (in the case of Group I establishments), allotments and the bases (in the case of Group III establishments) assigned to him shall be added to the remaining opening inventory, allotments and bases he already has for his other establishments in that group. If he already has his other establishments in the same group registered separately, the transferred establishment must be registered separately with the Board for the place where it is located. If he has only one other establishment in the same group, he may elect whether his establishments will be registered together or separately. If he registers them together, registration shall be at the board for the place where his principal office is located and remaining opening inventory, allotments or bases assigned to him shall be added to the remaining opening inventory, allotments or bases he already has for his other establishment. If he registers them separately, registration shall be at the board for the place where the establishment is located.

(b) If the transferee acquires more than one institutional user establishment and is entitled to or is required to, register them separately, the district office must compute separately the portion of the transferor's remaining opening inventory, allotments or bases allocable to each of the establishments acquired, in the way described in section 29.3.

SEC. 29.5 Computation of subsequent and supplemental allotments. (a) For purposes of determining allotments (other than those issued by the district office for the unexpired part of the allotment period in which the transfer is made) for the establishment transferred, the dollar revenue of, and number of persons served by, the transferor shall be used as if they were the figures of the transferee.

SEC. 29.6 Some transferred establishments will be new institutional user establishments. (a) If the district office determines that a transferred Group II or III establishment will not be operated by the transferee in substantially the same manner as it was operated by the transferor, it shall treat it as a new institutional user establishment.

[Article XXIX added by Amendment 24, 8 F.R. 7554, effective 6-7-43]

Article XXX—Closing of Institutional User Establishments

SEC. 30.1 What an institutional user who closes his Group I establishment must do. (a) An institutional user who goes out of business at his Group I establishment must, within five (5) days after closing the establishment, notify the board to that effect. He may transfer any remaining stock of rationed foods in the same manner that a retailer is permitted to make transfers under the ration orders governing those foods. He must surrender to the board the stamps, certificates or ration checks so received.

SEC. 30.2 What a person who closes his Group II or III establishment must do. (a) An institutional user who goes out of business at his Group II or III establishment must notify the board. The notice must be given in writing, within five (5) days after he goes out of business. It must state:

(1) The name and address of the establishment;

(2) The inventory of rationed foods (in points for foods rationed under the point system and in pounds for other rationed foods) at the time he stopped doing business there; and

(3) The balances, if any, in the establishment's ration bank accounts, and the amount of any certificates or ration checks on hand, including the value of any certificate or ration check in the hand of his suppliers for rationed foods not yet shipped. If he has a ration bank account, he must also notify the district office, in the way required by General Ration Order No. 3A (the ration banking order).

(b) He must account to the Office of Price Administration for all stamps, certificates or ration checks he has for the establishment. If all his stocks of rationed foods have not been disposed of at the time of the notice, he must account for such stocks as soon as they have been liquidated. He may sell or transfer his unused stocks of rationed foods in the same way that a retailer is permitted to make sales or transfers under the ration orders governing those foods.

SEC. 30.3 Closing of chain establishments—(a) Same rules apply to closing of entire chain. The rules set forth in sections 30.1 and 30.2 apply where a person who has more than one institutional user establishment goes out of business at all of them, whether or not they were registered separately.

(b) Closing of part of chain. (1) A person who has several institutional user establishments, which are registered separately, may go out of business at one or more, but may continue to operate the others. In that case, he must follow the procedure set forth in section 30.1 or 30.2, whichever is applicable, as to each of the establishments at which he goes out of business.

(2) A person who has several institutional user establishments which are registered together may go out of business at one or more, but may continue to operate the others. In that case he must notify the board within five (5) days. If the establishments were in Group I, the rules of section 30.1 apply. If the establishments were in Group II or III, the notice must state:

(i) The name and address of the establishment or establishments;

(ii) The number of persons served (and in the case of the closing of Group III establishments the amount of rationed foods used and his dollar revenue) in December 1942, at the establishment or establishments being closed; and

(iii) The number of persons served in (and in the case of Group III establishments, the dollar revenue for) the establishment or establishments for the month in which they go out of business and for the two preceding months.

In the case of a Group II or III user, the board shall send the notification and his registration to the district office.

(c) The district office shall reduce the institutional user's allotments for the allotment period in which the establishments are closed (and, in the case of Group III establishments, his bases) by the amount allocable to the closed establishments. He must give up to the Office of Price Administration certificates or ration checks equal to the amount of the reduction in his allotments. If he does not have certificates or ration checks to give up, that amount shall be treated as excess inventory.

(d) Subsequent allotments for Group III institutional users shall be computed by using the bases as recomputed in accordance with paragraph (c), and the dollar revenue of, and number of persons served in, the establishments still in operation.
